North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain has fallen during the week all over the Province and was very beneficial The condition of the standing crops is excellent; but more rain is wanted for unirrigated crops in Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan, while fair weather is much needed in Peshawar and Hazara. Locusts have appeared in some villages of Dera Ismail Khan and in the Marwat tahsil of the Bannu district; in the former slight damage was done to the crops. Slight hail fell in the Marwat tahsil but no damage is reported. Pressing of sugarcane still continues but is retarded by the wet weather. The outturn is very good. Water-supply and fodder are sufficient. Cattle are in good condition. Prices:—wheat 15⅝ to 18½; gram 18½ to 24; maize 21¼ to 29; and bajra 20 to 21¼ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was heavy rain with hail storms at certain places. Prices are stationary. Prices:—wheat 11 to 24 and maize 11 to 36 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Kishtwar tahsil where it is scarce.

Kashmir.—Moderately heavy snow fell during the last three days of the week. The weather is cold. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana.—Showers fell nearly throughout the Agency during the week; the maximum fall at Bharatpur was about three inches. Agricultural operations are satisfactory and prospects generally favourable. Slight damage owing to hailstorms has occurred in places in Tonk, Bundi and Karauli. Prices are nearly steady throughout though still high in places.

Central India.—There was light rain in all Agencies except Gwalior. Autumn harvesting and irrigation of spring crops are in progress. The standing crops and the probable outturn are good. Crops have been slightly damaged by hail in parts of the Bhopal, Baghelkhand, and Bundelkhand Agencies. Agricultural stock and pasturage are generally good except in parts of Rewa. Prices are high in Baghelkhand and Jaora and are stationary elsewhere. Weeding and watering of opium are in progress.

Central Provinces.—Rainfall was almost general during the week (except in Nimar, Raipur and Buldana) and was accompanied by hail in ten districts; one inch or more was received in Mandla, Seoni, Narsinghpur, Betul, Nagpur, Balaghat, Amraoti, and more than two inches in Jubbulpore and Chhindwara. Harvesting of spring crops has commenced in Seoni, Nimar, Betul, Nagpur, Chanda, and in the districts of Chhattisgarh and Berar. The standing crops have been slightly damaged by hail in Saugor, Damoh, Jubbulpore, Mandla, and Narsinghpur; by insects in Hoshangabad and Bhandara; and by rats in Nimar; wheat is affected by rust in parts of Chanda; the condition of the crops is generally good and prospects are favourable. Fodder and water are adequate. The retail prices of food grains fell in following districts:—wheat by 1 seer per rupee in Mandla and by 2½ seers in Chhindwara; gram by 2 seers in Seoni; rice by 1 seer in Chhindwara; juar by 1 seer in Amraoti and 2¾ seers in Buldana; gram became dearer by 3 seers in Balaghat; prices are equal to the scarcity rate in Nimar and exceed it in Chanda, Balaghat and Bilaspur, but rates are generally cheaper than those ruling at this time last year.

Native States.—Rainfall measured (in inches) Kawardha 1¾ and Kankar 1¼; and (in cents) Udaipur 67, Sarangarh 62, Chhuikhadan 51, Sakti 50, Rajnandgaon 46, Raigarh 45, and Khairagarh 40. Hail also fell in Kawardha and Sarangarh but did no damage to the crops. Threshing of rice and kodon (millet) and sugarcane pressing are approaching completion and harvesting of spring crops continues. The standing crops are generally in good condition. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices:—wheat 10 to 20; rice 12 to 15; and kodon (millet) 18 to 21 seers per rupee.

Bombay.—There was rain during the week in parts of Sind, Gujarat, the Konkan, Kathiawar, Palanpur, Cutch, Mahi Kantha, and Rewa Kantha. The fall was beneficial to spring crops in Sind. There has been slight damage to standing crops by insects in parts of Karachi; by locusts in parts of Karachi and Sukkur; by frost or rain in parts of Panch Mahals and Palanpur; by unfavourable winds in parts of Upper Sind Frontier; by dew in parts of Cutch; and crops are withering in parts of the Deccan and Bijapur; crops are generally in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops continues in parts of the Deccan. Cotton picking is progressing in Hyderabad, Gujarat, the Karnatak, Kathiawar, Baroda, Palanpur, Cutch, and Rewa Kantha. Preparation of lands for next season is in progress. The supply of drinking water is generally sufficient. Water for irrigation purposes is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, and Sholapur. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur and Cutch. The fodder supply is sufficient. The quantity of food grains purchasable per rupee is in the Deccan 10½ per cent. above normal to 34 per cent. less than normal and elsewhere normal to 25 per cent. below.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall:—five cents. The spring crops have been slightly damaged in parts. The harvest continues. The standing crops are fair to good. Late rice sowings are nearing completion and the crop is being weeded. Prices:—wheat 7½; coarse rice 7½; and juar 16 seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Prices of food grains are generally steady. Ploughing and sowing operations are in progress. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Picking of coffee is almost completed. Threshing of rice continues. Prices of food grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall of the week was light in Ganjam, Vizagapatam littoral, Tanjore and Trichonopoly; there was no rain elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Godavari, Kistna, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, North Arcot, Salem, and Madura. Ploughing, sowing, weeding, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Madura are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Godavari, Kistna, Bellary, Madura, and South Canara. Fodder is scanty in parts of Kistna, Salem, and Madura. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in ten districts, has fallen in four, and has slightly risen in nine. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in nine districts; has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in eight. Cholam is stationary in six districts; has fallen in three; and has slightly risen in five. Cumbu is stationary in six districts; has fallen in two; and has slightly risen in seven.

Nepal.—Report for the quarter ending 15th January 1907.—The rainfall for the period was 0·10 inch as compared with 0·26, for the corresponding period last year. The rainfall is insufficient for the spring crop.

November 1906.—Spring sowings were commenced both in the Nepal Valley and the Terai. Rice was harvested in the Terai; the outturn was not up to the average. Oranges began to ripen in Nepal.

December 1906.—The first crop of potatoes was dug; the outturn was very good. Winter vegetables and peas commenced to be sown.

January 1907.—Fields are being prepared for sowing the second crop of potatoes.

The health of livestock continues good throughout the country. The prices of food grain are steady and markets well stocked. The weather in the Nepal Valley is not as cold as in previous years, although there was a slight frost in the middle of December.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secretary to the Government of India.

Circular No. $\frac{5\text{-F.}}{88\text{—}2.}$

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

FORESTS.

REVISION OF THE GRADING AND EMOLUMENTS OF DEPUTY AND ASSISTANT CONSERVATORS, AND FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS IN RESPECT TO THE ADMINISTRATIVE POSTS, IMPERIAL FOREST SERVICE.

Calcutta, the 15th February 1907.

RESOLUTION.

IN the Government of India Resolution No. 4 F., dated the 28th March 1906, it was stated that the Government of India had arrived at the conclusion that, in order to maintain the efficiency of the Imperial Branch of the Forest Service, it was necessary to take steps to improve the conditions of the service. The enhanced rates of pay of the administrative posts to which the sanction of the Secretary of State had been obtained were accordingly announced.

2. In order to complete the reorganization of the Imperial Forest Service thus begun the Government of India have now obtained the sanction of the Secretary of State to the following revision of the grading and emoluments of Deputy and Assistant Conservators of Forests.

It has been decided to abolish the present system of payment by grades and to establish in its place a system of personal pay dependent on the length of service of the individual officer, according to the following scale :—

		R
In the	1st year of service	380	per mensem.
"	2nd " "	420	"
"	3rd " "	460	"
"	4th " "	500	"
"	5th " "	540	"
"	6th " "	580	"
"	7th " "	620	"
"	8th " "	660	"
"	9th " "	700	"
"	10th " "	750	"
"	11th " "	800	"
"	12th " "	850	"
"	13th " "	900	"
"	14th " "	950	"
"	15th " "	1,000	"
"	16th " "	1,050	"
"	17th " "	1,100	"
"	18th " "	1,150	"
"	19th " "	1,200	"
"	20th and following years of service	1,250	"

The above scale of pay will take the place of the existing grade pay, officiating allowances (below administrative rank) and exchange compensation allowance, but it will not affect existing special and local allowances such as those set forth in the Forest Department Code, and the corresponding allowances in Bombay and Madras. These allowances are granted to meet special conditions which remain unaltered.

3. (i) Whilst drawing pay up to and including R540 a month an officer will be styled "Assistant Conservator" and when drawing pay at R580 per mensem and upwards he will have the rank of a Deputy Conservator.

(ii) Until he has passed the examinations prescribed in Article 74, Forest Department Code, an Assistant Conservator may not draw pay at a higher rate than R460 a month. On passing the examinations he will resume drawing pay under the time-scale at the rate to which his length of service entitles him.

(iii) Local Governments are authorized to stop the incremental rise of pay of any officer whose work in its opinion is not of a satisfactory nature.

(iv) As heretofore a Deputy Conservator officiating as a Conservator will be entitled to a salary equal to the pay of the lowest grade of Conservator.

4. The sanction of the Secretary of State has also been obtained to certain further improvements in respect to the administrative posts of the Imperial Forest Service, and the orders contained in Resolution No. 4 F., dated the 28th March 1906, are accordingly modified to the following extent:—

(i) A Conservator officiating as Chief Conservator, or a Conservator or Chief Conservator officiating as Inspector General of Forests will draw the full pay of the post.

(ii) The pay of the Inspector General of Forests has been fixed at R2,650 a month.

5. The orders contained in this Resolution will have effect from the 6th January 1907, but should the time-scale of pay now sanctioned result in the diminution of the existing emoluments of any individual officer, he will retain his present salary until he becomes entitled to a higher rate under the time-scale.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 19th February 1907

No. 2.—The following Statutes are published for general information —

THE MERCHANT SHIPPING ACT, 1906.

[6 EDW. 7, CH. 48.]

An Act to amend the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1894 to 1900.

[21st December 1906] A. D. 1906

BE it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

PART I.

SAFETY.

Application of British load-line provisions to foreign ships.

1. Sections four hundred and thirty-seven to four hundred and forty-three of the principal Act (which relate to load-line), except subsections (3) and (4) of section four hundred and forty, shall, after the appointed day, apply to all foreign ships while they are within any port in the United Kingdom, as they apply to British ships, without prejudice—

(a) to the power of His Majesty previously to apply those provisions to the ships of any foreign country, if the Government of that country so desire, under section seven hundred and thirty-four of the principal Act; and

(b) to any direction of His Majesty in Council given under section four hundred and forty-five of the principal Act in the case of ships of any foreign country in which the regulations in force relating to overloading and improper loading are equally effective with the provisions of the principal Act.

Detention of foreign ships when unsafe owing to defective equipment, &c.

2. Section four hundred and sixty-two of the principal Act (which relates to the detention of foreign ships)—

(1) shall apply in the case of a ship which is unsafe by reason of the defective condition of her hull, equipments, or machinery, and accordingly that section shall be construed as if the words "by reason of the defective condition of her hull, equipments, or machinery, or" were inserted before the words "by reason of overloading or improper loading"; and

(2) shall apply with respect to any foreign ships being at any port in the United Kingdom, whether those ships take on board any cargo at that port or not.

Loading of grain cargoes on foreign ships.

3. (1) After the first day of October one thousand nine hundred and seven, sections four hundred and fifty-two and four hundred and fifty-five of the principal Act shall apply to a foreign ship which loads a grain cargo in the United Kingdom so long as the ship is within a port in the United Kingdom.

(2) If, after the first day of October one thousand nine hundred and seven, a foreign ship laden with grain cargo arrives at any port in the United Kingdom, having the grain cargo so loaded that the master of the ship, if the ship were a British ship, would be liable to a penalty under the provisions of Part V of the principal Act relating to the carriage of grain, the master of that foreign ship shall be liable to a fine not exceeding three hundred pounds.

(3) After the first day of October one thousand nine hundred and seven, section four hundred and fifty-five of the principal Act shall apply to a foreign ship laden with grain which discharges all or any part of her cargo at any port in the United Kingdom so long as the ship is within a port in the United Kingdom.

(4) The provisions of section four hundred and fifty-four of the principal Act, so far as that section provides for the delivery of the notice mentioned therein to the proper officer of customs in the United Kingdom, shall apply to all foreign ships laden with grain cargo arriving at a port in the United Kingdom after the date aforesaid, and the master of the ship shall be liable accordingly.

Power to apply rules as to life-saving appliances to foreign ships in certain cases.

4. Sections four hundred and twenty-seven to four hundred and thirty-one of the principal Act relating to life-saving appliances shall, after the appointed day, apply to all foreign ships while they are within any port of the United Kingdom as they apply to British ships:

Provided that His Majesty may by Order in Council direct that those provisions shall not apply to any ship of a foreign country in which the provisions in force relating to life-saving appliances appear to His Majesty to be as effective as the provisions of Part V of the principal Act, on proof that those provisions are complied with in the case of that ship.

Appointed day.

5. For the purposes of this Part of this Act the appointed day shall be the first day of January nineteen hundred and nine, or such other day not being more than twelve months later, as the Board of Trade may appoint; and different days may be appointed for different provisions of this Part of this Act, and for different foreign countries.

Saving for ship coming in under stress of weather, etc.

6. Nothing in the foregoing provisions of this Part of this Act shall affect any foreign ship not bound to a port of the United Kingdom which comes into any port of the United Kingdom for any purpose other than the purpose of embarking or landing passengers, or taking in or discharging cargo or taking in bunker coal.

Coasting steamships not to be exempt from load-line provisions.

7. The exemption of ships under eighty tons register employed solely in the coasting trade under sections four hundred and thirty-seven and four hundred and thirty-eight of the principal Act (which relate to the marking of deck lines and load-lines) shall cease so far as respects steamships:

Provided that the Board of Trade may except from the provisions of this section any class of steamships, so long as they do not carry cargo, and the provisions of this section shall not apply to any steamship belonging to any class so excepted.

Extension of provisions as to the time of marking load-line.

8. (1) Section four hundred and forty of the principal Act (which relates to the time for marking load-lines) shall apply to all British foreign-going ships, and, so far as it is applied by this Act to foreign ships, to all foreign foreign-going ships, whether the owner is required to enter the ship outwards or not.

(2) In the case of a ship which the owner is not required to enter outwards—

(a) the disc indicating the load-line shall be marked before clearance for the ship is demanded;

(b) the master shall prepare a statement similar to that required to be inserted in the form of entry under subsection (2) of the said section four hundred and forty, and in the case of a British ship shall enter a copy of the statement in the agreement with the crew and in the official log-book, and subsections (3) and (4) of that section shall apply accordingly;

(c) the master shall deliver a copy of the statement to the officer of customs from whom a clearance for the ship is demanded, and a clearance shall not be granted until the statement is so delivered.

(3) Where the certificate referred to in subsection (4) of section four hundred and forty-three of the principal Act (which relates to regulations as to load-line) is required to be delivered, the provisions of this section as to the statement to be prepared by the master shall not take effect.

(4) For the purpose of providing for an alteration of marks during a voyage, subsection (5) of section four hundred and forty of the principal Act shall be read as if the words "or, if the mark has been altered abroad in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Trade for the purpose, marked with the mark as so altered" were added after the words "so marked," and subsection (2) of section four hundred and forty-three of the principal Act shall be read as if the purposes for which regulations may be made under that section included provision for the alteration of marks on ships abroad.

Entry in log of boat drill, etc.

9. (1) The master of every British ship shall enter or cause to be entered in the official log-book, a statement, or if there is no official log-book, cause a record to be kept, of every occasion on which boat drill is practised on board the ship, and on which the life-saving appliances on board the ship have been examined for the purpose of seeing that those appliances are fit and ready for use.

(2) The master shall, if and when required by any officer of the Board of Trade, produce for inspection any record kept by him for the purposes of this section.

(3) If the master of a ship fails to comply with any requirement of this section, he shall be liable on summary conviction for each offence to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

Loading of timber

10. (1) If a ship, British or foreign, arrives between the last day of October and the sixteenth day of April in any year at any port in the United Kingdom from any port out of the United Kingdom, carrying any heavy or light wood goods as deck cargo (except under the conditions allowed by this section), the master of the ship, and also the owner if he is privy to the offence, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every hundred and fifty cubic feet of space in which wood goods are carried in contravention of this section.

(2) The conditions under which heavy wood goods may be carried as deck cargo are as follows:—

(a) that they must only be carried in covered spaces; and

(b) that they must be carried only in such class of ships as may be approved by the Board of Trade for the purpose; and

(c) that they must be loaded in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Trade with respect to the loading thereof.

(3) The conditions under which light wood goods may be carried as deck cargo are as follows:—

(a) Each unit of the goods must be of a cubic capacity not greater than fifteen cubic feet; and

(b) The height above the deck to which the goods are carried must not exceed—

(i) in the case of an uncovered space on a deck forming the top of a break, poop, or other permanent closed-in space on the upper deck, three feet above the top of that closed-in space; and

(ii) in the case of an uncovered space, not being a space forming the top of any permanent closed-in space on the upper deck or a space forming the top of a covered space, the height of the main rail, bulwark, or plating, or one-fourth of the inside breadth of the ship, or seven feet, whichever height is the least; and

(iii) in the case of a covered space, the full height of that space.

(c) Regulations may be made by the Board of Trade for the protection of seamen from any risk arising from the carriage of the goods in any uncovered space to the height allowed under this section, and those regulations must be complied with on the ship.

(4) A master or owner shall not be liable to any fine under this section—

(a) in respect of any wood goods which the master has considered it necessary to place or keep on deck during the voyage on account of the springing of any leak, or of any other damage to the ship received or apprehended; or

(b) if he proves that the ship sailed from the port at which the wood goods were loaded as deck cargo at such time before the last day of October as allowed a sufficient interval according to the ordinary duration of the voyage for the ship to arrive before that day at the said port in the United Kingdom, but was prevented from so arriving by stress of weather or circumstances beyond his control ; or

(c) if he proves that the ship sailed from the port at which the wood goods were loaded as deck cargo at such time before the sixteenth day of April as allowed a reasonable interval according to the ordinary duration of the voyage for the ship to arrive after that day at the said port in the United Kingdom, and by reason of an exceptionally favourable voyage arrived before that day.

(5) For the purposes of this section—

(a) the expression " heavy wood goods " means—

(i) any square, round, waney, or other timber, or any pitch pine, mahogany, oak, teak, or other heavy wood goods whatever ; or

(ii) any more than five spare spars or store spars, whether or not made, dressed, and finally prepared for use ; and

(b) the expression " light wood goods " means any deals, battens, or other light wood goods of any description ; and

(c) the expression " deck cargo " means any cargo carried either in any uncovered space upon deck or in any covered space not included in the cubical contents forming the ship's registered tonnage ; and

(d) the space in which wood goods are carried shall be deemed to be the space limited by the superficial area occupied by the goods, and by straight lines enclosing a rectangular space sufficient to include the goods.

(6) Nothing in this section shall affect any ship not bound to a port in the United Kingdom which comes into any port of the United Kingdom under stress of weather, or for repairs, or for any purpose other than the delivery of her cargo.

(7) This section shall come into operation on the passing of this Act.

ummary prosecu-on for offences der the loading grain provi-ons.

11. Any offence for which a person is liable to a fine under subsection (2) of section four hundred and fifty-two of the principal Act (which relates to the obligation to take precautions to prevent grain cargo from shifting) or under any provision of this Act which relates to the lading of grain cargoes on foreign ships may be prosecuted summarily ; but the fine to which a person is liable for any such offence shall not, if the offence is prosecuted summarily, exceed a hundred pounds.

12. After the thirty-first day of December nineteen hundred and seven, the superintendent or other officer, before whom a seaman is engaged to be entered on board any British ship at any port in the British Islands or on the continent of Europe between the River Elbe and Brest inclusive, shall not allow a seaman to sign the agreement if, in his opinion, the seaman does not possess a sufficient knowledge of the English language to understand the necessary orders that may be given to him in the course of the performance of his duties ; but nothing in this section shall apply to any British subject or inhabitant of a British protectorate or to any lascar.

Provided that where a seaman has been allowed to sign an agreement after the date on which this section comes into force, and is discharged before a superintendent or other officer, the superintendent or officer shall note the fact on his certificate of discharge in manner directed by the Board of Trade, and a superintendent or other officer shall not under this section refuse to allow a seaman who holds a certificate so noted to sign an agreement unless the superintendent or officer considers that there are special reasons for the refusal, and in that case he shall make a special report of the matter to the Board of Trade.

PART II.

Passenger and Emigrant Ships.

Inclusion of foreign steamships as passenger steamers.

13. The definition of " passenger steamer " in section two hundred and sixty-seven of the principal Act shall be amended so as to include every foreign steamship (whether originally proceeding from a port in the United Kingdom or from a port out of the United Kingdom) which carries passengers to or from any place, or between any places, in the United Kingdom.

Definition of steerage passenger.

14. The following paragraph shall be substituted for paragraph (3) of section two hundred and sixty-eight of the principal Act—

" (3) The expression 'steerage passenger' means all passengers except cabin passengers, and persons shall not be deemed cabin passengers unless :—

" (a) the space allotted to their exclusive use is in the proportion of at least thirty-six clear superficial feet to each statute adult ; and

" (b) the fare contracted to be paid by them amounts to at least the sum of twenty-five pounds for the entire voyage or is in the proportion of at least sixty-five shillings for every thousand miles of the length of the voyage ; and

"(c) they have been furnished with a duly signed contract ticket in the form prescribed by the Board of Trade for cabin passengers."

15. Where a passenger steamer takes on board passengers from a tender, or lands passengers by means of a tender, she shall be deemed to be taking the passengers on board from, or landing the passengers at, the port from or to which the tender comes or goes, and passengers conveyed in a tender to or from a ship from or to a place in the United Kingdom shall for the purposes of Part III of the principal Act, and for the purposes of any returns to be made under the Merchant Shipping Acts, be deemed to be passengers carried from or to a place in the United Kingdom. Passengers landed or embarked by means of tenders.

16. (1) A ship shall not carry passengers, whether cabin or steerage passengers, on more than one deck below the water line. Restriction as to the decks on which passengers may be carried.

(2) If this section is not complied with in the case of any ship, the master of the ship shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred pounds.

17. (1) The Board of Trade may prescribe regulations, scales, conditions, and forms in substitution for those contained in the Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, and Fourteenth Schedules of the principal Act (which relate to the number of persons carried on emigrant ships, the accommodation for steerage passengers on emigrant ships, the provisions and water to be issued to steerage passengers on emigrant ships, the carriage of horses and cattle on emigrant ships, and the forms to be used under Part III of that Act). Regulations substituted for Schedules 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14 of principal Act.

(2) Any reference in the Merchant Shipping Acts or in any other Act or document to any of those schedules shall be construed as a reference to the corresponding regulations, scales, conditions, or forms prescribed by the Board of Trade under this section.

18. (1) The master of every emigrant ship shall on request produce to any steerage passenger for his perusal a copy of the scale of provisions to which that person is entitled either in pursuance of the principal Act or under any conditions subject to which the Board of Trade have dispensed with that scale in pursuance of their powers under the Merchant Shipping Acts, and shall post up copies of the scale in at least two conspicuous places between the decks on which steerage passengers may be carried, and shall keep them posted so long as any steerage passenger is entitled to remain in the ship. Copies of scale of provisions applicable to voyage to be produced to steerage passenger and posted up in ship.

(2) The master shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding forty shillings for every day during any part of which by his act or default copies of the extracts are not posted up, and shall, if he fails to produce a copy of the scale as required by this section to a steerage passenger, for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding forty shillings.

(3) If any person displaces or defaces any copy of the scale posted under this section, he shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding forty shillings.

(4) The obligation of the master under this section shall be in addition to and not in derogation of any obligation he may be under in pursuance of section three hundred and sixty-one of the principal Act.

19. For the purpose of adapting section three hundred and twenty-eight of the principal Act to any hour of sailing, the following paragraph shall be substitued for paragraph (i) of that section:— Provision as to the time at which a steerage passenger is to be ready to embark.

"(i) The steerage passenger is at the place of embarkation before the hour appointed in his contract, or if no hour is appointed in the contract, before any hour fixed for the embarkation of which he has received not less than twenty-four hours notice; and"

20. (1) The Board of Trade, on the application of the owner of any emigrant ship, may, by regulations made under this section, allow the master's bond required under section three hundred and nine of the principal Act, to be given, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, in the form of a continuing bond as respects that ship. Power to allow continuing master bond.

(2) The Board of Trade may make regulations for the purpose of adapting the provisions of sections three hundred and nine and three hundred and ten of the principal Act to the case of a continuing bond, and for prescribing the conditions under which continuing bonds may be allowed in the case of any ship.

(3) Sub-section (3) of section three hundred and ten of the principal Act shall have effect with respect to every voyage of the ship during the continuance of the bond, and references to the arrival of the ship and the return of the ship shall be construed as references to the arrival of the ship and the return of the ship after any voyage, so far as respects matters happening during or in connection with the voyage.

21. If the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Acts which require a passenger steamer to be surveyed and to have a passenger steamer's certificate are not complied with in the case of any such steamer, the master or owner of the steamer shall without prejudice to any other remedy or penalty under the Merchant Shipping Acts, be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds for every passenger carried from or to any place in the United Kingdom, and the master or owner of any tender by means of which passengers Penalty on master or owner for non-compliance with provisions as to passenger steamer.

are taken on board or landed from any such steamer shall be liable to a like penalty for every passenger so taken on board or landed.

Overcrowding of passenger steamers.

22. If a passenger steamer has on board at any place a number of passengers which, having regard to the time, occasion, and circumstances of the case, is greater than the number allowed by the passenger steamer's certificate, the owner or master of the steamer shall, for the purposes of section two hundred and eighty-three of the principal Act, be deemed to have received those passengers on board at that place.

Sale of steerage passages.

23. The provisions of Part III of the principal Act, relating to passage brokers, shall apply to any person who at any place in the British Islands sells or lets, or agrees to sell or let, or is anywise concerned in the sale or letting of, steerage passages from any place in Europe not within the Mediterranean Sea.

Frauds in inducing or attempting to induce persons to engage passages.

24. The following section shall be substituted for section three hundred and fifty-three of the principal Act :—

"If any person, by any false representation, fraud, or false pretence, induces or attempts to induce any person to emigrate or to engage a steerage passage in any ship, he shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds, or to imprisonment with or without hard labour for a period not exceeding three months."

PART III.

Seamen's Food.

Statutory scale of provisions for crew.

25. (1) The master of every ship for which an agreement with the crew is required under the Merchant Shipping Acts shall, if the agreement is made after the first day of June nineteen hundred and seven, furnish provisions to every member of the crew (who does not furnish his own provisions) in accordance with the scale set out in the First Schedule to this Act, and for the purposes of section one hundred and ninety-nine of the principal Act (which provides for compensation in the case of short or bad provisions) every such member of the crew of the ship shall be deemed to have stipulated by his agreement for provisions in accordance with that scale.

(2) The power of the court to modify or refuse compensation under section one hundred and ninety-nine of the principal Act shall be extended to cases where a member of the crew claiming compensation, although he has not been supplied with the provisions actually required by the scale, has been supplied with provisions containing on the whole the same or a greater amount of wholesome nutriment in their place.

(3) If the master of a ship fails to furnish provisions in accordance with this section, and the court before which the case is tried consider that the failure was due to the neglect or default of the master, the master shall be liable on summary conviction, in addition to paying compensation under section one hundred and ninety-nine of the principal Act, to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

(4) His Majesty may by Order in Council vary or add to the First Schedule to this Act.

(5) This section shall not apply in the case of lascars, or natives of India or others not accustomed to a European dietary, with whom an agreement is entered into providing an adequate scale of provisions suited to their needs and uses.

Inspection of provisions and water.

26. (1) An inspecting officer appointed under section two hundred and six of the principal Act may inspect (either on board the ship or before shipment) any provisions or water intended for the use of the crew of any British ship which is going from any port in the United Kingdom and for which an agreement with the crew is required under the Merchant Shipping Acts (other than provisions provided by the crew themselves), and if he finds that the provisions or water are in any respect deficient in quality, the ship shall be detained until the defects are remedied to his satisfaction :

Provided that any inspection of provisions or water under this section shall be made before shipment whenever practicable, and, if the master, owner, or agent of a ship gives notice to the inspecting officer that any provisions or water for the ship are ready for inspection, the inspecting officer shall not have power to inspect any such provisions or water under this section, if they are at a convenient place for inspection, except within forty-eight hours after the notice is given, without prejudice to the power of the inspecting officer to inspect any provisions or water not specified in the notice or without unnecessarily delaying the ship to proceed on board the ship in order to satisfy himself that there has been no evasion of the requirements of this section by the substitution of other provisions or water for those which have been inspected on shore or specified in a notice as being the provisions or water for the ship, or otherwise.

(2) Where any provisions or water are found deficient in quality under this section, the master of the ship shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding a hundred pounds, unless the court before which the case is tried think that the finding of the inspecting officer was not justified ; but if the master of the ship shows to the satisfaction of the court that the responsibility for the defects in the provisions or water rests either with the owner of the ship, or any agent of the owner of the ship, or with the person who has supplied the provisions or water, that agent, owner, or person shall be liable to conviction for the offence instead of the master, and the master shall be exempt.

(3) The master of the ship and any other person having charge of any provisions or water liable to inspection under this section shall give the inspecting officer every reasonable facility for the purpose of his inspection under this section, and, if he refuses or fails to do so, shall be liable for each offence on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

Certificated cooks for foreign-going ships.

27. (1) After the thirtieth day of June nineteen hundred and eight, every British foreign-going ship of a thousand tons and upwards gross tonnage, going to sea from any place in the British Islands or on the continent of Europe between the River Elbe and Brest inclusive, shall be provided with and carry a duly certificated cook who is able to prove one month's service at sea in some capacity.

(2) A cook shall not be deemed to be duly certificated within the meaning of this section unless he is the holder of a certificate of competency in cooking granted by the Board of Trade or by some school of cookery or other institution approved for the purpose by that Board, or is the holder of certificates of discharge showing at least two years' service as cook previously to the said thirtieth day of June nineteen hundred and eight.

(3) The cook shall be rated in the ship's articles as ship's cook, or in the case of ships of not more than two thousand tons gross tonnage, or ships in which the crew, or the majority of the crew, provide their own provisions, either as ship's cook or as cook and steward.

(4) In the case of an emigrant ship, the ship's cook shall be in addition to the cook required by section three hundred and four of the principal Act.

(5) If the requirements of this section are not complied with in the case of any ship, the master or owner of the ship shall, if there is no sufficient reason for the failure to comply with the requirements, for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty-five pounds.

PART IV.

Provisions as to Relief and Repatriation of Distressed Seamen, and Seamen left behind Abroad.

Dealing with wages and effects of a seaman who left behind.

28. (1) If a seaman belonging to any British ship is left behind out of the British Islands, the master of the ship shall subject to the provisions of this section—

(a) as soon as may be, enter in the official log-book a statement of the effects left on board by the seaman and of the amount due to the seaman on account of wages at the time when he was left behind: and

(b) on the termination of the voyage during which the seaman was left behind furnish to the proper officer within forty-eight hours after the arrival of the ship at the port at which the voyage terminates, accounts in a form approved by the Board of Trade, one (in this section referred to as the delivery account) of the effects and wages, and the other (in this section referred to as the reimbursement account) of any expenses caused to the master or owner of the ship by the absence of the seaman in cases where the absence is due to desertion, neglect to join his ship, or any other conduct constituting an offence under section two hundred and twenty-one of the principal Act. The master shall, if required by the proper officer, furnish such vouchers as may be reasonably required to verify the accounts.

(2) The master of the ship shall deliver to the proper officer the effects of the seaman as shown in the delivery account, and subject to any deductions allowed under this section, the amount due on account of wages as shown in that account, and the officer shall give to the master a receipt, in a form approved by the Board of Trade, for any effects or amount so delivered.

(3) The master of the ship shall be entitled to be reimbursed out of the wages or effects any sums shown in the reimbursement account which appear to the proper officer or, in case of an appeal under this section, to a court of summary jurisdiction to be properly chargeable and for that purpose the officer, or, if necessary, in the case of an appeal, the Board of Trade, shall allow those sums to be deducted from the amount due on account of wages shown in the delivery account, and, so far as that amount is not sufficient, to be repaid to the master out of the effects.

The proper officer, before allowing any sums to be deducted or repaid under this provision, may require such evidence as he thinks fit as to the sums being properly chargeable to be given by the master of the ship, either by statutory declaration or otherwise.

Where the master of a ship whose voyage terminates in the United Kingdom is aggrieved by the decision of the proper officer as to the sums to be allowed as properly chargeable on his reimbursement account, and the amount in dispute exceeds ten pounds, he may appeal from the decision of the proper officer to a court of summary jurisdiction.

(4) Where during the voyage of a ship two or more seamen have been left behind, the delivery and reimbursement accounts furnished as respects each seaman may at the option of the master of the ship be dealt with, as between him and the proper officer, collectively instead of individually, and in that case the master of the ship shall be entitled to be reimbursed out of the total amount of the wages and effects of the seamen left behind the total of the amounts allowed under this section as properly chargeable on the reimbursement accounts, and shall be required to deliver to the proper officer on account of wages only the sum by which the total of the amounts shown on the delivery accounts to be due on account of wages exceeds the total of the amounts allowed as properly chargeable on the reimbursement accounts.

(5) The proper officer shall (subject to any repayment made under this section) remit the effects, and any amount received by him on account of wages under this section, at such time and in such manner as the Board of Trade require, and shall render such accounts in respect thereof as the Board direct.

(6) In this section the expression "effects" includes the proceeds of any sale of the effects if these effects are sold under this section, and the effects shall be sold by the proper officer in such manner as he thinks fit when they are delivered to him, unless the Board of Trade direct to the contrary, and, if not so sold, shall be sold by the Board as and when they think fit unless they are deliverd to the seaman.

(7) The master shall be under no liability for any loss of effects or for any damage to the effects if he proves to the proper officer that the loss or damage occurred without his neglect or privity after the seaman left the ship.

(8) The Board of Trade shall not be under any liability with respect to anything done under this section, except that, if after the wages or effects of a seaman have been dealt with under this section, any legal proceedings are taken in respect of those wages or effects, or involving the forfeiture of those wages or effects, or of any sum out of the wages, by the seaman against the master or owner of the ship, or by the master or owner of the ship against the seaman, the Board shall, if notice is given to them of the proceedings, and a reasonable opportunity afforded to them of appearing, comply with any order of the court made as respects the wages or effects, so far as they can do so out of the wages and effects remitted to them in respect of the voyage of the ship, and, so far as those wages and effects are not required for reimbursing any expenses incurred by or on behalf of the Crown, or incurred by the Government of a foreign country and repaid to that Government by or on behalf of the Crown, as expenses of a distressed seaman on behalf of the seaman.

The Board shall be entitled to appear and be heard in any such proceedings by any of their officers, and for the purpose of this section notice to any superintendent shall be deemed to be notice to the Board.

The Board may, if and so far as they think fit, meet any claim made by a seaman against the master or owner of the ship in respect of any wages or effects dealt with under this section, although legal proceedings are not actually taken in respect thereof: Provided that they have given notice to the master or owner of the ship, and the master or owner has not given written notice of objection within ten days of the notice being given.

For the purposes of this sub-section, any legal proceedings taken or any claim made by a person in whose favour an allotment note has been made, or who claims reimbursement of expenses on behalf of any union or parish under section one hundred and eighty-two of the principal Act, shall be treated as proceedings taken or a claim made by the seaman.

(9) Any sums remitted under this section or arising from the sale of effects under this section shall be paid into the Exchequer, and any sums payable by the Board of Trade under this section shall be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament.

(10) If the master of a ship fails without reasonable cause to comply with this section, he shall (without prejudice to any other liability) for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, and, if he delivers a false account or makes a false statement or representation for the purposes of this section, he shall in respect of each offence be guilty of a misdemeanour.

(11) The proper officer for the purpose of this section shall be—

(i) at a port in the United Kingdom, a superintendent;

(ii) at a port in a British possession, a superintendent, or, in the absence of any such superintendent, the chief officer of customs at or near the port;

(iii) at a port elsewhere, the consular officer at the port.

(12) This section shall not apply in the case of an absent seaman—

(a) where the master of the ship satisfies the proper officer that none of the effects of the seaman have to his knowledge been left on board the ship, and that he has paid all wages due to the seaman; or

(b) where the amount of wages earned by the seaman (after taking into account any deductions made in respect of allotments or advances for which provision is made by the agreement with the crew) appears from the agreement to be less than five pounds, and the master does not exercise his option to deal with the delivery and reimbursement accounts collectively; or

(c) where the master of the ship satisfies the proper officer that the net amount due to the seaman on account of wages (after taking into account any deductions lawfully made in respect of allotments, advances, or otherwise) is less than three pounds, and the master does not exercise his option to deal with the delivery and reimbursement accounts collectively; or

(d) where the question of the forfeiture of the wages and effects of the seaman has been dealt with in legal proceedings lawfully instituted before the termination of the voyage, or within forty-eight hours of the arrival of the ship at the port at which the voyage terminates.

Property of seaman dying on ship the voyage which does not terminate in the United Kingdom

29. The provisions of Part II of the principal Act relating to the property of deceased seamen shall be extended so as to apply to seamen belonging to a British ship registered in the United Kingdom, the voyage of which is to terminate out of the United Kingdom, and in that case the British consular officer at the port at which the voyage terminates, or, if the port is in a British possession, the officer of customs there, shall exercise the same powers as he may exercise under those provisions when a ship the voyage of which is to terminate in the United Kingdom touches and remains for forty-eight hours at a port elsewhere than in the United Kingdom, and those provisions shall apply accordingly.

Sanction required for discharge of seamen out of the United Kingdom

30. (1) The master of a British ship shall not discharge a seaman at any place out of the United Kingdom (except at a port in the country in which he was shipped), unless he previously obtains, endorsed on the agreement with the crew, the sanction of the proper authority as defined for the purpose in this Part of this Act, but that sanction shall not be refused where the seaman is discharged on the termination of his service.

(2) The authority to whom an application is made for sanction under this section may, and, if not a merchant, shall, examine into the grounds on which a seaman is to be discharged at a place out of the United Kingdom, and for that purpose may, if he thinks fit, administer oaths, and may grant or refuse the sanction as he thinks just, but such sanction shall not be unreasonably withheld.

(3) If the master of a ship fails to comply with this section, he shall, in respect of each offence, be guilty of a misdemeanour, and in any legal proceeding for the offence, it shall lie on the master to prove that the sanction was obtained or could not be obtained or was unreasonably withheld.

Certificate of discharge abroad

31. Where the master of a British ship discharges a seaman at any place out of the United Kingdom, he shall give to that seaman a certificate of discharge in a form approved by the Board of Trade, and, in the case of any certificated officer whose certificate he has retained, shall return that certificate to him.

Repatriation of seamen on termination of service at foreign port.

32. (1) Where the service of a seaman belonging to a British ship terminates at a port out of His Majesty's dominions otherwise than by the consent of the seaman to be discharged during the currency of the agreement, the master of the ship shall, besides giving the certificate of discharge required under this Part of this Act, and besides paying the wages to which the seaman is entitled, make adequate provision in accordance with this Act for his maintenance and for his return to a proper return port, and the proper authority as defined for the purpose in this Part of this Act shall endorse upon the agreement with the crew of the ship which the seaman is leaving the particulars of any provision so made.

(2) If the master fails, without reasonable cause, to comply with this section, the expenses of maintenance and of the journey to the proper return port,—

(a) if defrayed by the seaman, shall be recoverable as wages due to him; and

(b) if defrayed by the proper authority or by any other person, shall (unless the seaman has been guilty of barratry) be a charge upon the ship to which the seaman belonged, and may also be recovered against the person who is the owner of the ship for the time being, or, where the ship has been lost, against the person who was the owner of the ship at the time of the loss, or, where the ship has been transferred to some person not being a British subject, either against the owner for the time being or against the person who was the owner of the ship at the time of the transfer, at the suit of the proper authority or other person defraying the expenses, or, in case they have been allowed to the authority or person out of public money, as a debt to the Crown, either by ordinary process of law or in the court and in the manner in which wages may be recovered by seamen.

(3) This section shall not apply in the case of a foreign seaman who has been shipped at a port out of the United Kingdom and discharged at a port out of the United Kingdom.

Discharge, etc., of seamen on change of ownership of ship at a foreign port.

33. (1) Where a British ship is transferred or disposed of at any port out of His Majesty's dominions, any seaman belonging to that ship shall be discharged unless the seaman consents in writing in the presence of the proper authority as defined for the purpose in this Part of this Act to complete the voyage of the ship if continued.

(2) Where a seaman is so discharged, the provisions of this Part of this Act as to the certificate of discharge, and the return of the seaman to a proper return port, shall apply as if the service of the seaman had terminated otherwise than by the consent of the seaman to be discharged during the currency of the agreement, and shall apply to foreign seamen whether they have been shipped at a port in the United Kingdom or not.

Expenses of medical attendance in case of injury or illness.

34. (1) If the master of, or a seaman belonging to, a ship receives any hurt or injury in the service of the ship, or suffers from any illness (not being venereal disease, or an illness due to his own wilful act or default or to his own misbehaviour), the expense of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance and medicine, and also the expenses of the maintenance of the master or seaman until he is cured, or dies, or is returned to a proper return port, and of his conveyance to the port, and in the case of death the expense (if any) of his burial, shall be defrayed by the owner of the ship, without any deduction on that account from his wages.

(2) If the master or a seaman is on account of any illness temporarily removed from his ship for the purpose of preventing infection, or otherwise for the convenience of the ship, and subsequently returns to his duty, the expense of the removal and of providing the necessary advice and attendance and medicine, and of his maintenance while away from the ship, shall be defrayed in like manner.

(3) The expense of all medicines, surgical and medical advice, and attendance, given to a master or seaman whilst on board his ship shall be defrayed in like manner.

(4) In all other cases any reasonable expenses duly incurred by the owner for any seaman in respect of illness, and also any reasonable expenses duly incurred by the owner in respect of the burial of any seaman who dies whilst on service, shall, if duly proved, be deducted from the wages of the seaman.

Recovery of expenses from owner.

35. (1) If any of the expenses attendant on the illness, hurt, or injury of a seaman which are to be paid under the Merchant Shipping Acts by the master or owner, are paid by any authority on behalf of the Crown, or if any other expenses in respect of the illness, hurt, or injury of any seaman whose wages are not accounted for under the Merchant Shipping Acts to that authority, are so paid, those expenses shall be repaid to the authority by the master or owner of the ship.

(2) If the expenses are not so repaid, the amount thereof shall with costs be a charge upon the ship, and be recoverable from the master or from the owner of the ship for the time being or, where the ship has been lost, from the person who was the owner of the ship at the time of the loss, or where the ship has been transferred to some person not being a British subject, either from the owner for the time being or from the person who was the owner of the ship at the time of the transfer, as a debt to the Crown, either by ordinary process of law or in the court and in the manner in which wages may be recovered by seamen.

(3) In any proceeding for such recovery, a certificate of the facts, signed by the said authority, together with such vouchers (if any) as the case requires, shall be sufficient proof that the said expenses were duly paid by that authority.

Certificate of proper authority required where a seaman is left behind abroad.

36. (1) The master of a British ship shall not leave a seaman behind at any place out of the United Kingdom, ashore or at sea (except where the seaman is discharged in accordance with the Merchant Shipping Acts), unless he previously obtains, endorsed on the agreement with the crew, the certificate of the proper authority as defined for the purpose in this Part of this Act, stating the cause of the seaman being left behind, whether the cause be unfitness or inability to proceed to sea, desertion, or disappearance or otherwise.

(2) The authority to whom an application is made for a certificate under this section may, and, if not a merchant, shall, examine into the grounds on which a seaman is to be left behind, and for that purpose may, if he thinks fit, administer oaths, and may grant or refuse the certificate as he thinks just, but the certificate shall not be unreasonably withheld.

(3) If the master of a ship fails to comply with this section, he shall (without prejudice to his liability under any other provision of the Merchant Shipping Acts) be guilty in respect of each offence of a misdemeanour, and in any legal proceeding for the offence it shall lie on the master to prove that the certificate was obtained or could not be obtained without unreasonable delay to the ship or was unreasonably withheld.

Account of wages in case of seaman left behind on ground of unfitness or inability to proceed to sea.

37. (1) Where a master of a British ship leaves a seaman behind on shore in any place out of the United Kingdom on the ground of his unfitness or inability to proceed to sea, he shall deliver to the person signing the required certificate of the proper authority a full and true account of the wages due to the seaman, and if that person is a consular officer shall deliver the account in duplicate.

(2) If a master fails without reasonable cause to deliver the account, he shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten pounds, and, if he knowingly delivers a false account, he shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, in addition in each case to the payment of the wages.

Payment of wages of seaman left behind on ground of unfitness or inability to proceed to sea.

38. (1) The master shall pay the amount of wages due to a seaman left behind on the ground of his unfitness or inability to proceed to sea, if he is left in a British possession to the seaman himself, and if he is left elsewhere to the British consular officer.

(2) Where payment is made to a British consular officer, that officer shall retain one duplicate of the account delivered to him, and, if satisfied with the account, endorse on the other duplicate a receipt for the payment, and return it to the master, and the master shall deliver the duplicate within forty-eight hours of his return to his port of destination, if that port is in the United Kingdom, to the superintendent at that port, and, if that port is not in the United Kingdom, to the proper authority as defined for the purpose of this Part of this Act.

(3) The payment shall be made, whenever it is practicable, in money, and, when not so practicable, by bills drawn on the owner of the ship, but if payment is made by bill—

(a) the person signing the required certificate of the proper authority shall certify by endorsement on the bill that the bill is drawn for seamen's wages, and shall also endorse on the agreement with the crew the amount for which the bill is drawn, and such further particulars as the Board of Trade require;

(b) if the bill is drawn by the master, the owner of the ship shall be liable to pay the amount to the holder or endorsee thereof; and it shall not be necessary in any proceeding against the owner upon the bill to prove that the master had authority to draw it;

(c) a bill purporting to be drawn and endorsed under this section shall, if produced out of the custody of the Board of Trade or of the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, or of any superintendent, be admissible in evidence: and any endorsement on any such bill purporting to be made in pursuance of this section shall also be admissible as evidence of the facts stated in the endorsement.

(4) If a master fails, without reasonable cause, to make such payment of wages as provided by this section, he shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction, in addition to the payment of the wages, to a fine not exceeding ten pounds.

Application by British consular officer of payment on account of wages of seamen left behind.

39. Where the amount of wages due to a seaman left behind on the ground of his unfitness or inability to proceed to sea is so paid to a British consular officer, that officer shall deal with the sum so paid to him in the following manner, namely:—

(1) If the seaman subsequently obtains employment at or quits the port at which the payment has been made, he shall deduct out of the sum any expenses incurred by him in respect of the maintenance of the seaman under the Merchant Shipping Acts, except such as the owner or master is by the Merchant Shipping Acts required to defray, and shall pay the remainder to the seaman and deliver to him an account of the sums so received and expended on his behalf;

(2) If the seaman dies before his ship quits the port, he shall deal with the sum as part of the property of a deceased seaman; and

(3) If the seaman is sent to a proper return port at the public expense under the Merchant Shipping Acts, he shall account for the sum to the Board of Trade; and the sum, after deducting any expenses duly incurred in respect of the seaman, except such expenses as the master or owner of the ship is required by the Merchant Shipping Acts to pay, shall be dealt with as wages of the seaman.

Regulations as to relief and maintenance of distressed seamen.

40. The Board of Trade shall make regulations with respect to the relief, maintenance, and return to a proper return port of shipwrecked seamen and of seamen found otherwise in distress in any place out of the United Kingdom, and may, by those regulations (in this Act referred to as the distressed seamen regulations), make such conditions as they think fit with regard to that relief, maintenance, and sending to a proper return port, and a seaman shall not have any right to be relieved, maintained, or sent to a proper return port, except in the cases and to the extent and on the conditions provided by those regulations.

Provisions for relief and maintenance of distressed seamen.

41. (1) Where either—

(a) any seamen, whether subjects of His Majesty or not, are found in any place out of the United Kingdom, and have been shipwrecked from any British ship or any of His Majesty's ships, or by reason of having been discharged or left behind from any such ship in any place out of the United Kingdom, are in distress in that place, or

(b) any seamen, being subjects of His Majesty, who have been engaged by any person acting either as principal or agent to serve in a ship belonging to the government or to a subject or citizen of a foreign country, are in distress in any place out of the United Kingdom, the proper authority as defined for the purpose in this Part of this Act may, and, if not a merchant, shall, in accordance with and on the conditions prescribed by the distressed seamen regulations, provide in accordance with this Act for the return of those seamen (who are in this Act included in the term distressed seamen) to a proper return port, and also provide for their necessary clothing and their maintenance until their departure for such a port, and, in addition, in the case of shipwrecked seamen for the repayment of any expenses incurred in their conveyance to port after their shipwreck, and their maintenance while being so conveyed.

(2) The authority shall be paid in respect of the expenses incurred under this section on behalf of distressed seamen such sums as the Board of Trade may allow, and those sums shall, on the production of the bills of disbursements, with the proper vouchers, be paid as provided by this Part of this Act.

Recovery of expenses of relief of distressed seamen.

42. (1) Where any expenses (other than excepted expenses as defined by this section) are incurred by or on behalf of the Crown, or are incurred by the government of a foreign country, and repaid to that government by or on behalf of the Crown, on account of a distressed seaman, either for his maintenance, necessary clothing, conveyance to a proper return port, or in case of death for his burial, or otherwise in accordance with this Act, those expenses (together with the wages, if any, due to the seaman) shall be a charge upon the ship, whether British or foreign, to which the distressed seaman belonged, and shall be a debt to the Crown from the master of the ship, or from the owner of the ship for the time being, or, where the ship has been lost, from the person who was owner of the ship at the time of the loss, or, where the ship has been transferred to some person not being a British subject, either from the owner for the time being or from the person who was the owner of the ship at the time of the transfer, and also, if the ship be a foreign ship, from the person, whether principal or agent, who engaged the seaman for service in the ship.

(2) The debt, in addition to any fines which may have been incurred, may be recovered by the Board of Trade, on behalf of the Crown, either by ordinary process of law or in the court and manner in which wages may be recovered by seamen.

(3) In any proceeding for such recovery the production of the account (if any) of the expenses furnished in accordance with this Act or the distressed seamen regulations, and proof of payment of the expenses by or on behalf of the Board of Trade, shall be primâ facie evidence that the expenses were incurred or repaid under this Act by or on behalf of the Crown.

(4) For the purpose of this section, excepted expenses are expenses incurred in cases where the certificate of the proper authority obtained on leaving a seaman behind states, or the Board of Trade are otherwise satisfied, that the cause of the seaman being left behind is desertion, or disappearance, or imprisonment for misconduct, or discharge from his ship by a naval court on the ground of misconduct, and expenses incurred on account of the return to a proper return port of a distressed seaman who has been discharged at the port at which he was shipped, or at some neighbouring port.

Penalty for forcing seamen on shore.

43. A person belonging to a British ship shall not wrongfully force a seaman on shore and leave him behind or otherwise cause a seaman to be wrongfully left behind at any place, either on shore or at sea, in or out of His Majesty's dominions, and if he does so he shall in respect of each offence be guilty of a misdemeanour.

Deduction from wages and payment to superintendents, etc., of fines.

44. (1) Every fine imposed on a seaman for any act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine shall be deducted as follows (that is to say):—

(b) if the offender enters His Majesty's naval service or is discharged abroad, and the offence and the entry as aforesaid are proved to the satisfaction of the officer in command of the ship he so enters, or of the proper authority by whose sanction he is discharged, as the case may be, the fine shall be deducted as aforesaid and an entry made in the official log-book of the ship and signed by the officer or authority to whose satisfaction the offence is proved.

(2) Every fine so deducted shall be paid—

(a) if the offender is discharged in the United Kingdom, to the superintendent;

(b) if the offender enters His Majesty's naval service, on the return of the ship to its port of destination, if that port is in the United Kingdom, to the superintendent before whom the crew is discharged, or in the case of a home-trade ship to the superintendent at or nearest to the port at which the crew is discharged, and, if the port of destination is not in the United Kingdom, to the proper authority as defined for the purpose of this Part of this Act;

(c) if the offender is discharged at any place out of the United Kingdom, to the proper authority.

(3) A proper authority shall remit any amounts received by them under this section at such times and in such manner, and render such accounts in respect thereof, as the Board of Trade require.

(4) If a master or owner fails without reasonable cause to pay any fine as required by this section, he shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding six times the amount of the fine not so paid.

(5) An act of misconduct for which any fine has been inflicted and paid by, or deducted from the wages of, the seaman, shall not be otherwise punished under the Merchant Shipping Acts.

45. For the purpose of this Part of this Act, either the port at which the seaman was shipped or a port in the country to which he belongs, or some other port agreed to by the seaman, in the case of a discharged seaman, at the time of his discharge, shall be deemed to be a proper return port; Proper return pc

Provided that in the case of a seaman belonging to a British possession who has been shipped and discharged out of the United Kingdom the proper officer may treat a port in the United Kingdom as a proper return port.

46. (1) A seaman may be sent to a proper return port by any reasonable route, either by sea or land, or partly by sea and partly by land. Mode of providi for return.

(2) Provision shall be made for the return of the seaman as to the whole of the route if it is by sea, or as to any part of the route which is by sea, by placing the seaman on board a British ship which is in want of men to make up its complement, or if that is not practicable, by providing the seaman with a passage in any ship, British or foreign, or with the money for his passage, and, as to any part of the route which is by land, by paying the expenses of his journey and of his maintenance during the journey, or providing him with means to pay those expenses.

(3) Where the master of a ship is required under this Part of this Act to provide for the return of a discharged seaman to a proper return port, the master may, instead of providing the seaman's passage, or the expenses of his journey, or of providing the seaman with means to pay his passage or those expenses, deposit with the proper authority such sum as that authority consider sufficient to defray the expenses of the return of the seaman to a proper return port.

(4) The Board of Trade may, by the distressed seamen regulations, make such provision as may be necessary for enabling the proper authority, and in the case of expenses required to be incurred in the United Kingdom any officer named for the purpose by the Board, to defray on behalf of the authority originally making arrangements for the return of a distressed seaman to a proper return port any expenses on account of that seaman which the authority originally acting in respect of him could defray, and any expenses so incurred shall for the purposes of this Part of this Act relating to distressed seamen be deemed to be expenses incurred on behalf of the distressed seaman.

47. If any question arises as to what return port a seaman is to be sent to in any case, or as to the route by which he should be sent that question shall be decided by the proper authority, and, in deciding any question under this provision, the authority shall have regard both to the convenience of the seaman and to the expense involved, and also, where that is the case, to the fact that a British ship which is in want of men to make up its complement is about to proceed to a proper return port. Decision of questions as to return proper authority.

48. (1) Where a distressed seaman is, for the purpose of his return to a proper return port, placed on board a British ship, the authority by whom the seaman is so placed shall endorse on the agreement with the crew of the ship the name of the seaman so placed on board, together with any particulars directed to be endorsed by the distressed seamen regulations. Provisions as to taking distressed seamen on ships.

(2) The master of every British ship shall receive on board his ship, and afford a passage and maintenance to, all distressed seamen whom he is required under this Act to take on board his ship, not exceeding one for every fifty tons burden, and shall during the passage provide every such distressed seaman with a proper berth or sleeping place, effectually protected against sea and weather.

(3) On the production of a certificate, signed by the authority by whose directions any such distressed seaman was received on board, specifying the number and names of the distressed seamen and the time when each of them was received on board, and on a declaration made by the master before a justice of the peace, or any officer authorised to administer an oath, stating the number of days during which each distressed seaman has received maintenance, and stating the full complement of his crew and the actual number of seamen employed on board his ship, and every variation in that number, whilst the distressed seamen received maintenance, the master shall be entitled to be paid, in respect to the maintenance and passage of every seaman so conveyed, maintained, and provided for by him, exceeding the number (if any) wanted to make up the complement of his crew, such sum per diem as the Board of Trade allow.

(4) If any master of a British ship fails without reasonable cause to comply with this section in the case of any distressed seaman, he shall for each offence be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

49. For the purposes of this Part of this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(1) The expression "proper authority" means—

(a) as respects a place out of His Majesty's dominions, the British consular officer, or, if there is no such officer in the place, any two British merchants resident at or near the place, or, if there is only one British merchant so resident, that British merchant; and

(b) as respects a place in a British possession—

(i) in relation to the discharge or leaving behind of seamen, or the payment of fines, a superintendent, or in the absence of any such superintendent, the chief officer of customs at or near the place; and

(ii) in relation to distressed seamen, the governor of the possession, or any person acting under his authority; and

(2) The expression "seamen" includes not only seamen as defined by the principal Act, but also apprentices to the sea service.

(3) The provisions of this Part of this Act shall, for the purpose of sections two hundred and sixty to two hundred and sixty-six of the principal Act (which relate to the application of Part II of that Act), be construed as if they were contained in Part II of that Act.

PART V.

Miscellaneous.

50. (1) The Board of Trade, in conjunction with the Commissioners of Customs, may make regulations enabling the Board of Trade to refuse the registry of any ship by the name by which it is proposed to register that ship if it is already the name of a registered British ship or a name so similar as to be calculated to deceive, and may by those regulations require notice to be given in such manner as may be directed by the regulations before the name of the ship is marked on the ship, or before the name of the ship is entered in the register.

(2) If the registry of a ship by the name by which it is proposed to register that ship is refused by the Board of Trade, or if any requirements of the regulations are not complied with in the case of any ship which it is proposed to register, that ship shall not be registered under the name proposed or until the regulations are complied with, as the case may be.

51. (1) Where it appears to the Commissioners of Customs that there is any doubt as to the title of any ship registered as a British ship to be so registered, they may direct the registrar of the port of registry of the ship to require evidence to be given to his satisfaction that the ship is entitled to be registered as a British ship.

(2) If within such time, not less than thirty days, as the Commissioners fix, satisfactory evidence of the title of the ship to be registered is not so given, the ship shall be subject to forfeiture under Part I of the principal Act.

(3) In the application of section to a port in a British possession, the Governor of the British possession, and, in the application of this section to foreign ports of registry, the Board of Trade, shall be substituted for the Commissioners of Customs.

52. (1) Sub-section (1) of section twenty-one of the principal Act shall be read as if the following words were inserted at the end of that sub-section, "and the registry of the ship in that book shall be considered as closed except so far as relates to any unsatisfied mortgages or existing certificates of mortgage entered therein."

(2) It is hereby declared that where the registry of a ship is considered as closed under sub-section (1) of section twenty-one of the principal Act as amended by this section, or under sub-section (10) of section forty-four of that Act, on account of a transfer to persons not qualified to be owners of British ships, any unsatisfied registered mortgage (including mortgages made under a certificate of mortgage) may, if the ship comes within the jurisdiction of any court in His Majesty's dominions which has jurisdiction to enforce the mortgage, or would have had such jurisdiction if the transfer had not been made, be enforced by that court notwithstanding the transfer, without prejudice, in cases where the ship has been sold under a judgment of a court, to the effect of that judgment.

53. The following sub-section shall be substituted for sub-section (2) of section forty-eight of the principal Act:—

"(2) If default is made in registering anew a ship, or in registering an alteration of a ship so altered as aforesaid, the owner of the ship shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds, and in addition to a fine not exceeding five pounds for every day during which the offence continues after conviction."

54. (1) For the purpose of enabling spaces used for water ballast to be deducted in ascertaining the register tonnage of a ship, section seventy-nine of the principal Act shall be read as if the words—

"(iv) Any space (other than a double bottom) adapted only for water ballast and" were added at the end of paragraph (a) of sub-section (1) of that section.

(2) For the purpose of obtaining the benefit of a deduction under this section the owner of any existing ship who claims to be entitled to the deduction may apply to the Board of Trade to have the necessary remeasurements of his ship made, and the Board of Trade, on the payment of such fee, not exceeding in any case one-fifth of the corresponding maximum fee fixed by the Third Schedule to the principal Act, as they may authorise, shall direct those measurements to be made, and the number denoting the register tonnage shall be altered accordingly.

55. Sub-section (1) of section eighty-four of the principal Act shall be read as if the following words were added thereto, namely, "and any space shown by the certificate of registry or other national papers of any such ship as deducted from tonnage on account of being occupied by seamen or apprentices, and appropriated to their use, shall be deemed to have been certified under this Act, and to comply with the provisions of this Act which apply to such a space in the case of British ships, unless a surveyor of ships certifies to the Board of Trade that the construction and the equipment of the ship as respects that space do not come up to the standard required under this Act in the case of a British ship, and if any question arises whether the construction and the equipment of the ship so come up to the required standard a surveyor of ships may inspect the ship for purpose of determining whether such a certificate should be given by him or not."

56. The following paragraph shall be substituted for paragraph (b) of sub-section (1) of section ninety-two of the principal Act (which relates to the certificates of competency to be held by officers of ships):—

"(b) If the ship is of one hundred tons burden or upwards with at least one officer besides the master holding a certificate not lower than that of—

(i) mate in the case of a home trade passenger ship;

(ii) second mate in the case of a foreign-going sailing ship of not more than two hundred tons burden; and

(iii) only mate in the case of any other foreign-going ship."

57. In any action or other legal proceedings by the master of a ship for the recovery of any sum due to him on account of wages, the court may, if it appears to them that the payment of the sum due has been delayed otherwise than owing to the act or default of the master, or to any reasonable dispute as to liability, or to any other cause not being the wrongful act or default of the person liable to make the payment, order that person to pay, in addition to any sum due on account of wages, such sum as they think just as damages in respect of the delay, without prejudice to any claim which may be made by the master on that account.

58. (1) For the purpose of reducing the period of service required as a qualification for the rating of A.B., the period of "three years before the mast" shall be substituted for the period of "four years before the mast," and "two years of that employment" shall be substituted for "three years of that employment," and "two or more years sea service" shall be substituted for "three or more years sea service," in section one hundred and twenty-six of the principal Act.

(2) Any superintendent or other officer before whom a seaman is engaged shall refuse to enter the seaman as A.B. on the agreement with the crew unless the seaman gives such satisfactory proof as is required by section one hundred and twenty-six of the principal Act of his title to be so rated; and if any seaman, for the purpose of obtaining a rating as A.B., makes any false statement or false representation, he shall be liable on summary conviction in respect of each offence to a fine not exceeding five pounds.

59. (1) Where the master of a ship disrates a seaman he shall forthwith enter or cause to be entered in the official log-book a statement of the disrating, and furnish the seaman with a copy of the entry; and any reduction of wages consequent on the disrating shall not take effect until the entry has been so made and the copy so furnished.

(2) Any reduction of wages consequent on the disrating of a seaman shall be deemed to be a deduction from wages within the meaning of sections one hundred and thirty-two and one hundred and thirty-three of the principal Act (which relate to the delivery of the account of wages and the allowance of deductions therefrom).

60. Notwithstanding anything in section one hundred and thirty-six of the principal Act, a seaman may except from the release signed by him under that section any specified claim or demand against the master or owner of the ship, and a note of any claim or demand so excepted shall be entered upon the release. The release shall not operate as a discharge and settlement of any claim or demand so noted, nor shall sub-section (4) of that section apply to any payment, receipt, or settlement made with respect to any such claim or demand.

61. In order to give effect to the provisions of section one hundred and forty-one of the principal Act enabling a seaman to require a stipulation for the allotment of his wages by means of an allotment note, every superintendent or other officer before whom the

(2) Any surveyor of ships who before the passing of this Act has been appointed as a shipwright surveyor, or both as a shipwright surveyor and an engineer surveyor, shall be deemed to have been appointed as a ship surveyor, or both as a ship surveyor and an engineer surveyor, as the case may be.

(3) The surveys required to be made under section two hundred and seventy-two of the principal Act by a ship surveyor and by an engineer surveyor may be made by the same person if that person has been appointed both as a ship surveyor and as an engineer surveyor, and that section shall be construed accordingly.

(4) The Board of Trade may, under sub-section (2) of section seven hundred and twenty-four of the principal Act, in addition to appointing a surveyor-general of ships, appoint such other principal officers in connection with the survey of ships and other matters incidental thereto, as the Board think fit.

Return to be furnished by masters of ships as to passengers.

76. (1) The master of every ship, whether a British or foreign ship, which carries any passenger to a place in the United Kingdom from any place out of the United Kingdom, or from any place in the United Kingdom to any place out of the United Kingdom, shall furnish to such person and in such manner as the Board of Trade direct a return giving the total number of any passengers so carried, distinguishing, if so directed by the Board, the total number of any class of passengers so carried, and giving, if the Board of Trade so direct, such particulars with respect to passengers as may be for the time being required by the Board.

(2) Any passenger shall furnish the master of the ship with any information required by him for the purpose of the return.

(3) If the master of a ship fails to make a return as required by this section, or makes a false return, and if any passenger refuses to give any information required by the master of the ship for the purpose of the return required by this section, or gives any false information for the purpose, the master or passenger shall be liable for each offence on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds.

Return as to cattlemen brought to the United Kingdom.

77. (1) The master of every ship which carries any cattlemen to any port in the United Kingdom from any port out of the United Kingdom shall furnish to such person and in such manner as the Secretary of State directs a return giving such particulars with respect to any cattlemen so carried as may be required for the time being by order of the Secretary of State, and every such cattleman shall furnish the master of the ship with any information required by him for the purpose of the return.

(2) If the master of a ship fails to make the return required by this section, or makes a false return, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds, and if any cattleman refuses to give information required by the master for the purpose of the return under this section, or gives any false information for the purpose, he shall be liable on summary conviction to imprisonment with hard labour for a term not exceeding three months.

(3) For the purpose of this section the expression "cattleman" means any person who is engaged or employed to attend during the voyage of the ship on any cattle carried therein as cargo.

Dispensing powers of the Board of Trade.

78. (1) The Board of Trade may, if they think fit, and upon such conditions (if any) as they think fit to impose, exempt any ship from any specified requirement contained in, or prescribed in pursuance of, the Merchant Shipping Acts, or dispense with the observance of any such requirement in the case of any ship, if they are satisfied that that requirement has been substantially complied with in the case of that ship, or that compliance with the requirement is unnecessary in the circumstances of the case, and that the action taken or provision made as respects the subject-matter of the requirement in the case of the ship is as effective as, or more effective than, actual compliance with the requirement.

(2) The Board of Trade shall annually lay before both Houses of Parliament a special report stating the cases in which they have exercised their powers under this section during the preceding year, and the grounds upon which they have acted in each case.

Power to appoint advisory committees.

79. (1) The Board of Trade may, if they think fit, appoint committees for the purpose of advising them when considering the making or alteration of any rules, regulations, or scales for the purpose of the Merchant Shipping Acts, consisting of such persons as they may appoint representing the interests principally affected, or having special knowledge of the subject matter.

(2) There shall be paid to the members of any such committee, out of moneys provided by the Parliament, such travelling and other allowances as the Board of Trade fix with the consent of the Treasury.

(3) Committees may be appointed under this section to advise the Board of Trade specially as regards any special rules, regulations, or scales, or generally as regards any class or classes of rules, regulations, or scales which the Board may assign to them.

Power to register Government ships under the Merchant Shipping Acts.

80. (1) His Majesty may by Order in Council make regulations with respect to the manner in which Government ships may be registered as British ships for the purpose of the Merchant Shipping Acts, and those Acts, subject to any exceptions and modifications which may be made by Order in Council, either generally or as respects any special class of Government ships, shall apply to Government ships registered in accordance with those regulations as if they were registered in manner provided by those Acts.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall affect the powers of the Legislature of any British possession to regulate any Government ships under the control of the Government of that possession.

(3) In this section the expression "Government ships" means ships not forming part of His Majesty's Navy which belong to His Majesty, or are held by any person on behalf of or for the benefit of the Crown, and for that reason cannot be registered under the principal Act.

81. (1) Sections four hundred and thirteen to four hundred and sixteen of the principal Act (which relate to certificates of skippers and second hands on trawlers) shall apply to fishing boats being trawlers of twenty-five tons tonnage and upwards going to sea from any port of Scotland in like manner as they apply to such fishing boats going to sea from any port of England or Ireland, except that in section four hundred and fifteen the date of the commencement of this Act shall be substituted for the dates mentioned in that section, and Part IV of the principal Act shall be construed accordingly. Application of certain sections of principal Act to Scotland.

(2) The sections aforesaid as hereby applied to Scotland shall, notwithstanding anything contained in Part IV of the principal Act, be deemed to be portions or provisions of Part IV referred to in section three hundred and sixty-nine of the principal Act (conferring power on the Board of Trade to make exempting or extending orders), and that section (with the substitution of the Edinburgh Gazette for the London Gazette) and Part IV shall be construed accordingly: Provided that any Order to be published in the Edinburgh Gazette under that section shall be subject to the consent of the Secretary for Scotland.

82. The principal Act in its application to Scotland is amended as follows:— Amendment of procedure in Scotland.

(1) Sub-section one of section two hundred and thirty-seven of the principal Act is hereby amended by the addition thereto of the following words: "And such person found on board without consent as aforesaid may be taken before any sheriff or justice of the peace without warrant, and such sheriff or justice may summarily hear the case, and, on proof of the offence, convict such offender as aforesaid."

(2) The provisions of section six hundred and eighty of the principal Act shall apply to Scotland.

(3) Section seven hundred and two of the principal Act shall be amended by the deletion of the words "by criminal libel at the instance of the procurator fiscal of the county before the sheriff," and every offence referred to in section seven hundred and two of the principal Act may be prosecuted by indictment.

(4) The words "or misdemeanours" in section seven hundred and three of the principal Act are hereby repealed.

83. Section seven hundred and forty-four of the principal Act (which relates to the application of that Act to certain fishing vessels) shall not apply to ships engaged in the whale fisheries off the coast of Scotland and registered at ports in Scotland, and accordingly there shall be added at the end of that section the words "and of ships engaged in the whale fisheries off the coast of Scotland and registered at ports in Scotland." Amendment of section 744 of 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60, as respects Scottish whalers.

PART VI.

Supplemental.

84. (1) In this Act the expression "principal Act" means the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, and the expression "Merchant Shipping Acts" means the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1894 to 1900, and this Act. Construction of references to Merchant Shipping Acts. 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(2) Any reference in this Act to any provision of the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1894 to 1900, which has been amended by any subsequent Act or is amended by this Act, shall be construed as a reference to the provision as so amended.

85. The enactments mentioned in the Second Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule. Repeal.

86. (1) This Act may be cited as the Merchant Shipping Act, 1906, and shall be construed as one with the principal Act, and the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1894 to 1900, and this Act may be cited together as the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1894 to 1906. Short title and commencement.

(2) This Act shall, save as otherwise expressly provided, come into operation on the first day of June nineteen hundred and seven.

Conditions and Exceptions in applying Scale.

1. The issue of provisions for which a total weekly, and no daily, amount is given in the above scale shall be reasonably distributed throughout the week.

2. The issue of soft bread under the scale shall not be required—

(a) in a ship of less than one thousand tons gross registered tonnage; or

(b) if rough weather renders the making of the bread impracticable; or

(c) in any ship until the date of the first agreement with the crew entered into after the first day of January nineteen hundred and eight;

but where soft bread is not issued, an equivalent amount of biscuit shall be issued instead.

3. An equal quantity of fish, up to an amount not exceeding three-quarters of a pound in any one week, may be substituted for preserved meat under the above scale.

The fish issued, whether under the scale or as a substitute, must be fresh fish, dried fish, or canned salmon or canned herrings.

4. Within the tropics, a pound and a half of preserved meat or three pounds of fresh meat may be substituted for two pounds of salt pork.

5. Fresh potatoes must be issued for at least the first eight weeks of the voyage in the case of every ship leaving a port within the home trade limits at any time between the last day of September and the first day of May, and at any other time when they can be procured at a reasonable cost.

When fresh potatoes are not so issued, an equal amount of yams, or vegetables preserved in tins, or an equivalent amount of dried or compressed potatoes or dried or compressed vegetables in the proportion of one pound to six pounds of fresh potatoes, must be issued in their place.

6. Fresh vegetables, or vegetables preserved in tins, may at any time be substituted for dried or compressed vegetables in the proportion of half a pound of fresh vegetables, or vegetables preserved in tins, to one ounce of dried or compressed vegetables.

7. A mixture of coffee and chicory containing not less than seventy-five per cent. of coffee may at any time be substituted for coffee in the proportion of five ounces of the mixture to four ounces of coffee.

8. The dried fruit issued under the above scale must be raisins, sultanas, currants, figs, or prunes.

9. The onions to be issued under the above scale must be fresh onions when in season, and, when fresh onions are not in season, an equal amount of onions or vegetables preserved in tins, or an equivalent amount of dried or compressed onions or vegetables in the proportion of one ounce to half a pound of fresh onions must be issued.

10. In port—

(a) soft bread shall be issued in lieu of biscuit; and

(b) when procurable at a reasonable cost, a pound and a half of fresh meat and half a pound of fresh vegetables shall be issued daily, and, when fresh meat and fresh vegetables are so issued, salt and preserved meat and dried or compressed vegetables need not be issued.

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 25th October 1906.

From the 10th November next till further notice, the complete Gazette of India will be published at Calcutta. After the 3rd November all notifications and other matter intended for publication in the Gazette should be addressed to the Publisher, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901 :—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette, and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777—79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

J. P. HEWETT,

Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. Royal 8vo volumes, paper cover, 13 annas or 1*s*. 1*d*. Postage extra. To be had of the Superintendent, Government Printing, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, or of the Superintendent, Patents Branch, Department of Commerce and Industry, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

H. G. GRAVES,
Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888.

SURVEY OF INDIA.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 12th February 1907.

No. 209.—An examination for admission to the Provincial Service of the Survey of India will commence on the 26th August next at Calcutta, Dehra Dún, Mussooree, Bangalore, Poona and Maymyo.

The number of vacancies offered for this year's examination will probably be 6, of which 1 will probably be for native candidates.

Applications for rules (a copy of which is printed below) should be addressed to the Assistant Surveyor General, in charge Surveyor General's Office, 13, Wood Street, Calautta.

No application to appear as a candidate for the examination will be entertained after the 30th June 1907.

It is probable that this special departmental examination will not be held in future.

T. F. B. RENNY-TAILYOUR,
Bt. Lieut.-Colonel, R.E.,
For Surveyor General of India.

SURVEY OF INDIA.

(Vide R. & A. Department No. 53—157—2, dated the 4th January 1901).

MEMO. OF INSTRUCTIONS FOR APPLICANTS FOR THE PROVINCIAL SERVICE OF THE SURVEY OF INDIA.

1st.—Every candidate for the Survey of India must forward his application in writing to the Surveyor General, accompanied by such certificates as to age (Baptismal Certificate required in case of European and Eurasian Candidates), moral character, education, soundness of health, and good eye-sight as will clearly establish his suitability for employment. The application must further be accompanied by *specimens of Plan and Freehand drawing. The candidate's name having been registered, he will be informed of the time and place of examination, when decided on. The examination papers will be issued from the Trigonometrical Branch Office in Dehra Dún.

2nd.—No application can be entertained from any individual whose age at the date of the completion of the examination will be under 18 or above 22 years, except in the case of Natives whose maximum age is fixed at 24 years. The Surveyor General, however, has the power to extend the age limit to 30 years in the case of those candidates who are at the time in pensionable service in the subordinate grades of the Survey of India. No person who is married or is likely to be soon married will be admitted unless of pure Asiatic origin. Candidates, if of European parentage, must be Statutory Natives of India and have at least passed the High School Pass examination or First Arts examination at an Indian University having qualified in Algebra as one of the subjects, and if Natives the F. A. Pass examination.

3rd.—Candidates must be prepared to undergo the examination detailed below, which will give them entrance to the Training School at Dehra; no candidate will be considered to have qualified unless he gets 50 per cent. of the marks in Mathematics and 30 per cent. of the total marks in Drawing.

4th.—Examinations will be held in August as a rule. The most suitable of the candidates who qualify will be selected.

5th.—When under examination for the Department, the candidate must sign the Bond printed on the reverse of this paper.

6th.—The selected candidates will enter the Department as Probationary Sub-Assistant Superintendents, 3rd grade, on a salary of R120 per mensem, and they must pass out of the Training School within a maximum limit of 2 years. They will not be confirmed in their appointments until they have served at least 1 year in a field party and have been well reported on.

7th.—As Surveyors are liable to much exposure and to work in trying climates, the medical certificate should particularly specify that the candidate is of good physique and is likely to stand hard work, such as riding and walking long distances. The medical certificate should be in the form as given overleaf, signed by a Medical officer in Government employ not lower in rank than Lieutenant. During his course at the Training School should he prove to be in the opinion of the Superintendent, Trigonometrical Surveys, physically unfitted for the Department, that officer may demand a further certificate of fitness.

Persons whose names are on the Jury List liable to serve subject to objection.

VI. Subject to the provisions hereinbefore contained and subject to the right of objection contained in section 278 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, any person whose name shall be on the Jury List then in force shall be qualified and liable to serve as a Juror as aforesaid.

List of Special and Common Jurors to be summoned for each Session, when and by whom to be prepared, and number of names to be contained therein.

VII. On some day not less than two weeks before the commencement of each Session, one of the Judges of the High Court shall cause to be made out lists of the persons to be summoned as Special and Common Jurors, respectively, for such Session. The list of Special Jurors shall contain the names of not less than twenty-seven and the list of Common Jurors the names of not less than fifty-four persons of those respectively included in the list of Special and Common Jurors. The list shall be respectively called 'The Special Jurors' List' and 'The Common Jurors' List' for the particular Session, designating it by the date on which it is to commence, and shall be prepared as follows:—

List of Special Jurors how prepared.

(1) The names of all persons, if any, ordered to be entered in the list of Special Jurors for such Session under Rule VIII, XI or XVI, shall be first entered in the said list, unless the Judge shall be satisfied as regards any one or more of such persons that he or they will be unable, from illness or or other sufficient cause, to attend at such Session, in which case the name of such person may be set aside in the same manner as it might have been set aside under Rule VIII, if the name had been drawn by lot for such Session. The Judge shall then cause to be drawn by lot the names of such a number of persons qualified and liable to serve on Special Juries as, with those already on the list, will, subject to the provisions of these rules, make up double the number of persons required for the trial of the cases committed to such Sessions triable under the provisions of section 276 of the Code of Criminal Procedure by special Juries, and the names of such persons shall be entered upon and form the list of Special Jurors liable to serve and to be summoned as Special Jurors for such Session.

List of Common Jurors how prepared.

(2) In like manner the names of all persons, if any, ordered to be entered in the Common Jurors' list for such Session under Rule VIII, XI or XVI, shall be first entered in the said list, unless the Judge shall be satisfied as regards any of them that such person will be unable, from illness or other sufficient cause, to attend at such Session, in which case the name of such person may be set aside in the same manner as it might have been set aside under Rule VIII, if his name had been drawn by lot for that Session. The Judge shall then cause to be drawn by lot the names of such a number of persons qualified and liable to serve on Common Juries as, with the names already on the list, will, subject to the provisions of these rules, make up double the number of persons required for the trial of the cases committed to such Sessions not triable by Special Juries and the names of such persons shall be entered upon and form the list of Common Jurors liable to serve and to be summoned as Common Jurors for such Session.

Mode of proceedings to draw the names of the Special and Common Jurors to be summoned.

VIII. The mode of proceedings to draw the names of such Special and Common Jurors, respectively, shall be as follows:—

The names of all the Jurors in the list of Special and Common Jurors, respectively, prepared by the Clerk of the Crown, shall be numbered consecutively. The number attached in the list of Special Jurors to the name of each Juror liable to be summoned as a Special Juror for the Session for which the list of Special Jurors is to be prepared, shall be written on a bone or ivory counter, the several counters being all, as nearly as may be, of equal size and shape, and such counters shall be put together by the Clerk of the Crown into a box, and on the day to be fixed for drawing the names of the Jurors, the Clerk of the Crown shall, in open Court, draw, or cause to be drawn, the said counters one after the other, until the requisite number of Special Jurors shall be obtained. The Juror on the Special Jurors' List, whose number on such list shall correspond with the number drawn, shall, subject to the provision in these rules, be entered in the Special Jurors' List for the Session, and a number denoting the order in which the name of each Juror is so drawn shall be set against the name of such Juror in the Special Jury List for the Session.

A similar course, mutatis mutandis, shall be adopted in drawing the names of the Common Jurors.

Names of deceased person or persons not liable to serve or excused from service to be set aside.

Names of persons excused from service to be entered in list for future service.

The Judge may order the name of any person who has actually served as a Juror in the preceding year and of any person known, or believed to be dead, absent from Calcutta, or likely to be unable from illness or otherwise to attend, or known, or believed not to be qualified or liable to serve as a Juror under this rule, to be set aside; (and, in every such case, an additional name shall be drawn in lieu of that so set aside, and the Judge, if he think fit, may order the name of any person so set aside, except on account of death or disqualification, to be entered on the list of Special and Common Jurors, as the case may be, for any subsequent Session to be then fixed.

Order in which names to be arranged in lists with additions and place of abode.

IX. The names and places of abode of the several persons included in such Special and Common Jurors' Lists for the Session, shall be written therein and numbered in the order in which they shall have been drawn, and such lists shall be signed by the Judge.

Copy of lists to be annexed to Precept to Sheriff to summon Special Jurors in numerical order.

X. A copy of such lists shall be annexed to a Precept to the Sheriff, commanding him to summon such Special and Common Jurors, on the dates on which their attendance is likely to be required. Special Jurors may be required to attend on the dates notified to them by advertisement published in any public newspaper.

Name of Juror excused attending at one Session, on condition of his serving at a subsequent Session, to be inserted in the list for such Session.

XI. Any person whose name is included in the Special or Common Jurors' List for any Session may apply to the Clerk of the Crown to cause him to be excused from attendance as a Juror, either generally or at the particular Session. Such application shall be made at least three days before the day fixed for the commencement of the Session, and shall specify the grounds upon which the application is made. The Clerk of the Crown shall, as soon as possible after the last day allowed for making such application, bring them before one of the Judges of the Court, and such Judge shall pass orders thereupon, which shall be communicated by the Clerk of the Crown to the respective applicants. If the Judge shall think fit to excuse any of the applicants from attendance at the particular Session, he may do so unconditionally, or on condition of his serving at the next or some subsequent Session to be fixed, and any such conditional order shall operate as an authority to the Clerk of the Crown to include the name of such person in the list for such subsequent Session under the provisions of Rule VI.

Jurors to be summoned three days before the first day of the Session.

XII. Every person named in the lists mentioned in Rule IX shall forthwith, or as soon as possible after the receipt of the Precept by the Sheriff, be summoned by him to attend at the Session for which he shall have been appointed to serve as a Juror, and on the date mentioned in the list for his attendance and such summons shall be served at least seven days before the dates on which their attendance is required.

Service of summons or process by post.

XIII. A summons to a Juror who resides out of the limits of the Town of Calcutta and to whom access at his office or place of business within such limits is denied to the Sheriff's Officer, as also all notices, orders, or other proceedings required to be served on him, shall, unless otherwise ordered, be addressed to him at his office or place of business aforesaid, or at his place of residence, and forwarded to him by post duly registered. The transmission by post as aforesaid of every such summons, or notice or of a copy, authenticated by the seal of the Court, of every such order or other proceeding, shall, unless good cause be shown to the contrary, be deemed sufficient service thereof.

Personally.

XIV. In all other cases every such summons, notice, order, or other proceeding, shall, unless otherwise ordered, be served on a juror personally.

Sheriff to return Precept with two panels, one of Special Jurors, the other of Common Jurors, showing in tabular form names and particulars of service, and accounting for non-service.

XV. The Sheriff shall, as soon as possible after service of the summons, and not later than three days before the commencement of the Session, return the Precept to the Clerk of the Crown, with two panels annexed thereto, one of the Special Jurors, and one of the Common Jurors, which panels shall show in a tabular form the names of the persons summoned and the particulars of service upon each; and if any person or persons named in the lists annexed to the Precept shall not have been served, the panel shall state that fact, and the reason why such person or persons has or have not been summoned, and in every case the reason why such service has not been effected shall be verified by the affidavit of the Officer whose duty it was to effect such service, and such affidavit shall be filed with the Clerk of the Crown, with the return to the Precept.

Sheriff's return to be immediately laid before a Judge for orders.

XVI. On the receipt of such return the Clerk of the Crown shall, without delay, bring the same before one of the Judges of the Court. The said Judge may, if necessary, examine the Sheriff's Officer or Officers as to the truth of such return, and as to the circumstances of the service or of the absence of service on any person, and may direct service to be made upon the person or persons not already served in such manner as to him shall seem fit. The Judge, if he think fit, may cause the name of any person returned by the Sheriff as not summoned to be entered on the list of Jurors, either Special or Common, as the case may be, for any subsequent Session to be fixed by the Judge.

If sufficient number of Jurors not served, further names of Jurors to be drawn by lot, as provided by Rule VIII.

XVII. If the Judge shall be of opinion that the number of jurors named in either of the said lists who shall have been served is not likely to be sufficient, he may cause to be drawn by lot, in the mode provided by Rule VIII, such further number of names as may be requisite.

Copy of Supplementary Lists to be annexed to additional Precept to Sheriff. Sheriff's return.

XVIII. Such lists shall be called the Supplemental Lists of Special or Common Jurors, as the case may be, and shall be prepared and signed in the manner hereinbefore provided with respect to the original lists, and copies thereof shall be sent to the Sheriff with an additional Precept, and the Sheriff shall, as soon as possible after the receipt of such additional Precept, cause the persons named therein to be summoned to attend at the Session, and shall return the Precept to the Court not later than one clear day before the dates on which the attendance of these jurors is required with a panel similar to that provided by Rule XV in respect of the original lists and Precept.

XIX. In order to nominate a Jury for the trial of any prisoner or other person to be tried by Jury, the Clerk of the Crown shall cause to be put together into one box cards or pieces of parchment containing the names of all the persons summoned to serve on the Common Jury for the Session, if the trial is to take place before a Common Jury, or on the Special Jury, if the trial is to take place before a Special Jury, except such of the said persons as shall have been excused by the Judge from serving on that day in consequence of his having served as a Juror on the previous day, or for any other cause. Such cards or pieces of parchment shall be, as nearly as may be, of equal size, and each shall bear the name of one person summoned to serve on the Jury for that Session. The Clerk of the Crown shall then in open Court draw or cause to be drawn out of the said box nine of the said cards or pieces of parchment, one after another; and if any of the Jurors whose name shall be so drawn shall not appear, then such further number shall be drawn till nine Jurors shall appear. The prisoner or person to be tried shall be informed that, if he desires to object to any Juror, he must make his objection before the Juror is sworn. The names of the Jurors shall then be called aloud; and if, upon any challenge or objection either by the Government or the party to be tried, or for any other lawful cause, any juror is not allowed to serve, or is exempted from serving, the Clerk of the Crown shall draw out another card or piece of parchment from the said box, and so on, until nine jurors shall have been drawn who shall be allowed to serve.

Jury how to be drawn and empanelled.

XX. If, by reason of absence, or disallowance on challenge, or any other cause, there be a deficiency of jurors, the Court may command the Sheriff, or other Officer, to name or summon a sufficient number of persons to make up a full Jury, and the Sheriff, or other Officer shall, at such command of the Court, return such men duly qualified to serve as shall be then present, or can be found to serve on such Jury, and the course of proceeding shall be the same as if their names had been returned in the panel and drawn by ballot under rule XIX; provided that, in case of a Special Jury, the additional jurors may be taken from the list of Common Jurors summoned to serve at the same Session if a sufficient number of jurors qualified to serve as Special Jurors shall not be present in Court.

Proceedings in case of deficient jurors.

XXI. After each Session the Clerk of the Crown shall make an entry in the List of Jurors opposite the names of those who shall have served at such Session or shall have been summoned to serve at such Session and shall not have made default, together with the date of service, or of the Session for which he shall have been summoned to serve.

After every Session entry to be made against the name of each non-defaulting juror.

XXIA. On the conclusion of any trial whether tried by a Special or Common Jury, the Presiding Judge may direct that the persons who have served as jurors at such trial shall be exempted from service as jurors for the period of not more than two years, and the names of the persons so exempted shall not be entered on the Lists of Special and Common Juries for any Sessions during such period, unless Juries for the trial of cases committed to the Sessions during such period cannot be made up without them.

XXII. No person shall be summoned to serve upon any inquest before a Coroner unless he is on the Common Jury List, nor, except in the case of necessity, within the period of twelve months after he shall have served on a Coroner's inquest or shall have been summoned to serve on a Coroner's inquest, and shall not have made default. The Coroner shall keep a copy of the Common Jury List, and shall enter therein the names of the persons who shall have served or been summoned to serve and not made default, and the date of the inquest at which such juror shall have served or for which he shall have been summoned to serve.

Only persons on Common Jury List eligible to serve on Coroner's inquest and except in case of necessity, no juror to be summoned again within twelve months.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 h., on Thursday, the 21st February 1907, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The depression from Persia, which at the close of the previous week had commenced affecting the weather in north-west India, became very diffused in character after entering the Indian region, and as it moved across northern India was hardly discernible as a definite depression, but it introduced low pressure conditions and generally unsettled weather which gave widespread rain in all parts of north-west India as well as in the United Provinces, Central India, the Central Provinces, Chota Nagpur and Bihar. On the 18th the barometer fell very rapidly in upper India, and a well defined depression of probably local origin appeared in the north Punjab causing heavy snowfall in Kashmir and the west Himalayas, and light to moderately heavy rain in the Frontier Province and the submontane Punjab. This depression was, however, shortlived and had practically disappeared by the morning of the 19th. On the next day pressure rose rapidly in northern India, and by the end of the week weather was settled and skies clear over nearly the whole country.

Burma.—Mergui reported a fall of 1·25″ of rain on the 21st. Skies were almost clear, and temperature nearly normal.

North-east India and Orissa.—A few falls of rain occurred in Orissa and eastern Bengal and Assam on the 15th, and rain was general in Chota Nagpur and south Bihar on the 20th. Cloud extended over the whole division on the 20th but skies were clear generally on other days except in Bihar, Chota Nagpur and Orissa. Temperature was nearly normal except for an excess at night during the prevalence of cloud.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Widespread rain occurred on the 18th, 19th and 20th, and a few falls on the 17th; and skies were cloudy during the greater part of the week. Temperature was generally below normal by day and in excess by night.

North-west India.—Precipitation was reported every day except the 21st and was most widespread from the 16th to the 19th during which period it occurred in all parts of the division. Skies were more or less overcast during the greater part of the week but by the 21st they had cleared except in Baluchistan and Kashmir. Temperature was in defect by day throughout the week, at night it was normal or in excess until the skies commenced clearing after the rain when it fell, and on the 20th it was in defect everywhere.

The Peninsula.—Light rain fell at Malegaon and Aurangabad on the 18th, and at Pamban and Tinnevelly on the 19th. Light cloud was reported from most stations on the 17th but on other days skies were clear or only lightly clouded. Temperature was practically normal except for a slight excess in the minimum during the first part of the week on the Konkan and parts of the Deccan.

The rainfall of the period from the 30th November to the 21st February is now only twenty per cent. in defect in Baluchistan as against fifty-four per cent. last week. A deficiency is also shown in the sub-divisions of Dinajpur, Calcutta and Mandalay and on the Burma Coast. In all other parts of the country rainfall is either practically normal or in excess.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 h., each day:

February 15th, False Point 1·21".

" 16th, Quetta 0·53", Jacobabad 0·35", Hyderabad (Sind) 0·45" and Kurrachee 0·49".

" 17th, Murree 1·73", Rawalpindi 1·37", Peshawar 0·70" and Quetta 0·42".

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 16th February 1907.

Burma.—Half an inch of rain fell in the Ruby Mines district. Reaping of late wet weather paddy is completed everywhere; winnowing is completed in Akyab, Sandoway, Hanthawaddy and Tavoy. Transplanting of dry weather paddy is completed in Prome and in the Thabeitkyin sub-division of the Ruby Mines district. Clearing of hill sides for paddy cultivation has commenced in Thayetmyo, Myitkyna, and Katha. Reaping of maize and sesamum is completed in the Pakokku township. Reaping of cold weather crops is completed in the Chin Hills and plucking of tobacco in the Northern Shan States. The standing crops are in good condition. The price of paddy has risen in Tavoy, Akyab, and Mergui and slightly in five other districts; it has fallen largely in Myitkyina and slightly in three other districts.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain fell in all districts except Tippera, Dinajpur, Goalpara, Darrang, and Nowgong. More rain is wanted in some districts. The prospects of the standing crops are generally fair. Ploughing for and transplantation of paddy and preparation of land for jute, hot weather crops and til are going on. Harvesting of mustard; plucking of cotton; pruning of tea; and pressing of sugarcane are in progress. Prices of common rice:—Manipur $14\frac{1}{2}$; Comilla $9\frac{7}{16}$; Silchar 9 to $9\frac{1}{4}$; Rangamati, Kohima, Dacca, and Chittagong 9; Faridpur $6\frac{1}{2}$ to 9; Pabna $8\frac{1}{2}$; Dinajpur $8\frac{2}{3}$; Mymensingh, Bogra, Malda, Gauhati, Tezpur, Nowgong, and Sibsagar 8; Barisal, Rampur Boalia, Jalpaiguri, Dhubri, and Sylhet $7\frac{1}{2}$; Dibrughar $7\frac{1}{2}$; Noakhali 7; Tura 6 to 7; Rangpur $6\frac{3}{4}$; and Shillong and Aijal 6 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in four; fallen in seven; and remained stationary in the remaining districts. Five hundred and thirty-two persons received gratuitous relief in Sylhet.

Bengal.—Light rain was fairly general in Bengal Proper, South Bihar and Chota Nagpur. Some scattered showers fell in the rest of the Province. The prospects of the standing crops are on the whole fair, but some damage has been done by the heavy rainfall of the previous week to the early spring crops in Patna, Shahabad, Hazaribagh and Palamau. Sugarcane-pressing continues. The number of persons receiving gratuitous relief is—Muzaffarpur 440 and Darbhanga 14,763. The number of persons on test works is—Champaran 107, Muzaffarpur 596 and Darbhanga 1,902. The number on relief works in Darbhanga is 53,131. Fodder and water are sufficient, except in parts of Jessore. The price of common rice has risen in two and fallen in eight districts.

United Provinces.—There was light rain all over the Province during the week and it was generally beneficial, but a break is now needed. Fields are being prepared for the cultivation of sugarcane and sowings of extra spring crops are progressing. Spring crops continue to do well. Slight damage by hail and cloudy weather is reported from parts of Saharanpur, Bijnor, Moradabad, Bareilly, Meerut, Bulandshahr, Aligarh, Agra, Farrukhabad, Budaun, Shahjahanpur, Kheri, Rae Bareli, Cawnpore, Ghazipur, Jalaun, Jhansi and Hamirpur and more serious damage in one tahsil of Pilibhit. Wheat was slightly injured by rust in parts of Bara Banki and Hamirpur, while rain has also injured some crops in Partabgarh, Fyzabad and Mirzapur. The markets are amply stocked. Fodder is dear in Hardoi, Sitapur, Kheri and Rae Bareli. Prices remain stationary.

The weekly report on the scarcity is as follows:—There was light rainfall in Gorakhpur during the week. Spring crops are doing fairly well but cloudy weather is causing apprehension. Food supplies are sufficient but fodder is scarce. Prices show a tendency to fall. The numbers on relief are:—on works 132, on gratuitous relief 430, in poor-houses 356, total 918.

Punjab.—Good to moderate rain has fallen all over the Province. There are slight fluctuations in the prices of food grains; wheat is rising in Lyalpur and falling in Hissar and Jullundur. Ploughings for and sowings of extra spring crops continue. Sugarcane sowings are in progress in Umballa. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally good. The rain has been beneficial to the standing crops but more rain and cloudy weather will damage the crops on low lying lands in Jullundur. Crops have been slightly damaged by hail in parts of Ambala and Ferozepore and by locusts in parts of Lyallpur. Cattle are in good condition. Fodder is sufficient. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Heavy rain has fallen all over the Province and was very beneficial. The condition of the standing crops is excellent especially on unirrigated lands, but sunshine is much needed now everywhere. Locusts appeared in the Marwat tehsil of the Bannu district and did some damage in places. Pressings of sugarcane is retarded by bad weather. The water-supply is ample. Fodder is sufficient. The condition of cattle are good. Prices:—wheat 15¾ to 19¼; gram 18⅜ to $21\frac{7}{16}$; maize 21 to 28¼; and bajra 20 to 21¼ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was heavy rain during the week. Prices are stationary. Prices:—wheat 11 to 24 and maize 11 to 30 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Kishtwar tehsil where it is scarce.

Kashmir.—There was moderately heavy snow during the week. The weather is cold. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana—Showers were received nearly throughout the Agency, the maximum fall at Kishangarh was forty-four cents. Agricultural operations are satisfactory and prospects generally favourable. Slight damage owing to frost has occurred in Mewar and Hill tracts and owing to hail and excessive cold in Jaipur. Prices are nearly steady throughout, though still high in places.

Central India.—Rainfall general in all Agencies except Indore and Bhopawar Autumn harvesting and irrigation of spring crops are in progress. The standing crops and the probable outturn are good Crops have been slightly damaged by hail in Gwalior and Baghelkhand and by rats in Indore and Bhopawar Agencies. Agricultural stock and pasturage are generally good except in parts of Indore. Prices are high in Baghelkhand and Rutlam and stationary elsewhere. Opium is good and irrigation continues in Malwa and collection has commenced in Bhopawar.

Central Provinces.—Rain continued during the week in all districts and was again accompanied by hail in eight districts the principal falls were:—Amraoti 3¼, Chhindwara 3, Akola and Seoni 2 inches, and ranged elsewhere from 1¾ inches in Betul to 3 cents in Chanda. The crops have been somewhat damaged in fifteen districts by unseasonable weather; the damage done was considerable in Betul, Chhindwara and in parts of Nagpur and Akola. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress throughout the Provinces but operations were retarded in Betul and Chhindwara by heavy rain. The standing crops are on the whole in good condition and prospects remain generally favourable. Fodder and water are adequate. Wheat has become dearer by 3 seers per rupee in Betul; juar rose by 2½ seers in Buldana and fell by 2 seers per rupee in Saugor; no other marked fluctuations have ocurred but rates are equal to or exceed the scarcity level in Nimar, Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Bilaspur, and Amraoti.

Native States—During the week Raigarh received one inch of rain and the fall in Sakti, Sarangarh, Rajnandgaon, Kawardha, and Chhuikhadan ranged from 72 to 2 cents. Sugarcane pressing, threshing of rice and kodon, and harvesting of spring crops are in progress The standing crops are in good condition. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices:—wheat 11 to 20, rice 13 to 16, and kodon (millet) 18 to 21 seers per rupee.

Bombay.—There was rain during the week in parts of Sind, Gujarat, Poona, Kathiawar, Palanpur, Cutch, and Mahi Kantha. The spring crops have benefited by the rain in parts of Sind. The standing crops have been slightly damaged by rust, blight or insects in parts of Karachi; by frost or rain in parts of Ahmedabad, Kaira, Panch Mahals, Palanpur, Baroda, Cutch, and Mahi Kantha; and by unfavourable winds in parts of Upper Sind Frontier; and are generally in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops continues in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. Cotton picking is progressing in Hyderabad, Gujarat, the Karnatak, Kathiawar, Baroda, Palanpur, Cutch and Rewa Kantha. Preparation of lands for next season is generally in progress. The supply of drinking water is generally sufficient. Water for irrigation purposes is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, and Sholapur. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur and Cutch. The fodder supply is sufficient. The quantity of food grains purchasable per rupee varies in the Deccan from 10 per cent. above normal to 34 per cent. less than normal, and elsewhere from normal to 35 per cent. below.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall:—eight cents. Spring crops have suffered in parts. The harvest continues and the standing crops are fair to good. Late rice is being weeded. Price:—wheat 7¼; coarse rice 7¼; and jowar 15¾ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Prices of food grains have fallen slightly in Shimoga and Chitaldroog and are steady elsewhere. Sowing operations are in progress. The prospects of the season are good. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Threshing of rice continues. Prices of food grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras—No rain. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Godavari, Kistna, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, North Arcot, Salem, and Madura. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Trichinopoly and Madura are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Godavari, Kistna, Bellary, Anantapur, Salem, Madura, and South Canara. Fodder is scanty in parts of Salem and Madura The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in eleven districts: has fallen in six, and has slightly risen in one. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows :—Ragi is stationary in ten districts; has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in seven. Cholam is stationary in three districts; has fallen in six, and has slightly risen in five. Cumbu is stationary in five districts, has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in six.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 1st March, 1907.

No. 3.—Whereas by Resolutions passed by the Secretary of State for India in Council on the 5th day of October, 1871, and the 26th day of February, 1886, respectively, the provisions of section 1 of the Government of India Act, 1870 (33rd Vict., Cap. 3), were declared applicable to the Hill District of Arakan and to Upper Burma with the exception of the Shan States;

And whereas the Lieutenant-Governor of Burma has proposed to the Governor General in Council a draft of the following Regulation, together with the reasons for proposing the same;

And whereas the Governor General in Council has taken the draft and reasons into consideration, and has approved of the draft and the same has received the Governor General's assent on the 22nd day of February, 1907;

In pursuance of the direction contained in the said section, the said Regulation is now published in the Gazette of India:—

REGULATION NO. I OF 1907.

A Regulation for conferring power to prevent persons from passing across the frontier out of certain Districts and from entering, or residing or travelling in, disturbed parts of Upper Burma or the Hill District of Arakan.

WHEREAS it is expedient that the Local Government and certain of its officers should have authority to prevent persons from passing out of certain parts of Upper Burma and the Hill District of Arakan into foreign or unadministered territory or Shan or Karenni States, and from entering, or residing or travelling in, disturbed parts of Upper Burma or of the Hill District of Arakan; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Regulation may be called the Upper Burma and Arakan Hills Frontier Crossing and Disturbed Districts Regulation, 1907.

(2) It extends to the whole of Upper Burma and to the Hill District of Arakan ; and

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

Warning against passing from a notified district into foreign or unadministered territory, Shan or Karenni States.

2. A person warned in the manner hereinafter provided shall not—

(a) pass from any local area which the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare to be a "notified district" for the purposes of this Regulation, across the frontier of, or across any boundary which the Local Government may, by such notification, declare to be the administrative boundary of, such notified district, into any foreign territory or Shan or Karenni State or into any territory beyond such boundary ; or,

(b) while a notification under this clause is in force, pass from any part of the territories to which this Regulation extends into any other part of those territories to which the Local Government has, by notification in the local official Gazette, declared this clause to apply ; or,

(c) while a notification under this clause is in force, reside or travel in any part of those territories to which the Local Government has, by notification in the local official Gazette, applied this clause and which is mentioned in the warning.

Service or publication of warning.

3. Every warning for the purpose of this Regulation shall be in writing and shall,—

(a) if addressed to an individual, be signed by the Commissioner of the division or Deputy Commissioner of the district within which the individual dwells or may be found, and be served upon him in such manner as the Local Government may by general or special order prescribe ;

(b) if addressed to a class of persons or to the public generally, be published, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, in the local official Gazette and otherwise in such manner as the Local Government may by general or special order direct.

Consequence of disobedience to warning.

4. (1) If any person to whom a warning served or published under the last foregoing section is addressed disobeys, or attempts to disobey, the warning,—

(a) he shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees ; and

(b) the Local Government may order him to remove to such place within the territories to which this Regulation extends as it may direct in this behalf.

(2) If any person contravenes any order under sub-section (1), clause (b), the Commissioner of the division or Deputy Commissioner of the district within which the person is dwelling or may be found may cause him to be arrested and detained in custody until he accepts his release upon such conditions as the Local Government thinks fit to impose.

Power to Commissioner or Magistrate to require security for good behaviour in certain cases.

5. (1) If the Commissioner of the division or Deputy Commissioner of the district within which any person, whether a European British subject or not, is dwelling or may be found, reasonably suspects that the person intends to disobey a warning served on him or published in accordance with section 3, the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may require such security for his good behaviour for a period not exceeding six months as the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner may deem sufficient.

(2) The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, sections 112 to 126 (both inclusive), and section 514 shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply to all cases under this section. V of 1898.

Repeals.

6. The Upper Burma Frontier Crossing and Disturbed Districts Regulation, 1887, and so much of the Third Schedule to the Burma Laws Act, 1898, as relates to the aforesaid Regulation, are hereby repealed. IX of 1887. XIII of 1898.

RAILWAYS.

Calcutta, the 25th February 1907.

No. 1789.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 135, clause (1) of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), the Governor General in Council is pleased to declare that the Madras and the South Indian Railway Companies shall be liable to pay, with effect from the 1st April 1907, in aid of the funds of the Municipal Corporation of Madras, the rates of water and drainage tax for the time being imposed under the provisions of section 145, sub-section (1) of the Madras City Municipal Act, III of 1904, in respect of the railway buildings and lands situated within the limits of the City of Madras.

The 27th February 1907.

No. 1851.—The following is published for general information :—

Resolution by the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 1836—1850-Railways, dated the 27th February 1907.

In the Circular issued by the Public Works Department No. 1-Railway, dated the 9th March 1898, sanction was accorded to the adoption by Railway Administrations, among other risk note forms, of Form B, intended for articles despatched at a "special reduced" or "owner's risk" rate, and of Form H, used as an alternative to Form B, when a sender desired to enter into a general agreement, in place of executing a separate risk note for each consignment.

2. It has from time to time been represented that Railway Administrations should undertake a greater measure of responsibility in the case of consignments carried by them at the "special reduced" or "owner's risk" rates than is entailed by the existing risk note forms; and as the Government of India agreed with this contention, the question of the revision of the forms was referred to the Indian Railway Conference Association for consideration. The Association, at their meeting in October 1904, revised the form of Risk Notes B and H; and these amended forms, after further revision by the Government of India, have now been finally accepted by all the railways represented by the Association.

3. The Governor-General in Council is pleased to approve, under section 72, sub-section (2), clause (b), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), the use of the forms B and H appended to this Resolution by Railway Administrations working railways to which the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), applies, with effect from the 1st April 1907.

4. In the case of railways in Native States to which the provisions of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), have been, or may in future be, applied, the Governor-General in Council is also pleased to approve the use of these forms from the 1st April 1907, or from any later date on which the Indian Railways Act may be applied.

CANTONMENTS.

REGULATIONS.

No. 176.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 25 of the Cantonments Act, 1889 (XIII of 1889), the Governor General in Council is pleased to extend to the Cantonment of Bellary, section 229 of the Madras District Municipalities Act, 1884 (Madras Act IV of 1884), in the adapted form set forth below:—

"Whoever, not being an officer of Government in the discharge of his duty, or not being provided with a license from the Cantonment Magistrate or from some officer of Government having authority to grant the same, removes earth, sand or other material from, or deposits any matter, or makes any encroachment or obstruction, in or upon, any land or river, estuary, canal, backwater or water-course within the cantonment (not being private property) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding R20 for every such offence."

No. 177.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 26, Clause (20) and section 27 of the Cantonments Act, 1889 (XIII of 1889), the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules for licensing, controlling and regulating the practice of brokers, measurers and weighmen, in the Cantonment of Saugor:—

Rules.

1. No person shall practise in any public place as a broker, measurer or weighman, without having previously obtained from the Cantonment authority a license authorising him so to practise, and unless such license is still in force. In case of breach of this rule, the offender shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine which may extend to R50.

Licenses once granted, and not suspended or cancelled, may be renewed from year to year by the Secretary to the Cantonment Committee subject to report of such renewal to the Cantonment authority.

2. No person convicted of an offence under Chapter XIII or under Chapter XVII of the Indian Penal Code, and no person who, on conviction of any offence, has been punished with imprisonment, shall, while such conviction remains in force, be licensed to practise as a broker, measurer or weighman.

3. No person shall be licensed to practise as a broker, unless he is able to read and write. But this rule shall not apply to any person who, at the time when these rules came into force, is practising as a broker in the Saugor Cantonment.

4. No person shall be licensed to practise as a measurer or weighman unless he is in possession of weights and measures, verified and stamped by order of the Cantonment authority under section 286 (1), Cantonment Code, 1889. Such weights and measures shall be produced by the licensee for inspection on demand made at any reasonable time by any member of the Cantonment Committee, or by any officer or servant of the Cantonment Committee who is in receipt of a monthly salary of not less than seven rupees, and who has been duly empowered by the Cantonment authority in this behalf, or by any Police Officer above the rank of Constable.

5. Every person licensed to practise as a broker shall keep, or cause to be kept, regular and accurate accounts of all his dealings as a broker in a bound book, which shall be supplied to him at his expense by the Cantonment authority. The pages of such book shall be numbered consecutively in the office of the Secretary to the Cantonment Committee, and the first and last pages of such book shall be signed by the Secretary, who shall certify to the number of pages contained in such book. The book shall be produced by the licensee for inspection on demand made at any reasonable time by any member of the Cantonment Committee or by any officer or servant of the Cantonment authority who is in receipt of a monthly salary of not less than seven rupees, and who has been duly empowered by the Committee in this behalf.

6. The Committee shall frame—

(a) a scale of fees payable by licensees under these rules;

(b) a scale of rates at which licensees may charge for their services.

The Cantonment authority may from time to time make alterations in scales so fixed.

7. No broker, measurer or weighman, shall charge or endeavour to obtain payment for his services, at a higher or lower rate than that prescribed under rule 6. The licensee's charges shall be payable by the seller, or by the purchaser, according to the agreement made in each case. In the absence of any special agreement the charge shall be borne half by the seller and half by the purchaser.

8. Licenses under these rules, unless suspended or cancelled, shall be in force from the 1st of April of the year in which they are granted up to the 31st March of the ensuing year. Licenses granted on any date subsequent to the 1st April shall continue in force up to the 31st March following, and no longer. But only half fees shall be charged for licenses granted on or after the 1st October in any year.

9. Every license shall be in the vernacular, in the form appended, and shall be signed by the Secretary to the Cantonment Committee. Licenses are not transferable. The terms of every license granted under these rules shall be fully explained to the licensee, at the time when it is granted by the Secretary to the Cantonment Committee or by some servant of the Cantonment authority appointed by the Secretary for the purpose, and a copy in the vernacular of the rules and of the rates of charges fixed under rule 6 (b) shall be supplied to him with the license. Licenses shall be given in the form appended to these rules.

10. Copies in the vernacular of the rates prescribed under rule 6 (b) shall be suspended at such public offices or places as the Cantonment authority may think requisite for their due publication. No alteration in rates shall take effect until notice of the proposed alteration has been posted up at the above mentioned offices or places for a period of at least 15 days.

11. The Cantonment authority may, for good and sufficient reason, refuse to grant a license under these rules, and may for mis-conduct and non-compliance with the requirements of these rules on the part of the licensee, or for any other good and sufficient reason, suspend or cancel a license so granted. Such suspension or cancellation shall not entitle the licensee to any refund of fees paid on account of such license.

12. Every order of the Cantonment authority refusing the grant of a license under these rules or cancelling or suspending a license so granted, shall be recorded in writing by the Secretary to the Committee, and shall contain a brief statement of the reasons for the discussion of the Committee. A copy of such order shall be supplied free of cost to the person thereby affected, on application by him to the Committee.

13. The Cantonment authority shall at the time of granting a license to a weighman or measurer under these rules cause to be supplied to him a suitable badge of office. A fee not exceeding one rupee shall be paid by the licensee for such badge when first supplied or on renewal, when it becomes unserviceable. No weighman or measurer shall practise his calling in any public place without such badge, which must always be conspicuously worn by him while so practising his calling. Such badges are not transferable.

14. Every licensee under these rules shall, when practising his calling, produce his license, badge, or both, as the case may be, for inspection on demand made at any reasonable time by any member of the Cantonment Committee or by any officer or servant of the Cantonment authority who is in receipt of a monthly salary of not less than seven rupees, and who has been duly empowered by the Cantonment authority in this behalf.

15. Every licensee under these rules shall deliver up to the Cantonment authority the license granted to him on its expiry, suspension or cancellation. When a license is so delivered up, the badge, supplied to the licensee by the Cantonment authority in accordance with the provisions of rule 13, shall also be surrendered. But on renewal or restoration of the license, the badge, if still serviceable, shall be returned to the licensee free of charge.

16. If after issue of any license or badge granted under these rules, such license or badge is lost or destroyed, the licensee shall not practise in any public place as a broker, measurer or weighman until he has, on application to the Cantonment authority, obtained a fresh license or badge. If the Cantonment authority is satisfied that such license or badge has been accidentally lost or destroyed, a fresh license or badge may be issued by the Committee to the licensee in place of it, on payment in either case of an additional fee of eight annas. Every license as issued shall have the word "duplicate" written in large letters across it in red ink.

17. No licensee under these rules, while practising his calling in any public place, shall, without reasonable cause, refuse to transact business for any person calling on him to do so.

18. The following acts are included in the term "misconduct" within the meaning of rule 11:—

(a) Taking part in a combination to enhance or reduce the prices of goods, or to divert traffic from the Cantonment markets.

(b) Intentional betrayal by a licensee of the interests of any person employing him, or connivance in any fraud against persons not employing him.

(c) The purchase or sale of goods, by a licensee, on his own account, while in the exercise of his calling.

(d) Interference by a licensee between buyers and sellers, when his services are unsought, or the demand of payment from any person who has not employed him.

(e) Demand by a licensee from any person employing him of any charge not authorised by rule 6.

Form of license for a Broker or Weighman.

(No. 9 of the Rules for licensing Brokers, Measurers or Weighmen.)

(To be maintained in duplicate, the bound copy being retained in the Cantonment office for record.)

caste resident of is hereby authorised to practise as a in all public places within the limits of the Saugor Cantonment. This license shall not be in force after the 31st March .

Not transferable.

The attention of the licensee is drawn to the rules (non-compliance with which may entail cancellation of the license, vide rule 11) and the rates of charges fixed under rule 6 (b), copies of which have been supplied to him with this license.

The sum of R has been paid on account of this license.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. Royal 8vo volumes, paper cover, 13 annas or 1*s.* 1*d.* Postage extra. To be had of the Superintendent, Government Printing, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, or of the Superintendent, Patents Branch, Department of Commerce and Industry, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

OFFICE OF REVENUE AND FINANCIAL SECRETARY TO THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER, NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Dated Peshawar, the 19th February 1907.

No. 780.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 5 and 5A of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874, and with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, the Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province is pleased to extend the Punjab Minor Canals Act of 1905 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act) to the Districts of the North-West Frontier Province subject to the following restrictions and modifications, namely:—

1. (a) All references to the Punjab shall be construed as referring to the North-West Frontier Province.

(b) All references to the Local Government shall be construed as referring to the Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province.

(c) All references to the Financial Commissioner or to a Commissioner shall be construed as referring to the Revenue Commissioner.

2. For Schedules I and II of the said Act, Schedules I and II, hereto annexed, shall be substituted.

3. In section 8, sub-section (1), clause (ii), of the said Act the following modifications shall be made, namely:—

(1) at the end of sub-clause (c) the word "or" shall be added, and

(2) after sub-clause (c) the following sub-clause shall be added, namely:—

" (d) When the owner of the canal has agreed in writing to pay such water dues."

4. For section 27 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"27 (1) Upon the issue of a notification under section 26 the Collector may, from time to time, by general or special order— Powers of Collector upon issue notification under section 26

(a) determine the amount of labour to be provided or the amount of work to be performed by each irrigator;

(b) regulate the attendance, distribution and control of the labourers provided or the manner of the performance of the work;

(c) assess and recover the cost of such labour from any person who fails to comply with an order passed under this section; and

(d) fund all costs so recovered and expend them on the provision of hired labour for any of the canals to which the notification applies, or subject to the provisions, if any, of a record of rights specified in section 26 or section 28, on any other purpose connected with the well being thereof:

Provided that the costs assessed as aforesaid shall not exceed eight annas for each day's labour of each of the labourers in respect of whom default has occurred.

"(2) When a notification has been issued under section 26 in respect of any scheduled canal, the Local Government may by notification direct that the cost of any establishment which it may be necessary to maintain for the control and management of the canal shall be recovered from the irrigators from the canal or from any class of such irrigators by means of a rate of such amount as may be specified in the notification."

"(3) The rate imposed under sub-section (2) shall be assessed by the Collector on the basis of the land revenue assessed or assessable on such lands of the said irrigators or class of irrigators as are irrigated from the canal and shall be recoverable as an arrear of land revenue."

"(4) The Local Government may direct that the proceeds of the rate imposed under sub-section (2) shall be credited to the fund formed under sub-section (1), clause (d)."

5. After section 27 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"77(a) (1) In any district in which a contribution, in the form of a percentage of the land revenue realised by Government is made by Government for the purpose of effecting the annual silt clearance of any canal or any two or more adjacent canals or of maintaining such canal or canals in a state of efficiency or of executing any work necessary thereto, the Local Government may by notification direct that a special cess equal to such percentage shall be levied from the irrigators and from the assignees of land revenue directly deriving benefit from canal irrigation.

"(2) A cess imposed under sub-section (1) shall be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue and shall be credited to the fund formed under section 27, sub-section (1), clause (d)."

"(3) Where any cess is levied under sub-section (1) no separate rate shall be levied from the land owners or assignees of land revenue under section 27."

6. For section 55 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"55. (1) In assessing the amount of the compensation to be paid under any section of this Act the Collector shall give due weight to the local custom, if any, in regard to such compensation entered in the record of rights prepared or revised under section 28.

(2) In assessing the amount of compensation to be paid under any section of this Act other than sections 12, 14, 21, 39 and 50, the Collector shall proceed under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, and the provisions of that Act regarding inquiries and awards by the Collector, references to the Civil Courts and procedure thereon, apportionment of compensation, payment and appeals shall, as far as may be, be applicable to all proceedings under this section. India Act I of 1894.

7. After section 74 of the said Act of 1905 the following section shall be added, namely :—

"75. The Peshawar Canals Regulation (1898) is hereby repealed."

PART IV.

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of the Governor General on the 1st March, 1907, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. II OF 1907.

An Act to provide for the inspection of Steam-boilers and Prime-movers and for their management by competent Engineers in the Central Provinces.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the inspection of steam-boilers and prime-movers and for their management by competent Engineers in the Central Provinces; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title, extent and savings.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Central Provinces Boiler Inspection Act, 1907.

(2) It extends to the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces.

(3) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to apply to—

(a) any locomotive engine, boiler or prime-mover used upon or appertaining to any railway, within the meaning of that word as defined in section 3, clause (4), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or

(b) any boiler or prime-mover used exclusively for domestic purposes at atmospheric pressure, or

(c) any boiler or prime-mover used upon any vehicle or class of vehicles which the Chief Commissioner may, by notification in the local official Gazette, specify in this behalf.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "boiler" includes any cylinder or vessel used for generating steam under pressure, and any steam-chest or other apparatus closely attached thereto:

(b) "prime-mover" includes any steam-engine, steam-hammer, fly-wheel, first driving shaft, or pulley attached to such engine, and every appurtenance necessary for the safe and efficient working of a prime-mover:

(c) "owner" includes any person using any boiler as agent of, or on hire from, the owner thereof: and

(d) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules under this Act.

Inspection and licensing of Boilers.

Appointment of inspectors.

3. The Chief Commissioner may appoint one or more duly qualified persons to be inspectors for the purposes of this Act, and may fix the local extent of each such inspector's duties.

Use of boiler by owner without license prohibited.

4. The owner of a boiler shall not use the same, or permit the same to be used,—

(a) except under and in accordance with the conditions of a license duly granted and in force under this Act, and

(b) unless the boiler is under the direct and immediate management and charge of an engineer holding a certificate of competency under this Act declaring that he is competent to manage or be in charge of a boiler of such capacity or kind.

Explanation.—A person employed to manage and be in charge of not more than two sets of boilers belonging to the same owner, and so situated that no one of them is more than a thousand feet apart from any other of them, shall be deemed to be employed in direct and immediate management and charge of all such boilers.

Registration and numbering of boilers.

5. (1) The owner of any boiler who desires to use the same shall, if it is unregistered, cause it to be registered.

(2) The owner of a boiler may give notice in writing to the inspector that he desires to have the same registered, whereupon the inspector shall register such boiler and shall allot to it a number (to be called the registry number) corresponding to the number of the entry concerning it in the register of boilers.

(3) Such number shall be communicated to the owner and shall, within such reasonable period as the inspector may direct, be permanently marked upon the boiler by the owner thereof so as to be plainly visible and in such manner as the Chief Commissioner may prescribe.

Procedure on application for boiler license.

6. (1) The owner of a boiler which has been registered under section 5, or in respect to which the notice prescribed by sub-section (2) of that section has been given, shall, if he desires to use the same and does not possess a license in respect of the same granted under this Act and then in force, make an application for a license to the District Magistrate, and the District Magistrate shall cause an examination of the boiler and of every appurtenance closely attached thereto to be made by an inspector with the least possible delay and within twenty days after the receipt of such application, and shall inform the owner of the date on which the said examination will take place.

(2) Every person making an application under this section shall simultaneously pay the prescribed fees for the examination.

Duty of owner to afford facilities for examination of and information regarding boiler.

7. (1) The owner or person in charge of any boiler to be examined under section 6 shall—

(a) afford to the inspector all reasonable facilities for such examination, and all such information as may reasonably be required by him;

(b) previously arrange that—

(i) the boiler shall be empty and cool, and shall be cleaned inside and outside;

(ii) fire-flues shall be swept;

(iii) fire-bars and fire-bridges shall be removed;

(iv) blow-off and other cocks shall be cleared for the purpose of examination;

(c) if required by the inspector, cause any brick-work or masonry in contact with the boiler to be removed;

(d) during the examination, keep the boiler effectively disconnected from any steam or hot-water communication with any other boiler.

(2) The provision as to disconnection contained in clause (d) shall extend to every case in which a person is sent, or with the owner's assent goes, into a boiler for any purpose connected therewith.

Grant and renewal of boiler licenses.

8. (1) If the inspector is satisfied that a boiler examined under section 6 and the appurtenances closely attached thereto are in good condition, and if the registry number of the boiler is properly marked thereon in accordance with sub-section (3) of section 5, he shall forthwith give to the owner a license to that effect in the form of, and containing the particulars specified in, Schedule A.

(2) Every license so granted shall be renewed by the inspector from time to time, if he is satisfied, after re-examining the boiler and the appurtenances closely attached thereto under the provisions of section 6, that the same are in good condition.

(3) Every original or renewed license granted under this section shall be granted for so long a period as it shall appear to the inspector probable that the boiler and the appurtenances closely attached thereto will remain in good condition:

Provided that no license shall remain in force for a period exceeding twelve months.

Appeal from refusal to grant boiler license.

9. If an inspector refuses to give a license or a renewed license to the owner of a boiler, or refuses to give the same for the full period or pressure applied for, he shall give to such owner within forty-eight hours his reasons for such refusal in writing, and any owner deeming himself aggrieved by the refusal may, within one month from the date of its communication to him, lodge an appeal with the District Magistrate.

10. The District Magistrate shall appoint one or more assessors to aid him in disposing of the appeal, and shall, within ten days of its receipt, publicly inquire into and determine such appeal.

Disposal of appeals.

(2) The District Magistrate may either reject the appeal, or grant the owner a license for such period, not exceeding twelve months, and for such pressure, as he thinks fit.

(3) If the decision of the District Magistrate is not in accordance with the opinion of the assessor or a majority of the assessors, an appeal from it shall lie to the Commissioner, who shall thereupon proceed to inquire into and determine the appeal, with or without the aid of assessors as he may think fit, in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2), and the decision of the Commissioner on such appeal shall be final.

(4) In other cases the decision of the District Magistrate shall be final.

11. (1) If the District Magistrate or Commissioner is of opinion that an appeal is unfounded or frivolous, he may award any sum not exceeding fifty rupees to be paid by the owner as costs.

Award of costs in certain cases.

(2) Any sum so awarded shall be recoverable from the owner as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

12. The District Magistrate may, after such inquiry as he may consider just, revoke any license granted under section 8 or section 10—

Revocation of boiler licenses.

(a) if any fee, lawfully due under this Act, is not paid after the same has been duly demanded; or

(b) if there is reason to believe that such license has been fraudulently obtained or erroneously granted, or has been granted without sufficient examination; or

(c) if there is reason to believe that, since the granting of such license, the boiler in respect whereof it was granted has sustained injury or has ceased to be in good condition.

13. (1) Any inspector may, at any time between sunrise and sunset on any day during the period for which a license may have been granted under section 8 or section 10, examine any boiler, whether at work or not, for which such license has been granted, in order to ascertain whether such boiler is in good condition, and whether any cause exists for revoking the said license.

Powers of inspector in connection with examination of licensed boilers.

(2) Any inspector may order the working of a boiler which he desires to inspect under sub-section (1) to be stopped only when that shall in his opinion be indispensable for the proper examination of the boiler

(3) The reasons for any such stoppage shall be given in writing by the inspector to the owner, on the owner's demand, concurrently with the order for stoppage, and the owner shall thereon become subject to the provisions of section 7.

14. If, at any time during the period for which a license under section 8 or section 10 has been granted, any structural alteration or renewal is made in any part of the boiler to which such license relates, the owner of such boiler shall give notice in writing of such alteration before it is completed to the District Magistrate or to such person as may be appointed by him in this behalf.

Duty of owner to report alterations in any part of licensed boiler.

15. (1) Every owner or person in charge of a boiler shall report in writing to the District Magistrate, or to such person as may be appointed by him in this behalf, every accident to the boiler or to any apparatus attached thereto which is calculated to weaken the strength of such boiler or to render it liable to explode.

Procedure on accident to boiler.

(2) Every such report shall be made within twelve hours of the occurrence of the accident, and shall contain a true description of the nature of the accident and of the injury thereby caused sufficient to enable the person to whom it is made to judge of the gravity of the accident.

(3) The owner or person in charge of the boiler shall be bound to answer truly, to the best of his knowledge and ability, every question put to him in writing by the person to whom the report is made as to the cause, nature and extent of the accident.

(4) The District Magistrate, or any person generally or specially authorised by him in this behalf, may, after visiting the scene of any such accident as aforesaid, by an order in writing, direct that the use of the boiler be discontinued until it has been examined and certified as fit for use by an inspector.

16. (1) The owner of any boiler who has obtained a license therefor shall at all reasonable times during the period for which such license is in force be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by the District Magistrate, or by any person generally or specially authorised in writing by the District Magistrate to demand its production.

Duty of owner to produce boiler license.

(2) A person who becomes owner of a boiler during the period for which a license therefor is in force shall be entitled to receive the license from the preceding owner and shall be subject to the provisions of sub-section (1).

Grant of Certificates to Engineers.

Grant of engineers' certificates of competency.

17. Engineers' certificates of competency, declaring that the person named therein is competent to manage or be in charge of a boiler of such capacity or kind as is specified therein, may be granted and may be cancelled or suspended in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed by the Chief Commissioner in this behalf.

Penalties and Procedure.

Penalty for non-compliance by owner with requirements of sections 7, 14, 15 and 16.

18. Any owner of a boiler who—

(a) fails, as required by section 7, to furnish an inspector with necessary information or to make the necessary dispositions for facilitating examination,

(b) fails to give notice, as required by section 14, of any structural alteration or renewal thereof,

(c) refuses or neglects to produce a license when duly called upon so to do under section 16, and

(d) every owner or person in charge of a boiler who fails to report, as required by section 15, any accident of the kind mentioned in the section, shall, for every such omission, refusal or neglect, be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Penalty on owner using boiler without license or certificated engineer or otherwise contrary to Act.

19. Any owner of a boiler who—

(a) uses the same, or permits it to be used, without a license duly obtained and in force in respect thereof;

(b) uses the same, or permits it to be used, at any time except whilst he has in his employ, in direct and immediate management and charge thereof, an engineer holding a certificate of competency under this Act declaring that he is competent to manage or be in charge of a boiler of such capacity or kind;

(c) uses the same, or permits it to be used, in contravention of an order for discontinuing its use made under section 15, sub-section (4), or at a higher pressure than that allowed by any license in force in respect thereof; shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to one hundred rupees for every day after the first in regard to which he is convicted of having persisted in the offence.

Penalty for tampering with registry number of a boiler.

20. Whoever removes, alters, defaces, renders invisible, or otherwise tampers with a registry number marked on a boiler shall for every such act be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Penalty for fraudulently marking a registry number on a boiler.

21. Whoever fraudulently marks upon a boiler a registry number which has not been duly allotted to it under this Act shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

Penalty for refusing or omitting to deposit engineer's certificate in accordance with rules under section 25 (1) (e).

22. Whoever, being required to deposit his certificate in accordance with the provisions of any rule made under section 25, sub-section (1), clause (e), refuses or omits to do so, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Cognizance of offences against Act.

23. No Court inferior to that of a Magistrate of the first class shall have jurisdiction to try any person charged with an offence against this Act.

Charges within what period to be brought.

24. No charge shall be brought against any person of any offence punishable under this Act except within six months after the commission of the offence, nor shall any such charge be brought except with the sanction or under the direction of the District Magistrate.

Rules.

Power to make rules.

25. (1) The Chief Commissioner may make rules consistent with this Act for all or any of the following purposes, namely:—

(a) for settling the duties and emoluments of inspectors appointed under this Act, and regulating the control to be exercised by District Magistrates over such inspectors;

(b) for fixing the fees to be levied for the inspection of boilers under sections 6 and 15 at such rates not exceeding those specified in Schedule B as the Chief Commissioner may think fit;

(c) prescribing the procedure to be followed in the hearing of appeals under section 10, the emoluments or fees to be received by assessors appointed under that section, and regulating the holding of inquiries under section 12;

(d) providing for the grant of engineers' certificates of competency, and in particular prescribing—

(i) the cases in which certificates may be granted without, and those in which they may be granted only after, examination,

(ii) the duties and emoluments of examiners, and the conduct of examinations,

(iii) the qualifications to be required of, and the fees to be paid by, candidates for examination, and applicants for certificates without examination, respectively,

(iv) the different classes of certificates which may be granted, and the nature of the boilers which each such class of certificate shall cover,

(v) the form of certificates and the authority by which they may be granted, and

(vi) the mode in which a record of certificates granted shall be kept and the cases in which, and the fees on payment of which, duplicate certificates may be granted;

(e) providing for the cancellation or suspension of engineers' certificates of competency and in particular for—

(i) the procedure to be followed in inquiries into allegations of incompetence, drunkenness, misconduct or negligence on the part of holders of such certificates, and

(ii) the deposit of such certificates by the holders of the same, when so required, pending the result of such inquiries and the action to be taken on their failure to comply with such requisitions; and

(f) generally for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) The power to make rules under this Act is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(3) All rules framed under this Act shall be published in the local official Gazette, and shall thereupon have effect as if enacted in this Act.

Miscellaneous.

Disposal of sums levied under Act.

26. All fees, costs and penalties levied under this Act shall be disposed of in such manner as the Chief Commissioner may direct.

Certain provisions of Act applicable to prime-movers.

27. (1) The Chief Commissioner may, by notification in the local official Gazette, apply so much of this Act as relates to the taking out and grant of licenses for, and the inspection of, boilers to prime-movers generally, or to prime-movers of any particular class in any place or district in which this Act is for the time being in force.

(2) During any such period as any notification under sub-section (1) is in force in any place or district, the provisions of this Act thereby made applicable to prime-movers shall be read and understood in such place or district as if the word "boiler" included the words "prime-mover" wherever used therein.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Insolvency in British India, as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency, towns and the Town of Rangoon was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 1st March 1907:—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Insolvency in British India, as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the Town of Rangoon, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

From Government, Bengal, No. 498-J., dated 2nd February 1907 [Paper No. 19.]

2. The bulk of opinion is clearly in favour of an amendment of the law of insolvency, but it has been urged upon us by some Local Governments and other authorities that the Bill as originally introduced was in excess of the requirements of many parts of the country and that, owing to the complexity of some of its provisions, its practical working would be attended with no inconsiderable difficulty. We have endeavoured to meet such objections—

(i) by giving power to any Local Government (see clause 54) to suspend the application of the more elaborate provisions of the proposed Act in regard to insolvency proceedings in any Court or Courts having jurisdiction in any part of their territories;

(ii) by giving insolvency jurisdiction in the first instance to District Courts only while conferring power on Local Governments to invest any subordinate Court with jurisdiction in any class of cases; and

(iii) by remodelling, simplifying and rearranging many of the more complicated clauses of the Bill, and by avoiding, so far as is practicable, the use of technical expressions with which the subordinate Courts of this country are as yet unfamiliar.

3. Exception has been taken to those special provisions of the Bill as introduced which differentiated the cases of agriculturists from those of other debtors. Having regard to the fact that ample facilities are afforded to all classes of debtors for presenting insolvency petitions, we regard the objection as well founded and we propose to place all debtors on the same footing. A special clause has, however, been inserted saving the insolvency provisions of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879.

4. It has been represented to us that it may sometimes be difficult to find private persons suitable in all respects for the duties of receivers, and that it may be necessary, at any rate in the larger towns, to appoint Official Receivers to administer the estates of insolvents. The suggestion appears to be of value and we have inserted provisions in the Bill (see clauses 19 and 52) empowering Local Governments to appoint Official Receivers and enabling High Courts to delegate to such Official Receivers certain powers which would ordinarily be exercisable by the Courts.

5. The more important of the other modifications which we propose to make in the Bill as introduced are detailed below. The clauses referred to are the clauses of the Bill as amended by us:—

Clause 1.—That portion of sub-clause (2) of the original Bill which proposed to extend its operation to certain persons residing outside British India has been struck out as unnecessary. In sub-clause (3) we have suggested the 1st January 1908 as the date on which the proposed Act shall come into force. This will give the Courts time to make themselves acquainted with the provisions of the Bill.

Clause 2.—A few terms and expressions, the interpretation of which might otherwise have given rise to difficulty, have been defined. No general definition of the term "secured creditor" has been attempted, but it has been made clear that the term includes a landlord who has a statutory charge for rent.

Clause 4, sub-clauses (e) and (h).—We have modified these clauses so as to make the sale of property belonging to a judgment-debtor in execution of the money decree of any Court, or his imprisonment in execution of such a decree, constitute an act of insolvency.

Clause 5.—We have explained that the presentation of an insolvency petition by the debtor is in itself an act of insolvency on which an order of adjudication may be made.

Clause 7 prohibits the withdrawal of a petition, without the leave of the Court, when presented by a creditor as well as by a debtor [see clause 6, sub-clause (3), of the Bill as introduced].

Clauses 8, 9 and 10, which are taken from the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, are new. They provide for the consolidation of proceedings, the substitution of one petitioner for another petitioner and the continuance of proceedings on the death of the debtor, and appear to be necessary.

Clause 13.—This clause combines clauses 8, sub-clause (2), and 10 of the Bill as introduced. We desire to make it clear that, if sufficient cause be shown, interim proceedings may be taken against the debtor at the earliest stage of the inquiry and that under any circumstances the debtor may be at once required to give security for his appearance.

Clause 14.—We have set out for the guidance of the Courts the procedure which should be followed in dealing with an insolvency petition. We have also made it clear that the creditors have a right to question the debtor and have secured to the parties reasonable facilities for producing evidence. We have further prescribed the manner in which the evidence should be recorded.

Clause 15.—We propose to omit as unnecessary the proviso to clause 12, sub-clause (2), of the Bill as introduced, which limited the amount of compensation which might be awarded under the clause to the amount for which the Court might pass a decree,

Clause 16.—We have rectified omissions which were apparent in clause 13 of the original Bill by adding new sub-clauses providing that property held in reputed ownership by the insolvent, as also after-acquired property, shall vest in the receiver and become divisible among the creditors.

Clause 18.—We have inserted provisions in clause 14 of the Bill as introduced empowering the Court to take security from the receiver and have made it clear that in the matter of dispossessing any one from property the receiver has no greater power than the insolvent would have had.

Clause 20.—We have formally empowered the receiver to sell the property of the insolvent and to acknowledge payments. We have also taken the opportunity of abbreviating clause 16 of the Bill as introduced.

Clause 22, which is taken from the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, is new. It will enable the Court to exercise a proper control over the acts of the receiver.

Clauses 24 and 25, sub-clause (2), are new. The provisions of sections 352 and 353 of the Code of Civil Procedure regarding the framing of a schedule of debts have been introduced in a somewhat modified form, and in the case of debts which are sought to be proved by affidavit we propose to empower the Court to call for the necessary vouchers.

Clause 27.—This clause has been completely remodelled on the lines of section 3 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1890 It has been pointed out that the provisions of clause 26 of the Bill as introduced (which were adapted from the Punjab Laws Act, 1872) are deficient in many essential details.

Clause 28.—We propose to omit, as likely to entail hardship, the provisions of clause 18, sub-clause (2), of the Bill as introduced, the effect of which was to debar a creditor from proving a debt contracted subsequently to the date of his having notice of any act of insolvency available against his debtor. We have also abbreviated the clause very considerably and have transferred sub-clause (6) to clause 24, sub-clause (1), where it forms a proviso.

Clause 30 is new being an adaptation of section 38 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, and is intended to safeguard the interests of creditors who are indebted to the insolvent.

Clause 31.—Clause 20 of the Bill as introduced, which related to secured creditors, has been very considerably abbreviated. We think that the portion retained will be found sufficient for all practical purposes.

Clauses 36 and 37.—These clauses reproduce clauses 29 and 30 of the original Bill in a simplified form.

Clause 38.—Following on our proposal to omit clause 18, sub-clause (2), of the Bill as introduced (see clause 28 above), we have suggested the omission of the second proviso to clause 31 of that Bill.

Clause 39.—We propose to insert a new sub-clause (4) adapted from section 62 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1883, directing the receiver to declare a final dividend and to wind up the estate.

Clause 42.—We have provided that where a composition or scheme has been approved by the Court under clause 27 the adjudication of insolvency shall be annulled.

Clause 43.—This clause is intended to take the place of clauses 9 and 39 of the original Bill which to a certain extent overlapped one another. The weight of opinion appears to be in favour of the view that a dishonest debtor should be dealt with by the Court and should not be sent before a Magistrate. We propose that the imprisonment which the Court is empowered to award shall be simple.

Clause 44 reproduces clause 35 of the original Bill in a greatly abbreviated form.

Clause 45.—Under clause 36, sub-clause (2), of the Bill as introduced an order of discharge operated to release the insolvent from all debts provable in insolvency. It has been pointed out however that in a country like India it is possible, and in fact probable, that some creditors may remain unaware of the existence of insolvency proceedings until they are concluded and that it would be inequitable to deprive such creditors of their rights. This view appears reasonable and we therefore propose to enact that an order of discharge shall release the insolvent from the scheduled debts only.

Clause 46.—Exception has been very generally taken to the restrictions placed on the right of appeal by clause 42 of the Bill as introduced. We now propose to confer upon the High Courts, in respect of any cases decided on appeal by a District Court, powers analogous to those which are conferred on them by section 25 of the Provincial Small Causes Courts Act, 1887. We propose also to give a right of appeal to the High Court from any order made by a District Court in the exercise of original insolvency jurisdiction, but, except in regard to certain specified orders, sub-clause (3) requires the leave either of the District Court or of the High Court to be first obtained.

Clause 47.—We have redrafted clause 41 of the original Bill so as to make it clear that all classes of Courts have in regard to insolvency proceedings the same powers which they have in regard to civil suits.

Clause 48.—Having regard to the low average value of a debtor's estate we propose to reduce the limit for the purposes of summary administration from one thousand to five hundred rupees.

Clause 49.—We propose to allow the Courts a full discretion in the matter of awarding costs, subject only to any rules made in this behalf.

Clause 53.—We have thought it advisable to make provision, by the addition of a new sub-clause (2) to clause 40 of the Bill as introduced, for the prosecution of an undischarged insolvent who obtains credit by concealing his insolvency. The procedure suggested is on the lines of the procedure enacted by section 476 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

The Schedule.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Bill as now amended provides for the framing of a schedule of creditors we are still in favour of repealing article 174 of the second schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1877. A creditor who makes delay in proving his debt will be sufficiently punished by being excluded from the benefit of any dividend already declared.

THE PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY BILL.

CONTENTS.

[Save where otherwise indicated, the marginal references are to the sections of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882).]

[The portions printed in antique type denote the alterations proposed by the Select Committee.]

No. II.

A Bill to Consolidate and amend the Law relating to Insolvency in British India, as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the Town of Rangoon.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to insolvency in British India as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the Town of Rangoon; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[Bill, cl. 1.] 1. (1) This Act may be called the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907.

Short title, extent and commencement.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts: and

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of January, 1908.

[New.] 2. (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

Definitions.

(a) "available act of insolvency" means any act of insolvency available for an insolvency petition at the date of the presentation of the petition on which the order of adjudication is made:

(b) "creditor" includes a decree-holder, "debt" includes a judgment-debt, and "debtor" includes a judgment-debtor:

(c) "District Court" means the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in any area outside the local limits for the time being of the Presidency-towns and of the Town of Rangoon:

(d) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act:

(e) "property" includes any property over which or the profits of which any person has a disposing power which he may exercise for his own benefit:

"secured creditor" includes a landlord who under any enactment for the time being in force has a charge on land for the rent of that land: and

(g) "the Court" means the Court exercising jurisdiction under this Act.

[Cf. Bill, cl. 2.] (2) Save as herein otherwise provided, all words and expressions defined in the Code of Civil Procedure shall have the same meanings as those respectively assigned to them in the said Code.

XIV of 1882.

[New. cf. Bill, cl. 3.] 3. (1) The District Courts shall be the Courts having jurisdiction under this Act:

Insolvency jurisdiction.

Provided that the Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, by notification in the local official Gazette, invest any Court subordinate to a District Court with jurisdiction in any class of cases, and any Court so invested shall within the local limits of its jurisdiction have concurrent jurisdiction with the District Court under this Act.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, a Court of Small Causes shall be deemed to be subordinate to the District Court.

4. A debtor commits an act of insolvency in each of the following cases, namely:— [Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 4. Bill, cl. 4]

Acts of insolvency.

(a) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes a transfer of his property to a third person for the benefit of his creditors generally;

(b) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes a transfer of his property or of any part thereof with intent to defeat or delay his creditors;

(c) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes any transfer of his property or of any part thereof, or of any interest therein, which would, under this or any other enactment for the time being in force, be void as a fraudulent preference if he were adjudged an insolvent;

(d) if, with intent to defeat or delay his creditors,—

(i) he departs or remains out of British India,

(ii) he departs from his dwelling-house or usual place of business or otherwise absents himself,

(iii) he secludes himself so as to deprive his creditors of the means of communicating with him;

(e) if any of his property has been sold in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money;

(f) if he petitions to be adjudged an insolvent under the provisions of this Act;

(g) if he gives notice to any of his creditors that he has suspended, or that he is about to suspend, payment of his debts;

(h) if he is imprisoned in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section the act of an agent may be the act of the principal.

5. Subject to the conditions specified in this Act, if a debtor commits an act of insolvency, an insolvency petition may be presented either by a creditor or by the debtor, and the Court may on such petition make an order (hereinafter called an order of adjudication) adjudging him an insolvent. [Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 5. Bill, cl. 5.]

Petition and adjudication.

Explanation.—The presentation of a petition by the debtor shall be deemed an act of insolvency within the meaning of this section, and on such petition the Court may make an order of adjudication.

344; see too V of 1872, s. 23, and XVII of 1879, s. 25. Bill, cls. 6. & 7 (3).] XIV of 1882.

6. (1) Every insolvency petition shall be in writing, and shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure for signing and verifying plaints, and the procedure laid down by the said Code with respect to the admission of plaints shall, so far as it is applicable, be followed in the case of such petitions.

Presentation and admission of petition.

(2) Every insolvency petition shall be presented to a Court having jurisdiction under this Act in any local area in which the debtor ordinarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain, or, if he has been arrested or imprisoned, where he is in custody.

(3) The debtor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition unless—

(a) his debts amount to five hundred rupees; or

(b) he has been arrested or imprisoned in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money; or

(c) an order of attachment in execution of such a decree has been made, and is subsisting, against his property.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 6.]

(4) A creditor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition against a debtor unless—

(a) the debt owing by the debtor to the creditor, or, if two or more creditors join in the petition, the aggregate amount of debts owing to such creditors, amounts to five hundred rupees, and

(b) the debt is a liquidated sum payable either immediately or at some certain future time, and

(c) the act of insolvency on which the petition is grounded has occurred within three months before the presentation of the petition.

(5) If the petitioning creditor is a secured creditor, he shall in his petition either state that he is willing to relinquish his security for the benefit of the creditors in the event of the debtor being adjudged insolvent or give an estimate of the value of the security. In the latter case he may be admitted as a petitioning creditor to the extent of the balance of the debt due to him after deducting the value so estimated in the same way as if he were an unsecured creditor.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 123.]

(6) No insolvency petition shall be presented against any corporation or against any association or company registered under any enactment for the time being in force.

[New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 7 (7).]

7. No petition, whether presented by a debtor or by a creditor, shall be withdrawn without the leave of the Court.

Withdrawal of petitions.

[New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 106.]

8. Where two or more insolvency petitions are presented against the same debtor or where separate petitions are presented against joint debtors, the Court may consolidate the proceedings or any of them, on such terms as the Court thinks fit.

Consolidation of petitions.

9. Where the petitioner does not proceed with due diligence on his petition, the Court may substitute as petitioner any other creditor to whom the debtor may be indebted in the amount required by this Act in the case of a petitioning creditor. [New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c 52, s. 107.]

Power to change carriage of proceedings.

10. If a debtor by or against whom an insolvency petition has been presented dies, the proceedings in the matter shall, unless the Court otherwise orders, be continued as if he were alive. [New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict, c. 52, s. 108.]

Continuance of proceedings on death of debtor.

11. (1) Every insolvency petition presented by a debtor shall contain the following particulars, namely:— [345. Bill, cl. 7.]

Contents of petition.

(a) a statement that the debtor is unable to pay his debts;

(b) the place where he ordinarily resides, or carries on business or personally works for gain, or, if he has been arrested or imprisoned, the place where he is in custody;

(c) the Court (if any) by whose order he has been arrested or imprisoned, or by which an order has been made, for the attachment of his property; together with particulars of the decree in respect of which any such order has been made:

(d) the amount and particulars of all pecuniary claims against him, together with the names and residences of his creditors so far as they are known to, or can by the exercise of reasonable care and diligence be ascertained by, him;

(e) the amount and particulars of all his property, together with—

(i) a specification of the value of all such property not consisting of money;

(ii) the place or places at which any such property is to be found; and

(iii) a declaration of his willingness to place at the disposal of the Court all such property save in so far as it includes such particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure or by any other enactment for the time being in force from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree. XIV of 1882

(2) Every insolvency petition presented by a creditor or creditors shall set forth the particulars regarding the debtor specified in clause (b) of sub-section (1), and shall also specify—

(a) the act of insolvency committed by such debtor, together with the date of its commission; and

(b) the amount and particulars of his or their pecuniary claim or claims against such debtor.

[Cf. IV of 1872, s. 24. Bill, cl. 8.]

Procedure on admission of petition.

12. (1) Where an insolvency petition is admitted, the Court shall make an order fixing a date for hearing the petition.

(2) Notice of the order under sub-section (1) shall be given to creditors by publication in the local official Gazette, and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

[347.] (3) Where the debtor is not the petitioner notice of the order under sub-section (1) shall be served on him in the manner provided for the service of summons.

[New. Cf. cls. 8 (2) & 10 of Bill.]

Interim proceedings against debtor.

13. At the time of making the order referred to in section 12, sub-section (1), or at any subsequent time before adjudication, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any creditor, make one or more of the following orders, namely:—

(1) order the debtor to give reasonable security for his appearance until final orders are made upon the petition, and direct that, in default of giving such security, he shall be detained in the civil prison,

(2) order the appointment of an interim receiver of the property of the debtor or of any part thereof,

(3) order the attachment by actual seizure of the whole or any part of the property in the possession or under the control of the debtor, other than such particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure or by any other enactment for the time being in force from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree, XIV of 1882.

(4) order a warrant to issue with or without bail for the arrest of the debtor and direct either that he be detained in the civil prison, until the disposal of the petition, or that he be released on such terms as to security as may be reasonable and necessary:

Provided that an order under clause (2), clause (3) or clause (4) shall not be made unless the Court is satisfied that the debtor, with intent to defeat or delay his creditors or to avoid any process of the Court,—

(i) has absconded or has departed from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court or is about to abscond or to depart from such limits, or is remaining outside them, or

(ii) has failed to disclose or has concealed, destroyed, transferred or removed from such limits, or is about to conceal, destroy, transfer or remove from such limits, any documents likely to be of use to his creditors in the course of the hearing, or any part of his property other than such particulars as aforesaid.

Procedure at hearing.

14. (1) On the day fixed for the hearing of the petition, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court shall require proof— [46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 7. Cf. Bill, cl. 11.]

(a) that the creditor or the debtor, as the case may be, is entitled to present the petition,

(b) that the debtor, if he does not appear on a petition presented by a creditor, has been served with notice of the order referred to in section 12, sub-section (1), and

(c) that the debtor has committed the act of insolvency alleged against him.

(2) The Court shall also examine the debtor, if he is present, as to his conduct, dealings and property in the presence of such creditors as appear at the hearing, and the creditors shall have the right to question the debtor thereon.

(3) The Court shall, if sufficient cause is shown, grant time to the debtor or to any creditor to produce any evidence which appears to it to be necessary for the proper disposal of the petition.

(4) A memorandum of the substance of the examination of the debtor and of any other oral evidence given shall be made by the Judge and shall form part of the record of the case.

Dismissal of petition.

15. (1) Where the Court is not satisfied with the proof of the right to present the petition or of the service of notice on the debtor as required by section 12, sub-section (3), or of the alleged act of insolvency, or is satisfied by the debtor that he is able to pay his debts or that for any other sufficient cause no order ought to be made, the Court shall dismiss the petition. [46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 7 (3). Cf. Bill, cl. 12.]

(2) Where a petition presented by a creditor is dismissed under sub-section (1) and the Court is satisfied that the petition was frivolous or vexatious, the Court may, on the application of the debtor, award against such creditor such amount, not exceeding one thousand rupees, as it deems a reasonable compensation to the debtor for the expense or injury occasioned to him by the petition and the proceedings thereon, and such amount may be realised as if it were a fine. [Cf. 401.]

(3) An award under this section shall bar any suit for compensation in respect of such petition and the proceedings thereon.

Order of adjudication.

16. (1) Where a petition is not dismissed under the preceding section and the debtor is unable to propose any composition or scheme which shall be accepted by the creditors and approved by the Court in the manner hereinafter provided, the Court shall make an order of adjudication. [Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 9. Cf. Bill cl. 13.]

(2) On the making of an order of adjudication—

(a) the whole of the property of the insolvent, save in so far as it includes such particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure or by any other enactment for the time being in force from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree, shall vest in the Court or in a receiver as hereinafter provided and shall become divisible among the creditors, and

XIV of 1882.

(b) the insolvent, if in prison for debt. shall be released,

and thereafter, except as provided by this Act, no creditor to whom the insolvent is indebted in respect of any debt provable under this Act shall during the pendency of the insolvency proceedings have any remedy against the property or person of the insolvent in respect of the debt or commence any suit or other legal proceeding, except with the leave of the Court and on such terms as the Court may impose.

[New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 44 (iii).] (3) For the purposes of sub-section (2), clause (a), all goods being, at the date of the presentation of the petition on which the order is made, in the possession, order or disposition of the insolvent in his trade or business, by the consent and permission of the true owner, under such circumstances that he is the reputed owner thereof, shall be deemed to be the property of the insolvent.

[New Cf. ibid, s. 44 (i).] (4) All such property as may be acquired by or devolve on the insolvent after the date of an order of adjudication and before his discharge shall forthwith vest in the Court or receiver and become divisible among the creditors in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2), clause (a).

(5) Nothing in this section shall affect the power of any secured creditor to realise or otherwise deal with his security in the same manner as he would have been entitled to realise or deal with it if this section had not been passed.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 43.] (6) An order of adjudication shall relate back to, and take effect from, the date of the presentation of the petition on which it is made

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 20.] (7) Notice of an order of adjudication stating the name, address and description of the insolvent, the date of the adjudication and the Court by which the adjudication is made, shall be published in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 14 Cf. Bill, cl. 38.] 17. If in any case in which an order of adjudication has been made it shall be proved to the Court by which such order was made that insolvency proceedings are pending in another Court against the same debtor and that the property of the debtor can be more conveniently distributed by such other Court, the Court may rescind the order of adjudication and stay all proceedings or dismiss the petition on such terms (if any) as the Court thinks fit.

Power to cancel one of concurrent orders of adjudication.

[Cf. Bill, cl. 14.] 18. (1) The Court may, at the time of the order of adjudication, or at any time afterwards, appoint a receiver for the property of the insolvent, and such property shall thereupon vest in such receiver.

Appointment of receiver.

(2) Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, the Court may— [New.]

(a) require the receiver to give such security as it thinks fit duly to account for what he shall receive in respect of the property; and

(b) by general or special order, fix the amount to be paid as remuneration for the services of the receiver out of the assets of the insolvent.

(3) Where the Court appoints a receiver, it may remove the person in whose possession or custody any such property as aforesaid is, from the possession or custody thereof:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorise the Court to remove from the possession or custody of property any person whom the insolvent has not a present right so to remove.

(4) Where a receiver appointed under this section—

(a) fails to submit his accounts at such periods and in such form as the Court directs, or

(b) fails to pay the balance due from him thereon as the Court directs, or

(c) occasions loss to the property by his wilful default or gross negligence,

the Court may direct his property to be attached and sold, and may apply the proceeds to make good any balance found to be due from him or any loss so occasioned by him.

19. (1) The Local Government may appoint such persons as it thinks fit (to be called "Official Receivers") to be receivers under this Act within such local limits as it may prescribe. [New.]

Power to appoint Official Receivers.

(2) Where any Official Receiver has been so appointed for the local limits of the jurisdiction of any Court having jurisdiction under this Act, he shall be the receiver for the purpose of every order appointing a receiver issued by any such Court, unless the Court for special reasons otherwise directs.

(3) Any sum payable under section 18, sub-section (2), clause (b), in respect of the services of an Official Receiver shall be credited to such fund as the Local Government may direct.

(4) Every Official Receiver shall receive such remuneration out of the said fund or otherwise as the Local Government may fix in this behalf, and no remuneration whatever beyond that so fixed shall be received by the Official Receiver as such.

20. Subject to the provisions of this Act the receiver shall, with all convenient speed, realise the property of the debtor and distribute dividends among the creditors entitled thereto, and for that purpose may— [Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, ss. 56 & 57. Cf. Bill, cl. 16.]

Duties and powers of receiver.

(a) sell all or any part of the property of the insolvent;

(b) give receipts for any money received by him;

and may, by leave of the Court, do all or any of the following things, namely:—

(c) carry on the business of the insolvent so far as may be necessary for the beneficial winding up of the same;

(d) institute, defend or continue any suit or other legal proceeding relating to the property of the insolvent ;

(e) employ a pleader or other agent to take any proceedings or do any business which may be sanctioned by the Court ;

(f) accept as the consideration for the sale of any property of the insolvent a sum of money payable at a future time subject to such stipulations as to security and otherwise as the Court thinks fit ;

(g) mortgage or pledge any part of the property of the insolvent for the purpose of raising money for the payment of his debts ;

(h) refer any dispute to arbitration, and compromise all debts, claims and liabilities, on such terms as may be agreed upon ;

(i) divide in its existing form amongst the creditors, according to its estimated value, any property which, from its peculiar nature or other special circumstances, cannot readily or advantageously be sold.

[New, proviso. Cf. Bill, cl. 16.]

Special provisions in regard to immoveable property.

[XIV of 1882.]

21. (1) In any local area in which a declaration has been made under section 320 of the Code of Civil Procedure and is in force, no sale of immoveable property paying revenue to the Government or held or let for agricultural purposes shall be made by the receiver; but, after the other property of the insolvent has been realised, the Court shall ascertain—

(a) the amount required to satisfy the debts proved under this Act after deducting the monies already received,

(b) the immoveable property of the insolvent remaining unsold, and

(c) the incumbrances (if any) existing thereon,

and shall forward a statement to the Collector containing the particulars aforesaid; and thereupon the Collector shall proceed to raise the amount so required by the exercise of such of the powers conferred on him by sections 322 to 325 of the said Code as he thinks fit, and subject to the provisions of those sections so far as they are applicable, and shall hold at the disposal of the Court all sums that may come to his hands by the exercise of such powers.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect any provisions of any enactment for the time being in force prohibiting or restricting the execution of decrees or orders against immoveable property ; and any such provisions shall be deemed to apply to the enforcement of an order of adjudication made under this Act as if it were such a decree or order.

[New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 90.]

Appeal to Court against receiver.

22. If the insolvent or any of the creditors or any other person is aggrieved by any act or decision of the receiver, he may apply to the Court, and the Court may confirm, reverse or modify the act or decision complained of and make such order as it thinks just :

[Bankruptcy Rules, 1886, rule 130.]

Provided that no application under this section shall be entertained after the expiration of twenty-one days from the date of the order or decision complained of.

Powers of Court if no receiver appointed.

[Cf. Bill, cl. 17.]

23. Where no receiver is appointed, the Court shall have all the rights of, and may exercise all the powers conferred on, a receiver under this Act.

Schedule of creditors.

[New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 37 (6). Cf. s. 352.]

24. (1) All persons alleging themselves to be creditors of the insolvent in respect of debts provable under this Act shall tender proof of their respective debts by producing evidence of the amount and particulars thereof, and the Court shall, by order, determine the persons who have proved themselves to be creditors of the insolvent in respect of such debts, and the amount of such debts, respectively, and shall frame a schedule of such persons and debts.

Provided that, if, in the opinion of the Court, the value of any debt is incapable of being fairly estimated, the Court may make an order to that effect, and thereupon the debt shall not be included in the schedule.

(2) A copy of every such schedule shall be posted in the Court-house.

(3) Any creditor of the insolvent may, at any time before the discharge of the insolvent, tender proof of his debt and apply to the Court for an order directing his name to be entered in the schedule as a creditor in respect of any debt provable under this Act, and not entered in the schedule, and the Court, after causing notice to be served on the insolvent and the other creditors, and hearing their objections (if any), shall comply with or reject the application.

Mode of proof.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, Sch. II, rr. 2 and 4. Cf. Bill, cl. 19.]

25. (1) A debt may be proved under this Act by delivering, or sending by post in a registered letter, to the Court an affidavit verifying the debt.

(2) The affidavit shall contain or refer to a statement of account showing the particulars of the debt, and shall specify the vouchers (if any) by which the same can be substantiated. The Court may at any time call for the production of the vouchers.

Disallowance and reduction of entries in schedule.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, Sch. II, rr. 23 to 25. Cf. Bill, cl. 23.]

26. (1) Where the receiver thinks that a debt has been improperly entered in the schedule, the Court may, on the application of the receiver and after notice to the creditor, and such inquiry (if any) as the Court thinks necessary, expunge such entry or reduce the amount of the debt.

(2) The Court may also, after like inquiry, expunge an entry or reduce the amount of a debt upon the application of a creditor where no receiver has been appointed, or where the receiver declines to interfere in the matter, or, in the case of a composition or scheme, upon the application of the debtor.

Compositions and schemes of arrangement.

[New. Cf. 53 & 54 Vict., c. 71, s. 3, and Cf. Bill, cl. 27.]

27. (1) Where a debtor, whether before or after the making of an order of adjudication, submits a proposal for a composition in satisfaction of his debts or a proposal for a scheme of arrangement of his affairs, the Court shall fix a date for the consideration of the proposal and shall issue a notice to all creditors by publication in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

(2) If on the consideration of the proposal a majority in number and three-fourths in value of all the creditors whose debts are proved and who are present in person or by pleader, resolve to accept the proposal, the same shall be deemed to be duly accepted by the creditors.

(3) The debtor may at the meeting amend the terms of his proposal if the amendment is, in the opinion of the Court, calculated to benefit the general body of creditors.

(4) Where the Court is of opinion, after hearing the report of the receiver, if a receiver has been appointed, and after considering any objections which may be made by or on behalf of any creditor, that the terms of the proposal are not reasonable or are not calculated to benefit the general body of creditors, the Court shall refuse to approve the proposal.

(5) If any facts are proved on proof of which the Court would be required either to refuse, suspend or attach conditions to the debtor's discharge, the Court shall refuse to approve the proposal unless it provides reasonable security for payment of not less than six annas in the rupee on all the unsecured debts provable against the debtor's estate.

(6) In any other case the Court may either approve or refuse to approve the proposal.

(7) If the Court approves the proposal, the terms shall be embodied in an order of the Court and the Court shall frame a schedule in accordance with the provisions of section 24, the order of adjudication (if any) shall be annulled and the composition or scheme shall be binding on all the creditors entered in the said schedule so far as relates to any debts entered therein.

(8) If default is made in the payment of any instalment due in pursuance of the composition or scheme, or if it appears to the Court that the composition or scheme cannot proceed without injustice or undue delay or that the approval of the Court was obtained by fraud, the Court may, if it thinks fit, adjudge the debtor insolvent and annul the composition or scheme but without prejudice to the validity of any transfer or payment duly made or of anything duly done under or in pursuance of the composition or scheme. When a debtor is adjudged insolvent under this sub-section, all debts provable in other respects which have been contracted before the date of such adjudication shall be provable in the insolvency.

(9) No composition or scheme shall be approved by the Court which does not provide for the payment in priority to other debts of all debts directed to be so paid in the distribution of the property of an insolvent.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 37. Bill, cl. 18.]

Debts provable under this Act.

28. (1) Save as provided by sub-section (2) all debts and liabilities present or future, certain or contingent, to which the debtor is subject when he is adjudged an insolvent or to which he may become subject before his discharge by reason of any obligation incurred before the date of such adjudication, shall be deemed to be debts provable under this Act.

(2) Demands in the nature of unliquidated damages arising otherwise than by reason of a contract or breach of trust shall not be provable under this Act.

Debt payable at a future time.

29. A creditor may prove for a debt not payable when the debtor is adjudged an insolvent as if it were payable presently, and may receive dividends equally with the other creditors, deducting therefrom only a rebate of interest at the rate of six per centum per annum computed from the declaration of a dividend to the time when the debt would have become payable, according to the terms on which it was contracted. [Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, Sch. II, r. Bill, cl. 22.]

Mutual dealings and set-off.

30. Where there have been mutual dealings between an insolvent and a creditor proving or claiming to prove a debt under this Act, an account shall be taken of what is due from the one party to the other in respect of such mutual dealings, and the sum due from the one party shall be set off against any sum due from the other party, and the balance of the account, and no more, shall be claimed or paid on either side respectively. [New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 38.]

Secured creditors.

31. (1) Where a secured creditor realises his security, he may prove for the balance due to him, after deducting the net amount realised. [Cf. ibid, rr. 9 to 16. Bill, cl. 20.]

(2) Where a secured creditor relinquishes his security for the general benefit of the creditors, he may prove for his whole debt.

(3) Where a secured creditor does not either realise or relinquish his security, he shall, before being entitled to have his debt entered in the schedule, state in his proof the particulars of his security, and the value at which he assesses it, and shall be entitled to receive a dividend only in respect of the balance due to him after deducting the value so assessed.

(4) Where a security is so valued, the Court may at any time before realisation redeem it on payment to the creditor of the assessed value.

(5) Where a creditor, after having valued his security, subsequently realises it, the net amount realised shall be substituted for the amount of any valuation previously made by the creditor and shall be treated in all respects as an amended valuation made by the creditor.

(6) Where a secured creditor does not comply with the provisions of this section, he shall be excluded from all share in any dividend.

Interest.

32. (1) On any debt or sum certain whereon interest is not reserved or agreed for, and which is overdue when the debtor is adjudged an insolvent, and which is provable under this Act, the creditor may prove for interest at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum,— [Cf. ibid, r. 20. Bill, cl. 21.]

(a) if the debt or sum is payable by virtue of a written instrument at a certain time, from the time when such debt or sum was payable to the date of such adjudication; or,

(b) if the debt or sum is payable otherwise, from the time when a demand in writing has been made giving the debtor notice that interest will be claimed from the date of the demand until the time of payment to the date of such adjudication.

[Cf. 53 & 54 Vict., c. 71, s. 23.]

(2) Where a debt which has been proved under this Act includes interest or any pecuniary consideration in lieu of interest, the interest or consideration shall, for the purposes of dividend, be calculated at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, without prejudice to the right of a creditor to receive out of the debtor's estate any higher rate of interest to which he may be entitled after all the debts proved have been paid in full.

[Cf. 51 & 52 Vict., c. 62, s. 1. Bill, cl. 24.]

Priority of debts.

33. (1) In the distribution of the property of the insolvent there shall be paid in priority to all other debts—

(a) all debts due to the Crown or to any local authority; and

(b) all salary or wages, not exceeding twenty rupees in all, of any clerk, servant or labourer in respect of services rendered to the insolvent during four months before the date of the presentation of the petition.

(2) The debts specified in sub-section (1) shall rank equally between themselves, and shall be paid in full, unless the property of the insolvent is insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportions between themselves.

(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the expenses of administration or otherwise, the debts specified in sub-section (1) shall be discharged forthwith in so far as the property of the insolvent is sufficient to meet them.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 40.]

(4) In the case of partners the partnership property shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of the partnership debts, and the separate property of each partner shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of his separate debts. Where there is a surplus of the separate property of the partners, it shall be dealt with as part of the partnership property; and, where is a surplus of the partnership property, it shall be dealt with as part of the respective separate property in proportion to the rights and interests of each partner in the partnership property.

(5) Subject to the provisions of this Act, all debts entered in the schedule shall be paid rateably according to the amounts of such debts respectively and without any preference.

(6) Where there is any surplus after payment of the foregoing debts, it shall be applied in payment of interest from the date on which the debtor is adjudged an insolvent at the rate of six per centum per annum on all debts entered in the schedule.

[Cf. Act XIV of 1882, s. 295; 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, ss. 45 & 46. Cf. Bill, cl. 27.]

Restriction of rights of creditor under execution.

34. (1) Where execution of a decree has issued against the property of a debtor, no person shall be entitled to the benefit of the execution against the receiver except in respect of assets realised in the course of the execution by sale or otherwise before the date of the order of adjudication.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the rights of a secured creditor in respect of the property against which the decree is executed.

(3) A person who in good faith purchases the property of a debtor under a sale in execution shall in all cases acquire a good title to is against the receiver.

[53 & 54 Vict., c. 71, s. 11. Cf. Bill, cl. 28.]

Duties of Court executing decree as to property taken in execution.

35. Where execution of a decree has issued against any property of a debtor which is saleable in execution and before the sale thereof notice is given to the Court executing the decree that an order of adjudication has been made against the debtor, the Court shall, on application direct the property, if in the possession of the Court, to be delivered to the receiver, but the costs of the execution shall be a first charge on the property so delivered, and the receiver may sell the property or an adequate part thereof for the purpose of satisfying the charge.

[46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 47. Cf. Bill, cl. 29.]

Avoidance of voluntary transfer.

36. Any transfer of property not being a transfer made before and in consideration of marriage or made in favour of a purchaser or incumbrancer in good faith and for valuable consideration shall, if the transferor is adjudged insolvent within two years after the date of the transfer, be void against the receiver and may be annulled by the Court.

[46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 48. Cf. Bill, cl. 30.]

Avoidance of preference in certain cases.

37. (1) Every transfer of property or of any interest therein, every payment made, every obligation incurred and every judicial proceeding taken or suffered by any person unable to pay his debts as they become due from his own money in favour of any creditor, with a view of giving that creditor a preference over the other creditors, shall, if such person is adjudged insolvent on a petition presented within three months after the date thereof, be deemed fraudulent and void as against the receiver and shall be annulled by the Court.

(2) This section shall not affect the rights of any person who in good faith and for valuable consideration has acquired a title through or under a creditor of the insolvent.

[46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 49. Cf. Bill, cl. 31.]

Protection of bona fide transactions.

38. Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Act with respect to the effect of insolvency on an execution and with respect to the avoidance of certain transfers and preferences, nothing in this Act shall invalidate in the case of an insolvency—

(a) any payment by the insolvent to any of his creditors;

(b) any payment or delivery to the insolvent;

(c) any transfer by the insolvent for valuable consideration; or

(d) any contract or dealing by or with the insolvent for valuable consideration:

Provided that any such transaction takes place before the date of the order of adjudication.

[Cf. ibid, ss. 60, 61 and 62. Bill, cl. 32.]

Dividends.

39. (1) In the calculation of dividends, the receiver shall retain in his hands sufficient assets to meet—

(a) debts provable under this Act and appearing, from the insolvent's statements or otherwise, to be due to persons resident in places so distant that in the ordinary course of communication they have not had sufficient time to tender their proofs.

(b) debts provable under this Act, the subject of claims not yet determined;

(c) disputed proofs or claims; and

(d) the expenses necessary for the administration of the estate or otherwise.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), all money in hand shall be distributed as dividends.

(3) Any creditor who has not proved his debt before the declaration of any dividend or dividends, shall be entitled to be paid, out of any money for the time being in the hands of the receiver, any dividend or dividends which he may have failed to receive before that money is applied to the payment of any future dividend or dividends; but he shall not be entitled to disturb the distribution of any dividend declared before his debt was proved by reason that he has not participated therein.

[New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 62.]

(4) When the receiver has realised all the property of the insolvent or so much thereof as can in the opinion of the Court be realised without needlessly protracting the receivership, he shall declare a final dividend; but before so doing he shall give notice in manner prescribed to the persons whose claims to be creditors have been notified but not proved, that if they do not prove their claims within the time limited by the notice he will proceed to make a final dividend without regard to their claims. After the expiration of the time so limited, or if the Court on application by any such claimant grants him further time for establishing his claim then on the expiration of such further time, the property of the insolvent shall be divided among the creditors entered in the schedule without regard to the claims of any other persons.

(5) No suit for a dividend shall lie against the receiver; but, where the receiver refuses to pay any dividend, the Court may, on the application of any creditor who is entered in the schedule, order him to pay it, and also to pay out of his own money interest thereon for the time that it is withheld, and the costs of the application.

[Cf. ibid, s. 64. Bill, cl. 33.]

Management by and allowance to insolvent.

40. (1) The Court may appoint the insolvent himself to superintend the management of the property of the insolvent or of any part thereof, or to carry on the trade (if any) of the insolvent for the benefit of the creditors, and in any other respect to aid in administering the property in such manner and on such terms as the Court may direct.

(2) The Court may, from time to time, make such allowance as it may think just to the insolvent out of his property for the support of himself and his family, or in consideration of his services if he is engaged in winding up his estate; but any such allowance may, at any time, be varied or determined by the Court.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 65. Bill, cl. 34.]

Right of insolvent to surplus.

41. The insolvent shall be entitled to any surplus remaining after payment in full of his creditors, with interest as provided by this Act, and of the expenses of the proceedings taken thereunder.

[Cf. ibid, s. 35. Cf. Bill, 37.]

Power to annul adjudication of insolvency.

42. (1) Where, in the opinion of the Court, a debtor ought not to have been adjudged insolvent, or where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the debts of the insolvent have been paid in full, or where a composition or scheme has been approved by the Court under section 27, the Court shall, on the application of the debtor or of any other person interested, by order in writing, annul the adjudication.

(2) Where an adjudication is annulled under sub-section (1), all sales and dispositions of property and payments duly made, and all acts theretofore done, by the Court or receiver shall be valid; but, subject as aforesaid, the property of the debtor who was adjudged insolvent shall vest in such person as the Court may appoint, or, in default of any such appointment, shall revert to the debtor to the extent of his right or interest therein on such conditions (if any) as the Court may, by order in writing, declare.

(3) Notice of every order annulling an adjudication shall be published in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., s. 24. Cf. Bill, 9 and 39]

Duties of debtors.

43. (1) Every debtor, whether before or after the making of an order of adjudication, shall produce all books of account, give such inventories of his property, and such lists of his creditors and debtors and of the debts due to and from them respectively, submit to such examination in respect of his property or his creditors, attend at such times before the Court or receiver, execute such instruments, and generally give such aid in the realisation of his property and the distribution of the proceeds amongst his creditors, as may be required by the Court or receiver, or as may be prescribed.

(2) If a debtor, whether before or after the making of an order of adjudication,—

(a) wilfully makes false entries in the inventories or lists referred to in sub-section (1), or

(b) fraudulently or vexatiously conceals, destroys, transfers, removes or refuses to produce any property or books of account, or

(c) commits any other act of bad faith in the performance of the duties imposed on him by this section, the Court may sentence him, by order in writing, to simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year; and in every such case the Court shall record the facts constituting the offence with the statement (if any) made by the debtor.

[Cf. 53 Vict., s. 8, Cf. Bill, cl.]

Discharge. 44. (1) A debtor may, at any time after the order of adjudication, apply to the Court for an order of discharge; and the Court shall fix a day, notice whereof shall be given by publication in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed, for hearing such application, and any objections which may be made thereto.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, the Court may, after considering the objections of any creditor and, where a receiver has been appointed, the report of the receiver,—

(a) grant or refuse an absolute order of discharge; or

(b) suspend the operation of the order for a specified time; or

(c) grant an order of discharge subject to any conditions with respect to any earnings or income which may afterwards become due to the insolvent, or with respect to his after-acquired property.

(3) The Court shall refuse to grant an absolute order of discharge on proof of any of following facts, namely:—

(a) that the insolvent's assets are not of a value equal to eight annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities, unless he satisfies the Court that the fact that the assets are not of a value equal to eight annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities has arisen from circumstances for which he cannot justly be held responsible;

(b) that the insolvent has omitted to keep such books of account as are usual and proper in the business carried on by him and as sufficiently disclose his business transactions and financial position within the three years immediately preceding his insolvency;

(c) that the insolvent has continued to trade after knowing himself to be insolvent;

(d) that the insolvent has contracted any debt provable under this Act without having at the time of contracting it any reasonable or probable ground of expectation (the burden of proving which shall lie on him) that he would be able to pay it;

(e) that the insolvent has failed to account satisfactorily for any loss of assets or for any deficiency of assets to meet his liabilities;

(f) that the insolvent has brought on, or contributed to, his insolvency by rash and hazardous speculations, or by unjustifiable extravagance in living, or by gambling, or by culpable neglect of his business affairs;

(g) that the insolvent has, within three months preceding the date of the presentation of the petition, when unable to pay his debts as they became due, given an undue preference to any of his creditors;

(h) that the insolvent has on any previous occasion been adjudged an insolvent or made a composition or arrangement with his creditors;

(i) that the insolvent has concealed or removed his property or any part thereof, or has been guilty of any other fraud or fraudulent breach of trust.

(4) For the purposes of this section, the report of the receiver shall be deemed to be evidence; and the Court may presume the correctness of any statement contained therein.

(5) The powers of suspending, and of attaching conditions to, an insolvent's discharge may be exercised concurrently.

Effect of order of discharge. 45. (1) An order of discharge shall not release the insolvent from— [Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., s. 52, 30. Cf. Bill, cl. 36.]

(a) any debt due to the Crown;

(b) any debt or liability incurred by means of any fraud or fraudulent breach of trust to which he was a party; or

(c) any debt or liability in respect of which he has obtained forbearance by any fraud to which he was a party.

(2) Save as otherwise provided by sub-section (1), an order of discharge shall release the insolvent from all debts entered in the schedule.

(3) An order of discharge shall not release any person who, at the date of the presentation of the petition, was a partner or co-trustee with the insolvent, or was jointly bound or had made any joint contract with him or any person who was surety for him.

Appeals. 46. (1) Any person aggrieved by an order made in the exercise of insolvency jurisdiction by a Court subordinate to a District Court may appeal to the District Court, and the order of the District Court upon such appeal shall be final: [Cf. Bill, cl. 42.]

Provided that the High Court, for the purpose of satisfying itself that an order made in any appeal decided by the District Court was according to law, may call for the case and pass such order with respect thereto as it thinks fit.

(2) Any person aggrieved by an order made by the District Court under sections 15, 16, 24, 26, 36, 37, 42, 43, sub-section (2), or 44 otherwise than in appeal from an order made by a subordinate Court may appeal to the High Court.

(3) Any person aggrieved by any other order made by a District Court otherwise than in appeal from an order made by a subordinate Court may appeal to the High Court by leave of the District Court or of the High Court.

(4) The periods of limitation for appeals to the District Court and to the High Court under this section shall be thirty days and ninety days respectively.

[Cf. Bill, cl. 41.]

General powers of Courts.

47. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Court, in regard to proceedings under this Act, shall have the same powers and shall follow the same procedure as it has and follows in the exercise of original civil jurisdiction.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, High Courts and District Courts, in regard to proceedings under this Act in Courts subordinate to them, shall have the same powers and shall follow the same procedure as they respectively have and follow in regard to civil suits.

[46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 121. Bill, cl. 15.]

Summary administration.

48. When a petition is presented by or against a debtor, if the Court is satisfied by affidavit or otherwise that the property of the debtor is not likely to exceed in value five hundred rupees, the Court may make an order that the debtor's estate be administered in a summary manner, and thereupon—

(a) the estate shall, where practicable, be distributed in a single dividend,

(b) the provisions of this Act shall be subject to such other modifications as may be prescribed with the view of saving expense and simplifying procedure :

Provided that nothing in this section shall permit the modification of the provisions of this Act relating to the examination or discharge of the debtor.

[New. Cf. Bill, cl. 43.]

Costs.

49. The costs of any proceeding under this Act, including the costs of maintaining a debtor in the civil prison, shall, subject to any rules made under this Act, be in the discretion of the Court in which the proceeding is had.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 118. Bill, cl. 45.]

Courts to be auxiliary to each other.

50. All Courts having jurisdiction in insolvency and the officers of such Courts respectively shall severally act in aid of and be auxiliary to each other in all matters of insolvency, and an order of a Court seeking aid with a request to another of the said Courts shall be deemed sufficient to enable the latter Court to exercise, in regard to the matters directed by the order, such jurisdiction as either of such Courts could exercise in regard to similar matters within their respective jurisdictions.

[Bill, cl. 44.]

Power to make rules.

51. (1) The High Court may, with the previous sanction, in the case of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, of the Governor General in Council, and, in the case of any other High Court, of the Local Government, make rules for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide—

(a) for the appointment and remuneration of receivers (other than Official Receivers), the audit of the accounts of all receivers and the costs of such audit,

(b) for meetings of creditors, and

(c) for the procedure to be followed in the case of estates to be administered in a summary manner.

(3) All rules made under this section shall be published in the Gazette of India or in the local official Gazette, as the case may be, and shall, on such publication, have effect as if enacted in this Act.

[New. Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 99.]

Delegation of powers to Official Receivers.

52. (1) The High Court, with the like sanction, may from time to time direct that, in any matters in respect of which jurisdiction is given to the Court by this Act, the Official Receiver shall, subject to the directions of the Court, have all or any of the following powers, namely :—

(a) to hear insolvency petitions, to examine the debtor and to make orders of adjudication ;

(b) to frame schedules and to admit or reject proofs of creditors ;

(c) to grant orders of discharge ;

(d) to approve compositions or schemes of arrangement ;

(e) to make interim orders in any case of urgency ;

(f) to hear and determine any unopposed or ex parte application.

(2) Subject to the appeal to the Court provided for by section 22, any order made or act done by the Official Receiver in the exercise of the said powers shall be deemed the order or act of the Court.

[Cf. 46 & 47 Vict., c. 52, s. 31. Bill, cl. 4...]

Undischarged insolvent obtaining credit.

53. (1) An undischarged insolvent obtaining credit to the extent of fifty rupees or upwards from any person without informing such person that he is an undischarged insolvent shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine, or with both.

[New.]

Proceedings of the Council of the Governor General of India, assembled for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA, ASSEMBLED FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING LAWS AND REGULATIONS UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE INDIAN COUNCILS ACTS, 1861 AND 1892 (24 & 25 VICT., C. 67, AND 55 & 56 VICT., C. 14).

The Council met at Government House, Calcutta, on Friday, the 1st March, 1907.

PRESENT:

His Excellency the Earl of Minto, P.C., G.C.M.G., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., Viceroy and Governor General of India, presiding.
His Excellency General Viscount Kitchener of Khartoum, G.C.B., O.M., G.C.M.G., Commander-in-Chief in India.
The Hon'ble Mr. H. Erle Richards, K.C.
The Hon'ble Mr. E. N. Baker, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Major-General C. H. Scott, C.B., R.A.
The Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson, KT., C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. J. F. Finlay, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. A. A. Apcar, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. S. Ismay, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Mr. W. T. Hall, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur Khwaja Salimulla of Dacca, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Muhammad Sahib Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Sir Rameshwara Singh, K.C.I.E., Maharaja Bahadur of Darbhanga.
The Hon'ble Munshi Madho Lal.

The Hon'ble Mr. Gangadhar Rao Madhav Chitnavis, C.I.E.
The Hon'ble Sir S. W. Edgerley, K.C.V.O., C.I.E.
The Hon'ble Mr. H. W. W. Reynolds.
The Hon'ble Mr. F. A. Slacke.
The Hon'ble Mr. H. A. Sim, C.I.E.
The Hon'ble Tikka Sahib Ripudaman Singh of Nabha.
The Hon'ble Dr. Rashbehari Ghose, C.I.E., D.L.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Hon'ble TIKKA SAHIB RIPUDAMAN SINGH OF NABHA asked:—

"Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing (a) the names of the States which maintain Imperial Service Troops, (b) the annual income of each State, (c) the strength of Imperial troops maintained by it, and (d) its annual cost of maintenance of the Imperial Service Troops?

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF replied:—

"I am very glad to be able to do so."*

The Hon'ble NAWAB BAHADUR KHWAJA SALIMULLA OF DACCA asked:—

"Before publishing its final resolution, will Government be pleased to take the public into its confidence and state what it proposes to do as regards the constitution of the Legislative Councils, the amendment of which has now been for some time under the consideration of Government?

"Can Government see its way to place on the Council table any papers regarding this matter?"

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied:—

"The Government is not prepared at present to make any pronouncement in the matter or to lay any papers on the table."

The Hon'ble NAWAB BAHADUR KHWAJA SALIMULLA OF DACCA asked:—

"Will Government be pleased to state how many 'Councillors of the Empire' have been created since the appointment of those on the Proclamation of our late beloved Queen, as Empress of India, and to give the names of those now living holding this high office?"

His Excellency THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF replied:—

"No further nominations to the title of 'Councillor of the Empress' have been made since its creation in 1877. None of the Indian Chiefs and Princes on whom the title was then conferred are now alive."

The Hon'ble NAWAB BAHADUR KHWAJA SALIMULLA OF DACCA asked:—

"Has the attention of Government been drawn to the article in the Moslem Patriot of Madras dated the 24th January last on Mr. A. C. Rafiqi's pamphlet on 'Inversion of Time', regarding the neglected state of the graves at Rangoon where lie buried Bahadur Shah, the last of the Delhi Emperors, and his Consort?"

"If so, will Government be pleased to move the Government of Burma to reconsider its decision and see to a suitable tomb being raised where lie interred these distinguished personages."

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied:—

"The attention of the Government of India has not been drawn to any article in the Moslem Patriot regarding the state of the grave at Rangoon of the late

* Vide Appendix B.

Bahadur Shah, the last king of Delhi, but as a matter of fact the question of the desirability of suitably marking for historical purposes his burial-place has been for some time past under the consideration of the Government of India and instructions have been sent to the Government of Burma."

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ERLE RICHARDS presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Insolvency in British India as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the Town of Rangoon. He said :—" My Lord, I have on a former occasion explained to this Council the object and the scope of the Provincial Insolvency Bill. As the Council are aware, the Bill in the form in which it was introduced was practically taken from the Chapter on Insolvency in the Bill to amend the Civil Procedure Code as revised by the Select Committee which considered that Bill. In that form it had been twice circulated, but enveloped in a mass of other material it had escaped particular attention. In its present form as a separate Bill it has received more consideration and most useful criticisms have been submitted, not only by the High Courts and by Judges in various parts of India, but also by various legal Associations, headed by the Standing Committee of the Bar of Calcutta. These criticisms have been subjected to a careful examination by the Select Committee, and it will, I think, be found that they have been largely met by the amendments that have been introduced into the Bill. In any measure of legal reform we have to face the difficulty that conditions vary greatly in the different parts of India, and it has been pointed out to us by more than one authority that the Bill as circulated was in advance of the requirements of the more backward areas. We have introduced a provision to meet this difficulty which will, we hope, be found satisfactory. I will not, my Lord, at this stage discuss the particular amendments which are submitted for the consideration of this Council: they are fully dealt with in the Report of the Select Committee, and I shall have an opportunity of explaining them before the session closes. I will content myself today with formally presenting the Report."

CENTRAL PROVINCES BOILER INSPECTION BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. FINLAY: "Your Excellency, I have now to ask the Council to take into consideration the Central Provinces Boiler Inspection Bill, which was introduced on December 14. This is a non-contentious Bill, and the comments on the Bill received since its introduction do not indicate the need of any alteration of importance. It is therefore considered unnecessary to refer the Bill to a Select Committee. When the Council accepts the motion I am now about to move, I shall propose three unimportant amendments. I move that the Bill to provide for the inspection of Steam-boilers and Prime-movers and for their management by competent Engineers in the Central Provinces be taken into consideration."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. FINLAY: "The first two amendments that I have to propose are to clause 10, the clause which provides for appeals against a refusal by an inspector to grant a boiler license. These amendments are proposed in consequence of the remarks on the clause made by the Chief Commissioner. They make it clear that the District Magistrate must appoint one or more assessors to aid him in disposing of an appeal, while the Commissioner in hearing an appeal from the order of the District Magistrate may act either with or without the aid of assessors, at his discretion. The Commissioner will have before him the views of the expert assessors who sat with the District Magistrate; and it will often not be necessary for him to call in further expert advice. I move that in sub-clause (1) of clause 10 of the Bill, for the word 'may', in line 1, the word 'shall' be substituted."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. FINLAY moved that in sub-clause (3) of the same clause, for the words and figures " in accordance with the provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2) " the words and figure " to inquire into and determine the appeal, with or without the aid of assessors, as he may think fit, in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2)" be substituted.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. FINLAY : "The third amendment which I propose reduces to Rs. 50 the sum of Rs. 150 which clause 11 allows the appellate Court to require the owner of the boiler to pay as costs in the case of an unfounded or frivolous appeal. I propose this amendment at the instance of my friend Mr. Chitnavis. The Hon'ble Member naturally takes a special interest in a Central Provinces Bill; and he was good enough to go through the Bill with me a few days ago. We discussed several points, and in the end the Hon'ble Member expressed his willingness to accept the Bill as it stands with one exception. The exception was clause 11, which allows a penalty to be inflicted on the owner if the appellate Court is of opinion that an appeal is unfounded or frivolous. Mr. Chitnavis was apprehensive that this clause might have the effect of unduly restricting resort to the right of appeal from the orders of the inspectors, and he at first proposed that the clause should be omitted altogether. I referred him to the similar sections in the corresponding Acts in force in other Provinces, and said that the provision in question would be used only in extreme cases, and that it was desirable to have some means of discouraging unfounded or frivolous appeals. The Hon'ble Member then said that he would be content if the penalty in the clause were reduced from Rs. 150 to Rs. 50. I accepted this suggestion, with Your Excellency's permission. The reduced penalty will be sufficient to secure the object in view. I move that in clause 11, sub-clause (1), fifth line, for the words 'one hundred and fifty' the word 'fifty', be substituted."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. FINLAY moved that the Bill as amended be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 15th March 1907.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 h., on Thursday, the 28th February 1907, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The appearance of an area of low pressure in Gujarat on the 23rd was followed the next day by the advance into north Rajputana of a shallow depression from Persia. The two depressions merged into one, and moved eastward across northern India as a arge area of slightly deficient pressure, but the disturbance was a very feeble one, and had no effect upon the weather beyond giving cloud along its track, and a few very light falls of snow in Kashmir and of rain at the foot of the Simla and Mussooree hills, until it had advanced sufficiently far eastward to cause southerly winds at the head of the Bay, and thus set up conditions favourable for rain in north-east India. A few light falls of rain were in consequence reported from Deltaic Bengal and Assam on the 26th, and more general rain from the south-eastern districts of Eastern Bengal and Assam on the 27th, when Cherra Poonjee received the comparatively heavy fall of 3·62". The depression had practically disappeared on the 27th, but it gave a few light falls of rain in the upper Brahmaputra Valley on the 28th. On this day a fresh depression was entering north-west India from Persia and had given light rain in north Baluchistan.

Burma.—Light falls of rain occurred at Tavoy on the 23rd and at Mergui on the 24th. Skies were cloudy in the extreme north and in Tenasserim, and generally clear elsewhere. Temperature was nearly normal, except on the 25th and 26th, when it was in slight to moderate defect.

North-east India and Orissa.—Shillong and Darjeeling had light falls of rain on the 24th and Tezpur on the 25th, while the advance of the depression from the west gave scattered rain in Deltaic Bengal and Assam on the 26th, more general rain in the south-eastern districts of Eastern Bengal and Assam on the 27th, and a few falls in the upper Brahmaputra Valley on the 28th. Skies were clear or only lightly clouded, except in the areas of rainfall, and temperature was nearly normal or in excess, except on the 23rd, 24th, 25th, and 27th, when it was lower than usual.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies clouded over in the United Provinces, the east of Central India and the north of the Central Provinces as the depression passed through the division, but during the remainder of the week they were clear. Temperature was in slight to moderate defect up to the 24th; it then rose and was nearly normal on the next two days, but on the 27th and 28th it was again in slight defect.

North-west India.—Light snow fell in Kashmir on the 23rd and 24th. Skies were cloudy during the first three days of the week; they then cleared, but on the 28th as the fresh depression from Persia entered north-west India, cloud reappeared in the western districts of the division. Temperature was in defect on the 22nd, but it commenced rising on the 23rd, and from the 25th onward was normal or in excess.

The Peninsula.—Skies were clear or only lightly clouded, and temperature was normal or in slight excess.

The rainfall of the period, from the 30th November to the 28th February, is either equal to or in excess of the normal in all parts of the Indian region, except in Baluchistan, the subdivisions of Dinajpur, Burdwan, Calcutta and Mandalay, and on the Burma coast, where it is in defect.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 h., each day:

February 23rd, Tavoy 0·82".

" 26th, Barisal 0·60".

" 27th, Cherra Poonjee 3·62" and Narayanganj 1·55".

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA,

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 23rd February 1907.

Burma.—Eighty-two cents of rain fell in Tavoy and one inch and a quarter in Mergui. Winnowing of wet weather paddy is nearly completed in Lower Burma. Sowing and transplanting of dry weather paddy and harvesting of peas, beans, gram and wheat are progressing. In Upper Burma clearing and burning jungle for hill side paddy cultivation has commenced. The standing crops are good except in Mandalay where rain is needed for miscellaneous upland crops, and in the Northern Shan States where wheat and tobacco crops and poppy plants are not in good condition in places. The price of paddy has risen slightly in Myaungmya, Thaton and Mandalay, and fallen slightly in Akyab.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain has fallen in all districts except Chittagong, Tippera, Noakhali, Malda, and Sylhet. More rain is still wanted in some districts. The prospects of the standing crops are generally fair. Transplanting of summer rice is proceeding. Preparation of land for jute and early rice is going on. Harvesting of mustard and pulses; pruning of tea; and pressing of sugarcane are in progress. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 16; Comilla $9\frac{7}{16}$; Silchar 9 to $9\frac{1}{4}$; Kohima, Dacca, and Chittagong 9; Rangamati, Pabna, and Malda $8\frac{1}{2}$; Dinajpur $8\frac{3}{8}$; Bogra $8\frac{1}{4}$; Mymensingh, Rampur Boalia, Sylhet, Gauhati, Tezpur, Nowgong, and Sibsagar 8; Barisal and Dhubri $7\frac{1}{2}$; Jalpaiguri and Dibrugarh $7\frac{1}{4}$; Faridpur and Noakhali 7; Tura 6 to 7; Rangpur $6\frac{1}{2}$; and Shillong and Aijal 6 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in four; fallen in six; and remained stationary in the remaining districts. Three hundred and five persons received gratuitous relief in Sylhet.

Bengal.—Light rain was general in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. In the rest of the Province, there was no rain, except in Darjeeling and Angul, where the fall amounted to 1·56 and 1·83 inches, respectively. Harvesting of spring crops has commenced. Some crops have been slightly damaged by the recent rainfall in Patna, Shahabad and Palamau, and by hail-storms in Bankura and Ranchi. Gram is being damaged by insects in Nadia. The number of persons receiving gratuitous relief is—Muzaffarpur 367 and Darbhanga 13,205. The number of persons on test works is—Champaran 152, Muzaffarpur 455 and Darbhanga 1,907. The number on relief works in Darbhanga is 45,894. Fodder and water are generally sufficient except in parts of Jessore. The price of common rice has risen in two and fallen in five districts; in the remaining districts it has been stationary.

United Provinces.—Light to moderate rain continued during the week in all districts and was accompanied by hail in twelve districts, where the crops have been somewhat damaged; the damage done was severe only in a few villages of the Aligarh district; in Basti serious injury to wheat from cloudy weather is reported and slight injury from rain or cloudy weather in parts of eight other districts; rust has caused slight damage in Furrakhabad, Hardoi, and Azamgarh. The spring crops are ripening and harvesting is in progress. Prospects are good. Sowing of extra spring crops and sugarcane continues. Poppy is good and extraction of opium has begun in Jaunpur and Mirzapur. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Food supplies and fodder are generally sufficient. Prices continue stationary.

The weekly report on the scarcity is as follows:—Slight showers were received in the Padrauna, Gorakhpur and Hata tehsils. Harvesting of spring crops has commenced. Supplies are sufficient, but fodder is scarce. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Prices are almost stationary. The numbers on relief are:—on works, 32; on gratuitous relief, 2,491; in poor houses, 345; total, 2,868.

Punjab.—Good to moderate rain has fallen in Hissar, Delhi, Ambala, Amritsar, Sialkot, Shahpur, Rawalpindi, and Mianwali and light rain in Gurgaon, Jullundur, Lahore, and Lyallpur. Prices of food grains are rising in Hissar and Gurgaon, falling in Rohtak, Jullundur, and Sialkot; and are unchanged elsewhere. Ploughings for and sowings of extra spring crops are in progress. Sowings of sugarcane continue in Ambala. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally good. Crops have been slightly damaged by hail in parts of Gurgaon, Ambala, Jullundur, Lahore, and Sialkot; by excessive rain in Ambala; by inundations in parts of Lahore and Amritsar; and by locusts in parts of Mianwali and Lyallpur. Wheat is suffering slightly from rust in parts of Sialkot. Cattle are in good condition. Fodder is sufficient. There are no complaints regarding the water supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight showers fell in Hazara, Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan during the week. The standing crops are in excellent condition owing to fine warm weather. The water supply is ample and fodder is sufficient. Cattle are in good condition except in one village of Peshawar. Prices are easy. Prices :—Wheat 16 to 19½; gram 17¼ to 24; maize 22 to 28¼; and bajra 20 to 20¼ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—No rain. Prices are stationary. Prices :—Wheat 11 to 24 and maize 11 to 36 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Ramban and Kishtwar tehsils.

Kashmir.—The weather was partially cloudy except on the last days of the week when it was bright. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana.—(Report not received.)

Central India.—The rainfall was general in all Agencies except Indore and Bundelkhand. Threshing of autumn crops is almost completed. Reaping of spring crops is in progress in all Agencies except Gwalior, Bhopal and Bundelkhand. The standing crops and the probable outturn are fair in Bhopal and good elsewhere. Crops have been slightly damaged by rats in Indore and by hail elsewhere except in Bundelkhand. Agricultural stock and pasturage are good except in parts of Indore and Bhopal. Prices are high in Baghelkhand and Rutlam and stationary elsewhere. Opium has been slightly damaged by hail in Malwa and Bhopawar and is good elsewhere. Weeding and watering are in progress. Collection continues in Bhopawar.

Central Provinces.—Rain was received during the week in ten districts ranging from an inch in Jubbulpore an—Narsingpur to 17 cents in Bilaspur. Hail also fell in Bilaspur, Mandla and Yeotmal. The crops have been slightly damaged in parts of Jubbulpore, Mandla, and Balaghat by the recent rains; the damage from hail was serious in two circles of the Ramtek tehsil (Nagpur); ringni juar in the Garchiroli tehsil (Chanda) has been damaged by insects. Harvesting of spring crops continues and prospects are generally good. Fodder and water are sufficient everywhere. The price of wheat in seers per rupee rose by 1½ seers in Chanda and of juar by 3 seers in Narsingpur; rice became cheaper by 1¾ seers in Amraoti; prices fluctuate little elsewhere but still continue equal to or exceed the scarcity level in Nimar, Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, Bilaspur and Amraoti.

Native States:—Udaipur received 1¼ inch of rain and Kwardha, Chhuikhadan, Sakti, Khairagarh and Rajnandgaon, light showers. Crops though damaged slightly in parts of Kwardha and Khairagarh are otherwise in good condition. Threshing of rice, and kodon (millet); sugarcane pressing; and harvesting of spring crops continue. Fodder and water are sufficient. The price of wheat and kodon rose by 2 and 3 seers per rupee in Chhuikhadan.

Bombay.—There was rain during the week in parts of Larkana, Upper Sind Frontier, Thar and Parkar, the Deccan, Kathiawar, Palanpur, Cutch and Mahi Kantha. The standing crops are in good condition except for slight damage by blight, rats, or insects in parts of Karachi; by frost, hail or rain in parts of Ahmedabad, Kaira, Kathiawar, Palanpur, Baroda, and Cutch; and by grasshoppers in parts of Broach. Harvesting of spring crops continues in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. Cotton picking is progressing in Hyderabad, Gujarat, Karnatak, Kathiawar, Baroda, and Cutch. Preparation of lands for next season continues in the Konkan and Deccan. The supply of drinking water is generally sufficient. Water for irrigation purposes is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, and Sholapur. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur and Cutch. Fodder supply is sufficient. The quantity of food grains purchasable per rupee is normal to 30 per cent. below.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall :—Nine cents. The spring harvest is in progress; crops are in fair to good condition. Late rice is being weeded. Prices:—Wheat 7½; coarse rice 7½; and jowar 15¾ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Prices of food grains have fallen slightly in Tumkur, Hassan, Kadur, and Shimoga and are steady elsewhere. Sowing operations are in progress. The prospects of the season are good. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Threshing of rice is completed. Prices of food grains are stationary. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—There was light rain during the week in Ganjam and Tinnevelly but none elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Godavari, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, North Arcot, Salem, and Madura. Ploughing, sowing, weeding, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Madura are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of Godavari, Kistna, Bellary, Anantapur, and South Canara. Fodder is scanty in parts of Madura. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in six districts; has fallen in nine; and has slightly risen in eight. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in ten districts; has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in seven. Cholam is stationary in three districts; has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in seven. Cumbu is stationary in six districts; has fallen in five; and has slightly risen in five.

FAMINE.

THIRD REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGEMENT OF THE INDIAN PEOPLE'S FAMINE TRUST COVERING THE CALENDAR YEAR 1906.

No. 397-15-2, Calcutta, dated the 25th February 1907.

Board's Proceedings and grants for the relief of distress.

1. Four meetings of the Board were held in the year 1906. The first was held in Calcutta on the 31st January 1906 and the other three at Simla on the 9th June, 23rd June and 28th July respectively.

2. At the first meeting the accounts for 1905 were passed. An application from the Agent to the Governor General in Central India to use R1,114-5-5, the amount of unexpended balance in his hands, in granting advances to villagers within Residency limits for the purchase of grain and in generally assisting them, was considered at this meeting, but it was decided that the application must be refused as the objects proposed did not fall within the list of those upon which the Board is authorised to spend the money of the Trust. An application for the grant of 2 lakhs for the establishment of fodder depôts at Ajmer and Merwar was also considered and held over pending receipt of further information asked for by the Government of India.

3. In the month of May an application was received from the Agent to the Governor General in Central India asking for a grant of R60,000 for the relief of distress among the inhabitants of States and Thakurates in the Bundelkhand Agency. The application was considered at the 2nd meeting of the Board on the 9th June and an immediate grant of R10,000 was made—the question of further grants being held over.

4. At the 3rd meeting held on the 23rd June a further grant of R40,000 was made for the relief of distress in the Bundelkhand Agency. An application from the Government of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh for grants aggregating R7 lakhs for relief purposes in the Agra and Allahabad Divisions was also considered and a grant of R2,75,000 sanctioned, and it was decided at the same meeting to grant a sum of R20,000 for the relief of distress in the Karauli State.

5. At the 4th meeting held on the 28th July further grants of R20,000 and R10,000 were sanctioned for relief in the Kishengurh State and Karauli State respectively.

Changes in the Board.

6. During the year the Honourable Sir Denzil Ibbetson, K.C.S.I., acted as Chairman of the Board while the Chairman, the Honourable Sir Francis Maclean, K.C.I.E., K.C., was absent from India on short leave and during the vacation. The Honourable Mr. H. W. W. Reynolds was appointed a member of the Board in place of the Honourable Mr. L. A. S. Porter, C.S.I., resigned, and Mr. O. T. Barrow succeeded Mr. A. F. Cox, C.S.I., as Honorary Secretary.

7. A statement of the assets of the Trust and an abstract of the accounts will befound in schedules I and II annexed.

Investments, etc.

8. No new investments were made in the year. On the other hand securities of the nominal value of 2 lakhs were sold in order to provide funds for the grants for the relief of distress. Government 3½ per cent. securities of the face value of R4,85,000 now stand in the joint names of the Comptroller General and of the Accountant General, Bengal. They do not form part of the endowment and are available for expenditure.

9. At the annual meeting held in January 1906 the desirability of making some arrangement with the Bank of Bengal for the receipt of interests upon the Board's balance in current account by short deposit or otherwise was recognised. In accordance with this arrangement, R one lakh was deposited at seven days' call on February 22nd but the deposit had to be recalled on the 14th July owing to the necessity of providing funds for the relief of distress.

10. The Miscellaneous Receipts shown in Schedule II annexed consist of small subscriptions accepted with the approval of the Governor General in Council. They include an annual subscription of R500 promised by the Raja of Athgarh.

11. The Miscellaneous Payments include an honorarium of R100 paid to a Superintendent in the office of the Comptroller General for work done in connection with the Indian People's Famine Trust Board of Management and R71-12 on account of contingent charges.

Endowment Fund.

12. A donation of R4,00,000 in Government Securities as an addition to the Endowment Fund was made during the year by His Highness the Maharaja of Jaipur in commemoration of the visit of T. R. H. the Prince and Princess of Wales and with this addition the Endowment Fund now stands at R28,10,000.

O. T. BARROW,
Honorary Secretary, Board of Management of the

No. 229.—The Governor General in Council having been pleased to prescribe a standard pattern of uniform for the use of all gazetted European officers of the Indian police force, the following regulations relating thereto are published for general information. No officer now in the service will be required to provide himself with the new uniform until the articles which he now possesses are worn out.

UNIFORM FOR GAZETTED OFFICERS OF THE INDIAN POLICE.

FULL DRESS—COLD WEATHER.

Helmet.—White, Wolseley pattern, with silver chin-chain fastening under the sides of the helmet by hooks. Spike of silver, cavalry pattern, with leaf pattern base. Rose-hook silver.

Pagri.—Plain dark blue silk.

Pagri badge.—Silver, Indian Police design, to be worn in the front of the helmet just above the dip of the pagri.

Tunic.—Dark blue cloth, lined with black Italian cloth and edged all round (except on the collar) with black mohair square cord. The collar edged with one inch black mohair braid with a tracing of braid below. Cuffs pointed, 3¾ inches deep; an Austrian knot of black mohair square cord extending to 8¼ inches high, a black tracing braided figure on cap below forming a treble 8. The skirt rounded off in front and closed behind. On each side of the breast five loops of black square cord, with netted caps and drops, fastening with black olivets. On each back seam a line of the same cord, forming three eyes at the top, passing under a netted cap at the waist, below which it is doubled, and ending in an Austrian knot reaching to the bottom of the skirt. Shoulder cords of black chain gimp fastened to a small netted black button.

Badges.—Silver metal.

Inspector-General—one crown and two stars.
Deputy Inspector-General—one crown and one star.
Superintendents, 3rd grade and above—one crown.
Superintendents, below 3rd grade—three stars.
Assistant Superintendents—two stars.
Probationers—one star.

The crowns when laid on the shoulder cords to be 1 inch broad and ⅞ inch in height. The stars to be of the "Star of India" (five pointed) pattern and 1 inch broad.

Officers of all ranks will wear a silver departmental badge, "I. P.", in half inch block letters at the base of the shoulder strap.

Pantaloons.—Dark blue cloth, with strappings of black doeskin, and two stripes of ¾ inch plain mohair braid ¼ inch apart down the outside seams.

Overalls.—Dark blue cloth, with two stripes of ¾ inch plain mohair braid ¼ inch apart down the outside seams. Black leather foot-straps with steel buckle.

Boots.—Black Butcher boots for mounted duties and black Wellington boots for dismounted duties. Butcher boot to reach to about four inches from the top of the knee.

Spurs.—For mounted duties steel jack spurs with chain and leather straps. For dismounted duties steel crane-necked box spurs. For mounted duties the large square leather guard through which the spur strap passes should be worn.

Gloves.—White doeskin or buckskin.

Sword.—Straight, 1896 Infantry pattern, with half basket hilt in white metal, and device "I. P." and crown.

Sword belt.—Dark blue webbing. White enamelled leather slings 1 inch wide fitted with silver plated buckles and studs.

Pouch.—White enamelled leather 6 inches wide and 3½ inches deep, with the Indian Police badge in silver in the centre. Fittings of silver.

Greatcoat.—Dark blue cloth, double breasted, to reach within a foot of the ground. Stand and fall collar 4½ inches deep, with a fly to cover the band of the cape when buttoned on. Loose round cuffs 6 inches deep. Two pockets with flaps at the waist in front. Two openings behind at the side seams, with pointed flaps 11 inches long at the points. A pocket inside the left breast. A slit 6 inches deep in the left side for the hilt of the sword to pass through. An opening behind long enough to reach to the cantle of the saddle, with a gusset commencing at the top of the opening and extending downwards to about 24 inches with about 19 inches width at the bottom, a tab with a button-hole near the bottom of the gusset to close it when the coat is worn on foot. Two rows of large Indian Police pattern buttons down the front, 6 in each row, the top buttons 6 inches apart, the bottom ones 4 inches from centre to centre; 3 large Indian Police pattern buttons on each skirt-flap; 4 small silk-covered buttons at the opening behind and 5 flat buttons under the fly at the collar. A cloth back-strap, attached to the top button of the skirt-flap to confine the coat at the waist, a button-hole in the centre of the strap. Two hooks and eyes to the collar. Shoulder-straps on the coat of the same material as the garment, fastening with a small Indian Police pattern button at the top. Cape of the same cloth as the coat and long enough to cover the knuckles, with four small buttons in front and fastening at the neck with a silver chain and hook.

Forage cap.—Blue cloth with three cloth welts, 3½ inches total depth, diameter across the top 8¼ inches for a cap fitting 21¾ inches in circumference, the top to be ⅛ inch larger or smaller in diameter for every ¼ inch by which the cap may vary in size of head above or below the before-mentioned standard, e.g., for a cap 22¼ inches in circumference the diameter across the top to be 8½ inches, and for a cap 21 inches in circumference the diameter to be 7⅞ inches. The sides to be made in four pieces and to be 1½ inches deep between the welts. A band of black mohair oakleaf lace 1¾ inches wide to be placed between the two lower welts. Indian Police pattern badge to be worn in the centre of the band in front. The cap to be set up on a band of stiff leather or other material 1¾ inches deep. Chin strap of black patent leather ⅝ inch wide buttoned on to two gorget buttons of Indian Police pattern placed immediately behind the corners of the peak.

The peak of the cap will be of the following pattern :—

For Inspector-General—Patent leather, embroidered all round with plain silver embroidery. Depth in the middle 2 inches. To drop at an angle of 45 degrees.

For Deputy Inspectors-General and Superintendents, 3rd grade and upwards.—As for Inspector-General but embroidered on front edge only.

For all other officers—Plain patent leather peak.

FULL DRESS HOT WEATHER.

Frock.—Plain white drill, full in the chest. Shoulder straps of the same material, fastened at the top with a small Indian Police pattern button. Stand-up collar of the same material as the frock, cut square with two hooks and eyes. Five small buttons of Indian Police pattern down the front. One inside breast pocket. Cuffs pointed, 5 inches high at the point and 2½ inches behind. The frock to be of sufficient length just to clear the saddle when mounted.

Overalls.—Plain white drill, with black leather foot-straps.

Pantaloons.—Plain white drill, with double inside strapping at the knees.

Forage cap.—The cold-weather forage cap to be worn with a white cover.

Remaining items as for cold weather full dress.

WORKING DRESS.

Helmet.—Wolseley pattern, covered with khaki. No metal fixings. Brown leather chin strap ⅝ inch wide.

Pagri.—Dark blue.

Frock.—Khaki drill, single-breasted, cut as a lounge coat to the waist, very loose at the chest and shoulders but fitted at the waist. A $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches expanding pleat down the centre of the back, sewn down below the waistband, and a waist-seam and band $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches wide. Military skirt to bottom edge. A silver-plated hook on each side at the waist. Collar to be cut as in an ordinary civilian lounge coat. Two cross-patch breast pockets above $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide and $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches deep to the top of the flap, with a $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches box pleat in the centre. Two expanding pockets below the waist (pleats at the sides) $9\frac{1}{4}$ inches wide at the top, $10\frac{1}{2}$ inches at the bottom, 8 inches deep to the top of the pocket, fastened at the top with a small Indian Police pattern button.: flap with button hole, to cover pockets, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches deep and $10\frac{3}{4}$ inches wide sewn into the bottom edge of the waistband: the top of the pockets to be sewn down at the corners in such a manner that the pocket can be expanded at the top also. No. 861-I.-B.—Whereas the Rulers of the States mentioned in the second column of the Schedule hereto annexed have ceded to the British Government full and exclusive power and jurisdiction of every kind within those portions of land which lie within their respective States, and are occupied, or may hereafter be occupied, by the sections of the Nagda-Muttra Railway, lying within the said States (including the lands occupied by stations, by out-buildings, and for other railway purposes), and over all the persons and things whatsoever within the said land.

In exercise of such power and jurisdiction and of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, the Governor General in Council is pleased to provide as follows for the administration of criminal justice within the aforesaid portions of land, namely :—

(1) The provisions, so far as they may be suitable and as amended from time to time by subsequent enactments of the Acts mentioned below, are hereby applied to the aforesaid lands, namely :—

Number and Year.	Short Title.
Act XLV of 1860	The Indian Penal Code.
Act V of 1861	The Police Act, 1861.
Act VI of 1864	The Whipping Act, 1864.
Act I of 1871	The Cattle Trespass Act, 1871.
Act III of 1888	The Police Act 1888.
Act V of 1898	The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898

Provided that, for the purpose of facilitating the application of the provisions of the enactments hereby applied, any Court having jurisdiction within the aforesaid lands may construe them with such alterations, not affecting the substance as may be necessary or proper to adapt them to the matter before the Court.

Provided also that the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall be subject to the following modifications, namely :—

(a) that trials before the Court of Session may, in the discretion of the Judge, be without the aid of jury or assessors;

(b) notwithstanding anything in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, or the Police Act (V of 1861), or in any other enactment for the time being in force, the Governor General in Council may confer on any Police Officer all or any of the powers conferred or conferrable by or under that Code on any Magistrate, in regard to particular cases, or to a particular class or particular classes of cases or to cases generally.

(2) Every Officer mentioned in the third, fourth and fifth columns, respectively, of the Schedule shall exercise within the section described in the first column thereof opposite his name the powers of a District Magistrate (including the powers conferrable on a District Magistrate under section 30 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898), the powers of a Magistrate of the first class and the powers of Magistrate of the 2nd class, as described in that Code, respectively; provided that, in any case in which the Complainant (if any) and all the accused persons are not British subjects, it shall be in the discretion of the said Officers, respectively, to decline to exercise the powers hereby conferred upon them.

(3) The Officer mentioned in the sixth column of the Schedule shall exercise within the section described in the first column thereof opposite his name the powers of a Court of Session. Such Officer may take cognizance of an offence as a Court of original criminal jurisdiction without the accused person being committed to him by a Magistrate and shall when so taking cognizance of an offence, follow the procedure laid down by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the trial of warrant cases by Magistrates.

(4) The Officer mentioned in the seventh column of the Schedule shall exercise in respect of all the aforesaid lands the powers of a High Court in respect of all offences over which jurisdiction is exercised by the Officers mentioned in the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth columns of the Schedule.

(5) The powers conferred by this notification upon the Hon'ble the Agents to the Governor General in Rajputana and Central India may be exercised in British India.

(6) The provisions of clauses (2) to (5) (both inclusive) of this notification apply to all proceedings except—

(a) proceedings against European British subjects or persons jointly charged with European British subjects, and

(b) proceedings pending at the date of this notification which shall be carried on as if this notification had not been issued.

No. 1448-A.—1. In exercise of the power conferred by section 16 of the Indian Coinage Act, 1906 (III of 1906), and in supersession of all notifications previously issued in this behalf, the Governor General in Council is pleased to authorise the undermentioned persons to cut, or break, diminished or defaced silver coins, namely :—

(1) Every Officer in charge of a District Treasury, a Sub-Treasury, or a Military Treasure Chest.

(2) Every Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner of the Department of Paper Currency.

(3) The Mint Masters, Calcutta and Bombay.

(4) The Collectors of Customs at Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Rangoon, Chittagong and [illegible]

(5) The Judges of the Courts of Small Causes at Calcutta, Sealdah and Rangoon.

(6) The Registrar, Chief Court, Rangoon.

(7) The Secretary and Treasurer of each of the Presidency Banks and every Agent in charge of a branch of any of the said Banks.

(8) The Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, of the Commissioners for the Port of Rangoon, of the Commissioners for the Port of Chittagong, and of the Trustees of the Port of Karachi; the Chairman of the Trustees of the Port of Bombay, and of the Trustees of the Port of Madras; and the Port Engineer of the Port of Chittagong.

(9) The Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Deputy Chairman and Secretary to the Municipal Corporation of Calcutta; the Municipal Commissioner and Deputy Municipal Commissioner for the City of Bombay and the Secretary of the Municipal Corporation of the City of Bombay; the President of the Municipal Corporation of Madras; and the President, Vice-President and the Secretary of the Rangoon Municipality and of the Mandalay Municipality.

2. In exercise of the power conferred by section 20 of the same Act, and in supersession of all notifications previously issued in this behalf, the Governor General in Council is pleased to authorise the undermentioned persons to cut or break counterfeit silver coins, namely:—

(1) Every person authorised to act under section 16 of the said Act, and

(2) The Manager, Agent, Secretary, or other principal officer of the several offices and agencies (if any) in India of each of the Banks and firms specified in the schedule annexed to this notification.

3. And in exercise of the powers conferred by section 21 of the same Act, the Governor General in Council is pleased to prescribe the following rules, namely:—

(1) A loss of 6¼ per cent. below standard weight in the case of the rupee and half-rupee and of 12½ per cent. in the case of the quarter-rupee and eighth of a rupee, shall be the limit of reasonable wear; and a loss of 25 per cent. below standard weight shall be the further percentage referred to in section 17 of the Act, in the case of all silver coins.

(2) Where a rupee or a half-rupee, which has been diminished in weight so as to be more than 2 per cent. but not more than 6¼ per cent. below standard weight, and which has not been fraudulently defaced, is tendered to any person authorised to act under section 16 of the Act such person shall accept the coin at its nominal value and the coin shall thereupon be withdrawn from circulation at Government cost.

(3) Where a rupee or a half-rupee, which has been diminished in weight so as to be more than 6¼ per cent. but not more than 25 per cent. below standard weight, and which has not been fraudulently defaced, is tendered to any person authorised to act under section 16 of the Act, such person shall, if the tenderer so requests, instead of returning the cut coin, accept it at the following rates, namely:—

(a) rupees and half-rupees weighing between 15/16ths and 7/8ths of their proper weight, at rates of 14 annas and 7 annas, respectively;

(b) rupees and half-rupees weighing between 7/8ths and 13/16ths of their proper weight, at rates of 13 annas and 6½ annas, respectively; and

(c) rupees and half-rupees weighing between 13/16ths and 3/4ths of their proper weight, at rates of 12 annas and 6 annas, respectively.

(4) Where a quarter-rupee or an eighth of a rupee which has been diminished in weight so as to be more than 12½ per cent. but not more than 25 per cent. below standard weight and which has not been fraudulently defaced, is tendered to any person authorised to act under section 16 of the Act, such person shall, if the tenderer so requests, instead of returning the cut coin, accept it at its nominal value, and it shall thereupon be withdrawn from circulation at Government cost.

(5) Silver coin received by Government officers under these rules and withdrawn from circulation shall, whether or not it has been cut or broken under these rules, be sent by the first convenient opportunity to the Master of the Mint at Bombay or Calcutta, or to any principal Treasury appointed by the Accountant General or Comptroller to receive such coin for remittance to the mint. Such coin will be credited in the officer's cash balance as "uncurrent coin" at the actual value at which it has been received, and on transfer to the mint will be credited at the rates prescribed in these rules, any loss incurred in re-coinage being taken as a charge of the mint.

(6) Silver coin received by a person other than a Government officer under these rules and withdrawn from circulation shall, whether or not it has been cut or broken under these rules, be sent to the nearest Government Treasury, where it will be paid for at the rates respectively prescribed in these rules, and thereafter it will be dealt with in the manner prescribed in clause (5).

(7) In cutting or breaking any diminished, defaced or counterfeit coin, Government officers and other persons authorised in this behalf shall not completely divide the coin, as identification of the parts of a coin becomes practically impossible if the pieces are wholly separated.

(8) Persons authorised under section 20 of the Act to cut or break counterfeit silver coins should not receive and pay for the coin according to the value of the silver bullion contained therein as permitted under that section, save where from the excellence of the execution or for any other cause it seems desirable that the coin should be acquired as a specimen. The cost of paying for the coin will be charged to Government. The broken pieces of coins so paid for should be forwarded to the Mint at Calcutta or Bombay.

(9) The officers specified in clauses (1), (2), (3) and (7) of paragraph 1 of this notification are hereby authorised to accept sovereigns and half sovereigns where such coins have lost weight so as to be of less weight than that for the time being prescribed for light coins by or under the Coinage Act, 1870, as the least current weight, at the following rates, namely:—

(a) when such coins have not been reduced by more than three grains below standard weight, that is, are not less in weight than grains 120·27447 and 58·63723, respectively, at their face value, and

(b) when such coins are of less weight than grains 120·27447 and 58·63723, respectively, at their bullion value by weight:

Provided that such coins have not been illegally dealt with, that is, have not been impaired, diminished, or lightened, otherwise than by fair wear and tear, or defaced by having any name, word, device or number stamped thereon, whether the coin has or has not been thereby diminished or lightened.

(10) Light weight gold coins received under the preceding clause shall not be reissued to the public.

(11) In determining the loss of weight in the case of gold or silver coins, to which solder or other metal has been attached, the weight of such solder or other metal shall not be taken into account.

NOTICES

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. Royal 8vo volumes, paper cover, 13 annas or 1*s*. 1*d*. Postage extra. To be had of the Superintendent, Government Printing, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, or of the Superintendent, Patents Branch, Department of Commerce and Industry, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

H. G. GRAVES,
Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888.

APPROPRIATION REPORT ON
OF
FOR 1905-1906.

BY

COMPTROLLER AND AUDITOR GENERAL.

ON
OF
FOR 1905-1906.

GENERAL REVIEW.

[Throughout the report the rupee figures are in thousands of rupees and the sterling figures in hundreds of £; thus 10,64 reads as ten lakhs and sixty-four thousands of rupees, and £71,2 reads as seventy-one thousand and two hundreds of pounds sterling. The rupee figures are converted into sterling amounts at R15=£1.]

In pursuance of the policy of providing annually for the improvement of the Army, the Budget made a provision of £2,439,9 for re-organization in 1905-06, including £961,3 for the re-armament of the artillery with quick-firing guns of the newest and most efficient pattern, and the re-grant of the unspent balance of £333,3 of the allotment of 1904-05. Provision for loss of revenue to the extent of £1,220,0, was made on account of the further reduction of the salt tax, and of £151,0 for the remission of the famine cess levied in certain provinces and of £47,0 for the improvement of postal facilities, and grants aggregating £1,077,0 were placed at the disposal of Local Governments for administrative improvements. Taking these special measures into account the Budget closed with an anticipated surplus of £903,8.

2. During the year under report there was a general development of revenue in all important branches except Land, Opium, Customs and Irrigation Revenues. By far the most important improvement occurred in Railway traffic receipts (£737,7), and was mainly contributed by the Rajputana-Malwa (£174,2), the Bengal Nagpur (£244,7), and the Great Indian Peninsula (£261,5) Railways, owing to heavy traffic in passengers, coal, wheat and cotton. The consumption of salt was stimulated by the further reduction of duty, and resulted in an improvement of £116,4 over the Budget. Stamp revenue was also better by £119,1 due to growth of litigation and trade. Favourable settlements and the introduction of reforms in some provinces augmented excise revenue by £244,7. Large extraction and sale of timber and a favourable floating season caused an improvement under Forest (£176,6) chiefly in Burma. In spite of the increase in letter weight carried for half an anna and the reduction in the rate of insurance, Post Office showed an improvement of £43,2 owing to increased business. Mint receipts were better by £215,7 owing to heavy coinage to meet trade demands; and Interest improved by £139,6 chiefly from the investment of the Secretary of State's cash balance in England. Receipts by the Military Department showed an improvement of £262,1.

3. The actual total expenditure was better by £1,017,7 chiefly on account of lapses under Army Services—Re-organisation, owing to the delay in the supply by the War Office of guns and other stores, and owing to the non-utilization of special grants for Civil Works, and Re-organization works. On the other hand considerable extra expenditure was incurred by the payment of the subsidy to the Amir of Afghanistan (£241,2) which was not provided for in the Budget, by outlay in connection with the visit of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, by the manœuvres at Rawalpindi and by increase in working expenses of State Railways in consequence of improved earnings. The net result of these and other variations was a surplus of £2,091,9 showing an improvement of £1,188,1 over the Budget Estimate.

4. No important change in classification was made during the year in regard to revenue and expenditure.

5. Throughout the Appropriation Report the Budget grants for Assam, at present Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Bengal are shown as they were originally sanctioned; but the actuals in the case of Eastern Bengal and Assam comprise figures for Assam for the whole year, and for the transferred districts from 16th October 1905 to 31st March 1906, and those in the case of Bengal are the figures for Bengal proper, i.e., as it stands after partition, and for the transferred districts up to the 15th October 1905.

6. The following summary gives the Budget and Account figures of 1905-06 which are reviewed in this report. The details will be found in the statements on pages 181 to 196:—

8. The important variations under Principal Heads of Revenue are the following :—

	£	R
Land Revenue	—91,8	—13,77
Opium	—552,7	—82,90
Salt	—978,4	—1,46,76
Stamps	+188,1	+28,20

Forest	+177,6	+26,65
Other Heads	+12,0	+1,80
TOTAL	—924,6	—1,38,69

9. The decrease under Land Revenue occurred chiefly in the United Provinces and the Punjab, and was due in the former to remissions and suspensions necessitated by the frost of 1905, and the drought of the year under report, and in the latter to the failure of Kharif in the Delhi Division, and to remissions due to the earthquake in Kangra. The decline under Opium was mainly due to the price obtained for Bengal opium during the year, having fallen considerably below that obtained in 1904-5, and partly also to high prices of Malwa opium and a fall in the demand from China. That under Salt was the result of the further reduction of duty from R2 to R1½ per maund from the 22nd of March 1905. The improvement under Stamps arose mainly from the growth of litigation, and, in some provinces, from the execution of bonds and mortgages necessitated by the unfavourable season. Keen competition at the auction sales, increased consumption and the introduction of reforms in the Central Provinces, Berar and Bengal mainly explain the increase under Excise. The fall under Customs was mainly due to a decrease in the exports of rice from Burma and Madras, owing to high prices and a strong home demand, partly counterbalanced by improvements in Bengal and Bombay owing to increased imports of spirits, and liquors, sugar (ordinary duties) and cotton manufactures, and in the former also partly to increased exports of rice to Japan. The increase under Forest was chiefly contributed by Burma (13,70), Bombay (4,64), the Central Provinces (3,79) and Eastern Bengal and Assam, with Bengal (2,42), and was generally due to large extractions, good sales of timber, high prices, large supplies of sleepers to railways, and to large receipts on account of famine grass operations.

10. Under Interest the improvement was due partly to a change in the method of payment by the Madras Harbour Trust Board, whereby eighteen months' interest was paid during the year, and to payments in advance by certain Municipalities in the United Provinces, but mainly to large investments of cash balances in England. Under Post Office the increase was mainly derived from the sale of Postage Stamps (9,21), and the growth of money order transactions (2,63). Under Telegraphs the increase occurred in the rent of wires and instruments leased to railways and canals, and in message revenue, owing to heavy speculation in the grain market, and to the visit to India of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales. The improvement under Mint was chiefly due to the large credit on account of the percentage on value of rupee coinage charged to the Gold Reserve Fund, owing to heavy coinage. Under Civil Departments there was an improvement of 3,52 under Law and Justice—Courts of Law due mainly to lapsed estates received from the Administrator General; of 1,18 under Jails from sales of jail manufactures; of 2,64 under Education mainly in fees from Schools and Colleges; and of 1,88 under Medical due to a contribution from the Calcutta Hospital Port Dues towards the Presidency General Hospital. These improvements were, however, nearly covered by a decrease of 8,50 under Marine, due to less work done for the Royal Navy and other Departments, to stores required for the Royal Navy Vessels, having been drawn from the Royal Navy Stock of stores transferred from Trincomalee, and to the limited employment of Royal Indian Marine Vessels on Imperial service, partly counterbalanced by an improvement in England owing to a special receipt from the Admiralty for Harbour Defence Vessels, and for the sale-proceeds of vessels, together with the value of ordnance stores received therefrom. The improvement under Miscellaneous was due to large adjustments of lapsed deposits, to large recoveries on account of expenditure on famine labour, and to the adjustment of the value of currency notes assumed to be no longer in circulation, partly counterbalanced by a falling-off under Exchange.

11. Under Railways the improvement was contributed by all the more important railway systems with the exception of the North-Western and the Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways. The principal increases were 56,35 on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, due to the general development of all descriptions of traffic, particularly coal; 29,28 on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, arising from a large passenger traffic in connection with marriages and fairs, and to improvement in cotton, coal and manganese traffic; 26,83 on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway, due to the celebration of a large number of Hindu marriages, the exodus from Rajputana owing to famine, and large exports of grain to Guzerat, Kathiawar and Central India; 22,34 on the Eastern Bengal Railway, to the additional mileage of the Bengal Central Railway, the opening of new lines and the development of passenger and jute traffic; 10,09 on the East Indian Railway, to a large increase in pilgrim traffic; 7,12 on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway to the general expansion of coaching traffic, and to the Kumbh mela; 6,88 on the Burma Railways, to a large increase in paddy traffic, and 6,19 on the Southern Mahratta Railway, to the general development of coaching traffic, and to the movement of food grains to tracts visited by scarcity and drought. Against these improvements there was a decrease of 60,36 on the North-Western Railway, due mainly to short exports of wheat on account of the uncertainty as to the wheat crop of 1906, and of 66,87 on the Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways, due to the failure of the wheat and linseed export viâ Mokamah, and to the transactions of the Bengal and North-Western Railway being excluded from the Government accounts of the year.

12. The decrease under Irrigation was due to heavy remissions of revenue in the Punjab, owing to the failure of the cotton crop, to the small area in the United Provinces, irrigated for sugarcane, owing to frost and bad seed, and generally to the unfavourable character of the season. Under Other Public Works the decrease occurred in the receipts in England. The improvement under Receipts by Military Department was due to the change in the method of adjusting dairy farm receipts which are now treated as revenue, to the introduction of the new clothing scheme for Native Troops, to large sales of unserviceable ordnance stores, to a smaller credit to the Imperial Government, than in the previous year, for the net value of peace equipment stores issued to and returned from China and Somaliland, and to the large recovery in England in respect of the capitation rate payable for Indian Native regiments lent for service in the Colonies.

13. A comparison of the expenditure side is given below :—

4. Under Direct Demands on the Revenues the most important increase occurred under Land Revenue (19,83), chiefly in the charges for District Administration, Survey and Settlement and Land Records and Agriculture ; under Forest (12,85), due to large extractions of timber, expansion of sleeper operations, and to payments to contractors for extraction in the previous year in Burma; to a large payment to the Chamba State, in the Punjab, as profits on working its forests in 1904-05, to famine grass operations in Bombay and in Madras to the extension of the departmental system of exploitation, and to large supplies of timber and firewood to railways, mills and the public; under Excise (2,37) owing to improvements in excise administration. There were small increases under all the other heads except Opium, under which there was a decrease of 11,19 due to the smaller outturn of the crop, which was 104,062 maunds against 111,539 maunds in the previous year.

15. Under Interest the decrease was chiefly the result of increased transfer of interest to the Railway Revenue and Irrigation Accounts. Under Post Office the increase was mainly due to the growth of the department, and occurred chiefly under establishment and conveyance of mails. The increase under Telegraph was due to large purchases of stores in England and locally, to the opening of, and additions to signal offices in connection with the Royal visit, and to increased signalling and clerical establishments owing to the expansion of the department. Of the increase under Civil Department 17,73 occurred under General Administration, due chiefly to charges in connection with the Royal visit, to Secretariat charges, outlay in Bengal connected with the revision of village panchayet, additional expenditure in Eastern Bengal and Assam necessitated by the partition, and to expenditure in England, owing to the passage and outfit allowance of His Excellency Lord Minto; 10,72 under Courts of Law mainly in Burma, Bengal, and the Punjab chiefly in the charges of Civil and Sessions Courts and Criminal Courts; 13,04 under Jails, due to increase of manufactures, high prices of food grains, and increase in jail population; 30,72 under Police, due mainly to the introduction of reforms: 23,76 under Education, owing mainly to the additional appointments made towards the close of the previous year, and the extension of primary education; 8,96 under Medical, due to the revision of pay of the Indian Medical Service, increased expenditure on plague in Burma, and to expansion of District Boards' dispensaries in the United Provinces; 22,96 under Political, due to payment of arrears of subsidy to His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan, and increased expenditure on the North-West and Tibet Frontiers; and 18,23 under Scientific and Other Minor Departments, due to special expenditure in India in the Archæological Department, and the new Central Research Institute, in Bengal to the acquisition of land for the agricultural college and in Bombay to a special grant to the Prince of Wales Museum of Western India. On the other hand there was a decrease of 17,36 under Marine due to smal lexpenditure in England for stores, and to the high charges in the previous year on account of construction and repair, for the hire of a transport for the return of the Aden Boundary Commission, and for the cost of the steam cruiser Fraser. Under Miscellaneous the variations were increases of 2,39 under Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances in England, of 4,83 under Superannuation Allowance and Pensions due to normal growth of pension charges, and of 3,65 under Miscellaneous, due to charges in connection with the Royal visit, to earthquake relief measures in Kangra, in the Punjab and to the charges of the special commission of enquiry on Excise Administrations. Under Famine there was an increase of 20,07 in direct Famine relief charges, and of 12,22 under construction of Protective Irrigation Works, while there was a decrease of 9,08 under Construction of Protective Railways. Under Railways there was an increase of 56,14 in working expenses of State Railways due mainly to renewals of permanent way, girders, engines and coaching vehicles, opening of new lines, repairs to bridges and flood damages, outlay on flood protection, and increased train mileage run. The payment of interest, and annuities in India and England for State Railways, and that of interest on capital deposited by companies, also exceeded the charges of the previous year by 44,04 and 7,38 respectively. Under Irrigation the increase was due to heavy maintenance charges on canals in the Punjab and Bengal, to a large programme of works in the North-West Frontier Province, and to an increase in interest charges. Under Other Public Works there was an increase of 86,54 under Civil Works, chiefly in Burma (22,70), due to the new General Hospital at Rangoon, and the new public offices; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (28,21) to expenditure in the Eastern Bengal districts transferred from Bengal, in Madras (13,32) to the heavy outlay on miscellaneous public improvements, in Bombay (13,83) mainly to increased outlay on construction of buildings for Police, Educational and other Departments, and in the Punjab (9,76), to expenditure on account of the damage caused by the earthquake of 4th April 1905. Under Military Works (Re-organization) there was an increase of 24,43 due to the general development of re-organization works, while under Military Works there was a falling-off of 7,44 due to a modification in the programme of expenditure on large special works. Under Army Services there was an increase of 7,15 under Re-organization, due to cost of mobilization maps supplied to the Army Head-Quarters for the requirements of the field army, to construction of lines for native troops, to the maintenance of a larger number of horses and for a longer period than in 1904-05, to large purchases of stores for field hospitals, to increased expenditure on Re-organization measures, and to large outlay on the purchase of land; and of 83,82 under Other Charges chiefly under Regimental pay (38,83), due to the excess strength of British troops in India, to increased charges for service pay to British soldiers, to grant of bounty to soldiers for extension of service, to more officers being present on duty during the year, to the creation of 90 additional appointments, to charges on account of five native infantry regiments serving in the Colonies, to the return of troops from Somaliland, to increased rate of kit money and to the new clothing scheme for the Native Army; under Supply and Transport (26,08), due chiefly to the re-organization of the Supply and Transport Corps, to high rates for articles of food, to a change in the method of adjusting expenditure on dairy farms, and to high rates for food supplies for animals; under Ordnance (8,13) mainly due to expansion of Ordnance Factories, and to large purchases of arsenal stores and camp equipage; under Clothing (2,85), due chiefly to the grant of compensation to certain Native troops in lieu of special concessions, abolished under the new clothing scheme; under Army and Garrison (1,58) due chiefly to the re-organization and re-distribution of commands and staff, and to charges for additional officers and establishments for Divisions and Brigades on the abolition of the musketry staff; and under Barrack establishment (1,13) due mainly to purchase of barrack bedding and expenditure on miscellaneous supplies. There was on the other hand a decrease of 91,83 under Special Charges due mainly to reduced charges on account of the Tibet Mission (80,91), Aden Delimitation Commission (8,39) and the Seistan Boundary Commission (1,73). The decrease in the expenditure in England (£902,8) occurred mainly in the charges for stores for India (£757,5), in the payments to the War Office in respect of British forces serving in India (£78,8) and in the charges on account of the Indian Troop Service (£57,1). Under Special Defence Works there was an excess of 2,70 due mainly to the construction of the breakwater pier at Bombay, reduced by short charges for stores in England, due to the postponement of payments to the War Office.

Comparison of Accounts with Budget Estimates of 1905-6.

16. The following figures exhibit the differences in the net accounts between the Budget and the Actuals, those in India and England being shown in separate columns. A comparison of the gross figures has been given before in para. 6 :—

17. Under Principal Heads of Revenue, the improvement occurred under several heads Salt (18,97), Stamps (17,33), Excise (38,28), and Forest (22,24); while there was a considerable falling-off under Land Revenue (84,67). The improvement under Salt was due to increased consumption stimulated by the further reduction of duty from R2 to R1½ per maund from the 22nd March 1905. The growth of litigation and trade, and the increased execution of bonds and mortgages, necessitated by an unfavourable agricultural season, account for the betterness in the revenue from Stamps. Under Excise, the high receipts were brought about by the causes mentioned in para. 9 above. The improvement under Forest was contributed by Burma and Bombay, due in the former to large extraction and sale of timber and a favourable floating season, and in the latter, to famine grass operations, the supply of sleepers to Railways and high prices of timber. The decline on Land Revenue was caused by the unfavourable season in Madras and Bombay, floods on the Irrawaddy, irregular rainfall in Burma, failure of the Kharif in the Delhi Division, and remissions necessitated by the earthquake in the Kangra Valley.

18. Under Interest the variation occurred almost entirely in England, excess receipts to the extent of £149,9, due to the investment of larger sums and at a higher rate of interest than anticipated, having been partly counterbalanced by the absence of provision in the Budget for discount on the issue of £2,000,0 India stock (£47,5). Under Post Office, the improvement was mainly due to an unexpected increase in the sale of postage stamps and to the growth in the operations of the Money Order Department, partly diminished by increased expenditure consequent on the expansion of the Department. Under Telegraph, the total receipts closely approximated to the Budget, but there was an excess in the expenditure, chiefly in India, due to the large purchase of stores, smaller issues of stores to works, extra charges in connection with the Royal visit and increased charges for signalling, stationery, printing and repairs to lines. The improvement under Mint was due to the large credit on account of the percentage on value of rupee coinage charged to the Gold Reserve Fund, owing to the heavy coinage in the year, and to the circulation of a greater number of copper coins than estimated. There was also an excess in the expenditure caused by the large receipts of withdrawn and uncurrent coins at the Bombay Mint, but it was nearly counterbalanced by a saving in England due to the provision for electric installation at the Calcutta Mint not having been utilised.

19. Under Civil Departments, the principal items of the improvement were 2,26 under Law and Justice,—Courts of Law, 28,74 under Police, 4,30 under Marine, 31,05 under Education, 3,84 under Medical and 12,97 under Scientific and Other Minor Departments. Under Law and Justice—Courts of Law, there was an increase in the receipts in Bengal due to lapsed Estates received from the Administrator-General and to fees and commissions collected by him. The saving in Police was due to the partial introduction of reforms in Burma, Bengal and Bombay, the lapse of the provision for five companies of Military Police in Burma, and the almost entire lapse of the provision of 10,00 for re-organization in Madras. The saving under Education was similarly due to the entire or partial lapse of provisions for special expenditure in India, Central Provinces, Bengal and Bombay, and to the transfer of the lump provision in Madras and a portion of that in the United Provinces to 45.—Civil Works; and that under Scientific and Other Minor Departments to the partial utilisation of the provision for agricultural improvements. The betterness under Marine was made up of increased receipts in England due to the adjustment of the subsidy received from the Admiralty for Harbour Defence Vessels, and to the sale-proceeds of vessels, and savings in expenditure on stores in England counterbalanced partly by increased expenditure in India on stores, repairs and pilotage. The saving under Medical was due to low expenditure on plague measures. Against these improvements, there were large excesses under General Administration (13,93), and Political (41,00), due in the former case to the visit of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, deputation of officers and absences on short leave in Secretariats, additional staff in Eastern Bengal and Assam necessitated by the partition, passage and outfit allowance of Lord Minto and the shipment of gold from this country for the Paper Currency Department; and in the latter to the payment of arrears of subsidy to His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan, coupled with increased expenditure on the North-West and Tibet Frontiers. There was also an excess under Jails, due mainly to increase in jail population, high prices of food grains and increase in manufacture and in the purchase of raw material.

20. Under Miscellaneous, the credit under Exchange exceeded the Budget by 4,22 and there was an increase of 3,17 in the receipts under Miscellaneous, chiefly from Premium on Bills, Unclaimed Deposits and Rents, and in fines and penalties incurred by contractors providing stores in England. There were also decreases in expenditure of 2,25 under Territorial and Political Pensions, due to lapses by death, 2,37 in the Absentee Allowances of civil officers in England, and 1,40 under Stationery and Printing due to large recoveries for work done for the Postal and Telegraph Departments, to decrease in establishment and contingent charges and in payments for piece work, partly counterbalanced by an excess in England owing to a large demand for stores from India. Against these improvements, Miscellaneous expenditure showed an excess of 12,25, due to charges in connection with the Royal visit, to expenditure on earthquake relief measures in Kangra and to charges of the special commission of enquiry on Excise Administration.

21. The total loss due to Famine has been brought together in the following table, based on estimates framed by the most competent local authorities, which may be accepted as giving approximately the loss of revenue assignable to Famine. Suspensions of Land Revenue and Provincial Rates, which are not final losses, have been distinguished from remissions under those heads. The total loss of revenue in 1905-6 assigned to Famine was 1,10,53 as shown below:—

22. When the Budget Estimate was framed, Madras and Bombay were the only provinces where it was considered necessary to make provision for direct Famine Relief. Distress in these provinces, however, proved less severe than apprehended; and though later conditions rendered expenditure necessary in the United Provinces, Ajmer and Baluchistan, there was, in the aggregate, a saving of 11,38 in the expenditure on direct relief. There was also a saving of 12,52 in the expenditure on the construction of Protective Irrigation Works due to the slow progress of works in Bengal, and the unavoidable postponement of works in the United Provinces, while there was a small excess (3,03) in the expenditure on Protective Railways owing to the purchase and construction of rolling stock, and in the purchase of plant for the Tirupattur-Krishnagiri and Morappur-Dharmapuri Railways not originally provided for The net result of these variations increased the amount available for the Reduction or Avoidance of Debt. Besides the charges on actual relief, expenditure was incurred under other heads either in the actual purchases of food supplies for men and animals or in the grant of compensation for dearness of provisions. These charges have been estimated by the local authorities, and are brought together in the following table, and the total charges direct and indirect may be set down at about 45,82:—

23. The total loss of revenue and increase of expenditure due to famine may therefore be put down at about 1,56,35.

24. The improvement under Railways was the result of an increase in the receipts partly counterbalanced by an increase of expenditure. The increase in the receipts was mainly due to additional mileage opened, to general development of traffic on the larger railway systems and particularly to heavy pilgrim traffic on the East Indian Railway, and heavy traffic on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway due to the celebration of a large number of Hindu marriages, the exodus from Rajputana owing to famine and large exports of grain, on the Bengal Nagpur Railway, due to general development of all descriptions of traffic, particularly coal, on the Southern Mahratta Railway, due to the movement of food grains to the tracts affected by scarcity, and on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, in connection with marriages and fairs and on account of improvement in coal, cotton and manganese traffic. The increase of expenditure was owing chiefly to heavy repairs and renewals of stock and permanent way and to extensive traffic. The lines that principally contributed to the net result are:—

25. Under Irrigation, there was a decrease in the receipts due to heavy remissions of revenue on account of the failure of the cotton crop in the Punjab, and to the small area irrigated for sugarcane in the United Provinces, owing to frost and bad seed. The improvement under Other Public Works was the result of savings in expenditure, to the extent of 35,38, owing chiefly to the non-utilisation of special grants for Civil Works given to Local Governments, and of the grants for certain Re-organization works, and of an increase in the receipts from Civil Works in Bombay and Eastern Bengal and Assam.

26. Under Army Services there was an improvement of 39,32 in the receipts and a saving of 1,52,28 in the expenditure. The increase in the receipts occurred mostly in England (£198,8 or R29,82), but partly also in India (£63,4 or R9,51). In England, the increase was due to the recovery from the Imperial Government in respect of the capitation rate payable for Indian Native Regiments lent for service in the Colonies, not provided for in the Budget, to increase in the value of clothing, etc., in the possession of regiments on their transfer from the Indian to the British Establishment, to the sale of unserviceable stores, to receipts on account of the Indian Troop Service, to the increased realisation of subscriptions towards Indian Military Service Family Pensions and to contributions towards pensions of Indian Native soldiers lent for Imperial Service. The improvement in India was due to more receipts from grass and dairy farms, large sales of clothing and materials to Native Troops under the new clothing scheme introduced in 1905, extensive sales of unserviceable ordnance stores from arsenals and factories, and large issues of ordnance stores to Native States on payment, partly counterbalanced by small sales of malt liquor and the adjustment, by credit to the Imperial Government, of the net value of peace equipment Europe stores issued to and returned from China, Somaliland and the Colonies. The saving in the expenditure occurred almost entirely under Re-organization, 16,54 in India and 1,38,00 in England. The decrease in the Indian expenditure was due to savings in the provision for mobilisation equipment, to reduced charges in consequence of the change of administration of the Supply and Transport Corps, to smaller expenditure on inland transport, to less maintenance charges of the additional mule corps and cadres and of the reserve horses at remount depôts, and to large lapses in the provision for re-armament of Horse and Field Artillery, for reserve of Army transport carts, for manufacture of rifles, etc., and for purchase of land; partly counterbalanced by the cost of maps supplied to the field army, charges for construction of lines for Native troops, purchase of additional horses for quick-firing batteries, and local stores for additional field hospitals and ordnance field parks, and expenditure for completing certain measures sanctioned in 1904-5, on small arms ammunition, and on mountings for maxim guns, etc. The large saving in the Re-organization expenditure in England was due to the postponement of payments to the War Office on account of stores for India. There was also a saving in the English expenditure under Other Charges, due chiefly to decreased charges for stores, and to the refund of certain payments to the War Office in respect of British Forces serving in British India; but it was nearly counterbalanced by an excess in the Indian expenditure under the same head, due to a variety of causes chief among which were (1) the non-realisation of the large deduction made in the Budget from probable savings from pay and allowances of Regimental Officers and British Troops, (2) the inclusion of charges on account of the five Native Infantry Regiments on garrison duty in the colonies and (3) rise in the rates for food supplies for men and animals. Under Special Defence Works, the short expenditure in England was due to the postponement of payments to the War Office.

27. The Budget provided for a deficit of £466,5 or R69,98 in the revenue on the whole account, but as a sum of £1,370,3 or R2,05,55 out of the Provincial and Local Expenditure was payable from past accumulations of balances, a net surplus of £903,8 or R1,35,57 was provided for in the Estimates on the Imperial account. The accounts closed with a surplus on Imperial account of £2,091,9 or R3,13,78, and a surplus on Provincial and Local account of £24,0 or R3,60. The net Imperial revenue was therefore better by £2,091,9 — £903,8 = £1,188,1 or R1,78,21, and the net Provincial and Local receipts by £1,370,3 + £24,0 = £1,394,3 or R2,09,15. The improvement in the Provincial and Local accounts was caused mainly by the allotments amounting to R60,00 by the Imperial Government, to the Governments of Central Provinces and Berar (30,00), and Eastern Bengal and Assam (30,00), to enable them to start under favourable conditions the new Provincial Settlements which came into operation from 1906-7. Decrease of expenditure in Bengal, Madras and Bombay and increased receipts in the last two also contributed to the improvement.

28. The details of these fluctuations are given below, the sign + meaning better, and — worse, than the estimate:—

The excesses, distinguishing those requiring sanction from those for which extra grants have already been made, have been noticed under each head of expenditure, and the detailed reasons for the excess have been also there stated. 32. The receipts in this section exceeded the Budget Estimate by £82,1 or R12,32, but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by £924,6 or R1,38,69. As compared with the Budget the largest improvements occurred under Excise (£244,7 or R36,70) and Forest (£176,6 or R26,49). The former was contributed to by all the provinces except India, Burma and the United Provinces, and was due generally to keen competition at auction sales, and to increased consumption, and in the Central Provinces, Berar and Bengal also partly to the introduction of reforms; the decrease in India and the United Provinces, was due mainly to reduced consumption owing to a bad season and high prices of food grain, and in Burma to the restriction of the retail sale of opium to the actual needs of consumers. The improvement under Forest was chiefly derived from Burma, and was due to large extractions and sale of timber, and to a favourable floating season; and from Bombay, due to famine grass operations, the supply of sleepers to railways, and high prices of timber. There was an improvement of £116,4 or R17,46 under Salt, due to increased consumption, stimulated by the further reduction of duty from R2 to R1½ per maund from the 22nd March 1905, and was mainly contributed by India, Madras and Bombay; of £119,1 or R17,86 under Stamps, due to the growth of litigation and trade, and, in some provinces, to the unfavourable season which necessitated the execution of bonds and mortgages; of £19,9 or R3,00 under Provincial Rates, mainly in the Punjab, due to the abolition of the famine cess from 1st April 1906 instead of from 1st April 1905. There were also improvements under Assessed Taxes (£40,5 or R6,08) and Registration (£19,3 or R2,88). These improvements were partly counterbalanced by a decline under the other heads, the most important of which occurred under Land Revenue (£606,5 or R90,98), due to unfavourable conditions in Madras and Bombay, to heavy floods on the Irrawaddy, and to untimely and unequally distributed rainfall in Burma, to failure of kharif in the Delhi Division, and to remissions necessitated by the earthquake in Kangra in the Punjab; under Customs (£16,0 or R2,40), due to a decrease in the exports of rice from Burma and Madras, owing to high prices and strong home demand, partly counterbalanced by an improvement in Bengal, due to increased imports of spirits and liquors, sugar (ordinary duties) and cotton manufactures, and of increased exports of rice to Japan; under Tributes (£23,0 or R3,45), chiefly in India and the Punjab, and under Opium (£8,9 or R1,33) due to high prices of Malwa opium and a fall in the demand from China, reduced by an improvement due to high prices obtained for Bengal opium.

33. The decrease, as compared with the previous year, occurred chiefly under Salt (£978,4 or R1,46,76), Opium (£552,7 or R82,90) and Land Revenue (£91,8 or R13,77). The decrease under Salt was due to the reduction of duty referred to above; that under Opium partly to the cause stated above, but mainly to the price for Bengal opium having fallen below that obtained in 1904-5; that under Land Revenue occurred chiefly in the United Provinces and the Punjab, due in the former to remissions and suspensions necessitated by the frost of 1905, and the drought of the year under report, and to the abolition of the famine cess, and in the latter to the causes stated above. There were smaller decreases under Provincial Rates (£26,5 or R3,96), due mainly to the abolition of the famine cess; under Customs (£13,8 or R2,07), due to the causes stated above, and under Tributes (£36,4 or R5,47), chiefly in India, due to the postponements of recoveries owing to famine, and in Bombay, due to large recoveries in the previous year of fees on succession to Native States. Against these decreases there were improvements under Stamps (£188,1 or R28,20), Excise (£334,4 or R50,16), Assessed Taxes (£51,6 or R7,74), Forest (£177,6 or R26,65) and under Registration (£23,3 or R3,49) due mainly to the causes stated above.

34. The receipts under this head show a falling-off of 90,98 and 13,77 as compared with the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year, respectively. As compared with the Budget the fall was mainly due to unfavourable conditions in Madras and Bombay, to heavy floods on the Irrawaddy, and to untimely and unequally distributed rain in Burma, to failure of the kharif in the Delhi Division and to remissions necessitated by the earthquake in Kangra in the Punjab. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the decrease occurred mainly in the United Provinces, and the Punjab, due in the former to remissions and suspensions, owing to the frost of 1905, and the drought of the year under report, and to the abolition of the famine cess, and in the latter to the causes stated above, partly counterbalanced by improvements in Madras and Bombay, due in the former to the realisation of the large suspensions of the previous year, and to the comparatively small remissions of the year under report, and in Bombay, mainly to a favourable season in Gujarat, where arrears of revenue were recovered.

35. The decrease under Ordinary Land Revenue (83,82), occurred chiefly in Madras (20,11), Bombay (32,41), Burma (12,85), and the Punjab (13,74,), due to the causes explained above. The decrease in India (1,59), was chiefly due to famine in Ajmer, partly counterbalanced by an increase due to a rise in prices in Baluchistan, where the revenue is collected in kind, and an under-estimate in Coorg; in the Central Provinces (2,26), to the transfer of the Sambalpur District to Bengal (96), to the failure of the rice crop in the Bilaspur District (1,15), and to suspensions owing to damage to crops by frost in Saugor, and in the United Provinces (1,60), to the failure of the kharif, and the almost total failure of the winter rains, which necessitated large remissions and suspensions and greatly retarded the collections. The excess in Berar (55), was due chiefly to waste lands being brought under cultivation, and to advance payments of kists. In Eastern Bengal and Assam, considered with Bengal proper, there was an excess of 78, due to an increase in Bengal (1,43), owing mainly to the transfer of the Sambalpur District from the Central Provinces, but partly also to better collections, and of 27 in Assam, due to an under-estimate, while there was a decrease of 75 in Eastern Bengal due to over-estimate. Under Assessment of Alienated Lands less Quit Rents the decrease in Bombay (1,88), is attributed to revision surveys, relinquishment of land by holders, and acquisition of land by Government. Under Fisheries and other Receipts classed as Miscellaneous Land Revenue the decrease in Burma (2,55), was due to the low prices fetched by fisheries at auctions in consequence of a bad year, partly counterbalanced by an improvement in the revenue from petroleum, owing to an increased output of oil. In Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal proper there was a decrease of 4,53 made up of a fall of 2,30 in Eastern Bengal and of 2,39 in Bengal proper, due to small recoveries on account of survey and settlement charges, reduced in the latter by an increase of 30 in miscellaneous receipts, and an increase of 13 in Assam due to an under-estimate. The decrease in the United Provinces (35) was due mainly to low receipts from quarries (16), consequent on difficulties of export, and from partition fees (17); in the Punjab (26) to a decrease in the recoveries on account of Canal and Survey Demarcation (67), partly counterbalanced by an increase in Mutation Fees (30), due to the heavy plague mortality of the year; while that in Madras (32), occurred mainly in the receipts of the Village Service Fund. Against these decreases there were improvements in the other provinces, the most important of which occurred in Bombay (2,63), mainly in Miscellaneous Receipts. The increase in India (49), was chiefly due to the receipt of a Nazarana in Ajmer; in the Central Provinces (12), to revenue from quarries and minor mineral products in forests and lands not under the management of forests; and in the North-West Frontier Province (58), to increase under Mutation fees (13), to the introduction of a new grazing tax in the Hazara District and to better collection of the dues in other districts (40), and to an improvement under Miscellaneous (4). Under Sale of Proprietary Rights, Sale of Waste Lands, etc., the actuals in Burma represent the capitalized value of the abatement of land revenue, on land made over to the Burma Railway Company, the adjustment of which at the close of the year was not foreseen in the Budget and Revised. The increase in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Bengal taken together (92), occurred chiefly in Bengal proper (76), due to unexpected sales of Government Estates in Patna, Puri and Hooghly, and to large receipts on account of redemption on land tax; the balance occurred in the Eastern Bengal Districts, and is attributed to the fluctuating nature of the receipts; and in the Punjab the improvement (61), was mainly due to the high prices realized for lands at the Chunian Colony auction. The variations in the other provinces are mainly attributed to the fluctuating nature of the receipts. Under Capitation Tax or House Tax levied in lieu thereof, etc., the excess in Burma (2,89), occurred entirely in the receipts from Thathameda tax, and was foreseen in the Revised.

36. The explanation for the variations in the Portion of Land Revenue due to Irrigation is given in the Public Works portion of this report under the head Irrigation vide paragraph 252.

II.—Opium—concluded.

38. The receipts under this head fell short of the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 1,33 and 82,90, respectively. Under Sale of Bengal Opium, the increase, as compared with the Budget, was due to the sale of a larger number of chests at a higher price, viz., 49,200 chests sold at an average of R1,434 against 48,000 chests at R1,400, adopted in the Budget. But the average price per chest fell far below that obtained in the previous year (1,587), which accounts for the decrease as compared with that year. Under Bombay Opium Pass Fees, the decrease, both as compared with the Budget and the actuals of the previous year, was due to a rise in the price of Malwa opium and a falling-off in the demand in China. Under Excise Opium, the decrease in Burma, due to the issue of orders in January 1905, restricting the retail sales of opium to the actual needs of consumers and to their means of purchase, was partly counterbalanced by increases chiefly in the Central Provinces (15), Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal (10), the United Provinces (14), and the Punjab (13), due generally to increased consumption. The decreases in Assam and Eastern Bengal Districts, due to over-estimates, were more than counterbalanced by increased receipts in Bengal proper.

39. The following table gives the usual statistics for the last ten years of the produce and sales in Bengal, and the exports from Bombay:—

41. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget by 17,46, but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 1,46,76. As compared with the Budget, the improvement occurred chiefly under Excise on Local Manufacture (18,74), and was the result of increased consumption of locally manufactured salt, stimulated by the further reduction of duty from R2 to R1½ per maund from 22nd March 1905, and was contributed to chiefly by India (10,36), Madras (3,98), and Bombay (4,43). In India the improvement occurred at Sambhar and the Mines, due to unprecedentedly brisk trade towards the end of the year, which also accounts for the large increase over the Revised. In Burma the small increase (6), was due to the gradual introduction of the system of assessment on the output of salt, while the falling-off in Bengal was due to the cessation of salt manufacture in Orissa. There was also an increase under Sale of Government Salt (1,63), being the result chiefly of an increase in India (2,16), due to large sales at Sambhar and the Mines and a decrease in Madras (1,06), due to short sales at factories, reduced exports from Madras depôt to Ceylon and to the unfavourable fishing season on the West Coast. Under Duty on Imported Salt the falling-off in Bengal, was due to country-made salt having replaced, to some extent the foreign manufacture, while the increase in Burma (67), was chiefly due to a large importation of English salt. Under Miscellaneous the decrease in India (25), was chiefly due to reduced sales under Through-Traffic system, that in Bengal (27), to lower rents of warehouses, and in Bombay (1,26), to reduced customs duty.

42. The large decrease, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was due to the reduction of duty, referred to above.

* Rate of duty reduced in all provinces, except Burma, from 18th March 1903 (vide Finance and Commerce Department Notification No. 1542-S. R., dated 18th March 1903); and a further reduction in the rate was made from 22nd March 1905.

43. The receipts under this head exceeded both the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 17,86 and 28,20, respectively. The improvement occurred under all the heads, and was the outcome of the growth of litigation and trade, and in some provinces of an unfavourable agricultural season necessitating execution of bonds and mortgages. Under Court-fee Stamps the increase was contributed by all the provinces, except India, Berar, the Punjab and Bombay and was due generally to increase in both Civil and Revenue litigation. Burma also includes special receipts of probate duty. The decrease in India was due to famine in Ajmer, in Berar to the transfer of Judicial Commissioner's Court to Nagpur, in the Punjab to the influence of the Alienation of Land Act, and to the introduction of the Punjab Loans Limitation Act, and in Bombay to absence of any considerable receipts of probate duty. Under Commercial and other Stamps the improvement occurred in all the provinces, except Burma where the reaction, noticed last year, after excessive speculation in land in Rangoon was maintained. In India, the increase was due to the sale of anna stamps and the unified stamp chiefly in Ajmer; in the Central Provinces and in Eastern Bengal and Assam the Budget was placed too low; in Berar the improvement was due to the prosperous condition of the agricultural classes; in Bengal to brisk trade; in the United Provinces, the Punjab and Madras, partly to executions of more bonds and mortgages in consequence of unfavourable agricultural season, and partly to expansion of trade; and in Bombay to development of insurance business, mill share speculations and conveyances of immoveable property. Under Fines and Penalties, etc., the increase of 1,72 as compared with the Budget, was contributed to by all the provinces. In India it was due to the adjustment of the value of stamps, required for admission of attorneys and advocates of the Calcutta High Court; in Burma it was due to special receipts; in Bengal to receipts under duty on embossing one anna receipts and cheque stamps (1,22), other duties (8), and duty on unstamped and insufficiently stamped paper (6), partly counterbalanced by no receipts under composition duty (69).

44. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 36,70 and 50,16, respectively. The improvements were spread over all the provinces except India, Burma and the United Provinces, and were generally due to keen competition among the bidders at auction sales and to increased consumption, and in the Central Provinces, Berar and Bengal also partly to the introduction of reforms.

45. The largest increase, as compared with the Budget, occurred under License and distillery fees and duties for the sale of liquors and drugs, and was contributed by all the provinces except India and the United Provinces. In the former the decrease (75), was mainly due to a falling-off in rent of beer taverns in Bangalore (15), duty on beer in Bangalore and Baluchistan (10) and to a decline in still head duty, owing to diminished consumption and reduction in the rate of duty in Coorg (28), Ajmer (18), and Bangalore (9), and in the United Provinces, (5,45) to a fall in still head duty on country spirits (10,15), due to a decrease in consumption owing to a bad season, high prices of food grains, and high price of liquor, partly counterbalanced by an increase (5,00) in still head duty on foreign spirits due to the large removal from bond of spirits in anticipation of the increase of duty on foreign spirits from R4 to R7 per gallon with effect from 1st April 1906. The increases in the Central Provinces (4,90) and Berar (7,64), were due to the introduction of the Madras system in most of the districts, and to high bids at auction sales; in Burma (88), it was attributed to large receipts from opium license fees and toddy revenues, partly counterbalanced by a decrease in liquor licenses; in Eastern Bengal and Assam, taken with Bengal there was an increase of (6,02), of which 5,32 occurred in Bengal proper, due to very favourable settlements with bidders at the annual sales, and to growth in consumption; 14 in Eastern Bengal and 56 in Assam, due to keen competition at auctions, and in Assam also partly to the introduction of the central distillery system; in the Punjab (2,97), due to brisk biddings at auctions, and to increased issues from distilleries to the Sikh districts of Amritsar, Jullundur and Ludhiana (3,66), partly counterbalanced by a decrease in import duties on charas (69), owing to the enhancement of the rate to R6 per seer, and to the closure of 543 shops from 1st April 1905; in Madras (8,29), due to increased consumption of country spirits, and large realizations of tree tax; and in Bombay (10,64) to the raising of still head duty in Khandesh, to the large amounts offered as minimum guarantee of still head duty in Khandesh and Nasik, to the improved condition of local industries and growth of population in Bombay, and to keen competition for toddy shop licenses. Under Duty on Ganja the increase in the Central Provinces (22), and Berar (16), was due to increased consumption of ganja; in Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal proper, there was an increase of 4,38, of which 1,04, was contributed by Eastern Bengal, 82 by Assam and 2,52 by Bengal, due to increased consumption and the introduction of a uniform rate of duty for the several kinds of ganja, and in Bombay (1,32), due to large quantities of the drug having been exported to foreign countries in March 1906, in anticipation of the enhancement of duty. Under Opium the decrease in India (11), occurred chiefly in Ajmer and Bangalore; in Berar (17), it was due to the stoppage of import of Malwa opium in the latter portion of the year, owing to the introduction of Ghazipur opium; in Burma (3,95) mainly to the issue of orders in January 1905, restricting the retail sale of opium to the actual needs of consumers, as well as to their means of purchase; in Eastern Bengal (20), Assam (19), and Bengal (30) the estimates proved too high; in Madras (24), the fall was due to the equalisation of the price of opium throughout the Presidency, and to the high price of opium in the Bombay market, and in Bombay (42), to a decrease in transit duty owing to the small number of chests purchased, consequent on high prices and large stocks (1,19), partly counterbalanced by an increase in gain on sale-proceeds of excise opium owing to the enhanced issue rate in force throughout the year. The improvements in the Central Provinces (24) and the United Provinces (19) were due to increased consumption and that in the Punjab (18) to large import of Malwa opium owing to the poorness of the Punjab and Hill State opium crop.

46. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate by 3,00 but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 3,96. The improvement was mainly due to the receipts in the Punjab (5,75) under Famine Insurance, etc, owing to the abolition of the famine cess having been carried out with effect from 1st April 1906 instead of from 1st April 1905, as sanctioned by the Government of India, and to the receipt under Rates on Wards' Estates, in the United Provinces of the rate levied under Act X of 1892, brought on the public accounts for the first time in the year under report. As compared with the Budget the falling-off in India (37) was due to famine in Ajmer, in the Central Provinces (40) to the transfer of the Sambalpur District to Bengal and to remission and abatement on account of failure of crops, in Burma (70) to failure of crops due to heavy floods. In Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal there was a decrease of 1,35 to which Assam contributed 16, due to damage to crops; 51 occurred in East Bengal and the balance in Bengal, due, in both cases, to non-realization of the increase anticipated from valuation and revaluation in several districts; and in Bombay the decrease was due to unfavourable agricultural conditions. The excess in Madras (4,45) was mainly due to the exceptionally high collection of the cesses suspended in 1904-5. In the Punjab the improvement under Famine Insurance, etc., was largely counterbalanced by a decrease in the receipts under the first two heads, due partly to suspensions and remissions and partly to an over-estimate by local officers. The abolition of the Famine cess mainly accounts for the decreases in the actuals as compared with the previous year.

47. The total receipts under this head fell short of the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 2,40 and 2,07, respectively. The falling-off was mainly due to a decrease in the exports of rice from Burma and Madras on account of high prices and a strong home demand, partly counterbalanced by increased importations of spirits and liquors, sugar (ordinary duties), and cotton manufactures, and exports of rice to Japan from Bengal.

48. Under Sea-Customs-Import Duties, the improvement occurred chiefly in Bengal (5,98) and was due to large importations of cotton manufactures (9,99), spirits and liquors (5,57), sugar (ordinary duties) (2,14), articles of food and drink (96), chemicals, drugs, etc. (43), oils (23) and raw materials (57), partly counterbalanced by a falling-off under Petroleum (4,32), Silver, bullion and coin (2,10), other metals (5,47) and manufactured articles (2,05). The increase in Bombay (59), occurred under Spirits and Liquors (6,03), Sugar (ordinary duties) (4,84), cotton manufactures (5,38), manufactured articles (2,77) and raw materials (86), partly counterbalanced by decreases under Petroleum (1,28) and Silver, bullion and coin (8,75) due to Government having bought silver in England instead of in India, and, to no Straits dollars having been coined in the year. These increases were partly counterbalanced by decreases in Burma (47) and Madras (4,32). The decrease in Burma was due to reduced importations of petroleum, metals and manufactures of metals, and manufactured articles, partly counterbalanced by an improvement under sugar, spirits and liquors and articles of food and drink. In Madras it occurred under Petroleum (2,12) due to substitution of Burma oil for foreign produce, cotton manufactures (1,51) due to over-stock in the market, sugar (ordinary duties) (44), chemicals, drugs, etc. (23) and metals and manufactures of metals (1,23), partly counterbalanced by an increase under spirits and liquors (1,28). Under Export Duties the decrease occurred in Burma (6,25), Madras (2,22) and Bombay (73), due to the high prices and a strong home demand for rice and paddy following the failure of crops, and to increased cultivation in Brazil having adversely affected the export, partly counterbalanced by an increase in Bengal (4,30) due to heavy exports of rice to Japan, where there had been a failure of crop. Under Excise Duty on Cotton Manufactures, the improvement was due to high prices and large outturn of cotton cloths consequent on a heavy demand for them, and to a tendency to produce a better class of goods in the mills. Under Land Customs and Miscellaneous, the decrease occurred chiefly under over-time fees, due in Burma and Madras, to small shipments of rice and in Bengal to changes in the hours of work. The decrease in Bombay was due to a falling-off in the imports of salted fish from Goa owing to an unfavourable fishing season.

49. The revenue under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 6,08, and 7,74, respectively. The improvement as compared with the Budget occurred in all the provinces except the Central Provinces, Berar and the Punjab. The increase in India (1,02), occurred mainly in deductions from salaries and pensions. Of the improvement in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Bengal taken together (2,58), 9 were contributed by Eastern Bengal, and 2,47 by Bengal proper chiefly attributable to more careful assessment and additions to the number of assessees; the increase in Burma (1,31) was due to the application of the Income-tax Act throughout the whole of Lower Burma, the effect of which was not fully gauged in the Budget; and in Bombay (1,25) to increases in the salaries and in the numbers of Assessees, to the better earnings of some of the Cotton Mills and Joint-Stock Companies to a gradual increase in the number of Government Securities, and to prompter collections (1,37), partly counterbalanced by a decrease of 11 owing to the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway line having been taken over by the State. The small improvement in the United Provinces (24) was due to an under-estimate and that in Madras (5) to the expansion of trade, to more careful and searching assessment, and to enhanced assessment of persons already taxed. The decreases in Central Provinces (12) and the Punjab (12) were due to less receipts under ordinary collection, while in Berar (15), it was attributable to over-estimate.

50. The India figures include, in addition to the collections made in the districts directly administered by the Government of India, the recoveries by the Non-Civil Departments from the salaries of Government Officers. The details are given below :—

51. The receipts in India showed an excess of 26,30 over the Budget and 26,45 over the actuals of the previous year. The improvement was mostly derived from Burma and Bombay. The increase in Burma was due generally to large extraction and sale of timber, and to increased collection and sale of drift wood at high prices; and that in Bombay chiefly to the rise in the price of malki teak, to supply of sleepers to railways, to improved system of disposing of teak trees on occupied lands, to high prices of timber and firewood coupes and to large receipts on account of famine fodder. There were also important increases in the Central Provinces, Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal, the United Provinces and Madras, due in the Central Provinces to an increased demand for timber and fodder grass, owing to general prosperity; in Eastern Bengal to large sales of timber and demand for scantlings, in Assam to increased revenue from elephant mahals, rubber, lac and thatching grass; in Bengal to the disposal to purchasers of a large number of trees proposed for departmental exploitation; in the United Provinces to large outturn of timber, to improved sales of dry and refuse timber, fuel and charcoal, and increased demand for Bhabar grass and limestone; and in Madras to increased realization of grazing fees and sale of minor produce. The increase over the actuals of the previous year is contributed by all the provinces except the Punjab, where the decline was chiefly caused by the great earthquake stopping all exploitation work for sometime. The principal improvement, however, was contributed by the Central Provinces, Burma, Madras and Bombay. The increase in the Central Provinces was due partly to large sales of timber in the Balaghat division, and partly to the causes stated above which produced the excess over the Budget. The large improvement in Burma was chiefly attributable to extensive extraction and sale of timber, pyingado sleepers, padauk and firewood. The improvement in Madras was, due to the extension of the departmental system of exploitation, to the opening of several new depôts for the sale of small timber, fuel, hay and agricultural implements, and to large supplies of timber and firewood to Railways, mills and the public, partly counterbalanced by gradual abolition of the permit system in favour of departmental working. The increase in Bombay was more or less due to the causes stated above.

52. Under Timber and other produce removed by Government Agency, the increase in Burma over the Budget, was chiefly due to large extraction and sale. The increase would have been more but a large quantity of timber remained unsold at the close of the year, and the extraction of teak and pyingado sleepers in Pyinmana Division was restricted owing to an outbreak of plague, and departmental extraction in the Mandalay Division was not undertaken as originally intended; in the North-West Frontier Province the increase was due to an increase in the contribution from the Punjab, owing to the rise in the receipts from the sale of Hazara timber; in Bombay the improvement was partly due to receipts on account of Famine fodder in the Central Circle (2,20), and partly to enhanced prices of timber and large supply of Railway sleepers from the Southern Circle (86). On the other hand, there is a fall in India (71) which is composed chiefly of a decrease of 1,25 in the Andamans, due to reduced sales of timber on account of stormy weather causing delay and loss in transit of logs by sea into Port Blair, and an increase of 51 in Coorg, attributable to large sales of timber and sandal wood, and to supply of timber to the Ordnance Department. The decline in the Central Provinces (70), was mainly due to short departmental work in Balaghat and Bhandara divisions, and to reduced sales of timber in South Chanda and of fuel in North Chanda divisions. In Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal taken together there was a decrease of 1,09, of which 51 occurred in Assam owing to short supply of sleepers to the Eastern Bengal Railway, and 71 in Bengal proper, due to reduction in the departmental exploitation of trees in the Kurseong and Angul divisions, to absence of demand from the Public Works Department, and by the discontinuance of the supply of fuel to the Transport and Supply department at the Jalapahar, Lebong and Darjeeling divisions; while in Eastern Bengal there was an increase of 15 due to a good demand for scantlings and large sales of sleepers in the Jalpaiguri and Buxa Divisions. The fall in the United Provinces was mainly due to short production of sleepers, owing to the late arrival of Kangra sawyers, in consequence of the earthquake, and to short supply of timber to the Military Works Department, and to Rajputana Malwa Railway (82), partly counterbalanced by an increase caused by extensive fuel operations in the Nainital Division. The decrease in the Punjab was due to the cessation of exploitation work in consequence of earthquake, and to slack demand for firewood, partly counterbalanced by receipts from the timber brought down by the heavy floods in the Jhelum, and by better sale-proceeds of timber from the Pangi Forests. The decline in Madras was caused by short supply of timber to the Kolar Mines, and by the absence of sale of timber in Mysore owing to the delay in certain arrangements with the Durbar. The decline would have been more, had not there been a rise in the receipt from Sandal wood in North Arcot, due to large exploitation and better supervision and high prices.

53. Under Timber and other produce removed by consumers and purchasers, the improvement was contributed by all the provinces except Burma, where there was a decline, caused mainly by the closing of Pegu canals, for a few months for repairs, which prevented purchasers from transporting timber to Rangoon, partly counterbalanced by an increase in revenue in the Southern and Northern Circles, due to large extraction. The more important increases were obtained from the Central Provinces, Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal, United Provinces, Madras and Bombay. The improvement in the Central Provinces was due to increased demand for timber and fodder grass, owing to the general prosperity of the country, and also to enhanced prices obtained from the sale of lac and Harra leases. In Eastern Bengal there was an increase of 31 due to increased receipts from timber, fuel and grazing fees; in Assam of 58 due to large receipts from elephant mahals, home rubber, lac and thatching grass; and of 1,46 in Bengal proper due to a large number of trees intended for departmental exploitation having been sold to purchasers, to the construction of cart roads in the Singbhoom Division, to increased sale of sundri logs and poles and golepatta in the Sunderbunds Division, and to more mica squares having been taken up in the Palamau Division. Large sales of dry and refuse timber, fuel and charcoal and enhanced prices of both Deodar and chir trees (65), large outturn and high prices in the Kheri Division (71), and a large demand for Bhabar grass and limestone (24), were mainly responsible for the improvement in the United Provinces. The increase in Madras was due generally to satisfactory supervision, and partly to the levying of grazing fees on cattle on the Javadies in North Arcot (62), and to improved sales of minor produce (1,11), partly counterbalanced by decrease under firewood, owing to the absence of demand for fuel coupes in North Arcot and Trichinopoly, and for the standing growth in the Coast Range plantations in Nellore, and to short revenue from sale of trees in South Arcot (59). The increase in Bombay was derived chiefly from the Northern Circle (1,55), and Central Circle (1,58). The improvement in the former was due to the rise in the rates for Malki teak, etc., and to the improved system of disposing of teak trees in occupied lands; while the increase in the latter was due to rise in the sale-proceeds of timber and firewood coupes, to royalty trees on occupied lands, to increased demand for bamboos, to the farming of the right over Hirda and Shikakari in Satara, and to better supervision over grazing and fodder grass.

54. Under Other Receipts the improvement in Burma and the Punjab was chiefly due to increased receipts from drift wood, that in Bengal and Madras mainly to increased collection of compounding fees, that in the United Provinces principally to fees for shooting permits, to compensation and to receipts from Miscellaneous sources, and that in Bombay chiefly to fines and forfeitures and sale of fencing material.

55. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget, and the actuals of the previous year by 2,88 and 3,49, respectively, the improvements indicating the gradual growth of the operations of the Department. Under Fees for Registering Documents the improvement, which is due to the increased number of documents registered, was contributed chiefly by Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the United Provinces, Madras and Bombay, owing mainly to the unfavourable character of the season, which necessitated the execution of a large number of bonds. The amendment of Transfer of Property Act by Act VI of 1904 in Bombay and the United Provinces, and the operations of the Encumbered Estates Act in the latter, enhanced the receipts in those provinces. In Madras the increase was partly due to the registration of a large number of Provident Societies. Under Other Receipts, the decrease occurred in Madras (82), and was due to the modification, by the High Court, of the ruling requiring in all cases the production of encumberance certificates in connection with the execution of decrees relating to immoveable property, partly counterbalanced by increased receipts in the United Provinces (12) due to more frequent visits by Sub-registrars and to more numerous inspections of books and indexes.

Section A.—PRINCIPAL HEADS OF REVENUE—concluded.

XI.—Tributes from Native States—concluded.

6. The receipts under this head are for the most part fixed. The variations that occur arise generally either from the non-payment of dues or from advance or arrear collections. The total receipts fell short of the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 3,45 and 5,47, respectively.

57. Under Tributes the decrease in India was due to postponement of instalments on account of famine from the Bundi State, partly counterbalanced by arrear recoveries from Banswara (11), Dungarpur (9), and Sailana States (7). In the Central Provinces and Bengal the variations were chiefly due to mutual transfer of certain tributes. Better realisations than were anticipated from Shan States (29), and arrear collection (20) from Momeik and other petty States in Burma, and the recovery of arrears from Kathiawar (44), and Baroda (28), States in Bombay, account for the increases in the two provinces. Under Contributions the postponement of payment from Jowrah (2,53) for Malwa Contingent, partly counterbalanced by arrear collection from Dewas for the Malwa Bheel Corps explain the decrease in India, while advance payment by the Mudhol and Jath States caused an excess in Bombay. Non-payment of nazarana by Sitamau State in India (7), and by the Raja of Mandi in the Punjab (1,06), and non-recovery of the full amount from Savantavadi, Sangli and other petty States in Bombay (35), account for the decrease under Fees on Succession to Native States.

58. As compared with the previous year the decrease is chiefly due to large recoveries from Sangli State in the previous year under Fees on Succession to Native States.

59. The expenditure in this section exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by £22,7 or R3,41 and £210,4 or R31,56, respectively. As compared with the Budget, the most important excesses occurred under Opium (£55,1 or R8,27) and Forest (£28,3 or R4,25). Under Opium the excess occurred in the Behar Agency, where the estimate was placed low, in anticipation of a bad season, partly counterbalanced by a saving in the Benares Agency due to a short crop, and that under Forest to large extractions of timber, expansion of sleeper operations, and to payments to contractors, in Burma, for extractions in the previous year, to a large payment to the Chamba State in the Punjab, as profits on working its forests in 1904-5, and to Famine grass operations in Bombay. There was an excess of £11,3 or R1,69 under Refunds and Drawbacks, mainly in Stamps refunds in all the provinces and in other revenue refunds in Burma, due to refunds of tributes by means of actual refunds instead of by short recovery of amounts due, and in Bombay, to large excise refunds; and a small excess of £3,5 or R53 under Stamps These excesses were largely counterbalanced by savings under the other heads, the more important of which were £42,1 or R6,31 under Land Revenue chiefly in the charges for District Administration, Land Records and Agriculture, and Allowances to District and Village Officers, £10,1 or R1,51 under Salt, contributed by all the provinces, mainly in charges for salaries, establishment and contingencies, and £10,5 or R1,58 under Excise, due mainly to the partial utilization of provisions in the Central Provinces, Burma and Bombay for revision of establishment, and for reforms in distilleries in the United Provinces. There were also small savings under Assignments and Compensations (£4,1 or R62) chiefly in Madras and Bombay, and under Customs (£6,4 or R95) due mainly to the non-utilization of provisions for revision of establishments, and the purchase of preventive service boats in Bengal, while Provincial Rates and Registration added £2,4 or R 36 to the saving.

60. The excess as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was contributed by all the heads except Opium, under which there was a decrease of £74,6 or R11,19, due to the smaller outturn of the crop, which was 104,062 maunds against 111,539 maunds in the previous year. Of the increase, £132,2 or R19,83 occurred under Land Revenue chiefly in the charges for District Administration, Survey and Settlement and Land Records and Agriculture, in all the provinces except the North-West Frontier; £85,7 or R12,85 under Forest chiefly in Burma, the Punjab and Bombay due to the causes stated above, and in Madras due to the extension of the Departmental system of exploitation, and to large supplies of timber and firewood to railways, mills and the public; £8,5 or R1,28 under Assignments and Compensations chiefly in Land Revenue Compensations; £18,1 or R2,71 under Salt in India and Madras due to large demands and a favourable manufacturing season; £7,1 or R1,07 under Stamps of which £3,0 occurred in England in the demand for stores, and £15,8 or R2,37 under Excise owing to improvements in Excise Administration. There were also small increases under Refunds and Drawbacks (£5,9 or R88), Provincial Rates (£6 or R9), Customs (£3,2 or R48), Assessed Taxes (£1,2 or R18) and Registration (£6,7 or R1,01).

61. The charges under this head exceeded the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 1,70 and 89, respectively. The excesses occurred chiefly under Stamps Refunds in all the provinces, and under Other Revenue Refunds in Burma and Bombay. As compared with the Budget, the excess under Land Revenue in Berar (6) was due to refunds of rents of sites within Municipal limits; in Burma (17), to special refunds in Thaton, and in Madras (30) chiefly to a refund of excess Land Revenue collected in the previous year from the Maharaja of Jaipur. These excesses were partly counterbalanced by savings in the Central Provinces(6), Eastern Bengal and Assam(5)and Bengal (17), and the United Provinces(12), due chiefly to over-estimates. The actuals of the previous year included special refunds in Bombay. Under Salt the decrease in Bengal (55), on account of small refunds of salt duty, was partly counterbalanced by increases in India (12) and Madras (25), due to refunds occasioned by the reduction of salt duty from 22nd March 1905. Under Stamps the increase in Burma followed on an increase in revenue; that in the Punjab and Madras was due to the withdrawal of one-anna receipt stamps, on the introduction of the one-anna unified stamps from 1st October 1905, and that in Bombay to refund of duty recovered in excess on a will. In the other provinces the estimates were placed too low. Under Customs the decrease in Burma corresponded to the decrease in revenue, that in Bengal it was due to an over-estimate, and that in Bombay to a decline in the Drawbacks under silver, bullion and coin, partly counterbalanced by increased refunds on cotton goods purchased for British Regiments, and on exports of silver and cotton piece-goods to Kashmir. Under Assessed Taxes the over-estimates chiefly in Bengal and United Provinces, were partly counterbalanced by an increase in Berar (9), due to refunds occasioned by excessive assessment, for want of proper data on the introduction of the tax. Under Other Revenue Refunds the increase in Burma (99) was due chiefly to a remission of tributes by refunds, instead of by short recovery of the amount due; that in the Central Provinces (10) and Bombay (67) to large excise refunds, that in the United Provinces (17) to an adjustment made to clear off outstanding debits on account of Forest Remittances, and that in Madras (11) due chiefly to a refund of receipts wrongly adjusted in the previous year.

1.—Refunds and Drawbacks—concluded.

62. The charges under this head showed a saving of 61, as compared with the Budget, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 1,28. As compared with the Budget, the saving under Land Revenue Compensations occurred chiefly in Madras (50), and Bombay (78), due in the former to low payments of Malikana and Pensions in lieu of resumed lands, and in the latter to a reduction in the adjustment of the assessment of alienated lands in consequence of revision surveys, and to relinquishment of lands by holders and acquisition of land by Government. These savings were partly counterbalanced by increases in Assam (16), due to drawings of arrears by the Rajah of Tipperah, and in Eastern Bengal (3) and Bengal (19), due to arrear Malikana payments. Under Salt Compensations, the excess in India (53) was due to increased royalty, paid to Jodhpur and Jaipur States, in consequence of increased sales at Sambhar in the previous year. The variations in Bombay under this head, and under Customs and Miscellaneous Compensations, are due to a re-classification ordered by the Government of India. Under Excise Compensations, the excess in the Central Provinces was due to the payment to Pagara Estate for resumption of its rights, and that in Bombay to arrear payments to Sangli and other Native States and compensations to Mewas Chiefs. Under Miscellaneous Compensations there was an excess of 6 in Eastern Bengal and savings in Assam (2), and Bengal (8), the first was due to arrear payments of sayer compensations, and the last to these compensations not having been fully claimed; the saving in the Punjab was due to the non-utilization of the provision for prevention of "Cho" torrents (45), partly counterbalanced by increased compensations to jagirdars (27). The excesses of 6 (Imperial) in the Central Provinces, 42 (Imperial) and 40 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam and 68 (Imperial) in Bengal have been sanctioned while those of 57 (Imperial) in India and 172 (Imperial) in the United Provinces require to be sanctioned.

3.—Land Revenue—concluded.

63. The Indian charges under this head fell off by 6,51 as compared with the Budget Estimate, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 19,70. The decrease as compared with the Budget, was mainly derived from Charges of District Administration, chiefly in Bengal, due to savings in salaries (1,18), and in Bombay (1,03), due to the provisions for revision of revenue establishment in Sind, the division of Khandesh, and the charges in connection with the Mirpur Khas scheme not having been utilized; from Land Records and Agriculture, chiefly in Burma, due to the programme of supplementary survey and town survey operations not having been fully undertaken; in the United Provinces, due to the savings in the Patwari Fund, and to curtailment of land record survey operations; and in Madras to large lapses in the provision for the maintenance of land records; and from Allowances to District and Village Officers mainly in Madras in the payments to village officers. As compared with the actuals of the previous year the excess (19,70) was contributed by all the provinces except tne North-West Frontier, but chiefly by Burma (3,24), Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal together (10,16), United Provinces (1,80), Punjab (1,83), and Madras (2,68). The excess in Burma was due to large expenditure on settlement surveys, to extensive operations of supplementary and town surveys and to the disbursement in the year under review of commission earned on a considerable portion of land revenue collected late in 1904-5. The increase in Eastern Bengal occurred mainly under Charges of District Administration and in outlay on improvements of Government Estates; and that in Bengal under the former, from private survey and settlement charges. Discontinuance of the system of adjusting the recovery from Courts of Wards on account of the cost of superior supervision by deduction from charges, the transfer of the charges for Court of Wards Establishment in district offices from personal ledger account to this head, and the extension of the operations of the Bundelkhand Encumbered Estates' Act, account mainly for the increase in the United Provinces. The increase in the Punjab was due chiefly to the charges of the new Lyallpore district having been incurred for the entire year against three months in 1904-5. The excess in Madras was mainly caused by the formation of the new district of Guntur from 1st October 1904, and by increased expenditure on the maintenance of Land Records.

64. Under Charges of District Administration the increase in India (10) was due chiefly to the adjustment under this head of the leave allowance of members of the Berar Commission paid at the Hyderabad Treasury (8), to the increased rate of pay of the Assistant Commissioner, Marwara and non-realization of probable savings under salaries in Ajmer (5), and to increase in the Sub-divisional Establishments (2), partly counterbalanced by savings under Travelling Allowance (3), and purchase and repairs of tents (1). There is a small excess in Eastern Bengal (12), which was due to an under-estimate. The excess in the United Provinces (16), is mainly composed of increases under establishment (51), allowances (12), supplies and services (6), and construction of boundary pillars (18), and savings in the salaries of district staff (67), consequent on the absence of officers on furlough, and in the process-serving establishment (5). The increase in the Punjab (37) occurred chiefly under Sub-divisional Establishment, owing partly to the revision of establishment, and partly to the Tahsildars and Naibs having been allowed to draw minimum salary during the first thirty days of privilege leave vacancy with effect from 20th September 1905; there was however a saving under general establishment (41), due mainly to over-estimate which is covered by the provision for probable savings in the Budget. The excess in the North-West Frontier Province (9), is made up of increases of 11 under general establishments due chiefly to the appointments of district Judges having been held by Assistant Commissioners, and 8 under Forest Reserve and Grazing Lands, owing mainly to the imperialization, with effect from 1st April 1905, of the establishment of the Khewra and Tira Jungles, and a saving of 10 under Sub-divisional Establishment due chiefly to the provision for revision of pay of Naib Tahsildars not having been utilized. The excess in Madras (57), was caused chiefly by increased salaries of Collectors and Divisional Officers (25), and Tahsildars (12), due mainly to privilege leave allowances, and by a special charge in connection with the purchase of the "Bishopsdown" property at Ootacamund, and of the land at Charing Cross in the Nilgiris not provided for in the Budget. The decrease in the Central Provinces (13), was the result chiefly of a saving of 37, due to the transfer of Sambalpur, and an excess of 14 for increased expenditure for furniture, books and tents together with an excess of 9 due to the formation of the Drug District from 1st January 1906. The saving in Berar (32) was due to the reduction of districts, and to the transfer of charges to 19 A.—Law and Justice on the separation of the Judicial and Executive duties. The decrease in Burma (41), was due to savings in the salaries of gazetted officers (64), caused by vacancies and absence of officers on long leave, and under revenue establishment (35), due to small outlay on circle establishment under the village headmen scheme, partly counterbalanced by excesses under Sub-divisional Establishment (6), under supplies and Services (28), mainly on account of heavy outlay on compensation for lands taken up for public purpose, and under contingencies (24). The decrease in Bengal was due partly to the lump provision for increase of pay of ministerial establishment not having been fully used, and partly to savings under Salaries (1,18), Establishment (33), Supplies and Services (37) and Contingencies (4), partly counterbalanced by excess under Record-room establishment (20), and charges for survey of waste lands (10), and by increased expenditure due to the transfer of Sambalpur. The saving in Bombay (1,03,) was due to the provisions for the revision of revenue establishment in Sind, for the division of the Khandesh District, and for the charges in connection with the Mirpur Khas scheme not having been utilized.

65. Under Survey and Settlement the excess in India (12), was due chiefly to the charges for the Nasirabad settlement (8), and increased charges for settlement parties (4) in Baluchistan; that in Burma (58), to privilege leave arrangements, payment of increased rate of salaries, entertainment of additional establishment for the office of the Settlement Commissioner, and to heavy outlay on demarcation and fishery and revenue surveys by local agencies; of that in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal considered together (2,55), 8 occurred in Assam due to the adjustment of the cost of traverse survey in the Assam books, instead of in those of the Comptroller, India Treasuries; and (4,90), in Bengal proper due to increased expenditure for survey and settlement operations (3,20), to deduction for probable savings in the Budget (3,00), not realized, reduced by short expenditure under Chota Nagpur operations (1,32). There was, on the other hand, a saving of 2,67, in Eastern Bengal attributed to over-estimate. The excess in the North-West Frontier Province (51), was chiefly due to the continuance of the settlement operations in the Hazara and Dera Ismail Khan districts. While the savings, in the Central Provinces (79), and United Provinces (51) were mainly due to the programme of operations not having been undertaken to the extent anticipated. The decrease in the Punjab (1,90) was due chiefly to the provision for the charges incidental to settlement operations having been only partially utilized, and was foreseen in the Revised. The saving in Madras (46) was almost entirely in the provision for temporary establishment for preparing settlement registers and accounts in Malabar and South Canara. The decrease in Bombay (22) was caused by large recoveries from occupants in Jamrao Canal Colony due to extension of cultivation, and to reduced payments to offices of other provinces. Under Land Records and Agriculture the saving in the Central Provinces (33) was due to the partial utilization of the provision for the pay of Patwaris, to the transfer of the Sambulpur district and to the transfer to 26—Scientific and other minor Departments of the provision in connection with the co-operative credit societies; that in Burma (73), partly to the full programme of supplementary survey operations in Pokokku and other districts not having been undertaken or completed, and partly to short outlay on town surveys; that in the United Provinces (1,04,) mainly to the delay in the introduction of the measures for improving the position of the Patwari and Kanungo staff (86), and to the curtailment of land record survey operations (31), partly counterbalanced by increase in expenditure owing to the deputation of extra officers in connection with the development of agricultural Departments (18); and that in Madras (88), to the lapse of 32 under Checking Field sketches, and 18 under Land Record staff, and to an over-estimate in the Local Section. On the other hand there was a large excess in Bombay (65) owing chiefly to extra allowances to district and village officers, in connection with famine, and under salaries of officers, reduced by savings due to the partial utilization of the grant for Akrani survey, demarcation of waste lands, and village cess establishment in Sind, training of Talatis and for payments to officers of other provinces. The small excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam, which falls almost entirely in the latter, occurred mainly under supervising Kanungos and district mandals, and partly also under salaries and establishments of the Director of Land Records. Under Management of Government Estates, Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal proper together showed a net increase of 48, the excess occurring in Eastern Bengal (89), owing to under-estimate, counterbalanced by saving in Bengal proper (42), which was chiefly due to adjustment by a minus entry (44) on account of Road and Public Works Cess payable by Government as holder, not provided for in the Budget. The decrease in the United Provinces (25), was mainly due to savings under establishment (4), supplies and services (12), and outlay on improvements (5). Under Commission on Collections there is a saving in Burma (64), due mainly to decline in the collection of Land Revenue, to over-estimate of commission on capitation tax and Thathameda tax and to the non-utilization of the provision for removing fishery bunds in Ma-ubin and Majaungmya districts, partly counterbalanced by payment in the year under report of the commission earned on a considerable portion of Land Revenue collected late in the previous year. While the increase in Eastern Bengal and Assam (32), was caused by the extension of the Mauzadari system in Assam. Under Allowances to District and Village Officers, the increase in Berar (10), was caused by large payments consequent upon increased collections of land revenue. The Budget in Madras was an over-estimate. Under Other Charges the saving in the United Provinces (46), was due to partial utilization of the grants for the purchase of estates (65), partly counterbalanced by an increase under salaries (17), caused by the appointment of two new special Judges. Out of the excesses of 29 (Imperial) and 69 (Imperial) in India and North-West Frontier Province 6 and 21 have been sanctioned and the remainders 23 and 48 in those provinces respectively, require to be sanctioned. The excesses of 2,23 (Imperial) and 6,10 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam have been sanctioned. Of the excess of 4,50 (Imperial) in Bengal, over the reduced grant 2,43 have been sanctioned and the balance 2,07 awaits sanction.

66. The increase in England (£1,3), was due to the cost of certain appeal cases having proved larger than was anticipated in the Budget Estimate.

67. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget by 8,22, but fell short of the actuals of the previo[us] year by 11,12. These variations were mainly connected with the outturn of the crop, which in the ye[ar] under report amounted to 104,062 maunds, against 112,214 maunds estimated in the Budget, and 111,5[..] maunds, the actual production of the previous year. The Payments to Cultivators, which form the bu[lk] of the charges, exceeded the Budget by 9,84 but fell off by 11,10 as compared with actuals of the previou[s] year for both the Agencies taken together. The excess over the Budget occurred in the Behar Agenc[y] (15,45) where the estimated expenditure was reduced in anticipation of a bad season; there was, o[n] the other hand, a saving of 5,61 in the Benares Agency, due to a short crop. The decreas[e] as compared with the actuals of the previous year, followed the short outturn of crop. The saving as compared with the Budget under Opium Factory (99), occurred chiefly under Freight (1,40) and Payments for Timber (21), counterbalanced by an excess under Manufacturing Establishment (72). Th[e] saving under District Staff (64) occurred chiefly under Rewards to Zilladars (15), Salaries (27), Establish-ment (9) and Supplies and Services (9). Increased ware-house rent accounts for the excess in Bombay under Other Charges. The excesses of 8,17 (Imperial) in Bengal and 6 (Imperial) in Bombay have bee[n] sanctioned.

68. The Indian charges under this head shewed a saving of 1,56, as compared with the Budget, but exceeded the actuals of, the previous year by 2,79. The saving, as compared with the Budget, was spread over all the heads and all the provinces, and occurred chiefly under Salaries, Establishment and Contingencies (1,04). In India (28) it was due to savings under Through Traffic charges, chiefly in the Cis-Indus and Kalabagh Mines (23) and Pachbadra (9), and under Preventive Establishment due to vacancies, absences on leave and smaller charges for temporary establishment; in Bengal including Eastern Bengal (38) to non-entertainment of the full complement of establishments, and to small charges under contingencies in saliferous districts; in Madras (12), to savings under Excise Licensees' Works (23), partly counterbalanced by an increase under establishment; and in Bombay (22) to the non-utilization of the provision for revision of the Sind Salt Department, low charges for commission on sale of salt and savings in salaries and allowances of Preventive Establishment, partly counterbalanced by increased bagging and sewing charges in the Presidency Salt Department. Under Manufacture and Excavation the saving occurred under manufacture of salt at Sambhar (8) and Pachbadra (13), partly counterbalanced by an excess under excavation charges (15). Under Purchase and Freight the savings in Madras (16) were due to a decrease in the charges for freight, &c., for export and import of salt (40) counterbalanced to the extent of 27 under purchase of salt and in Bombay (28) due to an over-estimate. The increase as compared with the previous year in India and Madras was due to large demands and a favourable manufacturing season, and in Bombay to high bagging charges. The excess of 10 (Imperial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam has been sanctioned, while that of 9 (Imperial) in Bengal over the reduced grant requires to be sanctioned.

69. The expenditure under this head exceeded the Budget by 26, and the actuals of the previous year by 60. The excess (26), as compared with the Budget is composed of an excess under Charges on sale of Stamps, including discount (36), and a saving under Superintendence, etc. (10). The excess occurred mainly in the Central Provinces (7), Eastern Bengal (12), United Provinces (5), and Madras (12), and was due generally to large sales of stamps which necessitated heavy payments of discount, partly counterbalanced by a saving in the Punjab (8), due to the declining sale of general stamps, and abolition of receipt stamps from 1st October 1905. The saving under Superintendence, etc., chiefly occurred in India (8), and the Punjab (9). Non-utilization of the provision for increase of establishment of the office of the Controller of Stamps and Stationery, combined with reduced charges for landing freight and packing, accounts for the saving in the former, while short contingent expenditure chiefly explains that in the latter. There was on the other hand an increase of 12 in Bombay which was due to the provision for the new stamp Depôt at Karachi having proved insufficient, owing to heavy packing charges and other contingent expenditure. The excesses of 83 (Imperial) and 81 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam 5 (Provincial) in Bengal, and 9 (Provincial) in Madras have been sanctioned, while those of 1,21 (Imperial) in India, 33 (Imperial) in Bengal and 9 (Imperial) in Madras await sanction.

70. The excess in England was in the demand for stores.

71. The charges in India under this head showed a saving of 1,55, as compared with the Budget, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 2,50. The saving as compared with the Budget, was due in the Central Provinces (14), and Bombay (54), to only partial utilization of the provisions for revision of establishments. In Burma (55), the saving was due to non-utilization of the provision for additional establishments, and to less charges for supplies and services, rewards in opium cases, and secret service and for contingencies, partly counterbalanced by an excess due to the creation of a new Central Controlling office and to increased charges under allowances. In Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal (44), it occurred under salaries and contingencies, counterbalanced by an excess under temporary establishment. In the United Provinces (14), it was due to the partial utilization of the provision for reforms in distilleries, and savings under rewards and salaries of Sub-inspectors. These savings were partly counter-balanced by excesses in India (13), due to an under-estimate of the charges on account of Mr. Todhunter's deputation for enquiry into excise arrangements in Central India, and in Madras (10), due to additions to the preventive and customs establishments. The excess as compared with the actuals of the previous year was chiefly on account of improvements in Excise Administration. The excesses of 31 (Imperial) and 24 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 2 (Imperial) and 1 (Provincial) in the Punjab and 2 (Provincial) in Madras have been sanctioned, while those of 13 (Imperial) in India, 8 (Imperial) and 2 (Provincial) in Madras await sanction.

72. The charges under this head fell short of the Budget by 28, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 8. The saving in Burma (11) was due to a large decrease in the payment of commission on collection of cesses in consequence of a considerable fallingoff in land revenue, partly counterbalanced by the disbursement of commission earned late in the previous year; in Bombay (6) due to small payments of remuneration charges for collecting the local cess on account of decrease in revenue; in Bengal the saving was spread over several heads. Out of the excess of 54 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam 52 was sanctioned and the balance 2 requires to be sanctioned.

73. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 1,01 as compared with the Budget, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 47. The saving was chiefly due to non-utilization of the provision for revision of establishments. Under Charges at the Principal Ports, the saving in Burma (11), occurred under salaries and supplies and services; that in Bengal (52), occurred under Collector's Establishments (73), due chiefly to the non-utilization of the provision for increase of pay, under Appraising Establishment (6), and Contingencies (7), counterbalanced by excesses under Preventive Establishment (15), Allowances (15), owing to the revision of the preventive establishment at the close of the year and under supplies and services (7); and that in Madras (6), was the result of the change of office hours reducing the fees to clerks working out of office hours, and to the non-utilization of the provision for temporary tide-waiters. Under Charges at other Ports there was a decrease in Bombay (13), due to the non-utilization of the provision for the revision of establishment in Sind, and of 17 in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal due to provision for purchase of Preventive Service boats for the Port of Chittagong not having been used. The excess of 17 (Imperial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam has been sanctioned.

74. The excess of £3 in England occurred under stores.

75. The charges under this head almost agreed with the Budget, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 18. The increase in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal occurred in Bengal proper, and was due to too large a deduction for probable savings. The saving in the Punjab was due to no officer having been placed on special duty in connection with the assessment of income tax, and that in Bombay to the provision for the revision of establishment not having been fully used. The excesses of 8 (Imperial) and 2 (Provincial), in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 1 (Provincial) in Burma, and 2 (Imperial) in Bengal have been sanctioned while the excess of 2 (Provincial) in Berar, and 2 (Imperial) in Bengal require to be sanctioned. Out of the excess of 2 (Imperial) in Madras 1 has been sanctioned and 1 awaits sanction.

76. The Indian expenditure under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate, and the actuals of the previous year by 3,87 and 12,91, respectively. As compared with the Budget the excess occurred chiefly in Burma (1,38), the Punjab (1,94) and Bombay (1,86). The excess in Burma was due to large extractions of timber by Government Agency in the Pegu Circle, the expansion of sleeper operations in the Pyinmana Division, and to payments to contractors for timber extracted in the previous year; that in the Punjab, to a larger payment than provided for to the Chamba State, as the profits on working its forests in 1904-5, and that in Bombay mainly to famine grass operations. As compared with the actuals of the previous year the excess was contributed chiefly by Burma (4,91), the Punjab (2,52), Bombay (2,22), and Madras (2,81). In the case of the first three provinces the causes stated above also account for the increase over the previous year; in Madras the excess was due to the extension of the departmental system of exploitation, and to large supplies of timber and firewood to Railways, mills and the public.

77. Under Timber and other produce removed from the Forests by Government Agency, the excess in Burma (4,48), was due to the causes stated above; in Madras (59) to increased departmental operations, and in Bombay (85) to famine grass operations. Against these excesses there were savings in the other provinces; that in India (1,13) was due mainly to small extractions and small exports of timber in the Andamans Division, partly counterbalanced by an excess due to survey charges shown under this head having been provided for under Establishment; that in the Central Provinces (71) to the cessation of departmental operations in the Balaghat, Bhandara and North and South Chanda Divisions; that in Eastern Bengal and Assam together with Bengal proper (47), was due mainly to a decrease of 19 in Assam, owing to small sleeper operations, and of 24 in Bengal proper owing to the closing of the Teesta Valley road which stopped the cutting of sleepers, and to the abandonment of departmental operations; and that in the United Provinces (48), to the late arrival in the Western Circle of Kangra sawyers whose homes were wrecked by the earthquake, and to a decrease in the export of sleepers (72), counterbalanced to the extent of 23, by extended fuel, turpentine and colophony operations in the Naini Tal Division, and by the export of baled grass and hay to the famine-stricken areas from the Bundelkhand Division. Under Timber and other produce removed from the Forests by consumers or purchasers, the excess in Bengal proper (20), occurred chiefly in the Sunderbands Division, due to extensive repairs to steam launch "Swan" and to a large consumption of coal; there was also an excess of 3 in Assam which was covered by a saving in Eastern Bengal. The excess in Bombay (64), was due chiefly to grass operations. Under Other Charges the excess in India (90), occurred mainly in the Andamans Division, and was due chiefly to the purchase and feed of 7 elephants, and to heavy expenses connected with the construction of the steam timber boat "Rosamond"; in the United Provinces (1,50), it was due mainly to the share of profits on account of leased Deodar forests for 1904-5, payable to the Raja of Tehri, having exceeded the estimate. The excess was partly foreseen in the Revised; in the Punjab (2,40) it was due to the payment to the Chamba State as noted above, and for which the Government of India sanctioned an extra grant; in the North-West Frontier Province (9) to payment for trees cut in 1904-5, and in Bombay (80), chiefly to the payment of 20 per cent. of the net sale-proceeds of málki trees to owners in the Thana District, and to the large supply of sleepers and fuel for Railway purposes. These excesses were partly counterbalanced by savings in the Central Provinces (18), due to short outlay on repairs and construction, owing partly to dearth of labour and partly to plans not having been ready; in Berar (6) to the transfer of survey charges to the Topographical Survey of India; in Burma (2,20) to less expenditure on surveys, working plans, roads, buildings and demarcation, partly for the want of labour, and partly on account of paucity of officers for supervision, and to small purchase of elephants, partly counterbalanced by extensive drift operations, and by an extension of fire-protection in the Tenasserim Circle; in Eastern Bengal and Assam taken with Bengal there was a saving of 75 of which 43 occurred in Assam, due to small outlay on fire-protection, professional surveys and purchase of elephants, and to small payment to the Manipur State, owing to diminished revenue from its forests, and 36 in Bengal proper due chiefly to the provisions for construction of a new steam launch, purchase of boats and surveys in the Sunderbands Division, not having been used and to short sowing and planting in the Darjeeling Division for want of seedlings. There was a small excess of 4 in Eastern Bengal, while that in Madras (42), occurred chiefly under communication, and buildings and demarcation. Under Establishment the saving was contributed by all the provinces except Madras, where there was an excess of 54, due to the retention throughout the year of the Forest Settlement Officers and their establishments, against a provision for seven months, to the entertainment of additional establishments, chiefly in the Northern Circle, to the absence of fewer officers on leave to Europe than anticipated, and to the establishment of the new Forest Training School at Coimbatore. The saving in India (29), was mainly due to the provision under this head for survey charges shown under Timber and other produce removed from the Forests by Government Agency as stated above (31), and low expenditure in the Andamans and Baluchistan under subordinate establishment (9), partly counterbalanced by an excess due to the higher rate of pay drawn by the Director of the Forest School, and high travelling expenses (5), and to deputation and special allowances in Coorg (6); in the Central Provinces (9) to the subordinate staff being below its strength, and to short expenditure on travelling, contingencies and tour charges; in Berar (17) to low expenditure under salaries, subordinate depôt establishment and travelling; in Burma (92) to the full complement of officers and establishment not having been entertained throughout the year, to officers of the Provincial Forest Service having been on duty instead of officers of the Imperial Forest Service, to the provision for additional establishment in Pegu Circle, not having been utilized, and to small outlay on travelling, partly counterbalanced by the creation of the appointment of a Chief Conservator for Burma; in Eastern Bengal (3), and Assam (9) and Bengal (7) due to absence of officers, deputations and vacancies; in the United Provinces (11), to a decrease under salaries of Conservators, consequent on the reconstitution of circles, and to two Assistant Conservatorships having remained vacant for the greater part of the year; in the Punjab (17), chiefly under salaries and travelling allowances; and in Bombay (43), due to the provision for the revision of establishments not having been fully utilized.

Section A.—DIRECT DEMANDS ON THE REVENUES—concluded.

11.—Forest—concluded.

78. The excess in England £2,5 was due partly to charges in connection with the Continental Tour of Students and the transfer of the Forest Students from Cooper's Hill to Oxford (£1,9) and partly to the high demand for stores (£6).

79. The total charges under this head fell short of the Budget by 8, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 1,00. The saving as compared with the Budget, occurred in the Eastern Bengal districts (15), and the Punjab (9), and was due to the provision for re-organization of the Department in the former, and that for the revised scheme of remuneration to Sub-Registrars in the latter, not having been utilized; partly counterbalanced by increases in Bengal proper (7), under Rural Sub-Registrars, and in Assam (3), and United Provinces (8), under salaries and commission to Sub-Registrars. As compared with the previous year, the increase in Madras was due to the formation of a new district and opening of additional Sub-Registry Offices, and that in Bombay to increased commission charges and to the transfer to this head of the charges for the Offices of Inspectors of Registration from 18—General Administration. The excesses of 2 (Imperial) and 1,59 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 8 (Provincial) in Bengal, 2 (Provincial) in the United Provinces and 1 (Provincial) in Madras have been sanctioned, while 1 (Imperial) in India and 5 (Imperial) in the United Provinces require to be sanctioned.

80. The receipts in this section exceeded the Budget by £139,6 or R20,94, and the actuals of the previous year by £95,4 or R14,31. The increase, as compared with the Budget, is composed of an excess of £149,9 or R22,48 in England, due chiefly to the investment of larger sums and at a higher rate of interest than was anticipated, and a decline of £10,3 or R1,54 in India mainly under Interest on Loans to Native States (£7,3 or R1,09) caused by short recoveries of interest on loans to certain Native States; under Interest on Advances to cultivators (£10,4 or R1,56) chiefly in Bengal, due mainly to a small takavi advance, and to short recoveries on account of the Rajapur drainage advances, and in Bombay to low recoveries from cultivators due to an unfavourable season; and under Interest on Overdrawn Capital of Railway Companies in India, caused chiefly by short overdrawals by the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, partly counterbalanced by an increase under Interest on Loans to Presidency Corporations (£6,0 or R91) in Madras, resulting from the revision of arrangements for the payment of interest on loans to the Harbour Trust Board, and under Interest on Loans to Railway Companies in India (£4,3 or R64), due to the adjustment of interest on the advances to Kalka-Simla Railway Company on the line having been taken over by Government.

81. The increase, as compared with the actuals of the previovs year, occurred in England in the investment of cash balance.

82. The Indian receipts under this head arise mainly out of the paper currency investment, and loans granted to Municipalities and other public bodies, Native States, and cultivators. No alteration was made in the amount of the first during the year.

84. The interest paid in 1905-6 by Local Governments to the Government of India on account of Loans held on the Provincial account amounted to R17,25 or £115,0, while the actual sum realized and credited to the Provincial revenues amounted, in the aggregate, to R16,64 or £110,9.

85. The actuals under Interest on Loans to Native States showed a decline of 1,09 compared with the Budget, which is mainly composed of a fall of 1,39 in India and a rise of 33 in Bombay. The fall in India was attributed chiefly to the non-recovery from Tonk (37), Kotah (33), Jaora (14), Bundi (7), Bhumia Chiefs (8) and Kishengarh States (5) and short recoveries from the Banswara (9) and Jhabua States (11); while the rise in Bombay was due to large recoveries.

86. The increase under Interest on Loans to Presidency Corporations was almost entirely contributed by Madras (90), and was caused by revision of arrangements for re-payment of loan due by the Harbour Trust Board, whereby interest is payable every month from 15th September 1905, instead of once a year, so that eighteen months' interest was paid in 1905-6 as against twelve months provided for in the Budget.

87. Under Interest on Loans to Municipal and Other Public Corporations the excess receipt in India (35) was on account of Cantonment Committee, Secunderabad for which there was no provision in the Budget. The deficiency in the Central Provinces (3) was due to the advance payment of instalments in 1904-5 by the Khandwa Municipality. The decline in Burma (13) was chiefly caused by the loans provided for several municipalities not having been taken up. The increase in the United Provinces (17) was due to the payment on 31st March 1906 by the Meerut and Nainital Municipalities, of the instalments due on the 1st April following. The fall in Bombay (20) was caused by the repayment of certain loans by municipalities in advance of due dates.

88. The excess and deficiency in Bengal (5) and Bombay (7) respectively under Interest on Loans to Land-holders and Other Notabilities were due, in the former to the realization of interest on loan to the Nowada State, for which there was no provision in the Budget, and in the latter, chiefly to the repayment of loan by the Jath State earlier than was expected. Under Interest on Advances to Cultivators the decline was contributed by almost all the provinces, but chiefly by Bengal (60), due mainly to short realization of interest from cultivators (12) on takavi and on Rajapur drainage advances (43); by United Provinces (21) to short receipt of interest on advances under the Bundelkhand Encumbered Estates' Act; and by Bombay (95) to reduced recoveries from cultivators in consequence of an unfavourable season. On the other hand there were increases in Burma (19) and the Punjab (11) due to under-estimates.

89. Interest on Loans to Railway Companies in India represents interest on advances to the Kalka-Simla Railway Company which has become the property of Government since 1st January 1906.

90. The actual overdrawals of Guaranteed and other Railway Companies fell below expectations resulting in a decline of 43 under the former, chiefly Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway and of 26 in the latter.

91. Under Other Items, the increase in India (23) was chiefly on account of interest on a special advance of 30 lakhs to the Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, in February 1906 repaid in the following month; while that in Madras (6) was caused by the increase in interest on arrears of Revenue (4), and on the balance due for the purchase money of waste lands (2). On the other hand the decline in Bengal (8) was mainly on account of arrears of Road and Public Works Cesses; while that in the Punjab (11) was due to short receipts on account of interest on the unpaid portion of the purchase money of waste lands in the Chenab Colony.

92. In England the increase (£149,9) was due to the sums available for investment being much larger and the rate of interest obtained higher, than was estimated (£159,4), partly counterbalanced by a decrease (£9,5) caused by the paper currency investment being made at a later date than anticipated.

93. The total charges in this section exceeded the Budget by £45,0 or R6,75, but was less than the actuals of the previous year by £237,0 or R35,55. The excess as compared with the Budget, occurred mainly in England, and was due partly to the absence of provision for discount on the issue of £2,000,0 India Stock (£47,5), and partly to a decrease in the amount estimated to be transferred to Railway Revenue Account (£5,6). In India there was a saving of £10,5 or R1,57 chiefly in interest on Savings Bank Deposits caused by large withdrawals from Post Office Savings Banks on account of famine, and by short deposits in the State Railway Provident Institutions, and in the interest on 3½ per cent. loans due to unclaimed interest, reduced by an excess in the discount on the 3½ per cent. Rupee Loan of 400 lakhs raised in this year (£21,5 or R3,22).

94. As compared with the actuals of the previous year the decrease in England (£61,7) was chiefly in discount. The interest charge of the year on loans in India was greater by £74,2 or R11,12 mainly on 3½ per cent. loans and discount. The transfer of interest to Railway Revenue and Irrigation Accounts was however more by £259,2 or R38,88 and produced the apparent savings.

96. As announced in the Financial Statement a 3½ per cent. Rupee Loan of 400 lakhs was raised in July 1905 at an average rate of R98-13-10·45. Of the balance of loans previously notified for discharge 9,68 was paid consisting of 3, 1,24 and 13 of the 4½, 4 and 3½ per cent. Loans respectively, and 8,28 of the Provincial Debenture Loans. And of the loans bearing interest, 12,00 was paid on account of the Gwalior loan in accordance with the terms of agreement with the Durbar. The Secretary of State's heavy drawings rendered it necessary to procure a temporary loan of 70 lakhs from the Maharaja Scindia of Gwalior to strengthen the stock of coined silver. It was discharged in the course of the year.

97. In England, the Budget Estimate provided for the discharge of the residue (£500,0) of the Temporary Sterling Debt and for an addition of £2,000,0 to the sterling debt, for the purchase of the Bengal Central Railway (£500,0), for the discharge of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Debentures £250,0, and for advance to Indian Railway Companies. The sterling loan was raised in April 1905 at an average rate of £97 18*s*. 1*d*. and the entire Budget programme was adhered to. Apart from the above, there was a provision of £2,927,4 on account of the Debenture capital of the Bombay, Borada and Central India Railway. But the method of purchase had not been decided upon when the Budget was framed. Meanwhile the Company discharged £536,1 before the purchase, leaving £2,391,3 which represent the amount of the Debentures of the Company for which the Secretary of State incurred liability on the purchase. Subsequently the purchase of the undertaking was fixed at £11,685,6 composed of £2,000,0 by the creation of new 3 per cent. capital stock of the Company and the balance £9,685,6 by the creation of £10,089,1 India 3 per cent. stock issued to the company at the rate of £100 of such stock for every £96 of the purchase-money so satisfied.

98. The total Interest on debt paid in India and in England is shown below:—

99. This total amount was divided between Interest on Ordinary Debt and Interest on Debt for Railways and Irrigation as shown below:—

6,079,3	TOTAL	6,396,6	6,378,0	6,394,7

100. The total payment of interest in India was more than the Budget by 66 and the actuals of the previous year by 11,12. The excess, as compared with the Budget, was mainly composed of an excess of 3,22 under Discount on Loans and 30 under Interest on Loans in course of discharge and a saving of 2,87 under 3½ per. cent. Loans. In view of the previous year's experience the Budget under Discount on Loans was framed with caution. It however proved too low. The actuals under Interest on Loans in course of discharge consist of 36 for interest on Provincial Debenture Loan, not provided for in the Budget, but foreseen in the Revised and included under 4 per cent. Provincial Debentures (35), and of 18 for interest on other expired loans. The Revised under this head includes 70 on account of interest on Temporary Loans which was paid in June 1906. The saving of 2,87 under interest on 3½ per cent. Loans was due to unclaimed interest. The actuals under the last head represent the amount of interest paid on certain expired Tanjore Bonds, the claims to which have been settled in Court.

101. The transfer of interest charge to Railway, Revenue and Irrigation Accounts closely followed the Budget. The excess of 66 (Imperial) in India requires to be sanctioned.

102. In England the excess was partly due to the non-provision for the discount on the issue of £2,000,0 India Stock (£47,5), and partly to a decrease of £13,3 in the amount estimated to be transferred from this head to "State Railways—Interest chargeable against companies on Advances" together with £2,7 for dividends which had remained unclaimed for ten years and upwards, counterbalanced to the extent of £7,7 by a transfer to "State Railways—Interest on Debt" in respect of interest on India Stock raised for the purchase of the Bengal Central Railway.

103. The expenditure under this head showed a saving of 2,10 from the Budget and an excess of 1,47 over the actuals of the previous year. The saving, as compared with the Budget, occurred almost entirely under Savings Bank Deposits, and is chiefly composed of a decline of 1,09 in the interest on Post Office Savings Bank Deposits, owing to large withdrawals, chiefly on account of famine, and of 1,19 on deposits in the State Railway Provident Institutions, caused by the deposits being less than was anticipated. The saving in Bengal, United Provinces and the Punjab, was mainly due to the adjustment of the interest on deposits in the State Railway Provident Institutions in the Public Works Books. Under Special Loans, the saving in India (3), was chiefly on account of the 6 and 8 per cent. Perpetual Loans (Madras), while that in the United Provinces (5), was due to the non-payment of certain Wasika pensions. The increase in Bombay (3), was due to the arrear payment of interest on the Grant Medical College Endowment Funds (6), reduced by the non-payment of interest (3) due to the District Benevolent Society, which was not claimed during the year. Of the excess under Treasury Notes and Service Funds, 7 was contributed by India on account of the Bhonsla and other Nagpur Temples, and 5 by Bombay in consequence of the increase in the balance of the Bombay Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund. The excess under Miscellaneous occurred chiefly in Madras, and was due to a special payment (9) of interest at 6 per cent. on the excess of land revenue collections in previous years from the Maharaja of Jeypore. The excess as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was due generally to the normal growth of the funds. The excesses of 5 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 11 (Imperial) in Madras and 8 (Imperial) in Bombay have been sanctioned while those of 1,65 (Imperial) in India and 2 (Imperial) in Burma await sanction.

105. Under Post Office the net receipts showed improvements of £10,8 or R1,62 over the Budget and of £19,4 or R2,91 over the actuals of the previous year. These improvements were mainly due to an unexpectedly large increase in the sale of Postage Stamps and to the growth in the operations of the Money Order Department, partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure chiefly under Salaries, Establishment, Supply and Services, Railway charges, Subsidy and Stationery and Printing, consequent on the expansion of the Department.

106. The net results of the transactions of the Postal Department for the last five years are shown by the following figures:—

	Net Receipts.
	R
1901-02	15,47
1902-03	12,47
1903-04	15,59
1904-05	8,43
1905-06	11,34

107. Under Telegraph the net receipts fell short of the Budget by £41,4 or R6,21 and of the actuals of the previous year by £162,3 or R24,35. The falling-off was due chiefly to a decrease under message revenue on the Indo-European Telegraphs, due chiefly to the reduction in the tariff rate from 1st August 1905, and to increased expenditure, due to large purchases of stores in England and locally, and to smaller issues of stores to works, to extra charges in connection with the Royal visit and to increased charges for signalling, stationery and printing and repairs to lines, partly counterbalanced by increased receipts in the Indian Telegraphs under message revenue and rents of wires and instruments leased to Railways and canals.

108. Under Mint the net receipts exceeded the Budget by £218,9 or R32,83 and the actuals of the previous year by £112,6 or R16,89. The improvement was chiefly due to the large credit on account of the percentage on value of rupee coinage charged to Gold Reserve Fund owing to heavy coinage, and to the circulation of a large number of copper coins, partly counterbalanced by excess expenditure caused by large receipts at tne Bombay Mint of withdrawn and uncurrent coins.

109. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 6,48 and 11,32 respectively. The increase over the Budget occurred mainly under Sale of Ordinary Postage Stamps (3,91) and Money Order Receipts (1,44), owing to a larger increase in the sales of stamps and in issues of money orders than was anticipated. There were also small improvements under Sale of Servic Stamps (68), Mail Cart, Parcel Van, etc., (14), and Other Receipts (17), due to under-estimates The deduction under Payments to English, Colonial, etc., Post Offices was smaller than anticipated by 36, The falling off under Parcel and other Postage etc., (17) was due to over-estimate.

110. As compared with the previous year, the improvement was due to the general growth of the operations of the Department, and occurred chiefly under Sale of Postage Stamps, Ordinary, (7,94) and Money Order Receipts (2,63). There was also a noticeable improvement under Sale of Service Postage Stamps (1,27). Under Mail Cart, etc., the decrease (42), was due to the reduction of traffic in the Simla Tonga Service, owing to the opening of the Simla-Kalka Railway. The transfer of the Tonga and Mail Cart Service to the Postal Department accounts for the decrease of 19 in the North-West Frontier Province under District Post Collections.

111. The Indian expenditure under this head exceeded the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 4,70 and 13,17, respectively. As compared with the Budget the excess under Chief Office, Calcutta (47) occurred chiefly under Salaries (27), owing to acting arrangements in consequence of leave to officers and increased rate of salary drawn by the Comptroller, and under Establishments (20), in consequence of acting allowances and temporary establishments entertained. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the increase was due partly to the same causes and partly to the revision of the salaries of Assistant Directors General and the creation of the appointment of a 4th Assistant Director General. The large increase over the Budget under Presidency and District Offices (2,86), occurred under Salaries (45), due to the appointment of an additional Postmaster General and to leave arrangements of officers; under Establishment (1,83) chiefly under postmasters, clerks, record clerks and postmen; under temporary and experimental Establishment (9), Services and Supplies (52), Country Stationery (10), liveries and uniforms (7), and lighting charges (6), partly counterbalanced by reduced expenditure on Construction and Repairs (8), clocks and watches (6), Rates and Taxes (11), hot and cold weather charges (5), and by the gain in the working of combined offices (43). The excess as compared with the actuals of the previous year was due chiefly to expansion of the Department, resulting in increased establishment (8,70), and partly to the causes stated above. Under Conveyance of Mails, the excess (39), was composed of the excess of 22 under Road Establishment, due to large payments under subsidy for conveyance of Mails, and extra and experimental runners, partly counterbalanced by savings under pay of overseers and runners, and of 57 under Railway Charges, due chiefly to large payments to the Assam-Bengal, Rajputana-Malwa and Bengal-Nagpur Railways and for special train hire, and of savings of 35 under Mail Cart, Parcel Van, etc., due to reduction in Mail Cart Establishment, and of 5 under Other Charges in the Ferry and Boat Establishment and Bounty money. These causes generally account for the variations over the previous year. The excess over the Budget under Subsidies (7), was due chiefly to the payment to Mail Service Company between Aden and Berbera not provided for in the Budget, while the increase over the previous year was due to this cause, and to increased payments to the British Indian Steam Navigation Company (47), and payments to Steam Service in Bombay (15). Under Stationery and Printing the excess (1,75) was due chiefly to larger payments on account of stationery supplied from Central Stores, owing to under-estimates made by local officers. Under Miscellaneous the saving (18) occurred under compensation for lost articles and other charges.

112. Under District Post Charges, the saving in the Central Provinces (9) was due to less charges for village postmen and runners, and to the transfer of the Sambalpur District to Bengal. The saving in Burma (6) was due to the transfer to Postal Department of certain self-supporting post offices and inspection charges of district posts, and to the non-utilization of the provision for Thabeitkyin—Mogôk Tonga Service (14), partly counterbalanced by increased payments for subsidies (20) for Arakan Mail Service and Kurdat and Homalin Service, not provided for in the Budget. In Bengal and in Eastern Bengal and Assam there was a decrease under Dâk Establishment in the Eastern Bengal Districts. In the North-West Frontier Province the excess was due to the payment (12) of a subsidy for Dera Ismail Khan-Murtza Line, partly counterbalanced by a saving owing to contributions by District Boards, on account of District Dâk charges, having been adjusted under I—Land Revenue, instead of under this head as provided for. In Bombay the Disrtict charges were transferred to Post Office, Imperial. Out of the excesses of 5,30 (Imperial) in India and 13 (Imperial) in North-West Frontier Province, 3,00 and 9, respectively, were sanctioned and the remainder 2,30 and 4 require to be sanctioned. The excess of 45 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam was met by re-appropriation sanctioned by Government of India, while that of 4 (Local) in Berar requires to be sanctioned.

113. In England the increase (£1,1) was due to increased demand for stores (7), and to allowances of Indian delegates to the Postal Congress at Rome, not provided for in the Estimate.

114. As compared with the Budget Estimate, there is an increase of 3,65, which occurs principally under message revenue and rent of wires and instruments leased to railways and canals.

115. The increase of 5,09 as compared with the previous year falls mainly under the same heads, and is due in the case of message revenue principally to increased traffic owing to heavy speculation in the grain market and the visit to India of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales.

Indo-European Telegraphs.

116. The receipts in India shew a decrease of 3,99 as compared with the Budget Estimate, which occurs chiefly under message revenue and is due to the tariff rate between Europe and India having been reduced from 1st August 1905. The increase of £3,0 in England compared with the Budget is due to the Department having been credited with its share of the Joint-Purse Guarantee (£3,1) during the year.

117. The decrease of 3,76 in the receipts in India as compared with the previous year is due to a falling off in the transit message receipts from the Indian Telegraph Department on account of the reduction made in the tariff rate and to interruption on the Teheran route in January 1906.

118. The excess outlay of £89,1 as compared with the Budget Estimate occurs under Capital expenditure in India (£29,6) and in England (£19,2), and Revenue expenditure in India (£41,0). The excess under Capital is due to larger purchases of stores in England and locally and to smaller issues of stores to works, and to increased outlay on Apparatus and Plant, owing to the opening of and additions to signal offices in connection with the Royal visit; and that under Revenue to increased outlay under general charges, signalling, stationery and printing charges and to extra expenditure being found necessary on account of repairs to lines.

119. As compared with the previous year, the total expenditure shews an increase of £163,1 and occurs both under Capital (£111,1) and Revenue (£52,0); due in the case of capital to the causes explained above, and in the case of Revenue to larger signalling and clerical establishments being found necessary, owing to the expansion of the department, and to increased outlay on stationery and printing and gazetted establishments.

120. The lapse of £47,0 as compared with the Budget Estimate was chiefly due, under Capital to short outlay on the Central Persian line and to the reconstruction of the line from Teheran to Ardistan having been abandoned, and, under Revenue to savings on signalling and cable maintenance, to a reduction of rates between England and India, and to smaller message out-payments in England. As compared with the previous year, there was an increase of £11,1, due chiefly to the payment in England of the Joint Purse Guarantee for the first time. The excess of 5,54 (Imperial) in India was sanctioned.

121. The total receipts under the head exceeded the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 32,34 and 17,22, respectively. The improvement, as compared with the Budget, occurred under all the heads but chiefly under Other Receipts, and was due to the large credit on account of the percentage on value of rupee coinage charged to Gold Reserve Fund, owing to heavy coinage. The improvement over the previous year was also mainly due to this cause. The actuals under Fees for coining silver represent fees on account of the coinage of Straits dollars, a small balance having remained unrecovered at the close of 1904-5 which, though not anticipated in the Budget, was foreseen in the Revised. The increase under Gain on Coinage Operations was the result of a large rupee coinage in Bombay and of the coinage of cut and broken coins in Calcutta, while the improvement under Gain on Copper Coinage was due to a larger number of coins having passed into circulation than was estimated.

122. The expenditure in India was more than the Budget by 3,36 and the actuals of the previous year by 77. The excess, as compared with the Budget, was chiefly contributed by Bombay under Loss on Coinage (2,86), and was caused by the large receipts at the Bombay Mint of withdrawn and uncurrent coins. The increase under Establishment in Calcutta (26) was due to the entertainment of additional extra establishment, and increased contingent expenses in consequence of heavy coinage operations, and that in Bombay to increased payment of salaries and overtime allowances owing to a large coinage. The saving under Loss on Coinage in Calcutta was chiefly due to the loss on recoining old coins being less (62) than was estimated, partly counterbalanced by heavy loss of weight in coining silver (23) and increased cost of copper alloy (25). The excess under Other Charges in Calcutta (16) was due to large purchase of country coal, oil, etc., necessitated by heavy coinage operations, while the saving in Bombay was due to the late arrival of coal and coke, the charges for which were paid off in 1906-7. The total excess (77) as compared with the actuals of the previous year was composed of a decrease of 50 in Calcutta due to short recoinage of old coins, reduced by an increase in the coinage from purchased silver, and an excess of 1,27 in Bombay, due mainly to the large remittances of withdrawn and uncurrent coins received at the mint. The excess over the budget in India was covered by grants sanctioned by the Government of India, while out of the excess in Bombay, 1,73 was sanctioned and the remainder 1,42 awaits sanction.

123. The saving in England (£25,6) as compared with the Budget was mainly due to the absence of expenditure for electrical installation at the Calcutta Mint, provided for in the Budget, partly counterbalanced by a small excess mainly due to allowances to officers deputed to inspect machinery used for coinage.

124. The receipts in this section exceeded the Budget Estimate by £41,8 or R6,27, and the actuals of the previous year by £3,3 or R50. As compared with the Budget, £13,7 or R2,05 of the increase was contributed by Law and Justice—Courts of Law in Bengal, due to lapsed estates received from the Administrator General, and to fees and commissions collected by him. There was an increase of £8,0, or R1,21 under Jails, chiefly from increased sales of jail manufactures; of £7,1 or R1,06 under Marine, mainly in England, due to the adjustment of the subsidy received from the Admiralty for Harbour Defence vessels, and of the sale-proceeds of vessels, together with the value of Ordnance Stores received therefrom, and of £6,0 or R89 under Education, mainly in fees from Schools and Colleges chiefly in the United Provinces, the Punjab and Bombay. Increased receipts under Police (£4 or R6), Medical (£1,2 or R18) and Scientific and other Minor Departments (£5,4 or R81) also contributed to the improvement.

125. As compared with the actuals of the previous year there was an improvement of £23,5 or R3,52 under Law and Justice—Courts of Law, due partly to the causes stated above, and partly to high receipts from fees, fines and forfeitures; of £7,8 or R1,18 under Jails, and £17,6 or R2,64 under Education, due mainly to the causes stated above; of £12,5 or R1,88 under Medical, chiefly in Bengal, due to the contribution from the Calcutta Hospital Port Dues towards the Presidency General Hospital, and of £2,3 or R34 under Scientific and other Minor Departments. These improvements were almost covered by the decrease of £56,7 or R8,50 under Marine, and of £3,7 or R56 under Police. Under Marine the decline was due to less work done for the Royal Navy and other Departments, to stores required for the Royal Navy Vessels having been drawn from the Royal Navy Stock of Stores transferred from Trincomalee, and to the limited employment of Royal Indian Marine Vessels on Imperial Service, partly counterbalanced by an improvement in England due to the special receipts referred to above.

126. The total receipts exceeded the Budget by 2,05, and the actuals of the previous year by 3,52. The principal improvement, as compared with the Budget, was derived from India, and occurred under Sale-proceeds of Unclaimed and Escheated Property due to receipts from lapsed estates in the hands of the Administrator General, Bengal. Increased fees of Amins and process-servers in the United Provinces, and recoveries of fees in the Insolvent Debtors' Court in cash, instead of in stamps in Bombay mainly account for the rise under Court-fees realised in cash. The low receipts in the Central Provinces were foreseen in the Revised. The fluctuations in the Magisterial fines are chiefly responsible for the variations under General Fees, Fines, and Forfeitures in almost all the provinces. In Madras, the increase as compared with the previous year, was chiefly due to the fact that, the adjustment, by deduction from this minor head, of fines creditable to Municipality and other private bodies, at the end o. 1904-5, included the realization of two years. The net increase of 11 under Other Receipts is chiefly made up of an increase of 43 in India on account of fees and commission recovered and paid by the Administrator General, Bengal, to the credit of Government, and of a decrease of 34 in Bombay, caused by the new arrangement of crediting to Government the fees hitherto received by the Administrator General and Official Trustee, having come into force from 1st October 1905, instead of from 1st April 1905 of Jail Manufactures and was contributed by all the provinces except Berar (where there was a fall caused by short outturn of work from the Akola Jail, to which a portion of the weaving industry was transferred from the Raipur Central Jail), Bengal proper and the United Provinces due to small sales. The largest improvement occurred in the Central Provinces, due to the manufacture and supply of Bhagri cloth to the Supply and Transport Department from the Central Jail at Jubbulpore, the increase in Burma was due to an increased demand for Jail-made articles by Public Departments, and in the Punjab to the Mung Rasul Central Jail not having been opened, and the consequent employment of prisoners on manufactures instead of on canal works. There was also a large increase in Assam due to extensive intramural industries, mainly oil-pressing and cloth-weaving, and of 97 in Eastern Bengal due to large supplies to other departments. The increases in Madras and Bombay were due, in the former, to the special supply by the Penitentiary to the Madras Arsenal, and in the latter, tó a better demand for Jail manufactures. The net receipts under this head, after deducting the corresponding charges under 19B. are given below :—

128. The decrease under Other Receipts was contributed mainly by the Punjab, owing to the postponement of the opening of the Mung Rasul Central Jail, and by Bombay, owing to a change in the method of adjustment of value of Jail labour employed on Jail Press, and to the decreased demand for Jail labour by the Public Works Department. The increase under Convict Receipts at Port Blair occurred chiefly under Hire of Convicts and Tea Garden receipts.

129. The receipts under this head showed an improvement of 6 over the Budget, but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by 56. As compared with the Budget, the most important improvement occurred under Fees, Fines and Forfeitures (1,59), due generally to high cattle pound receipts in most of the provinces, enhanced by receipts under the Petroleum Act and Steam Boiler Inspection Fees in Bombay, and by gambling fines, and sale-proceeds of unclaimed cattle in Burma. Under Other Receipts the improvement in India (10), was due to recoveries of leave and pensionary contributions of the Hyderabad Railway Police; in the United Provinces (10), to large recoveries for rewards to Police, while credits for the value of ordnance stores returned by the Police Department, account for the increase in Eastern Bengal and Assam, the Punjab and Bombay; these improvements were, to some extent, counterbalanced by small recoveries on account of Village Police in Bengal. Under Police Supplied to Municipal, Cantonment and Town Funds, the decrease (1,36), was mainly attributable to the provincialisation of the Cantonment Police. The excess in Burma was due to recoveries made before the receipt of the orders for provincialisation, which have since been refunded, vide para. 149 and that in Bengal to arrear recoveries made during the year. The decrease (19) under Police supplied to Public Departments, etc., was due to small recoveries on account of Punitive Police in Burma and Bengal, and in Madras to the disbandment of almost the whole of the Punitive Police forces in Madura and Tinnevelly. On the other hand there was an improvement in the receipts on account of Punitive Police in the North-West Frontier Province, and on account of imposition of additional police in the United Provinces. Under Presidency Police, the decline (44) in Bengal was chiefly the result of recoveries on account of fines for prevention of cruelty to animals having been adjusted by credit to XVIA—Law and Justice instead of to this head and of short receipts under Fees, Fines, etc.

130. The receipts in India under this head fell short of the Budget, and the actuals of the previous year by 57 and 9,54 respectively. The decrease as compared with the previous year occurred chiefly under Dockyard Services, and was due to less work done for the Royal Navy and other Departments, to certain stores required for the Royal Navy vessels, having been drawn from the Royal Navy stock of stores transferred from Trincomalee, and not from Marine stock as previously, and to small recoveries on account of hire of vessels, owing to Royal Indian Marine vessels not having been employed on Imperial Service as largely as in the previous year. As compared with the Budget, the decrease under this head was due to the non-realization of the recoveries on account of the five launches for the Persian Government, and to the causes, stated above, except that the recoveries for hire of vessels exceeded the estimate by 1,26, owing to Royal Indian Marine vessels having been more largely employed on Imperial Service than was anticipated. The increases in Bengal under Pilotage Receipts, and in Burma under Coast Light Dues were due to increased tonnage of vessels visiting the ports, but the increase in Bengal did not rise so high as was anticipated in the Revised. Under Sale-proceeds of vessels and stores, the increase in India was due to the sale of a larger number of vessels, than was intended when the estimate was framed, while in Bengal the Budget provided for the sale of a vessel which was not realised. Under Other Receipts the decrease in India, was due to no recoveries for the supply of coal to His Majesty's Ships from Muscat and Bushire depôts, and to the write-back of the value of coal supplied to the Sultan of Muscat in the previous year.

131. In England £10,9 represents the sum received from the Admiralty in adjustment of the subsidy for the Harbour Defence vessels, and of the sale-proceeds of the vessels, together with the value of Ordnance Stores returned therefrom. The amount and date of this adjustment was uncertain when Estimates were framed.

132. The receipts under this head exceeded the Budget by 89, and the actuals of the previous year by 2,64. The excess as compared with the Budget occurred chiefly under Fees from Schools and Colleges, and was contributed mainly by the United Provinces, the Punjab and Bombay. The improvement was due to increased realization of fees from Government Colleges and District Board Schools in the United Provinces to large receipts of fees from schools taken over by Government from December 1904 in the Punjab, and to better attendance in Bombay. Burma also showed a slight improvement, resulting partly from the opening of new schools and partly from an increase in the number of students. There was, on the other hand, a fall of 6 in Berar due to short collection of fees owing to prevalence of plague, and to the introduction of the Central Provinces system of collecting lower fees from the school-going population. Madras also showed a decrease of 7 which occurred under Fees in General Schools. In Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal combined there was a decrease of 25 which occurred chiefly in Bengal proper and was due to short receipts from Government Colleges, General (18) and Government Schools, General (5). There was, however, a small decrease in Eastern Bengal, where the Budget was apparently too high. The most noticeable improvement under Contribution occurred in Eastern Bengal, where the District Boards

:ceived large contributions from Municipalities and private persons which were not anticipated. A redit of 13, on account of a special contribution, reduced by a decrease in ordinary subscriptions nd contributions from Municipal Funds, mainly accounts for the improvement in the United Pro- inces, and large receipts from Native States and private persons for that in Bengal. The fall under Other ?eceipts occurred mainly in Bengal proper, United Provinces and Madras. The decline in Bengal proper /as due to short receipts from Boarding houses, and Scholarship Examination fees, partly counter- alanced by an increase in miscellaneous receipts; that in the United Provinces to the gradual abolition f Book Depôts, and that in Madras to the Budget being placed a little too high. The increase in Bombay 'as due to the refund of a building advance.

133. The receipts in India exceeded the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 19 and 1,87 espectively. The excess as compared with the Budget was contributed mainly by Bengal and the United ²rovinces under Other Receipts. Special receipts in March 1906, from the Calcutta Electric Supply Corpo- ation Limited, on account of rebate of light and power units of electricity consumed in the Presidency General Iospital, account for the improvement in the former, while increased receipts from sale-proceeds of quinine ınd bovine lymph, are chiefly responsible for the rise in the latter. The small increase in Madras, caused by he sale-proceeds of calves purchased for inoculation at the King Institute, not provided for in the 3udget, was more than counterbalanced by a fall in the Punjab. The decrease under Contribution ıccurred mainly in Bengal and Madras. The decline in Bengal, which occurs in the Eastern Bengal districts, vas caused by short realization from the District Boards, while the fall in Madras was due to a ecovery of only 2 from Municipalities on account of vaccine supplied to them in 1904-05, as against 8 ırovided for in the Budget. There is, however, a large difference between the Revised and the Accounts under this head in Bengal, which was almost entirely due to the non-realization, during the 'ear, of a special contribution of 90 by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The contribution from he Calcutta Hospital Port Dues towards the Presidency General Hospital, chiefly accounts for the difference ›etween the actuals of the two years. Under Lunatic Asylum Receipts, the improvement in Bengal vas due chiefly to high receipts from Asylum fees and sale-proceeds of manufactures, reduced by short recovery of pay of extra servants of the paying patients, while the decline in Burma was due to an over-estimate of miscellaneous receipts. Under Hospital Receipts in Bengal, the estimate was placed too low, while in Madras it proved too high. The decline under Medical College and School Fees in Bengal, which was due chiefly to short receipt of fees from Medical College and Campbell and Cuttack Medical Schools, was more than counterbalanced by small excesses in Eastern Bengal, Madras and Bombay.

134. The receipts under this head were higher than the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 83 and 38, respectively. The improvement was largest under Receipts on account of Public Exhibitions and Fairs and was due in India (18) to a refund of unexpended balance of a grant for the Louisiana Exhibition; in the United Provinces (36) to receipts from the Kumbh fair, held at Allahabad once in twelve years (7), to a refund of the Provincial share of receipts from fairs credited to District Boards in previous years (11), to the credit for the first time of receipts from the Nauchandi fair in Meerut (11) and to improvements from fairs in other districts (7), and in the Punjab (24) to receipts realized from cattle fairs chiefly in the Rohtak, Gurgaon and Lyallpur Districts. In the Central Provinces the receipts were better than were anticipated. Under Receipts on account of Experimental Cultivation the increase of 5 in the United Provinces, was due to improved receipts from the Sultanpur Seed Depôt, and to the expansion of the Agricultural Department, while that of 9 in Bombay was from the sale of produce at the experimental farms. Increased receipts from the Botanical, Taj and other gardens, account for the improvement in the United Provinces (7), under Botanical and other Public Garden Receipts. The improvement under Veterinary and Stallion Receipts in India (22), was mainly due to sale-proceeds of unserviceable cattle at the Government Cattle Farm at Hissar; in Bengal (8) to the gradual expansion of the operations of this Department, and in the Punjab (5) to increased receipts realised from Veterinary Schools. The decrease under Cinchona Plantation in Madras (20), was due partly to the lower price of quinine, and partly to small sales of the same to the Bombay Medical Stores. This decrease was partly counter-balanced by an improvement of 11 in Bengal, due to large sales of sulphate of quinine. Under Labour and Emigration there were decreases of 3 in the Central Provinces owing to the small emigration of coolies during the year, and of 9 in East Bengal and Assam with Bengal, due mainly to the small receipts from fees for registration of emigrants in Bengal. The improvement of 9 in Madras was due to an increase in the number of emigrants shipped to Natal. The fall (15) under Sale of Maps, etc., occurred chiefly in the sale of maps and instruments by the Survey of India Department. Under Other Receipts there was a decline of 56 in Madras, due to the abolition of the Lower Secondary and Primary Examinations (90), partly counter-balanced by increased receipts in Chrome-tanning, Carpet Weaving and Metal Works Department of the School of Arts (21), and under Fees for Government Technical Examinations (5), Special and Salt and Abkari Tests (3) and Village Officer's Special Tests (4).

135. The expenditure in this section showed a saving of £121,8 or R18,27 as compared with the Budget Estimate, and an excess of £858,7 or R1,28,80 as compared with the previous year. As compared with the Budget there was a saving of £191,2 or R28,68 under Police due to the partial introduction of reforms in the District Executive Force in Burma, Bengal and Bombay, to the lapse of the provision for 5 companies of military police in Burma, and the almost entire lapse of the provision of 10,00 for police reorganization in Madras; of £201,0 or R30,15 under Education, due chiefly to the lapse of the lump provision in Bengal for expenditure on primary education, the transfer of the lump provision in Madras, and of a portion of that in the United Provinces to 45.—Civil Works, and to the entire or partial lapse of certain provisions for Government Schools and grants-in-aid chiefly in India, the Central Provinces, Bengal and Bombay; of £81,1 or R12,16 under Scientific and other Minor Departments mainly due to the partial utilization of the lump provision for agricultural improvements; of £21,6 or R3,24 under Marine, chiefly due to the small outlay on stores in England, partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure in India on stocking stores for Royal Navy Vessels, on purchase of stores for repairs, repairs of vessels, and to high pilotage charges; of £24,4 or R3,66 under Medical due to reduced expenditure on plague measures in all the provinces except Burma and Bengal. There were also small savings under Law and Justice—Courts of Law (£1,4 or R21) and under Ecclesiastical (£4,5 or R68). These savings were partly counterbalanced by excesses of £92,9 or R13,93 under General Administration, due mainly to charges connected with the visit of Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, and in Secretariat charges, due chiefly to the deputation of officers on special duty, absences on short leave, and to the additional staff in Eastern Bengal and Assam, necessitated by the partition, and to increased expenditure in England owing to the passage and outfit allowance of Lord Minto, and to payments in connection with shipment of gold from this country for the Paper Currency Department; of £37,2 or R5,58 under Law and Justice—Jails contributed by all the provinces except the Punjab, due to the large purchase of raw material, increase in manufacture, to high prices of food grains and to increase in Jail popultation, and of £273,3 or R41,00 under Political due mainly to the payment of arrears of subsidy to His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan, and to increased expenditure on the North-West and Tibet Frontiers.

136. The increase as compared with the previous year was contributed by all the heads except Marine, under which there was a decrease of £115,7 or R17,36 mainly in India and Bengal, due in the former to the heavy charges in the previous year for construction and repairs, and for the hire of a transport for the return of the Aden Boundary Commission, and in the latter to the inclusion in that year of the cost of the steam cruiser Fraser and to less expenditure in England on stores. Of the increase, £118,2 or R17,73 occurred under General Administration, due chiefly to charges connected with the Royal visit, enhanced in Burma, the United Provinces and the Punjab by high Secretariat charges, mainly in salaries, in Bengal by charges in connection with the revision of village Panchayet, by expenditure on saloon carriages, motor cars and furniture, and in Madras by the transfer to this head of charges relating to the Surgeon to His Excellency the Governor, and to the Government House dispensary, while the increase in Eastern Bengal and Assam was due to additional expenditure necessitated by the partition, and to large expenditure in England due to the causes stated above; £71,5 or R10,72 under Law and Justice—Courts of Law, chiefly in Burma, Bengal proper and the Punjab, due in the first to the introduction of the new judicial scheme from the 1st March 1905, and to large outlay on diet and travelling of witnesses in criminal courts, in Bengal to increased charges under salaries and establishment of civil and criminal courts, and in the Punjab, to the entertainment of additional judges and their establishments, and to the charges of the New Lyallpur district having been incurred for the whole year; £86,9 or R13,04 under Jails, due mainly to the causes stated above; £204,8 or R30,72 under Police due mainly to the introduction of the Police reforms, contributed chiefly by Bengal, the United Provinces and the Punjab; £158,4 or R23,76 under Education, contributed by all the provinces except Bengal, due mainly to increased charges for salary owing to the additional appointments made towards the close of the previous year, to extension of primary education, and to large grants-in-aid; £59,7 or R8,96 under Medical chiefly in Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal, the United Provinces and Bombay, due chiefly to the revision of pay of the Indian Medical Service, augmented in Burma by large expenditure on plague measures, in the United Provinces by the gradual expansion of District Boards' Dispensaries, and in Bombay by small recoveries of contributions on account of plague from local bodies; £153,1 or R22,96 under Political due mainly to the causes stated above, and £121,5 or R18,23 under Scientific and other Minor Departments chiefly in India, Bengal and Bombay, due in the first to special expenditure in Archæological Department and the new Central Research Institute, and to growth of several Minor Departments; in Bengal mainly to the acquisition of land for the agricultural College, and in Bombay chiefly to a special grant to the Prince of Wales Museum of Western India, and to high expenditure on experimental cultivation.

137. The Indian expenditure under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 12,32 and 15,01, respectively. As compared with the Budget the excess occurred chiefly under Staff and Household (3,68), Secretariat (2,08), and Tour Charges (5,13). The increase under the first head, contributed by all the provinces except the Central Provinces, was mainly due to expenses connected with the visit of Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, enhanced in Burma and Bengal by expenditure on saloon carriages and motor cars (in Bengal), and outlay on furniture and contingencies and in Madras by the transfer to this head of the charges on account of the Surgeon to H. E. the Governor from 24:—Medical; while the increase in Eastern Bengal and Assam was chiefly due to expenditure necessitated by the partition; under Secretariat the excess occurred chiefly in India (41), Eastern Bengal and Assam (63), Bengal (58), the Punjab (23), and Madras (26), and was due mainly to the deputation of officers on special duty, and absences on privilege leave, increased in India by the high rate of salary drawn by the Secretary in the Public Works Department and an under-estimate of hill journey charges in that Department, and in the Punjab by the conversion of the appointment of Registrar into a gazetted one. The excess in Eastern Bengal was due to additional staff at head quarters necessitated by the partition; under Tour Charges the excess in India (4,21), was due to the cost of saloon carriages for Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, and to high charges for special trains, camp furniture and miscellaneous expenses in connection with the Royal visit, charges on account of the Royal visit are also responsible for the excess in Bombay (79). As compared with the previous year the increase was mainly contributed by India (3,22), Burma (1,20), Eastern Bengal and Assam, together with Bengal proper (4,80), the United Provinces (2,04), the Punjab (1,32), and Madras (1,14), and was chiefly due to charges connected with the Royal visit. In Burma the increase was enhanced by expenditure on the revision of establishments of the Secretariat and Civil Account offices; in Eastern Bengal it was mainly due to additional expenditure necessitated by the partition; in Bengal the excess was augmented by high charges under Commissioners on account of salaries, establishment, contingencies and expenses in connection with the revision of village Panchayet, as well as by the other causes stated above; in the United Provinces by the high charges under salaries in the Secretariat and Board of Revenue, and by the discontinuance of the system of adjusting recoveries from the Court of Wards for superior supervision by deduction from this head; in the Punjab by high Secretariat charges due to the causes mentioned above, and in Madras by the transfer to this head of charges relating to the Surgeon to His Excellency the Governor and the Government House Dispensary.

138. Under Salaries of Governor General, Governors, etc., the excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam was due to the creation of the Lieutenant-Governorship of the new Province, and that in the North-West Frontier Province to leave arrangements. The excess under Staff and Household has been explained in the preceding paragraph. The saving in the Central Provinces (17), was mainly due to low expenditure on the purchase of furniture for Government House and to the Personal Assistant to the Chief Commissioner having drawn less pay than was provided for. Under Expenditure from Contract Allowance the excess in the United Provinces, and the saving in Bombay are due to the transfer of charges between this head and Tour Charges; the saving in Bengal (11), occurred under Hill Journey charges, while the excess in Madras (42), represents additions to the Contract allowance, sanctioned by the Government of India during the year. Under Durbar Fund the excess in India was due to an advance payment made in March 1906 out of the grant for 1906-7. Under Executive Council the savings in India (15), and Madras (4), were due to acting arrangements in place of members on deputation. Under Legislative Council the saving in India (18), occurred in salaries and allowances of official and non-official members, and that in Madras (7), chiefly in the provision for allowance of the member for the Legislative Council of India, which was not utilized, while the excess in Bengal (20), was due to a special payment of 15 to the Maharaja of Gidhur on account of travelling allowance for attending Legislative Council meetings, and to an increase under salaries (4).

139. The Secretariat charges exceeded the Budget in India (41), the Central Provinces (4), Burma (9), Eastern Bengal and Assam together with Bengal (1,21), the Punjab (23), and Madras (26), and fell short of it in the United Provinces (6), the North-West Frontier Province (1), and Bombay (9). The details of the India Secretariat charges are given below:—

140. As stated above the employment of officers on special duty, and absences on privilege leave are mainly responsible for the increase in most of the Secretariats; apart from this the excess in the Foreign Department was due chiefly to the entertainment of temporary establishment (11), but these excesses were largely counterbalanced by savings in Hill Journey allowances (9) and telegrams (20). The excess in the Public Works Department was due partly to the provision for the department having been included in that for the Revenue and Agriculture Department, and partly also to the high rate of pay drawn by the Secretary, to under-estimate of Hill Journey charges, and to salaries of officers on special duty, and that in the Commerce and Industry Department to an under-estimate. In the Finance Department there was a saving of 35 due to the transfer of a portion of the establishment to the Commerce and Industry Department, which was almost covered by excesses due to the salary of an officer on special duty (5) and to charges connected with the Country Liquor investigation (25). In the Revenue and Agriculture Department the decrease was due to the transfer of a portion of the establishment to the new Commerce and Industry Department, and to the inclusion of the provision for the Public Works Department as stated above, in the Record Department to the provision for re-organisation not having been utilized, and to the appointment of the officer in charge having remained vacant for the greater part of the year, and in the Military Department to the transfer of the establishment employed on the compilation of the Indian Army List to the Army Head Quarters Department. The excesses in Burma and Bengal were mainly due to privilege leave arrangements and increased expenditure under allowances, and in the latter also to officers on special duty; in Eastern Bengal to the additional Staff at Head Quarters necessitated by the partition, and in Madras to privilege leave and special duty. The excess in the Punjab has been explained above. The saving in the United Provinces (6) occurred chiefly under establishment, and that in Bombay (9) under postage, telegram and section work charges, and in payments to officers of other provinces. Under Tour Charges the excesses in India and Bombay have been explained above. The increase in Eastern Bengal and Assam was due to additional charges necessitated by the partition, and in Bengal proper to an under-estimate; and in the Punjab (13) and the North-West Frontier Province (5) to expenditure in connection with the Royal visit. The saving in the Central Provinces (18) was due to over-estimate, and that in the United Provinces to transfer of charges to the head Expenditure from Contract Allowance. Under Board of Revenue, etc., the excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam was due to the additional staff at Head-Quarters necessitated by the partition, and that in the United Provinces (18) to the absence of officers on privilege leave. Under Commissioners the excess in Burma (26) was chiefly the result of an increase under salaries (34) due to privilege leave arrangements, and a saving of 8 under establishment due to vacancies and of 4 under allowances and supplies and services. In Eastern Bengal and Assam together with Bengal there was a net excess of 98 made up of a saving of 16 in Eastern Bengal and an excess of 1,14 in Bengal proper; the former was due to the small outlay on repairs to steamers, and the latter to increased expenditure under salaries (37), due to privilege leave, under establishment (12), under contingencies (11) chiefly on account of motor cars, under cost of steamers (23) and under charges in connection with the revision of village Panchayet (29). The saving in the United Provinces (16) was due partly to a decrease under salaries (7), and partly to the adjustment, by deduction under this head, of recoveries on account of Municipal establishments in Commissioners' offices, formerly shown on receipt side (8), coupled with other small savings, while that in Bombay occurred in payments to officers of other Provinces. Under Inspector-General of Stamps, Registration, etc., the saving in Eastern Bengal and Assam (12) occurred in Assam, and was due to the separation of the offices of Inspector-General of Police, Prisons and Registrations, after the partition, and that in the Central Provinces (8) to the partial utilization of the provision for a Personal Assistant and the revision of the office establishment of the Commissioner of Excise, while the excess in Bengal represents the pay of the Inspector-General of Stamps, Registration, Police, etc., Assam, from May to July 1905 drawn in Calcutta, and that in the United Provinces (6) to the high rate of salary of the Excise Commissioner and of the Assistant to the Inspector-General of Registration, and to the purchase of tents.

142. The saving under Civil Account Offices compared with the Budget was mainly due to the transfer of charges of the Press Audit establishment to 30.—Stationery and Printing, to the partial use of the provision for local allowance of Gazetted Officers in Burma, to vacancies in the Subordinate Account Service, and to the deputation of Superintendents to act as Chief Superintendents, partly counterbalanced by an increase arising out of the partition of Eastern Bengal. As compared with the previous year, the excess was due o the revision of establishments in the Central Provinces and Burma, to the hire of a building in the latter nd to additional expenditure in Eastern Bengal and Assam arising out of the partition. The saving in the ffice of Accountant General, Public Works Department, was chiefly due to absence of officers on leave nd vacancies, to the deputation of Accountants to State Railways, and to Hill Journey allowances. The increase in India (9) under Allowances to Presidency Banks was due to the growth of the Public Debt, and that in Bombay (4) to the increase in the Public Debt held at Bombay. Under General Establishment of Local Fund Offices, the saving in Berar (6) was due to the abolition of Local Fund Establishments in the Deputy Commissioners' offices from 1st September 1905, and to the transfer of harges for Local Audit Establishment to the head Account Offices, while in Eastern Bengal and Assam aken together with Bengal (14) and in Madras (18) it was due to over-estimate, and in Bombay (4) to high ecoveries on account of privilege leave arrangements, and to reduced contingent expenditure.

143. The excess in England (£10,8) was chiefly due to the passage and outfit allowance of His Excellency Lord Minto (£3,5), to payments in connection with shipments of gold from this country for the Paper Currency Department (£5,6), to allowances to officers on special duty (£1,2), and other special tems, counterbalanced to the extent of £1,8 due to the small demand for stores.

144. The Indian expenditure under this head fell short of the Budget Estimate by (16), but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by (10,78). The increase over the actuals of the previous year was contributed to by all the provinces, but chiefly by Burma (4,55), Bengal proper (1,49), and the Punjab (2,34). In Burma it was mainly due to the introduction of the new Judicial service scheme from 1st March 1905, and to large outlay on the diet and travelling of witnesses in the Criminal Courts; in Bengal it occurred mainly under High Courts, etc., Civil and Sessions Courts and Criminal Courts chiefly under salaries and establishments, and in the Punjab it was mainly due to the entertainment of additional Judges and their establishments, and to the charges of the new Lyallpur district having been incurred for the entire year, against a part of the year only in 1904-5. Compared with the Budget the variations occurred from the following causes:—

145. Under High Court, Chief Courts, etc., the excess in the Central Provinces (19), was due to the transfer of the Judicial Commissioner's office from Berar to Nagpur; in Burma (30), mainly to the absence of the Chief Judge on privilege leave, to an officer on higher salary than that provided for, having been on duty as Registrar (8), and to the transfer to the control of the Chief Court, from 1st October 1905, of the staff of the Interpreters attached to the Rangoon Town and District Courts provided for under Criminal Courts (20), and in Bombay (10), mainly to the grant of privilege leave. The saving in Berar (24), was due to the transfer of the appointment of Judicial Commissioner to Nagpur from 1st September 1905, as stated above, and to the appointment having been held prior to that date, by an officiating officer; in Bengal (27), to the provisions of 14 for an additional Judge, and 13 for three short-hand writers in the Copyists Establishment not having been used; in the United Provinces (18) to absence of officers on furlough, and in the Punjab (47), to the entertainment of the additional Judges and establishments from the 7th October 1905, instead of from the beginning of the year. Under Law Officers the variations, which are not large, occurred mainly in the payments of fees in criminal and civil cases; in the Central Provinces the saving was partly due to a delay in the appointment of the Government Advocate, and that in Burma to the death of Government Advocate and the appointment of an officer on the minimum pay, while the excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam was mainly due to the expenses of the Legal Remembrancer for the new Province. Under Civil and Sessions Courts the excess in Berar (58), was due to the creation of additional Courts, owing to the separation of Judicial and Executive duties, on the re-organization of districts; in Burma (1,29) chiefly to the introduction of the new Judicial service scheme from 1st March 1905, and to too large a deduction on account of probable savings; in the United Provinces (13), mainly to absence of officers on privilege leave and to an over-estimate of probable savings (31), to an increase under process-serving establishment (12), and diet allowance (5), partly counterbalanced by a saving of 33 due to the delay in carrying out certain revisions provided for in the Budget; and in the Punjab (77), to leave arrangements, and the appointment of additional Divisional Judges (48), to an increase in the number of Subordinate Judges (17), and to increased expenditure under Munsiffs (9), and process-serving establishment (6), counterbalanced to the extent of 4, owing to the saving, due to the appointment of Assistant Commissioners as District Judges, having exceeded the deduction for probable savings. The saving in the Central Provinces (4[illegible]), was mainly due to the provision (50) for the separation of the Judicial and Executive Establishments not having been used. In Eastern Bengal there was a saving of 11 which was almost covered by an excess of 10 in Bengal proper; both differences are spread over several heads in small items. In the North-West Frontier Province the saving (15), was due to the appointments of District Judges having been held by Assistant Commissioners, whose salaries were charged in moities to 3.—Land Revenue and Criminal Courts; in Madras (24), it is scattered in small items over several heads and does not call for any special remarks. Under Courts of Small Causes the saving in the Central Provinces (7), was due to the appointments of Judges having been held by officers on smaller pay than that provided for; in Berar (22), to the abolition of two Small Cause Courts; in Bengal (7), to change of officers, and in Bombay (10), to absence of officers on leave. Under Criminal Courts the excess in Burma (49), was due to heavy expenditure on diet and travelling allowance of witnesses (1,02), to the employment of a large number of temporary process-servers (23), and to increased expenditure under sub-divisional establishment (6), and allowances (9), partly counterbalanced by a saving of 64 under salaries, due to an insufficient deduction on account of vacancies and absences on long leave; in the North-West Frontier Province (10), to the debit for salaries of Assistant Commissioners employed as District Judges, as stated above, and in Bombay (58), to high payments of salaries. The decrease in the Central Provinces (9), was due partly to the transfer of the Sambalpur District to Bengal from the 16th October, and partly to the non-utilization of the provision for the Drug District; in Eastern Bengal and Assam together with Bengal there was a saving of 36, to which Assam contributed 19, mainly under salaries and Sub-Deputy Collectors, and Bengal proper 24, chiefly under Salaries (46), and Establishment (8), partly counterbalanced by excesses under allowances (13), contingencies (18), and under sub-divisional and process serving establishments (9), while in Eastern Bengal there was an excess of 7, due to an increase under salaries (28), counterbalanced by saving amounting to 21, chiefly under establishments. In the United Provinces the saving of 4 was the result of a saving of 52, due to the absence of a large number of officers on furlough, and increased expenditure amounting to 48 under a number of heads, but chiefly under supplies and services (30), mainly in outlay on diet money to witnesses, tents, etc., and in the Punjab (17), it occurred under salaries (35), due to over-estimate, and contingencies (5), partly counterbalanced by excesses under establishment (11), supplies and services (8), and allowances (4). Under Other Courts of Justice the excess in Bengal (10), occurred under contingencies (14), and supplies and services (3), partly counterbalanced by a saving under establishment of the Presidency Magistrate. Under Other Charges the saving in the United Provinces (5), was due to a decrease in the number of candidates for the Pleadership Examination. Under Refunds the variations are due to the fluctuating nature of the charges. The excesses of 16 (Imperial) in Berar, 1,90 (Provincial) in Burma, 12,57 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 64 (Provincial) in the Punjab and 50 (Provincial) in Bombay have been sanctioned, and out of the excesses of 3 (Imperial) in India, 2 have been sanctioned and 1 awaits sanction.

146. In England the estimate provided for the outfit allowance of a Judge, but no payment was made during the year.

147. The expenditure in India exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 5,61 and 13,03, respectively. Compared with the Budget the excess under Jail Manufactures occurred in almost all the provinces and was due in the Central Provinces (77) to the manufacture of Bhagri cloth by the Central Jail at Jubbulpore for the Supply and Transport Department, in Berar (7) to outlay on raw materials required for the weaving industry in the Akola Central Jail; in Burma (11) to large purchase of raw materials; of the excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and Bengal considered together, 27 occurred in Eastern Bengal, due to under-estimate, and 2,01 in Bengal, due to large purchase of raw materials (2,81), counterbalanced by savings under charges for Europe stores (76) and contingent charges; and in Madras (21) to increase in the jail population. The saving (20) in the Punjab was due to the non-utilization of the provision of 29 for wool-spinning machinery in the Montgomery Jail, partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure under supplies and services (8). Under Other Jail Charges the excess in Burma (25) was due to the replacement of a considerable quantity of woollen clothing (24) and to high charges for diet and conveyance of under-trial prisoners (9), partly counterbalanced by savings under contingencies and extraordinary charges for live-stock, tools and plant. In Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal, there was an excess of 58 of which 13 occurred in Eastern Bengal, chiefly on account of the pay of the Inspector-General of Prisons, appointed after the partition, and 6 in Assam mainly under clothing (3) petty construction and repairs (2); in Bengal the increase occurred chiefly under dietary charges (24), clothing and bedding of prisoners (18) and charges for moving prisoners (7), partly counterbalanced, by a saving (19) under miscellaneous services and supplies; in the United Provinces (72) the excess was due to rise in the prices of food-grains and in the prison population, coupled with higher salaries of Indian Medical Service officers serving as Jail Superintendents, and in Madras (49) to increase under dietary charges (7), clothing and bedding (5), miscellaneous services and supplies (8), owing to high jail population, under hospital charges (3), and sanitation charges (10) on account of the removal of the bulk of the prisoners at the Rajhmundry Central Jail into camp, owing to an outbreak of cholera, and to the adoption of special precautionary measures in the Presidency Jails for the same epidemic, under charges for moving prisoners (10) to avert over-crowding in jail, and under extraordinary charges (5) for the improvements in lighting arrangements and renewals of cooking utensils, etc, in several jails. The saving in the Central Provinces (49) occurred under supplies and services in district jails (31) and under dietary charges of Central Jails (18); in Berar (10) under dietary charges owing to the fall in jail population; while that of (44) in the Punjab was due to the Mung Rasul Jail not having been opened. The excess under Convict Charges, etc (1,32) was due chiefly to the high price of articles of food required for the Port Blair Settlement. The higher prices of food grains, increase in jail population, purchase of raw materials, and the rise in the salaries of Indian Medical Officers, serving as Jail Superintendents, account for the increase over the actuals of the previous year The Provincial excesses of 28 in the Central Provinces, 36 in Burma, 2,32 in Bengal over the reduced grant, 76 in the United Provinces, 70 in Madras, and 1 in Bombay have been sanctioned. Out of the excesses of 1,35 (Imperial) in India, and 3,55 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 88 and 3,51 respectively, have been sanctioned while the remainder 147 and 4 require to be sanctioned.

148. The Indian expenditure fell short of the Budget by 28,73, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 30,64. The saving as compared with the Budget occurred chiefly in Burma (4,83), Bengal proper (4,70), Madras (9,94), and Bombay (4,67) and was due in Burma to partial introduction of the Police reforms, and to the lapse of the provision for five companies of Military Police for the Rangoon and Toungoo Battalions; in Bengal to smaller expenditure than was anticipated under District Executive Force from the grant for re-organization; in Madras to the lump provision of 10,00 for Police re-organization being almost wholly unutilized; and in Bombay to the reforms in the District Executive Force not being carried out during the year. As compared with the previous year the excess occurred in all the provinces, except India and Berar, but chiefly in Bengal (7,45), the United Provinces (9,75), and the Punjab (5,32), and was mainly due to the introduction of the Police reforms.

149. Under Presidency Police the excess in Bengal, (87) was due to increased expenditure under Police Force, Allowances, Supplies and Services and Contingencies as well as to the non-realization of the deduction of 30 made in the Budget on account of probable savings; in Madras (29) to the purchase of 12 additional horses in connection with the re-organization scheme, to an increase in the force for temporary plague duty, and to more frequent travelling on detective and escort duty; and in Bombay (52) partly to the non-recovery of an estimated contribution of 32 from the Bombay Municipality, on account of the net share of the rent of buildings due from that body for 1905-06, and partly to a large payment of arrears of rent due to the City Improvement Trust, in respect of land occupied by the Northcote Police Hospital. Under Superintendence the excess in Central Provinces (12), was due to higher rates of pay drawn by the Personal Assistant and officers on special duty; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (48), to the creation of the appointments of the Inspector General and two Deputy Inspectors General of Police and their offices; in Bengal (35) to the appointment of an additional Deputy Inspector General of Police, not provided for, and to large expenditure under allowances, supplies and services and contingencies; in the Punjab (22) to large expenditure under Salaries; in Madras (18) to the appointment of an officer on special duty for the re-allocation of stations, the absence of officers on privilege leave and the revision of the Chief Office Establishment; and in Bombay (51) to the increase in the pay of the Inspector General and the creation of the posts of the Deputy Inspector General. Under District Executive Force the excess in India (29), was due to increased travelling allowance and grain compensation allowance in Baluchistan, higher rates of salary of the Superintendent and addition to Police Force in Ajmer, expenditure for the criminal branch establishment at Bhopal, not provided in the Budget, and the revision of the Police Force in Coorg; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (1,36), to increased charges under salaries (78), police force (57), travelling allowance (29), and petty construction and repairs (22) owing to the re-organization in Eastern Bengal, partly counterbalanced by a saving in Assam owing to leave vacancies and partial utilization of the lump provision of 50 for re-organization; in the United Provinces (7,79) to probable savings under salaries not having been realized (11), to the introduction of reforms from 1st October 1905, and the amalgamation of the municipal and cantonment constabulary with the provincial force (5,30), to relief afforded to municipalities and cantonments from police charges (45) to a large debit for arms and accoutrements (76), to expenses in connection with the Royal visit (27), to high expenditure on rewards (31), and to increased charges under establishment (10), allowances (21), contingencies (14), and General Police (9); in the Punjab (22) and North-West Frontier Province (70) to the re-organization of the Police Force. Against these excesses there were savings in Central Provinces (2,75), Berar (1,30) due to the partial utilization of the special grants (4,00 and 1,00, respectively) for Police reforms; in Burma (2,19) to the partial introduction of the Police reforms for which 5,00 was provided in the Budget; in Bengal (5,13) mainly to the partial lapse of the grant for re-organization of the force (6,38) and low contingent expenditure (52), partly counterbalanced by larger expenditure under Training School for Sub-Inspectors (91), Establishment (6), Hospital Charges (7), Allowances (51), and Supplies and Services (33); in Madras (56) to small expenditure under Police Force (98), and petty works of construction (25), owing to the transfer of certain works to the Public Works Department, partly counterbalanced by an excess under Travelling Allowance of officers and establishments (46); and in Bombay (6,18) to the non-completion of the reforms, and to small expenditure against the grants for the replacement of Military Guards, temporary establishment, supplies and services and contingencies and to the transfer of 2,50 out of the special provision for re-organization to the Public Works Department for buildings. Under Municipal and Cantonment Police there were savings in Burma (3), Bengal (3), the Punjab (79), North-West Frontier Province (19), and Bombay (22), and an excess in the United Provinces (1,71). The savings were chiefly due to the provincialization of the Cantonment Police, while the excess in the United Provinces represented the cost of the Chowkidari Police of those Municipalities which were only partially relieved from Police charges. Under Government Railway Police the excess in Burma (6), was due to the adjustment of the Government share of watch and ward and rent of quarters, having been more than was anticipated in the Budget; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (29) to the appointment of an Assistant Inspector General of Railway Police not provided for, and to under-estimate; in the Punjab (43) to increased expenditure under rents, rates and taxes, and in Madras (15) to the adjustment of the Police charges incurred by the South Indian Railway on unopened lines, and to increased expenditure under Travelling Allowance on the Madras Railway. On the other hand there were savings in Bengal due to small expenditure under several heads; in United Provinces (16) to savings in the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway Police; and in Bombay (8) to small expenditure on all the railways except the Rajputana Malwa Railway. Under Village Police the savings in Berar (17) were due to the full strength of the force not having been on duty, and in Bengal (17) and Eastern Bengal and Assam (7) to small expenditure under the head District Chowkidari Reward Fund, while the excess in Bombay was due to extra charges in consequence of the Famine. Under Special Police the savings in Burma (2,96) were due to small expenditure under Hospital charges and food supplies, and to the lapse of the provision for five companies of Military Police for Rangoon and Toungoo Battalions; in Bengal (23) to small expenditure under Bengal Military Police (19), and Frontier Police, Angul (10), partly counterbalanced by expenditure on account of Sikkim State Police (3), and Chittagong Frontier Police, (3); and in the North-West Frontier Province (75) to the non-utilization of the provision for an increase in the pay of the Border Military Police. The excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam (6) was due to under-estimate; in Madras (5) to the appointment of the Assistant with Government having been held by officers of higher grade than that provided for, and the grant of privilege leave; and in Bombay (23), to the purchase of horses and to equipment and clothing charges of Agency Police. Under Cattle Pounds the excess in Central Provinces (12), was mainly due to large expenditure on construction and repair of pounds, and in the United Provinces (12), to the continuance, in some of the districts, of the old system of passing the cost of feeding impounded cattle, through the District Boards accounts, coupled with increased printing and binding charges. The savings in Berar (15) were due to the pay of the Pound-keepers in one district, for two quarters not having been drawn during the year, and to the adjustment of contribution for construction of cattle pounds having been made by deduction from the receipts under the head Fines for cattle impounded, instead of charging the amount to the payment side; and in Madras to smaller expenditure under construction and repair of cattle pounds. Under Other Charges the excess in India (25), was chiefly due to large expenditure under Central Criminal Intelligence Department on travelling allowance and salaries, consequent on the deputation of officers, and the appointment of the hand-writing expert; and in Burma (34), the Punjab (4), the North-West Frontier Province (5), and Bombay (8), to the refund of contributions, paid by Cantonment Funds, towards the cost of Police supplied to them, before the orders of the Government of India regarding the provincialization of the Cantonment Police were received; in Burma, the excess was enhanced by a delay in the revision of Steam Boiler Inspection Establishment. The saving in Bengal was chiefly due to smaller refunds than anticipated (25), partly counterbalanced by an excess (3), under Steam Boiler Inspection Fund. The excess of 6 (Provincial) in the Punjab has been sanctioned, and out of the excess of 8,50 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 6,50 have been sanctioned while the balance 2,00 with the excess of 10 (Local) in India requires to be sanctioned.

150. The charges in India under this head exceeded the Budget by (1,49), but fell short of the actuals of the previous year by (10,98.) As compared with the Budget the excess occurred chiefly under Marine Stores and Coal, etc., and was due in India to stocking stores for Royal Navy vessels to meet demands hitherto drawn from the Trincomalee depot, to large local purchase of stores for repairs and to purchase of English coal for the Dufferin, when conveying the retiring Viceroy to Suez, and under Pilotage, Pilot Establishment and Vessels in Bengal, due chiefly to large payments of allowances to Free List Pilots, partly counterbalanced by savings of pilotage allowances to licensed pilots. As compared with the previous year, the decrease was mainly contributed by India and Bengal, due in the former to the fact that the accounts of 1904-05 included heavy charges for works of construction and repairs, and for the hire of a transport for the return of the Aden Boundary Commission, and in the latter to the inclusion in the previous year of the cost of the Steam Cruiser Fraser.

151. Under Marine Survey and Establishment the decrease in India (10), was due chiefly to certain junior officers, on lower pay, having been on duty, and to certain appointments having remained vacant for a portion of the year, and the saving in Burma (17), to the provision of 10 for a Deputy Port Officer not being required, and to the partial utilization of the provision for an Assistant Engineer. Under Dockyards the saving in India (75), was due chiefly to less expenditure than anticipated on works for the Royal Indian Marine, Royal Navy and other Departments, which also explains the difference between the actuals of the two years. Under Salaries and Allowances and Victualling of Officers and Men afloat the excess in India was due to the Dufferin and Hardinge having been employed throughout the year, instead of being laid up with reduced crews, for a portion of the year, to increases of complement in vessels employed on military services and special defences, and to purchase of water at high rates by vessels employed on trooping duty, partly counterbalanced by savings due to absence, on leave out of India, of a large number of officers, and to absence of outfit allowances to crews of the Royal Indian Marine vessels. The excess in Bengal (15), occurred chiefly in the charges of the Pilot vessel Fame and the steam cruiser Fraser. Under Marine Stores and Coal, etc., the variations in India have been explained above. The excess in Bengal (51), occurred under building, repair and outfit of ships (personnel) (90), partly counterbalanced by savings under building, repair and outfit of ships (materiel) (40). The excess in Bengal under Pilotage, Pilot Establishment, etc., has been referred to above. Under Other Chargs the saving in India (97), was due chiefly to small number of subsidized vessels employed in the Persian Gulf, and to repairs to vessels having been in most cases carried out in the Royal Indian Marine Dockyards instead of at outstations, partly counterbalanced by heavy repairs to H. M. S. Sphinx, and that in Burma (37), to the partial utilization of the provisions for construction of vessels (30), to the non-utilization of the provision for the Mergui Coasting Mail Service (18), and to savings in the provision for other lines (15), partly counterbalanced by an excess of 27, due chiefly to repairs and purchase of stores under Light-houses and Light-ships. In Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal taken together there was an excess of (10), of which 8 occurred in Bengal proper, partly under purchase and hire of vessels (8), and partly under refunds (6), counterbalanced to the extent of 5 by savings under subsidies to Steam Boat Companies. The high actuals of the previous year, were due to the purchase of a steam launch in Assam and of the steam cruiser Fraser in Bengal. The excesses of 12 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and 1,54 (Provincial) in Bengal have been sanctioned, while that of 41 (Imperial) in India requires to be sanctioned.

152. In England the saving occurred in allowances to Marine Officers whilst under instruction (£1,0) and in stores for India (£ 30,4).

153. The Indian expenditure fell short of the Budget Estimate by 30,40, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 23, 68. As compared with the Budget, the saving was chiefly due to the lump provision of 10,00 in Bengal not having been used, of 6,02 in Madras having been transferred to 45.—Civil Works, and to a portion of provision of 6,00 in the United Provinces having also been transferred to 45.—Civil Works. Apart from this the more important savings occurred under Government Schools (4,11), and Grants-in-aid and Payments by Results (6,26) due mainly to the entire or partial lapses of provisions chiefly in India, the Central Provinces, Bengal and Bombay. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the increase was contributed by all the Provinces except Bengal, and was due mainly to increased charges for salary, owing to the additional appointments made towards the close of the previous year, to extension of primary education, and large grants-in-aid.

154. Under Direction the excess in Bengal (9), was due to the appointment of an officer on special duty for, three months; in the Central Provinces (3) to increased contingent expenditure and to an increment of pay drawn by the Director for seven months. The saving in India (5) was due to the absence of an officer on long leave. Under Inspection the excess in the Central Provinces (4) was due to the grant of leave; in Burma (7) the deduction on account of probable savings was not realised, owing to the entertainment of additional Sub-Inspectors earlier than was anticipated. Taking Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal together there was an excess of 31, which occurred in Bengal, due to an under-estimate for salaries (30), to the appointment of an Inspectress not provided for (4), and to high expenditure under allowances (8), partly counterbalanced by savings in Assam, and Eastern Bengal, of which 15 occurred in the latter owing to the increased staff not being entertained from the beginning of the year. In the United Provinces the excess (42) was due to the strengthening of the Inspecting Staff of District Boards, and was met from the lump provision of 6 lakhs, and that in Bombay (7) was due to too large a deduction for probable savings. The saving of 6 in the North-West Frontier Province was due to the deputation of Dr. Stein on special duty in connection with the archæological exploration of Eastern Turkistan, and that in Madras (31) to the provision for the increase of the staff not having been fully used. The increase over the previous year, which was contributed by all the provinces except the North-West Frontier, was due mainly to the strengthening of the Inspecting Staff. Under University the payments in Bengal (87) and the United Provinces (1,68) represent special grants, sanctioned after the framing of the Budget; to meet which the Government of India sanctioned assignments through the Land Revenue head. The excess in the Punjab and the payment in Bombay represent grants in connection with University reform. The actuals in Madras represent 15 on account of expenses connected with the inspection of colleges by the University, and 6 for apparatus required for the teaching of mathematics in private colleges Under Government Colleges the saving in India (15) was due to the full strength of professors not having been entertained in the Ajmer and Mayo Colleges; in Burma (12) to vacancies and to the absence of the Principal, Rangoon College, on long leave; in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal the saving (49) occurred entirely in Bengal, and was due to the provisions for the hostel attached to the Midnapur College (14), for Commercial classes (26) and for teaching Science, Commercial correspondence, Astronomy and Sanitary Science in the Presidency College (9) not having been utilised; in the United Provinces (33) it was due to the absence of officers on leave and deputation; and in Bombay (2) to the transfer of the salaries and allowances of the Professors of Agriculture and Botany to 26.—Scientific and other Minor Departments, partly counterbalanced by the transfer to this head, from the next, of the charges of the Training College for Secondary Teachers, and the non-recovery of the contribution for the Staff of the Rajkumar College at Rajkote. The excess in Madras (12) was due chiefly to an over-estimate of probable savings, and to an increase under Training Colleges, mainly in salaries and stipends. Under Government Schools the saving in the Central Provinces (1,33) was chiefly due to the special grant of 1,60 for Primary Education not having been fully used, to a decrease in charges under agricultural schools, and under schoolmasters and contingencies of High and Girls Schools; in Berar (64) it was chiefly due to Primary Girls' Schools not having been opened to the extent anticipated (48) and to savings under other schools. Of the saving (1,49) in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal, 70 occurred in Assam, 59 in Eastern Bengal, and 22 in Bengal. In Eastern Bengal, it was due chiefly to the lapse of the provision (48), for the building of the Dacca School of Engineering, and to low expenditure in the Provincial Section, in Assam chiefly to the lump provision of 1,00 not having been fully utilised and in Bengal to the lapse of certain provisions, partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure in maintenance of District Boards' schools. The saving in the Punjab (1,07) was due mainly to provincial charges, amounting to 2,31, against the grant of 3,00 for primary education having been taken under the adjusting head contributions, counterbalanced to the extent of 1,24, by high expenditure by the District Boards; in Madras (55) it was due to less provincial expenditure on Primary Girls' Schools in the Northern and Southern Circles (22), the lapse of the provision of 15 for reorganization of Training Schools, and to low expenditure in the Local section (15) under High and Middle Schools, and in Bombay (38) it was due partly to the provision for additional establishments for Local Boards' Schools not having been fully used, and partly to the transfer of charges of the Training College for the Secondary School Teachers to the head Government Colleges as stated above. The excess in Burma (22) was mainly due to a special contribution of 49 to the Mandalay and Rangoon Municipalities, partly counterbalanced by small payments on account of half salary grants to Municipal teachers, and that in the United Provinces (1,20) to large expenditure under High and Middle Schools, English (29), and Low Schools-Boys (93), which was met from allotments to District Boards from the grants of 6 lakhs for Primary Education, and of 8 lakhs under 45.—Civil Works. The excess as compared with the previous year was contributed to by all the provinces, and was mainly due to the extension and improvement of Primary Education. Under Grants-in-aid and Payments by Results the largest saving occurred in India and was due to the provision of 5,00 for distribution to other Provinces not having been used; apart from this there was a small excess due to grants to Ajmer, Baluchistan and Coorg. The saving in the Central Provinces (40) was due mainly to the non-payment of the building grant of 20, and to low expenditure under grants-in-aid; in Berar (37) to the grants of 30 for the conversion of indigenous schools into Boards Schools, and of 4 for the Victoria Technical Institute not having been utilised, and to low payments of grants-in aid (3); in Burma (49) to less expenditure from the District Cess Fund than was anticipated; and in Bombay (4,56) chiefly to the adjustment of 1,00 out of the provision of 5,00 for grants to Primary Schools under contributions, and to the balance, which was intended for building to be constructed by the Public Works Department, not having been utilised, partly counterbalanced by additional expenditure on building grants (29), and grants-in-aid by results (22). The excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal (56) consists of a saving of 21 in Assam and an excess of 77 in Bengal and Eastern Bengal. The former was due mainly to small grants-in-aid for buildings by Local Boards. Of the latter 10 occurred in Eastern Bengal and was due to large grants to Primary Schools of District Boards. The excess in Bengal was due to high expenditure on grants to Local Colleges and Schools, payments by results, and Educational buildings, partly counterbalanced by short payments of grants for European Boys' and Girls' Schools. The excess in the United Provinces (59) was due to additional grants sanctioned during the year for European schools and for buildings and furniture, and to allotments to District Boards, for grants-in-aid to Secondary and Primary Schools, out of the special grants of 6 lakhs, in the Punjab (2,42), to additional grants for buildings, etc., sanctioned by the Local Government, and in Madras (92) to an increase in the Local section under payments by results (1,18), and in the Provincial section under grants to General Schools (15), and European Boarding Schools (5), partly counterbalanced by decreases under Building grants (22), grants to Municipal Funds (16) and to Colleges (9). Under Scholarships the differences are due to variations in the award of scholarships. Under Other Charges the saving in India (6) was in building and furniture grants in Bangalore. Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal contributed a saving of 32, consisting of an excess of 11 in Assam and a saving of 43 in Bengal and Eastern Bengal. Of the latter 14 occurred in Eastern Bengal in the Provincial section; the saving in Bengal was due to low expenditure in the Provincial section under rent of boarding houses (49), partly counterbalanced by excesses under boarding hostel charges (11), and refunds (17), and a saving of 10 under Miscellaneous in the Local section. The excesses of 6,10 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 1,84 (Provincial) in the Punjab and 1 (Local) in the North-West Frontier Province have been sanctioned, while that of 60 (Local) in Berar requires to be sanctioned.

155. The excess in England (£1,6) was due to an increase in the number of Government scholars and of officers on special duty.

156. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 66 as compared with the Budget, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 6. The variations under this head are due to variations in the number of senior and junior Chaplains on duty or on leave and to vacancies. Of the excesses of 15 (Imperial) in Bengal and 5 (Imperial) in Bombay, 5 and 4 have been sanctioned, and the remainders 10 and 1, respectively, require to be sanctioned.

157. The expenditure in India fell short of the Budget Estimate by 3,83, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 8,25. As compared with the Budget the saving occurred chiefly under Grants for Medical purposes, and was due chiefly to reduced expenditure on plague measures in all the provinces except Burma and Bengal. As compared with the actuals of the previous year the increase was contributed chiefly by Burma (3,12) due to increased salaries of the Indian Medical Service, large outlay on the Rangoon General Hospital and heavy expenditure on plague measures; by Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal (2,46) and the United Provinces (1,28) due chiefly to the revision of pay of the Indian Medical Service, and in the latter also partly to the gradual expansion of District Boards' dispensaries, and by Bombay (1,45) mainly owing to small recoveries of contributions on account of plague from local bodies. There were small increases in all the other provinces except the Central Provinces and Madras; the decrease in the latter (1,61) was due to less expenditure on plague preventive measures.

158. The variations under Medical Establishments occurred chiefly under Salaries. Under Vaccine Establishments and Sanitary Commissioner the saving in the United Provinces compared with the Budget (19) was due to the absence on leave of the Sanitary Commissioner, to a post of Deputy Sanitary Commissioner having remained vacant for the greater part of the year, and to the provision for grants-in-aid for village sanitary improvements not having been fully used; in Madras (1,16) it was mainly due to an over-estimate in the Local Budget which is generally pitched too high (96), and to travelling allowances and contingencies of Deputy Inspectors of Vaccination having been lower than was expected (39), partly counterbalanced by an excess on account of the purchase and feed of calves at the King Institute of Preventive Medicine, and in Bombay (11) to the provision for purchase of stores and repairs to steam launches not having been utilised. These savings were partly counterbalanced by excesses in India (9) due to revision of establishment of the office of the Sanitary Commissioner and to increased travelling charges; in the Central Provinces

(6) to increased expenditure on village sanitation; in Berar (46) to the transfer of conservancy charges (Local) from 32.—Miscellaneous to this head, under the orders of the Local Administration; in Burma (5) to payment of arrear salary of the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner, and to large outlay on contingencies; in Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal (19), of which 8 occurred in Eastern Bengal, due to the appointment of a Sanitary Commissioner after the partition, and 12 in Bengal proper due to the appointment of an additional Health Officer and an expert Engineer for Septic Tank Installation (7), and to large outlay on allowances; and in the Punjab (6) due to the deputation of an officer on special duty. Under Lunatic Asylums the saving in Burma (13) was due to the provision for the reorganization of the Asylum establishment, and for the removal of the Asylum to Mandalay not having been used, and to less expenditure on raw materials; in East Bengal and Assam together with Bengal (10) which occurred entirely in Bengal under salaries (10) and contingencies (6), partly counterbalanced by an increase under establishment (4); the saving in the United Provinces (12) was due to less expenditure under salaries, to a delay in the carrying out of the scheme for the establishment of a Central Lunatic Asylum at Agra, and to short outlay on the dairy farm attached to the Asylum at Bareilly, and that in Bombay (6) to the provision for improvements in the management not having been utilised. Under Grants for Medical purposes the saving of 5,16 was, as stated above, contributed by almost all the provinces, and was generally due to small expenditure on plague measures, in India, however, 30 of the saving was due to the charges of the X-Ray Institute, provided for under this head, having been adjusted under 26.—Scientific and other Minor Departments. In Burma provision was made for a contribution to the Rangoon Port Trust of two-thirds of the cost of plague preventive measures undertaken by that body, but from 1st October 1905 the entire cost, exclusive of the salary and office establishment of the Port Health Officer, was taken over by Government, which together with the heavy outlay on plague preventive measures in consequence of the outbreak of plague in Rangoon and other districts resulted in an excess of 85. The excess would have been larger but for the transfer to the head Government Hospitals and Dispensaries of grants to Leper Asylums, provided for under this head. In Bengal the excess was mainly due to a grant to the Jherriah Plague Committee (17), large payments for Medical Stores (17) and to plague charges by the District Boards (17). The excess over the previous year was contributed chiefly by Burma, Bengal and the Punjab. Under Other Charges the saving in Burma (4) occurred under salaries and establishment of the Chemical Examiner. In Bengal (15) it was mainly due to the appointment of a Chemical Examiner on a lower rate of pay than that provided for, and to the post of a Probationery Examiner having remained vacant (12), and to low expenditure under Special Hospitals (4), and that in Bombay to the provision for allowances to Port Health Officer, and for the purchase of apparatus for the laboratory at Karachi not having been used. Under Government Hospitals and Dispensaries the excess in India (8) was due to an under-estimate for cost of medicines, instruments and diet of patients in various Agencies; in the Central Provinces (9) to larger grants than anticipated to Dispensary Funds; in Burma (66) chiefly to heavy expenditure on diet, clothing and bedding and contingencies for the Rangoon General Hospital, to large contributions to Municipal Hospitals and Dispensaries, and to the adjustment under this head of contributions to Leper Asylums instead of under Grants for Medical Purposes as stated above; in Assam (26), in Eastern Bengal (33), and Bengal (1,53) due mainly to under-estimate on account of grants to Hospitals and Dispensaries; in the Punjab (6) and the North-West Frontier Province (8) the excesses are the result of small variations under several heads which call for no special notice. The saving in Madras (39) was due to an over-estimate in the Local section for cost of medicines and contingencies, to the transfer of certain Mofussil Hospitals to Local Funds, and to the charges for Government House Dispensary being shown under 18.—General Administration (4), partly counterbalanced by an increase of 28 in the General Hospital under establishment and supplies and services; and in Bombay (9) due to the provision of grants to Dispensaries not having been fully utilised, and to low expenditure on Mofussil Hospitals and Dispensaries, partly counterbalanced by an excess under St. George's Hospital, Bombay, due to privilege leave arrangements, and to purchase and repair of furniture. Under Medical Schools and Colleges there was an excess of 47 in Eastern Bengal and Assam taken with Bengal, which occurred chiefly in Bengal, due mainly to the revision of pay of the professors (40), and to small increases spread over several heads. The excess in the United Provinces (9) was due to additional expenditure on account of Medical Stores, and to expenditure in connection with a hostel attached to the school, for which no provision was made; in the Punjab (21) mainly in the charges for medical pupils; and in Bombay (8) to higher emoluments of officers of the Indian Medical Service. The excesses of 3 (Local) in Berar, 1,27 (Provincial) in Burma, 2,63 (Provincial) in Eastern Bengal and Assam and 2,65 (Provincial) in Bengal over the reduced grant have been sanctioned, and the Local excesses of 3 in India and 32 in the North-West Frontier Province await sanction.

159. The excess in England (£1,2) was due to a large increase under allowances to Medical Officers on study leave or specially employed (£1,6), partly counterbalanced by a decrease (£4) in the maintenance of lunatics.

160. The Indian expenditure under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 40,50 and 22,75 respectively. The excess as compared with the Budget occurred chiefly in India, and was due mainly to an increase of 36,19 under Political Subsidies, owing to the payment of arrears to His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan, which was covered by additional grants sanctioned by the Government of India; and to increased expenditure under Charges on the North-West Frontier (1,84), and under Charges on the Tibet Frontier (1,40). As compared with the actuals of the previous year the increase was also mainly contributed by India under Political Subsidies (27,33), and under Charges on the North-West Frontier (2,15) and Tibet Frontier (1,40), due to the causes stated above, partly counterbalanced by a decrease under Other Charges (7,73) due to the large expenditure in 1904-5 on account of the Seistan Arbitration Commission and the Tibet and Kabul Missions.

161. Under Political Agents the excess compared with the Budget occurred chiefly in India (1,65), and was due to the expansion of the Persian Gulf Residency (75), to the supply of escorts from the Indian Army to the British Consular Establishments in Persia (23), to charges in connection with the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Baluchistan and the Central India Agencies (46), to purchase of furniture for the Baluchistan Agency (18), to grant of privilege leave, high rates of salary and deputation of officers in the Rajputana Agencies (45), and to additional establishments entertained in the Hyderabad Agency ; partly counterbalanced by the recovery of arrears (44) from the Indore Durbar for the cost of the Indore Residency adjusted by deduction from charges. The excess as compared with the actuals of the previous year (2,35) was mainly due to the same causes. The excess in Bengal (55) was due to the adjustment of the pay of the Political Officer, Sikkim (23), and that of the Assistant Political Officer, Chumbi Valley (2), not provided for, to increase in the pay of the establishment of the Sikkim Agency (3), to the entertainment of establishment in connection with the Feudatory States of Orissa (2), sanctioned after the Budget was passed, to large contingent expenditure (16), chiefly on account of the Political Officers, Chumbi Valley and Sambalpur, and under allowances and purchase of tents (7); and in the North-West Frontier Province (7), to charges of the Wana Agency owing to the appointment of a medical officer (9), for which no provision was made, and to high charges under establishment (2), travelling (7), and contingenies (1), partly counterbalanced by a decrease of 12 under other agencies. The saving in Burma (36) was chiefly due to the abolition of the appointment of the Chinese Adviser, to vacancies and to officers on lower salaries than provided for being on duty (24), to the provision for the purchase of elephants not having been used (10), and to low expenditure under allowances (4) ; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (4), to the employment of junior officers; in the United Provinces (25), to the appointment of the Political Agent with the ex-Amir of Afghanistan having remained vacant for nearly the whole year ; in the Punjab (10), chiefly to a vacancy in the Gilgit Agency ; in Madras (4), to the recovery of pensionary contribution on account of the new Political establishment for the Banganapalle State ; and in Bombay (80), to decreased telegram charges in Aden, to larger contributions from Native States than was expected owing to the prevalence of scarcity and to savings in salaries of officers. The excesses under Charges on the North-West Frontier (1,84) occurred chiefly in Baluchistan (97), owing to the revision of the establishment of the Levies and Mekran and Zhob Levy Corps, in Khorasan (40), to the payment of arrears of salaries (6), extended tours (9), and heavy expenditure on account of petty construction and repairs (10), secret service (5), services and supplies (6), and contingencies (4), in Seistan (13), to the creation of new appointments (8), to large expenditure on travelling and outfit allowances (3), and on transport animals, arms, etc., (16), partly counterbalanced by the non-utilisation of the provision (15) for increase to the escorts, etc., and in Turbat-i-Haidari (16), to large outlay on purchase and feed and keep of animals. Under Charges on the Tibet Frontier the charges were in connection with the new Trade Agencies at Gyantse and Gartok and the Chumbi Agency which were not provided for. Under Entertainment of Envoys and Chiefs, the excess in India (62) was mainly due to charges on account of Sirdar Inayatullah Khan's visit to India (44), and to increased expenditure against the grant at the disposal of the Foreign Department. The Revised included a provision of 1,25 in connection with the visit of the Tashi Lama, etc., but the charges were adjusted under Other Charges. The high actuals of the previous year include 4,56 on account of the visit of Sirdar Inayatullah Khan. The excess in Burma (11) was due to the entertainment of Shan Chiefs during the visit of Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales. Under Other Charges the excess in India (1,08) was chiefly due to the charges in connection with the visit of the Tashi Lama of Tibet (1,17), to non-realization of the savings anticipated in the Budget under charges for organising Imperial Service Troops (10), to the charges connected with the movement of the Imperial Cadet Corps to Calcutta in connection with the Royal visit (20), partly counterbalanced by a saving under Seistan Arbitration Commission (85) ; in the United Provinces (4), it was due to increased outlay on the construction of boundary pillars, and in Madras (7), to the further deputation of an officer for six months from November 1905, for the demarcation of the boundary between Mysore and South Canara. In Bombay the provision for the special political expenditure was required to a very limited extent, and subsequently the expenditure was more than covered by the sale-proceeds of instruments and apparatus charged for in the previous year, resulting in a saving of 80. Under Durbar Presents and Allowances to Vakeels the saving in India (10), occurred chiefly in the expenditure against the grant at the disposal of the Foreign Department ; in Bengal (6) it was due to smaller purchase of articles for presentation than was anticipated, and in Bombay (8), to the absence of any large Durbars during the year. Under Refugees and State Prisoners the saving in the Punjab (35) was due to deaths and desertions, which also explain the decline from the previous year. The excesses of 3 (Provincial) in the United Provinces, 13 (Imperial) in the North-West Frontier Province and 5 (Imperial) in Madras have been sanctioned, and out of the excesses of 42,68 (Imperial) and 1 (Local) in India, and 52 (Imperial) in Bengal, 41,28 and 8 have been sanctioned, while the balances 1,40 (Imperial) and 1 (Local) in India and 44 (Imperial) in Bengal require to be sanctioned.

162. The excess in England (£3,3) was due to a demand for stores for which no forecast was made (£2,3), and to charges for Insignia of Indian Orders, the cost of which was provided for under 32.—Miscellaneous.

163. The Indian expenditure fell short of the Budget Estimate by 12,95 and exceeded the actuals of the previous year by 16,69. As compared with the Budget the saving occurred chiefly in India under Agricultural—Other Charges (19,41) chiefly due to the transfer of 18,35 out of a reserve grant of 20,00 for Agricultural improvements to other provinces where the allotments were not fully utilised. As compared with the actuals of the previous year the excess occurred mainly in India (3,59), Bengal (2,81) and Bombay (4,05), due in the first to expenditure under Archæological Department against the special grant for Local Governments, to the charges on account of Central Research Institute and the growth of the Departments of the Inspector General of Agriculture, Geological Survey, Civil Veterinary and the Bureau of Commercial Intelligence; in Bengal to the cost of land acquired for the Agricultural College, and in Bombay mainly to a grant of 3,00 to the Prince of Wales Museum of Western India and higher expenditure on experimental cultivation.

164. The total saving of 66 compared with the Budget under Survey of India was due to less charges of Survey Parties (14); and to increased recoveries for maps and instruments from other Governments and Departments (97), counterbalanced by increases under Controlling Staff and Head-Quarters Offices (45), chiefly due to the salaries of additional officers attached to the Head-Quarters, and to reorganization of Trigonometrical Office. Under Geological and other Surveys the excess in India (49) occurred under Archæological Surveys (69) against the special grant for Local Governments, counterbalanced by savings under Geological Survey and Museums under salaries (4), chiefly due to absences on leave and vacancies, and 39 in the grant for special charges not fully utilised, partly counterbalanced by excesses under Travelling Allowance (8), and by charges for the maintenance of Museum and Laboratory (5). The saving of 7 in Burma was made up of 2 under Ethnographical Survey and 5 under Archæological Department; and that of 9 in Madras under Archæological Survey due partly to an adjustment of certain charges of the previous year on account of excavation of pre-historic remains and to savings in the salary of the Epigraphist. The decrease under Meteorological Department (14) occurred chiefly in telegram charges, travelling expenses and in the grant for work done by Surveyor General's Office. Under Other Scientific Department the excess in India (61) was chiefly due to the charges on account of the X-Ray Institute (15), and the Central Research Institute (60), for which no provision was made in the Budget, and to the excess expenditure under Donation to Scientific Societies (9), due to special grants to the Asiatic Society of Bengal for Arabian, Persian and Jain manuscripts, partly counterbalanced by a saving under Inspector of Mines (9), mainly in salaries (3), caused by absences on leave, Travelling Allowance (3), and other petty savings and under Reporter on Economic Products (15), due to the absence of the Reporter on deputation. In the Central Provinces the decrease (7) was due to the non-payment of a contribution to the Museum Fund at Nagpur. An additional contribution to the Indian Tea Association explains the increase of 7 under Eastern Bengal and Assam. The saving of 9 in Madras occurred under Bacteriology and was due to over-estimate, while the excess in Bombay (3,01) was due to the payment of a grant of 3,00 to the Prince of Wales Museum of Western India, for which no provision existed. Under Veterinary and Stallion Charges the saving in Burma (11) was due to non-entertainment of one Veterinary Instructor and some assistants, and to colts for stud purposes not having been purchased; in Bengal (82) chiefly to the non-utilization of the lump provision of 60 for improvement of the Veterinary Institute and 17 for introduction of Glanders and Farcy Acts into Calcutta and Suburbs; in the United Provinces (12) mainly to a decrease under stable, feed and keep of animals and medicines of Veterinary Establishment, and in Bombay (19) due to lump provisions on account of Bull-rearing Farm at Sholapur, reorganization of Subordinate Civil Veterinary Service, and segregation of bullocks suffering from contagious diseases not having been utilised, to the discontinuance of the salutri class at Poona, and other minor savings. The increase in the Punjab (91) was chiefly due to the appointment of a third European Professor to the Lahore Veterinary College (12), to purchase of stallions (34) and to variations under other heads; and that of 25 in North-West Frontier Province chiefly to the development of the Veterinary Department. Under Other Charges the saving (19,41) in India is composed of 18,35 transferred to other provinces as stated above and to additional expenditure of 1,05 incurred chiefly in connection with the Pusa Research Station and College and for the Agri-Horticultural Farm. The excess in the Central Provinces (29) was due to expenditure in connection with the creation of the office of the Director of Agriculture and for purchase of farms and cattle, etc.,; in Berar (44) to the purchase of a farm at Akola and for fitting it up with machinery; in Assam (11) to the expenditure incurred for agricultural improvements; in Bengal (1,81) chiefly to the cost of land acquired for the Agricultural College and charges for the Director of Agriculture and his establishment (2,05), partly counterbalanced by the lapse of the provision (24) for a farm to demonstrate the value of irrigation; in the United Provinces (1,18) to the expansion of the Agricultural Department (34), to the charges connected with the Magh Kumbh fair and to the charges of the Nauchandi Fair under Public Exhibitions and Fairs (54), to increased expenditure sanctioned by the Local Government for the Taj Garden, Agra, and the Horticultural Garden, Lucknow; in the Punjab (49) partly to expenditure on Station Gardens and partly to the development of the Agricultural Department (32) and to variations under several local heads; in North-West Frontier Province (22), and in Bombay (56) to the development of Agricultural Department; and in Madras (16) to cost of land and equipment for the new Central Agricultural Farm and Teaching and Research Institute, to cost of sites for farms, to opening of the Hagari Farm and to improvement of the Koilpatti Farm. The saving in Burma (12) was due to non-utilization of the provision of 3 for sericulture and to a decrease under the experimental farms, and Public Exhibitions and Fairs. Under Labour and Emigration the decreases in the Central Provinces (5), and in Eastern Bengal and Assam (12) (Assam side) were due to over-estimates, while the decrease in Bengal (7) was due to savings under salaries of Inspector of Factories (5) and under allowance to Civil Medical Officers for inspecting Factories (4), partly counterbalanced by an excess under Inland Labour Transport Fund. Under Statistics, the decrease in India (12) was due to over-estimate of 24 under Gazetteer and Statistical Memoirs, partly counterbalanced by an increase of 12 under Bureau of Commercial Intelligence owing chiefly to charges for electric lights and fans and rent of office; in Eastern Bengal and Assam (9) (Assam side) to the completion of the work of revising the Gazetteer; in Bengal (28), to savings under Gazetteer, and Statistical Memoirs; in the United Provinces (6), to savings under salaries of officers in charge of revision of Imperial and Provincial Gazetteers; in the Punjab (13), to over-estimate, and in Madras (6), to the absence of an officer on combined leave for six months. Under Miscellaneous the excess in India (16) was chiefly due to increased expenditure on purchase of books and publications (5), under Imperial Library, to more charges under Examination (5), and to expenditure under Preservation and Translation of Ancient Manuscripts (7) not provided for in the Budget. In Burma the saving of 7 was due to less expenditure on account of encouragement of arts and manufactures. In Eastern Bengal and Assam the increase of 6 was due to the appointment of the Registrar of Co-operative Credit Societies after the partition. In Bengal the decrease (10) occurred chiefly under Registrar of Co-operative Societies (5), and Examinations (3). The increase (13) in the United Provinces was due to a debit under Refunds in adjustment of the share of Local Fair receipts belonging to Provincial on account of previous year; that in the Punjab, (7) occurred under Registrar of Co-operative Credit Societies. In Madras the saving (28) due to the abolition of the Lower, Secondary and Primary Examinations was partly counterbalanced by an excess due to expenditure in connection with Chrome-tanning Department for which there was no provision. In Bombay the decrease of 11 was attributable to less charges under Preservation and Translation of Ancient Manuscripts (6) and Registrar of Co-operative Credit Societies (4). The Provincial excesses of 15 in the Central Provinces, 15 in Eastern Bengal and Assam, 67 in Bengal, 1,13 in the United Provinces, 1,23 in the Punjab and 2,96 in Bombay and the Imperial excesses of 43 in Berar and 47 in the North-West Frontier Province have been sanctioned, while the Imperial excess of 8 in the Punjab requires to be sanctioned.

165. The excess in England (£5,2) was due to the demand for stores having proved larger than the forecast (£7,9), partly counterbalanced by a decrease (£2,7) chiefly in the charges against the Literary grant (£1,1) and other minor variations.

166. The total receipts in this section showed an improvement of £57,2 or R8,58 over the Budget Estimate, and of £74,3 or R11,14 over the actuals of the previous year. As compared with the Budget, the excess was spread over all the heads. Of the increase, £3,1 or R46 occurred under Receipts in aid of Superannuation, Retired and Compassionate Allowances in Contributions for Pensions and Gratuities due chiefly to pensionary contribution on behalf of District Board employés in the United Provinces; £1,8 or R73 under Stationery and Printing, chiefly in receipts from sale of Statioery in the United Provinces and the Punjab, and in Other Press Receipts in the Central Provinces and the United Provinces; £28,2 or R4,22 under Exchange and £21,1 or R3,17 under Miscellaneous, chiefly under Premium on Bills, Unclaimed Deposits and Rents and in England in fines and penalties incurred by contractors providing stores.

167. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the principal increase of £80,5 or R12,08 occurred under Miscellaneous caused by large adjustments on account of lapsed deposits, by higher recoveries of expenditure on famine labour, by the adjustment of the value of Currency Notes assumed to be no longer in circulation and by the high receipts in England on account of fines and penalties incurred by contractors, partly counterbalanced by a falling-off of £11,2 or R1,68 under Exchange.

168. The Indian receipts under this head exceeded the Budget by 91 and the actuals of the previous year by 83. The improvement, as compared with the Budget, was chiefly contributed by the United Provinces, and mainly occurred under Subscriptions under the Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations (26) and Contributions for Pensions and Gratuities (41). The excess in the former was due to the increase in the number of new entrants, while the improvement in the latter was caused by the admission, under the orders of the Local Government, of a pensionary contribution on behalf of District Board employés. There were also noticeable excesses, under the former head, in India (18), the Punjab (7), Madras (10) and Bombay (7), which were more or less caused by the increase in the number of married subscribers, while the principal decreases, under the latter, were due to decline in the number of officers on foreign service. The change in the method of adjustment in regard to the contributions for pensions of District Board employés and the capitalized value of pensions of those District Fund servants hitherto taken under this head, being now transferred to the adjusting head "Contribution between Imperial and Local," chiefly accounts for the fall in Berar. The Budget in India was an under-estimate. The increase in Bombay (9) under Subscriptions to the Military, etc., Funds was due to the receipt of marriage donations made in India by officers residing in Europe. The fall under Subscriptions to the Civil Funds in almost all the provinces was due to decline in the membership. The increase under Other Items occurred almost entirely in Bengal, and was mainly due to the transfer to this head of the balance of the Police Superannuation Fund (30) on the abolition of the Fund.

169. In England the decrease occurred under Civil and Military Funds.

170. The total receipts exceeded the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 73 and 24, respectively. The improvement over the Estimate was due to increased receipts from Sale of Stationery (35) and Other Press Receipts (37). The increase under the first head occurred chiefly in the United Provinces (15), on account of supplies of stationery to Railways on cash payment, and in the Punjab (18), due to high demands from the North Western Railway owing to new projects. Under Sale of Gazettes and other Publications the increase of 9 in the United Provinces was due to sales of gazettes, books and miscellaneous forms by the Government Press. The decline in India (10) was due to over-estimate, while that in Madras (5) was the result of short receipts from the sale of Acts and books, etc. The improvement under Other Press Receipts in the Central Provinces (12) was due to the large amount of printing work done at the Jail Presses, in the United Provinces (30), to increased receipts from the Civil Engineering College Press, in Madras (9), owing to under-estimate and to recoveries from the Bombay University, for which sufficient provision was not made in Bombay (7). These increases were to some extent counterbalanced by decreases in India (17), due to over-estimate, and in Bengal (13), to smaller recoveries for value of printing work done for Local Funds, etc.

171. The actuals under this head vary with the average rate of exchange, and variations in the sterling transactions of the Railways.

172. The Budget, as usual, was calculated at an average rate of 16*d.* the rupee, but the actual average rate proved to be somewhat better, viz., 16·043*d.* This accounted for the net credit of 7,06 under Net Expenditure in England. Under Guaranteed Companies, the Budget provided for a total credit of 7,97 under Exchange, composed of 97 on account of withdrawals in India (£23,7) on Capital Account of the Madras Railway, and of 7,00 for recoveries on account of stores used on Revenue Account. The capital transactions in India of that Railway, however, resulted in a receipt of £150,8, due chiefly to the Company's not having been able to work up to the programme of works proposed in the Budget Estimate. As a consequence, the net debit under Exchange amounted to 5,66. On the other hand, the credit under

Revenue stores was greater by 2,32, due to larger issue of stores from Capital to Revenue Account. Under Subsidised Companies, the debit against the Southern Mahratta Railway is the result of a write-back (17) of exchange on capital transactions, over-credited to the Civil Department in 1904-05. The variations from Budget under the other Railways do not require special notice. The credits or debits to Exchange on the items under the head Remittance Accounts represent chiefly exchange at the average rate of the year on sterling transactions. The large credit under Miscellaneous is due mainly to the exchange on the net receipts in India in connection with the purchase of silver.

173. The receipts in India exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 1,36 and 3,99, respectively. As compared with the Budget, the increases under Premium on Bills (30), Unclaimed Deposits (1,11), Government Audit Fees (17), Rents (41) and Extraordinary Items (20) were partly counterbalanced by short receipts under Contributions (45) and Other Items (38). The increase under Premium on Bills occurred in India and Bombay, owing in the former to large transactions in Calcutta, and in the latter to Currency transfers having been permitted between Bombay and Lahore, Allahabad and Cawnpore. Under Unclaimed Deposits the receipts are of a variable nature, but in India the excess was chiefly due to certain lapsed deposits of the Bombay High Court having been credited in the India Books; and in Bombay to the adjustment of certain allowances to village officers which had long been held in deposit. In Bengal the Budget proved too high; while in Eastern Bengal and Assam the receipts were under-estimated. Under Government Audit Fees, the excess in the Punjab (41) was due to a change in classification, partly counterbalanced by short receipts in the United Provinces (10), mainly due to non-recovery of certain fees before the close of the financial year; and in Bombay (24) to the postponement of the new Local Audit Scheme. The decrease under Contributions was mainly due to a falling-off of 11 in the United Provinces owing to the contributions for Municipal clerks in Commissioners' and Magistrates' offices having been adjusted by deduction from charges; of 53 in the Punjab, due partly to the change in classification referred to above, and partly to low receipts from Local Funds for the the Local Audit Scheme; and of 10 in Madras to the non-realization of the balance of an endowment for which credit was taken in the Budget. These decreases were partly counterbalanced by an increase of 13 in Bengal, due to large receipts from the Howrah-Amta Railway, and of 6 in Bombay, due to the credit to Government of the balance of a defunct Municipality and to the recovery of a contribution made in a previous year to another Municipality. The increase under Rents in the United Provinces (8) is attributable to higher receipts of rent on account of nazul lands and houses; and in Madras (46) to improved receipts from markets and choultry rents, partly counterbalanced by a decrease of 13 in Burma owing to the change of the period of currency of Bazar licenses. Under Miscellaneous Fees, Fines and Forfeitures small receipts from fees of survey of tea lands account for a falling-off of 14 in Bengal, against an increase of 6 in India owing mainly to large receipts of fees for patents and the Indore Agency Road Fund, and of 8 in Madras consequent on ordinary fluctuations. Under Extraordinary Items the receipt in Eastern Bengal and Assam (13) occurred at the end of the year and was not foreseen, while that in the United Provinces (5) represents commutation value of wasika pensions. Under Other Items the actuals fell short of the Budget Estimate by 38. There were excesses in almost all provinces, except Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal and the North-West Frontier Province, where there were decreases of 3,01, 1,18 and 17, respectively. The falling-off in Burma was due to short Kheddah receipts; that in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal to an over-estimate; and that in the North-West Frontier Province to short receipts of tolls on the Khyber Road. Adjustment of the value of old Currency Notes, assumed to be no longer in circulation, accounts for the increase in the United Provinces, Madras and Bombay, enhanced in the first by the sale of nazul lands and houses, in Madras by an increase of 7 under percentages chargeable on European Stores, and of 7 under recoveries on account of Law charges, and in Bombay by the write-back of certain Tagai remissions allowed in 1903-04 (15) and by percentage chargeable on European stores (10). The excess in the Punjab was due to the sale of a Municipal Press and Poor-house nazul property; and that in India to special receipts of the Seistan Mission (30). As compared with the actuals of the previous year, the increase was caused by higher receipts under Other Items in Bombay (1,74), due to large recoveries of expenditure on famine labour, and to the adjustment on account of value of Currency Notes as stated above, and India (78), due partly to the special receipts of the Seistan Mission referred to above and to high charges under percentage on Europe Stores and under Unclaimed Deposits in the Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal taken together (96) and the United Provinces (63).

Section E.—MISCELLANEOUS—concluded.

174. The increase of £12,0 in England occurred mainly in fines and penalties incurred by the contractors in providing stores.

175. The expenditure in this Section exceeded the Budget Estimate and actuals of the previous year by £42,5 or R6,38 and £53,3 or R8,00, respectively. As compared with the Budget, there was an excess of £81,7 or R12,25 under Miscellaneous, which was mainly due to charges in connection with the visit of Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, to expenditure on earthquake relief measures in Kangra in the Punjab, and to charges of the Special Commission of Enquiry on Excise Operations. Against this excess there were decreases of £15,0 or R2,25 under Territorial and Political Pensions, due chiefly to lapses by death; of £15,8 or R2,37 under Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances, which occurred in the absentee allowances of Civil Officers in England; and of £9,3 or R1,40 under Stationery and Printing, chiefly due to large recoveries for work done for the Postal and Telegraph Departments, to decreases under Establishment, Supplies and Services and Contingencies, and to a reduction in piece-work charges, partly counterbalanced by an excess in England (£19,3) owing to a large demand for stores from India.

176. As compared with the actuals of the previous year, there were increases of £15,9 or R2,39 under Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances in England; of £32,2 or R4,83 under Superannuation Allowances and Pensions, due to the normal growth of pension charges; and of £24,3 or R3,65 under Miscellaneous, due to the causes explained above. There were, on the other hand, decreases of £17,4 or R2,61 under Stationery and Printing, chiefly in England, owing to the larger indents from India in the previous year, and of £1,7 or R26 under Territorial and Political Pensions.

177. The Indian charges under this head fell short of the Budget and the actuals of the previous year by 2,30 and 33, respectively. The saving, as compared with the Budget, occurred in all the provinces, except India and Berar, and was due chiefly to lapses by death. Under Territorial and Political Pensions the large saving in Bengal (1,05) was due to the death of Nawab Shamsi Jehan Begum (1,00) and Syad Khadem Mirza Dara Kudr (10); in Madras (50) it was due to lapses by death, transfer of a Kurnool pension, and non-utilization or partial utilization of the provisions for marriage, funeral and extraordinary charges and for commutations of pensions; and in Bombay (36) to the postponement of payment of arrear pensions to Angria Family owing to some legal difficulties, partly counterbalanced by increased arrear payments of Satara and miscellaneous pensions; in India the excess (9) occurred under Carnatic Stipendiaries. Under Charitable Allowances the savings in Burma (6) and the Punjab (10) were due to lapses by death, and in the United Provinces (10) to over-estimates. The excess of 7 (Imperial) in India requires to be sanctioned, while that of 2 (Imperial) in Berar has been sanctioned.

178. The Indian expenditure showed a saving of 5 as compared with the Budget Estimate chiefly due to over-estimate. The excess of 1 (Imperial) in the Central Provinces has been sanctioned.

179. The decrease in England (£15,8), as compared with the Budget, occurred in the Absentee Allowances of Civil Officers.

180. The Indian expenditure under this head exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 1,07 and 4,86, respectively. The major portion of the excess occurred under Superannuation and Retired Allowances, and was mainly due to sufficient provision not having been made in the Estimate for the normal growth of the pension list The principal variation was in Madras owing to a credit of 1,40 taken for probable savings due to lapses by death and transfers to other provinces.

181. The following statement shows the growth of pension charges during the last six years:—

	R
1900-1901	1,09,17
1901-1902	1,12,15
1902-1903	1,16,58
1903-1904	1,21,75
1904-1905	1,28,38
1905-1906	1,33,20

182. Under Compassionate Allowances the increase in Bombay (10) was due to larger payments on account of Compassionate Gratuities and payments under Wardens' Official Fund. The increase in India (15) under Pensions of the Civil Funds was due to special payments of donation on the death of a subscriber. There were no actuals in Berar under Other Charges against a provision of 16 in the Budget, chiefly on account of the adjustment under I.—Land Revenue of contributions for pensions of District Board employés, and the capitalized value of pensions of those for whom no contributions were recovered while in service.

183. As compared with the Budget, the decrease in England (£6,2) occurred chiefly under Superannuation Allowances and Pensions.

(a) Excess over the reduced grant.

184. The Indian expenditure fell short of the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 4,28 and 66, respectively. The saving as compared with the Budget was contributed by all the provinces except Madras and occurred mainly under Government Presses. The decrease under Government Press was contributed mainly by India (1,28), Burma (85), Bombay (65), United Provinces (22), the Punjab (17) and Eastern Bengal and Assam with Bengal (19). The saving in India was due to larger recoveries for work done for the Postal and Telegraph Departments, to less charges under the Monotype Press, Simla, than were anticipited, and to petty savings under other Presses, counterbalanced by increased charges under the Central Press and the Simla Branch Press. The saving in Burma (85) was due partly to decreases under establishment, supplies and services, and contingencies, and partly to the non-utilization of the provision for the removal of machinery, stores, etc., to the new building, while that in Bombay (65) was attributable to a reduction in the piece-work charges at the Government Central Press and to a change in the method of calculating the cost of the convict labour employed at the Yerrowda Jail Press. The saving in the United Provinces (22) was due to the partial utilization of the grant for raw materials (8), purchase and upkeep of plant (9) and for railway freight for Government Presses (5), while that in the Punjab (17) occurred chiefly under Lithography. The saving in Bengal was chiefly composed of a decrease in Bengal (31), in the Secretariat and the Presidency Jail Presses, mainly in establishment charges, and supplies and services, counterbalanced by increase both in Assam (5) and the Eastern Bengal Districts (6) owing in the former to an under-estimate, and in the latter chiefly to the increased charges of the Shillong Government Press, due to the partition, being shown against the Eastern Bengal Districts. Under Stationery supplied from Central Stores the increase in Madras (63) was attributed to larger demands received for stationery, and to the higher price of all descriptions of country paper, that in Bombay (18) to increased requirements of public service especially of the Military Department and that in Bengal proper (64) to an under-estimate. The saving in the United Provinces (1,22) was due to a falling-off in the demands from the Allahabad Press, and that in Burma (20) to over-estimate. Under Purchase of Stationery, the Budget was exceeded in India (55), and Madras (23). The excess in the former was due to an under-estimate, while that in the latter was caused by high prices for the printing, badami, etc., papers purchased locally, and by the purchase locally of European articles required urgently. The decrease in Bengal was due to smaller purchases of stationery in the several departments, while the transfer of the charges on account of stationery purchased for Central Stores, to the India Books from 1st July 1904, accounts for the decrease as compared with the actuals of the previous year. The saving in Bombay (25) was due to small supplies of printing paper to the Govenment Presses. Under Stationery Office at the Presidency there were savings in India (8), and Bengal (9) due in the former, to the appointment of the Assistant Controller (accounts) not being filled up till October 1905, and partly to the provision of 12 for the reorganisation of the establishment not having been fully required, and in the latter, to the appointment of an officer in charge of the Form Branch at a lower rate of pay than provided for, and to the provision for the revision of establishment not being used. Under Other Charges the fall in Madras (54) over the actuals of the previous year was attributed to the strike in the Government Press in 1904-5, which necessitated a large amount of printing at private presses. The saving in the United Provinces (9) as compared with the Budget was due to the small amount of printing at private presses.

185. The excess in England (£19,3), was chiefly due to larger demands for stores than were anticipated in the estimate.

(a) Excess over reduced grant.

186. The Indian expenditure exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by 11,91 and 10,27, respectively. The excess as compared with the Budget occurred mainly under Other Items chiefly in India (5,07), due to charges in connection with the visit to India of Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, in the Punjab (1,60), to expenditure on earthquake relief measures in Kangra and in Madras (1,09), chiefly to contributions to municipalities in aid of their balances and under Special Commissions of Enquiry in India (1,31), chiefly on account of the Excise Committee not provided for in the Budget. With the exception of the excess charge in Madras on account of contributions, the reasons mentioned above also account for the excess over the actuals of the previous year.

187. Under Allowances and Rewards the savings in Burma (8), and the United Provinces (5), were chiefly due to a smaller number of officers having earned the language rewards. Under Remittance Charges, the excess in India (68), was due to heavy remittances ordered from the Reserve Treasury and Bank of Bengal during the year; in the Punjab (19), and Bombay (64), to larger remittances than were anticipated. The savings in Burma (8), and in the United Provinces (11) were due to over-estimate and in Bengal (27), to large withdrawals of treasury surpluses by means of supply bills. Under Charitable Donations the excess in Bengal (34), was due chiefly to a grant of 10 for homeless Indian women for which there was no provision, to large grants to the Calcutta Female Nurses Institution (14) and to St. Andrew's Colonial Home (6) ; in the United Provinces (8), chiefly to high expenditure on account of maintenance of indigent persons in connection with the scarcity; in Madras (5), to a grant to the Young Women's Christian Association, and in Bombay mainly to the deportation charges of Turkish and Syrian vagrants from Aden. The increase under Rewards for Destruction of Wild Animals which occurred mainly in the Central Provinces was due to higher rates of rewards sanctioned for destruction of wild dogs, and to the deputation of an officer for destroying man-eaters in the Mandla District. Under Petty Establishment the saving in Berar (53) was due to the transfer of conservancy charges to the head Sanitation and Vaccination under 24.—Medical; in Burma (13), and Madras (34), chiefly to over-estimate ; the excesses in Bengal considered with Eastern Bengal and Assam (23), and in the Punjab (32), were chiefly due to purchase of furniture for Circuit Houses, and in the former partly also to an increase in Khedda charges. Under Special Commissions of Enquiry the increase in India (1,31), was due to non-provision in the Budget for the charges of Excise, Assam Labour and Stores Committees ; the decrease in Bengal (13), was caused by the partial utilisation of the provision for deputation of an officer for classification of old Police Chowkidari records. Under Irrecoverable Loans written off the increase in the Central Provinces (11), was due to remissions of Takavi advances, and in Eastern Bengal and Assam (Assam side) (13), to absence of provision. The re-adjustment of remissions adjusted in previous years, which resulted in a credit, accounts for minus entry of 11, in Bombay. Large remissions in 1904-05 in the Central Provinces account chiefly for the decrease as compared with the actuals of the previous year. Under Rents, Rates and Taxes the decrease occurred mainly in Bombay (13), and was due to a reduction in the rates under a fresh award. Under Extraordinary Items, the actuals in India (39) represent charges on account of portraits of His Majesty the King-Emperor done in England, and those in Madras (18) represent the repayment of the principal of certain Tanjore bonds. Under Other Items the excesses in India, the Punjab and Madras have been explained above. The excess in Burma (83), was mainly due to a contribution of 1,10 of the Moulmein Municipality sanctioned at the close of the year, and that in Bengal chiefly to the payment of a compensation (17), to the Patna Municipality for the loss of ferry income, caused by the establishment of a ferry service by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway between Paleza and Marafganj Ghats, and of a compensation to Mr. Rolt (18), late manager of the Khangra Estate in Purnea. The saving in Bombay (26) was in the interest on Guaranteed loans to Native States in consequence of the delay in the submission of claim.

187*a*. In England the excess was mainly due to an increase in the payments for Marine Insurance.

188. When the Budget Estimate was framed, Madras and Bombay were the only provinces where it was considered necessary to make provisions for direct Famine Relief. Distress, however, proved less severe than was apprehended, and the total expenditure on Famine Relief showed a saving of 11,38 as compared with the Budget, although expenditure was eventually found necessary in India, Burma, the United Provinces and the Punjab. This, together with the net savings on Protective Railways and Irrigation Works (9 49), resulted in the employment of a larger amount in the Reduction or Avoidance of Debt.

189. The following statement shows the total amount chargeable to this grant, and its distribution :—

190. In view of the failure of autumn and winter rains in Guzerat and in the Deccan, provision was made in Bombay (16,76) and Madras (15,00) for expenditure on Famine Relief works. Later on the condition in Ajmer and Baluchistan (India), Burma, the United Provinces and the Punjab rendered provision for Famine Relief necessary. The total actual expenditure on Famine Relief was within the Budget grant. The excesses of 6,77 (Imperial) in India, 2 (Provincial) in Burma, 8,94 (Provincial) in the United Provinces, 5 (Provincial) in the Punjab and 96 (Imperial) in Bombay have been sanctioned.

191. The increases under India of 74 on the Tirupatur-Krishnagiri Railway and 89 on the Morappur-Dharmapuri Railway, as compared with the Budget estimate, were due to expenditure on purchase and construction of rolling stock and purchase of plant not originally provided for. As regards England, no provision was made in the Budget for these two lines as it was understood that all indents would be complied with before the commencement of the official year 1905-1906, subsequently, however, it was found that expenditure on certain outstanding indents had to be met. The Imperial excess of 1,75 in India has been sanctioned.

192. The outlay in India fell short of the Budget Estimate by 13,02, due to smaller expenditure than was anticipated, in all the provinces, except the Central Provinces and Madras. The chief decreases occur in Bengal (5,82), due to slow progress of works, in the United Provinces (6,39), due to the unavoidable postponement of works and the prevalence of sickness, and in Bombay (2,77) due to short outlay on the Chankapur tank. Against this decrease, there is a set-off of an increase of 2,16 in Madras, due to outlay on the Mopad Project, a new work which was begun during the year. The actuals for the year exceeded those of the previous year by 11,67, due chiefly to large expenditure on tank works in the Central Provinces and to increased outlay on the canals in the United Provinces and on the Chankapur tank in Bombay.

195. These figures show that the net result of the working of all railways was a gain of £2,001,9 after meeting all charges for interest, annuities, etc., which, however, compared with the gain in the previous year, shows a decrease of £103,6 or R15,54. Under Receipts there was an increase of £446,1 or R66,92 due to the opening for public traffic of new lines, to an improvement in passenger traffic in connection with marriages and fairs and to larger movements of food grains in consequence of scarcity in Guzerat, Kathiawar, Central India and certain districts of the Madras and Bombay Presidencies. There was also a general development of passenger traffic on the larger railway systems and of goods traffic, particularly in coal and cotton, on the Bengal-Nagpur and Great Indian Peninsula Railways respectively. The total charges were more by £549,7 or R82,45, of which R27,94, consist of an increase in working expenses due to renewals of Permanent-way, girders and engines, opening of new lines, stations and huts, repairs to bridges and flood damages, strengthening of girders and outlay on flood protection works, also to renewals of engines and coaching vehicles and increased train mileage run; and £320,5, or R48,08 represent higher charges for interest and annuities due to the increased capital employed on construction of railways.

197. State Railways.—The gross receipts under India for the year 1905-06 show an increase compared with the actuals of the previous year, of 1,09,38. The variations on the more important railways were as under :—

Increases (+)		Decreases (—)
East Indian	10,09	North Western Railway	60,36
Eastern Bengal	22,34	Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot	66,87

198. There was thus an improvement in the earnings of all the more important railway systems, with the exception of the North Western Railway, the large decrease shown against the Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways being merely nominal, arising, as it does, from the exclusion of the Bengal and North-Western Railway earnings from the Government accounts of the year. The principal increases were due :—East Indian Railway (10,09) to a large increase in pilgrim traffic, Eastern Bengal State Railway (22,34) to the additional mileage of the Bengal Central Railway, the opening of new lines and development of passenger and jute traffic, Rajputana-Malwa Railway (26,83) to the celebration of a large number of Hindu marriages, the exodus from Rajputana owing to famine, and large exports of grain to Guzerat, Kathiawar and Central India, Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway (7,12) to general expansion of coaching traffic and the "Kumbh Mela," Bengal-Nagpur Railway (56,35) to general development of all descriptions of traffic, particularly coal, Southern Mahratta Railway (6,19) to general development of coaching traffic and to movements of food-grains to tracts visited by scarcity and drought, Burma Railways (6,88) to large increases in paddy traffic, Great Indian Peninsula Railway (29,28) to a large passenger traffic in connection with marriages and fairs and to improvement in cotton, coal and manganese traffic. The decrease of R60,36 on the North Western Railway was due mainly to short exports of wheat on account of the uncertainty as to the wheat crops of 1906, and that on the Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways to the failure of the wheat and linseed export viâ Mokamah and to the transactions of the Bengal and North-Western Railway being excluded from the Government accounts of this year, as explained above.

199. Compared with the Budget Estimate there was a net gain of 1,08,39 made up as follows :—

Gains (+)		Losses (—)
East Indian	6,30	North Western	36,88
Eastern Bengal	99	Tirhoot	99
Rajputana-Malwa	26,13	Indian Midland	22
Oudh and Rohilkhand	1,81	South Indian	15

Other Railways—Imperial	24,71
„ Provincial	11
	1,46,64		38,25
		Net gain	1,08,39

200. The above results were due generally to the same causes as account for the variations compared with the actuals of the previous year.

201. Guaranteed Railways.—The total net receipts were worse by 22,93 than those of the previous year, but exceeded the Budget Estimate by 3,29. The decrease as compared with actuals of the previous year is only nominal, as it is chiefly due to the transactions of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway for three months of the year, January to March 1906, being shown under State Railways, owing to the purchase of the line by the State on 1st January 1906. As compared with the Budget Estimate, the increase occurred on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway due to development of coaching traffic of all classes and to heavy bookings of raw cotton, metals and railway plant for the Nagda-Muttra Railway.

202. Compared with the actuals of the previous year there was an increase of 10,09, due chiefly to a large increase in pilgrim traffic and to a reduction in traffic suspense balances. The increase would have been larger but for a decline in food grains and seed traffic. The increase of 6,30 on the Budget and Revised estimates is attributable to the same causes.

203. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there was an improvement in earnings of 22,34, due partly to the amalgamation of the Bengal Central Railway with the main line, and to the opening for traffic of the Kaunia-Bonarpara and Murshedabad branches, and partly to the development of passenger and jute traffic on the main line.

204. Compared with actuals of the previous year the receipts show an increase of 26,83. The improvement under Coaching is accounted for by the celebration of a larger number of Hindu marriages, the exodus from Rajputana owing to famine, the Royal visit and the industrial exhibition held at Benares and under "Goods" to the larger demand for grain in Guzerat, Kathiawar and Central India owing to scanty rainfall and to a better cotton market in Bombay. The increase of 26,13, on the Budget estimate was due generally to the same causes.

205. Compared with actuals of the previous year there was a net decrease of 60,36. Coaching traffic improved by 18,51, consequent on opening of new lines, facilities afforded to pilgrim traffic and general development. On the other hand, Goods traffic fell off to the extent of 78,56 due mainly to short exports owing to uncertainty as to the wheat crops of 1906. The net decrease of 36,88, on the Budget estimate was due to the same causes which were anticipated only to a partial extent.

206. The receipts exceeded those of the previous year by 7,12. Under Coaching there was an increase of 9,53, due to the Kumbh Mela held at Allahabad and to general expansion of traffic, while Goods and Miscellaneous showed a falling off of 2,41, due mainly to limited exports of wheat consequent on the failure, through severe frost, of the rabi harvest of 1905. The increase of 1,81, on the Budget estimate was due to the improvement in passenger traffic owing chiefly to the Kumbh Mela.

207. Compared with the actuals of the previous year the receipts show an improvement of 56,35, due to general development of traffic of all descriptions and particularly coal. The increase of 36,70 on the Budget estimate was due to improvement in long distance coaching traffic between Calcutta and Bombay and Madras, pilgrim and coal traffic and to an unexpected increase in wheat and seed traffic terminating at Shalimar for export.

208. The earnings were less than those of the previous year by 2,51, due to the failure of the wheat and linseed export viâ Mokameh, and to the fact that the year 1904-05 included the special traffic of the Thibet Mission. The same causes generally account for the decrease of 3,93, on the Budget estimate.

209. The receipts compared with the actuals of the previous year show a net increase of 42 only, due to an increase in coaching traffic consequent on the Royal visit, counterbalanced to a certain extent by a decline in grain and oilseed traffic. The small decrease of 22 compared with the Budget estimate does not call for remark.

210. Compared with the actuals of the previous year the receipts show an improvement of 6,19, to which coaching traffic contributed 3,13, due to general development, following on improved train services and other improvements tending to the comfort and convenience of the travelling public, and goods traffic 4,94, consequent on larger movements of food grains and local merchandise, to tracts visited by scarcity and drought, while there was a falling off of 1,88 in Miscellaneons and Suspense. The increase of 7,29, on the Budget estimate was due generally to the same causes.

213. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the receipts show an improvement of 29,28. Under Coaching there was an increase of 13,84, due to the Royal visit, large movements of people in connection with marriages and fairs and to the issue of week-end tickets, for all classes, between some of the most important stations; goods traffic also improved by 10,04, chiefly under cotton, cotton seed, coal and manganese ore. The increase of 39,23, on the Budget estimate was due generally to the same causes.

214. Compared with the actuals of the previous year there was a net increase in receipts of 68,26, made up of increases aggregating 81,18 and decreases 12,92. The principal increases were 1,33, on the Tinnevelly-Quilon Railway, due to the entire length of the Native State Section having been open for traffic throughout the year; 2,45, on the Jodhpur-Hyderabad Railway (British Section), due mainly to increased traffic in Jowar and Bajra from Sindh to Marwar owing to famine, and in rice to the Bombay Presidency; 5,32 on the Assam-Bengal Railway, due to general improvement in all classes of traffic; 1,18 on the Lucknow-Bareilly Railway, attributable chiefly to improvement in Goods traffic, consequent on heavy exports of fuel, jaggree and grain; 47,31 due to the inclusion of the earnings of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway from 1st January 1906 to 31st March 1906, consequent on the purchase of this line by the State; 2,79 on the Mysore State Railway, due to general development of passenger traffic, and to large movements of food grains and local merchandise for consumption in tracts affected by scarcity and drought; 9,53 on the North-East line (Madras Railway), chiefly due to increase in grain traffic owing to scarcity in the Madras Districts; and 7,87, on the Agra-Delhi Chord Railway, consequent on the line having been open for traffic throughout the year.

215. The principal decrease 12,14 occurred on the Bengal Central Railway, and was only nominal being due to the amalgamation of the line with the Eastern Bengal State Railway from 1st July 1905.

216. The actuals exceeded the Budget estimate by 24,71 made up of increases 25,48 [of which the principal were 2,57 on the Guntakal-Mysore Frontier Railway, due to certain arrear adjustments of traffic and 1,86 on the Jodhpur-Hyderabad (British Section), 1,36 on the Lucknow-Bareilly, 2,87 on the Mysore State Railway and 10,44 on the North-East line, Madras Railway, due to the same causes as account for the increases compared with the actuals of the previous year], and of small decreases on individual lines aggregating 77.

Gross Receipts.

219. The receipts of the Bombay Baroda and Central India Railway compared with actuals of the previous year show a nominal decrease of 46,88, due to the transactions for the three months, January to March 1906, being shewn under XXVI—State Railways, Gross receipts, owing to the purchase of this line by the State with effect from 1st January 1906. Allowing for this the total gross receipts for the year amounted to 1,85,49 or an increase of 43 only over last year's actuals. On the Madras Railway the increase of 5,25 was due to an increase in passenger traffic resulting from abatement of plague, and to large imports of grain and seed into districts affected by scarcity and drought. The increase of 3,18 on the Budget Estimate of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway was due to development of coaching traffic of all classes and to the heavy traffic handled in raw cotton, metals, sugar and railway plant for the Nagda-Muttra Railway; while the decrease of 2,44 on the Madras Railway was due to Goods traffic not having developed to the full extent anticipated and allowed for in the Budget Estimate.

Working Expenses.

220. The working expenses of the B. B. and C. I. Railway compared with the actuals of the previous year show a nominal decrease of 20,11 due to the transactions for the three months January to March 1906 being shewn under 38.—State Railways, Working expenses. Allowing for this the total working expenses for the year amounted to 82,92 or a decrease of 91 only compared with last year's actuals. On the Madras Railway the increase of 1,34, over the actuals of the previous year, was due to an increase in the number of goods vehicles renewed during the year, and the decrease of 2,61, compared with the Budget estimate to short outlay on repairs to bridges.

221. The credits under India, represent the amounts recoverable from the Mysore and Travancore Durbars, and from the Ahmedabad-Dholka Railway Company. The recovery from the Mysore Durbar, is in settlement of the net charge for interest paid to the Southern Mahratta Railway Company, in connection with the Mysore Railway. The details of the amounts are as follows:—

	MYSORE RAILWAY—
7,18	Interest on Capital	7,20	7,20	7,18
4	Less—Charge for interest borne by Government for the unexpended balance of the Capital retained in its hands	2	3	4

4,25	Net receipts	4,00	5,50	5,70
2,89	Net charge for interest recoverable from the Mysore Durbar	3,18	1,67	1,44

The recovery from the Travancore Durbar is on account of:—

(i) interest on so much of the South Indian Railway debentures as have been raised for the Native State Section of the Tinnevelly-Quilon Railway, and

(ii) interest on Government advances, i.e., on outlay in excess of the amount of debenture capital raised in respect of the section.

The recovery due from the Ahmedabad-Dholka Railway Company, represents interest and dividends on the shares aggregating R59,900 allotted to Government in respect of survey expenditure, and the value of famine earthwork at normal rates, which is treated as a Government share in the undertaking. The actuals for the year include adjustments in respect of previous years' interest and dividends.

222. The credits under England represent the amounts received from the Rohilkhand-Kumaon and Southern Punjab Railway Companies, in settlement of the Government share of the surplus profits of those Railways.

An explanation of the variations, compared with the actuals of the previous year and the figures of the Budget estimate, is given below. Of the excess of 65,05 under Imperial, 61,75 has been sanctioned, and 3,30 requires to be sanctioned.

224. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there was a net increase in working expenses of 10,06, due to heavy expenditure on renewals of coaching vehicles, the opening of new stations and block huts, fuel, lighting, etc., and on maintaining the Company's block signalling instruments. The increase of 23,93 on the Budget Estimate was due generally to the same causes.

225. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there was an increase of 20,49, due to heavy renewals of Permanent-way, girders and locomotives, and to an increase in traffic expenses, owing to the taking over of the Bengal Central Railway, and the opening to traffic of the Kaunia-Bonarpara and Murshedabad branches: also to the general increase in earnings. The increase of 2,04 on the Budget Estimate was principally due to heavier renewals of Permanent-way and locomotives being carried out than were provided for.

226. The increase of 8,14 in working expenses, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was attributable directly to the increase in earnings, and indirectly to the large share of the combined expenses of the system falling on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway consequent on increased earnings. The increase of 6,31 on the Budget estimate was due to the same causes.

227. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there was an increase of 13,26, due to increased train mileage, use of coal instead of wood on certain sections of the line, heavy repairs to rolling stock, and the opening of new lines: also to heavy payments made to the East Indian Railway for use of the line from Ghaziabad to Delhi, and decoration charges in connection with the Royal Visit. The decrease of 15,64, on the Budget estimate was entirely due to the short supply of sleepers, and late arrival of Permanent-way material from England.

228. The working expenses show an increase of 8,39 on the actuals of the previous year, made up of an increase of 12,35 under Maintenance, Locomotive, Traffic and miscellaneous expenses, due to heavy outlay on renewals of Permanent-way and girders, repairs to bridges, increases in numbers and salaries of existing staff and to additional train mileage run, counterbalanced by a decrease of 3,96 under Carriage and Wagon expenses, owing to no special renewals of rolling stock having been undertaken during the year. The increase of 10,13 on the Budget estimate was due generally to the same causes.

230. Compared with actuals of the previous year, there was an increase of 1,40 in working expenses, due to the large quantities of local traffic carried over short distances, entailing a higher cost of working than the Mokameh export traffic of the previous year, with a smaller amount of earnings. The mileage maintained and worked was also in excess of the previous year. The same causes also contributed to the increase of 2,12 on the Budget estimate.

233. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there was an increase of 5,42 in working expenses due to employment of additional staff consequent on the increased length of open line, to abnormal outlay on strengthening girders and on flood protective works, to increased consumption of oil and generally to increased train mileage run. The decrease of 2,02, compared with the Budget Estimate, was due chiefly to the programme of renewals not having been carried out in full, owing to late arrival of English materials.

241. There are no important variations in the charges in England, which represent interest on advances made to the Companies, from funds raised under the provisions of the Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway Purchase Act. The actuals in India, represent interest on Indian outlay of the Bengal-Nagpur and Indian Midland Railway Extensions, and interest on advances to the other Companies in excess of capital raised. The amounts shewn against the Mayavaram-Mutupet Railway represent interest @4 per cent on the Government loan.

Land and Supervision.

243. Supervision charges are now accounted for under head 41—Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure, and a comparison with actuals of the previous year, would not serve any useful purpose. Compared with the Budget Estimate, there was a decrease in charges for land of 5,12, due mainly to smaller acquisition of land for the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway than was provided for. In future charges on account of land for this Railway will be debited to the capital account.

245. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there was a net decrease of 1,94 in payments for land, made up of decreases aggregating 4,70 and increases 2,76. The principal decreases were 1,69, on the Bengal and North Western Railway and 2,42 on the Southern Punjab Railway and extensions due to smaller acquistion of land; while the Amritsar-Patti Railway accounts for an increase of 1,57. The lapse of 5,40 on the Budget Estimate under Imperial occurred chiefly in connection with the following railways:—Dacca extensions 60, Purulia-Ranchi 75, Khandwa—Akola-Basim 1,56 Southern Punjab extensions 65, Rawalpindi-Murree 50, Bezwada-Masulipatan 50 and Rohilkhand-Kumaon extensions 88.

No useful comparison can be made between the outlay of the two years by individual projects, as surveys are being completed and new surveys are being started every year. The excess of 8 under Local, Madras, has been sanctioned by the Local Government.

249. The decrease as compared with the actuals of the previous year and the Budget Estimate was due, in the Punjab, to heavy remissions of revenue on account of the failure of the cotton crop, and in the United Provinces to the small area irrigated for sugarcane, owing to frost and bad seed, and generally to the unfavourable character of the season as compared with that of 1904-05.

Direct Receipts—Imperial Works.

250. As compared with the Budget Estimate, the actuals for the year shew a falling off of 6,14, the decrease occurring mainly in the Punjab (5,42), and being due to heavy remissions of revenue on accou t of the failure of the cotton crop on the Bari Doab, Lower Chenab, Lower Jhelum, and Upper Sutlej Inundation canals. As compared with the previous year, there is a decrease of 72,54, which is chiefly due to the provincialisation of three-eighths of the revenue in the Punjab and of one-half in Bombay, from 1st April 1905.

Direct Receipts—Provincial Works.

251. The actuals shew a decrease of 9.33 as compared with the Budget Estimate, which occurs principally in the United Provinces (7,27) and the Punjab (3,25). The decrease in the United Provinces is spread over all the canals, and is due to the small area irrigated for sugar-cane, owing to frost and bad seed, while that in the Panjab has been explained under Imperial. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, there is an improvement of 53,76, which is mainly due to the provincialisation of three-eighths of the receipts in the Punjab and of one-half in Bombay. The decrease of 15,06 in the United Provinces is due to the unfavourable character of the season as compared with that of 1904-05.

252. The actuals of the year exceeded those of the previous year by 11,33, the increase being chiefly due, in Madras to the favourable character of the season and to the grant of few remissions, and in Bombay to an abundant supply of water being available, credit to Land Revenue of village cess fund receipts for the first time, and other causes. Compared with the Budget Estimate, there was an increase of 7,94 due principally to the reasons above explained.

253. The actuals shew a decrease of 2,39 as compared with those of the previous year, which was due, in the Punjab, to heavy remissions on account of the failure of the cotton crop, and in Bombay to one-half of the receipts being provincialised. Compared with the Budget Estimate, there was a decrease of 47.

Provincial and Local Works.

254. The actuals of the year were in excess of the Budget Estimate, and those of the previous year by 71 and 18, respectively. The former is the net result of several increases and decreases due to various causes. The difference in Bombay, compared with the actuals of the previous year, is due to half of the revenue having been provincialised from 1st April 1905.

255. The increase of £94,0 or R14,10 as compared with the actuals of 1904-05, was due to heavy maintenance charges on canals in the Punjab and Bengal, to a large programme of works in the North-West Frontier Province, and to an increase of nearly 4 lakhs in Interest on Debt. The decrease of £13,0 or R1,95 as compared with the Budget Estimate, is chiefly due to the special reserve of 10 lakhs, for Minor Works and Navigation, not having been fully utilised.

Imperial Works.

256. The expenditure during 1905-06 was less than that of the previous year by 24,98, and was mainly due to three-eighths of the expenditure in the Punjab and of one-half in Bombay being provincialised with effect from 1st April 1905. The actuals exceeded the Budget Estimate by 3,75, the increase being due, in the Punjab to the development of irrigation and heavy maintenance charges on certain canals, and in Madras to increased expenditure for repairing damages caused by the floods of 1903 to the Kistna delta system, and for providing additional tools and plant. The excess is covered by a re-appropriation.

Provincial Works.

257. The actuals shew an increase of 28,36, as compared with those of the previous year which was mainly due to a proportion of the expenditure in the Punjab and Bombay having been provincialised as stated under Imperial. Compared with the Budget Estimate, there is an increase of 2,80, which occurs principally in the Punjab and has been explained under Imperial, and is covered by sanction.

259. The actuals of 1905-06 exceeded those of the previous year by 7,09. The increase was due, in Bengal to the purchase of a suction dredger for the Calcutta and Eastern Canals and heavy maintenance charges, and in the N.-W. F. Province to a large programme of works having been executed. The decrease of 7,16 as compared with the Budget Estimate, was mainly due to the full amount of the special reserve of o lakhs not having been utilised, and to short outlay in Burma due to provision for works being greatly in excess of requirements. The excess of 68 in the Central Provinces, 7 in Eastern Bengal and Assam, ,60 in Bengal, 39 in the Punjab and 4,73 in Madras have been sanctioned.

A.—Public Works in charge of Departmental Officers. B.—Public Works in charge of Civil Officers.

Imperial Works.

262. The revenue realised by Departmental officers exceeded that of the previous year, and the Budget Estimate, the increase being due to the credit to this head of the revenue of certain buildings for the use of Imperial departments in the United Provinces and Bombay, classed as Imperial under the terms of the new Provincial Settlement.

Provincial Works.

263. As compared with the Budget Estimate, the actuals shew an improvement of 1,54, under Departmental officers, which is due to small increases in the receipts in all provinces except Bengal and Madras. The falling-off of 42 as compared with the actuals of 1904-5, calls for no remark.

Local Works.

264. The revenue realised by Civil Officers exceeded the Budget Estimate by 1,50, and occurs chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam, being due to better receipts from ferry tolls.

266. The actual expenditure in India fell short by 7,14 of that of the previous year, being made up chiefly of a short outlay of 10,10 under Military Works Services, and an excess expenditure of 4,39 in Burma, due to a modification in the programme of expenditure on large special works. As compared with the Budget Estimate there was an excess of £15,9 or R2,38, which occurred entirely in England, and was due to more stores being required than was originally budgetted for.

267. In comparison with the previous year, the actuals shew an increase of £162,9 or R24,43, due to general development of re-organisation works. The short outlay of £70,1 or R10,51 as compared with Budget Estimate is due to it not being found possible to expend the full grant allotted.

Imperial Works.

268. The expenditure incurred by Departmental officers in 1905-06 exceeded that of the previous year and the Budget Estimate by 4,07 and 13,91, respectively. The excess occurs principally in Bengal, and was due to a large programme of works being carried out in 1905-06, and to no provision having been made in the Budget Estimate for expenditure in connection with land acquisition for the extension of Government House and the provision of residences for the Viceregal Staff. The expenditure incurred by Civil Officers during 1905-06 was less than that of the previous year by 77, and was due to a small outlay having been incurred in Bengal. The excess is covered by additional grants.

Provincial Works.

269. The expenditure incurred by Departmental Officers during 1905-06 exceeded that of the previous year by 43,98, and is made up principally of increases in Burma (19,34), Eastern Bengal and Assam (10,01), Bengal (4,41), Punjab (10,73), and Bombay (8,48), counterbalanced partly by a decrease of 8,58 in the United Provinces. The increase in Burma is chiefly on account of the new General Hospital at Rangoon, new Public Offices, etc.; in Eastern Bengal and Assam to expenditure incurred in the 14 districts transferred from Bengal; in Bengal to larger outlay on original works; in the Punjab to expenditure incurred on account of the damage caused by the earthquake of 4th April 1905; and in Bombay to increased outlay on construction of buildings for the Police, Educational, and other departments. The decrease in the United Provinces was due to a smaller programme of works being undertaken. As compared with the Budget Estimate, there was an increase of 8,45, made up chiefly of increases in the Central Provinces (3,61), Burma (4,34), Eastern Bengal and Assam (11,06), Bengal (6,31), and the United Provinces (3,99), less decreases in the Punjab (14,56) and Madras (6,96). The excess in the Central Provinces was due to an under-estimate of outlay chiefly on medical and education buildings and unmetalled roads; in Burma to additional grants sanctioned during the year; in Eastern Bengal and Assam to the transfer of 14 districts from Bengal; in Bengal to a large number of new works having been undertaken; and in the United Provinces to heavy expenditure on Police and other buildings, while the short outlay in the Punjab and Madras was due to inability to work up to the programme of works.

270. The expenditure incurred by Civil Officers during 1905-06 exceeded that of the previous year by 4,52, made up chiefly of increases in Eastern Bengal and Assam (5,25) and Madras (2,32), less a decrease of 3,27 in the United Provinces. The excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Madras was due to heavy outlay on miscellaneous public improvements, while the decrease in the United Provinces occurred under the head "Miscellaneous." As compared with the Budget Estimate, there was a decrease of 16,36, made up chiefly of a short outlay of 24,10 in Bengal and an excess of 5,38 in Eastern Bengal and Assam. The former is due to the non-utilisation of special grants, and the latter to the cause above explained. The excesses have been sanctioned.

Local Works.

271. The expenditure incurred by Departmental Officers during 1905-06 exceeded that of the previous year by 9,57, the excess being chiefly in the United Provinces (3,60) and Bombay (3,59). As compared with the Budget Estimate, there was a decrease of 2,51.

272. The expenditure incurred by Civil Officers during 1905-06 exceeded that of the previous year by 25,02, and was due to the continued improved financial position permitting of a larger programme of Public Works. As compared with the Budget Estimate, there was a lapse of 28,62, due to progress of work being slower than anticipated. The excesses have been sanctioned.

The lapse of 93 on the Mayavaram-Mutupet Railway under Local, as compared with the Budget Estimate, was due to the postponement of certain construction works and to maintenance charges having been debited to Revenue and not to Capital as originally provided for. The excess of 13 over the net grant has been sanctioned.

276. The receipts in India exceeded the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year by R9,51 or £63,4 and R8,29 or £55,3, respectively. Compared with the Budget, the improvement was mainly due to more receipts on account of grass and dairy farms; to large sales of clothing and materials to Native Troops, under the new clothing scheme introduced in 1905; to extensive sales of unserviceable ordnance stores from arsenals and factories; and to large issues of ordnance stores to Native States on payment, partly counterbalanced by small sales of malt liquor and by the adjustment, by credit to the Imperial Government, of the net value of peace equipment Europe stores (chiefly ordnance) issued to and returned from China, Somaliland and the Colonies. Compared with the actuals of the previous year, the increase was chiefly due to dairy farm receipts having been treated as revenue since 1905-06, instead of being adjusted by deduction from current expenditure of the farms; to the large sales of clothing and clothing materials and of unserviceable ordnance stores, as stated above; and to a smaller credit to the Imperial Government than in the previous year for the net value of peace equipment stores issued to and returned from China and Somaliland, partly counterbalanced by smaller recoveries than in 1904-05 on account of Tibet Mission, and by the small consumption of malt liquor.

277. The receipts in England exceeded the Budget Estimate by £198,7, owing chiefly to a recovery from the Imperial Government in respect of the capitation rate payable for Indian Native Regiments lent for service in the Colonies, not provided for in the Budget; to the increase in value of clothing, etc., in the possession of regiments on their transfer from the Indian to the British Establishment; to the sale of unserviceable stores; to receipts on account of Indian troop service; to the increased realisation of subscription towards Indian Military Service Family Pensions; and to contributions towards pensions of Indian Native Soldiers lent for Imperial Service.

278. The following statement shows separately the ordinary and special charges included under expenditure in India :—

21,15,88	TOTAL	20,95,94	21,17,60	21,15,02

279. Re-organisation.—As compared with the Budget, the decrease of 16,54 under this head was chiefly due to savings in the provision for mobilisation equipment; to reduced charges in connection with the change of administration of the Supply and Transport Corps; to small expenditure on inland transport; to less maintenance charges of the additional mule corps and cadres, and of the reserve horses at remount depôts; and to large lapses in the provision for re-armament of Horse and Field Artillery, for reserve of army transport carts, for manufacture of rifles, etc., and for purchase of land; partly counterbalanced by the cost of maps supplied to the field army, by charges for construction of lines for Native troops, by the purchase of additional horses for quick-firing batteries, and of local stores for additional field hospitals and ordnance field parks and by expenditure for completing certain measures sanctioned in 1904-05 on small arms ammunition and on mountings for maxim guns, etc.

280. The total Budget provision and the actual expenditure for Special Charges are shown in detail below :—

Charges for—	1905-6. Budget.	1905-6. Accounts.
Occupation of Chitral and its Communications	7,09	7,12
Gilgit Agency	1,50	2,01
Tibet Mission	6,00	5,54
Aden Delimitation Commission	6,11	6,71
Seistan Boundary Commission	2,54	1,11
	23,24	22,49

281. The increase of 51 under Gilgit Agency was due to purchases of food supplies for consumption in 1906-07, and that of 60 under Aden Delimitation Commission, chiefly to an increase in the strength of troops employed in the Aden Hinterland. The decrease of 1,43 under Seistan Boundary Commission was due to the earlier return of the Mission to India than was anticipated.

282. The details of the excess of 36,37 in the ordinary expenditure, as compared with the Budget, are shown by the following figures :—

	1905-6. Budget.	1905-6. Accounts.	Excess +. Savings —.

TOTAL	19,87,34	20,23,71	+36,37

283. The important excesses were:—

(1) More charges for pay and allowances of regimental officers, due to the large deduction made in the Budget for probable savings not having been fully realised, and to additional officers having been sanctioned	14,50
(2) More charges for pay of British troops due to excess strength and to the deduction for probable savings not having been fully realised	5,00
(3) Bounty to British soldiers for extension of their service in India	1,10
(4) Charges on account of the five Native Infantry regiments on garrison duty in the Colonies . .	12,75
(5) Return from Somaliland of the 33rd Punjabis during the year, for which no provision was made	1,28
(6) Net approximate extra expenditure due to new clothing scheme for the Native Army . .	3,00
(7) Special grants for construction of lines for Native troops	1,52
(8) Large charges for food supplies for men and animals, owing chiefly to rise in rates	13,50
(9) Extra expenditure in connection with escorts, guards of honour, etc., to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales	1,75
(10) Large purchases of transport animals	1,38
(11) More charges for compensation in lieu of clothing to British troops	2,00
(12) Large charges for compensation for losses, due partly to payments made to British Officers and Native ranks for losses sustained during the earthquake at Dharmsala in April 1905 . .	96
(13) Extra expenditure for concentration of troops held near Rawalpindi on the occasion of the visit to India of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales	8,60
		67,34

284. The following are the principal causes of decrease:—

(1) Less charges for service pay to British soldiers .	2,65
(2) Do. for good-conduct pay to do. .	1,55
(3) Do. for Native Army reserve forces, due to the small number of reservists called out for training and to saving in the provision for increase of strength	3,85
(4) Smaller purchases of malt liquor	2,80
(5) Surrenders from the special provision of $3\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs for establishment of new and existing dairies, to meet expenditure in the Military Works Services and at home	1,27
(6) Smaller purchases of remounts, young stock (horses) and young mules	1,25
Carried over	13,37

Brought forward	13,37
(7) Less charges for medical supplies	95
(8) Larger credits for local stores issued to the Civil Department, to His Majesty's Imperial Government, etc.	3,30
(9) Less charges for pay of officers and establishments in arsenals and ordnance factories, and savings in the special provision for additional establishments for the Rifle, Cordite, and Gun and Shell factories	2,32
(10) Smaller purchases of local stores for arsenals and ordnance factories	6,35
(11) Saving in the special provision for initial expenditure in connection with the formation of the 106th Hazara Pioneers and the 2-6th and 2-9th Gurkha Rifles	1,10
(12) Re-adjustment by deduction from charges of the share payable by His Majesty's Imperial Government of the cost of the Malta for conveying troops to England, which was debited to Indian Revenues in 1904-05	1,36
(13) Saving in the Indian estimates, due to payment in England for the value of coal supplied at Bombay to the Indian Troop Service transports	1,15
(14) Smaller cost of telegrams sent on the debit-note system	1,49
		31,39

285. The Grant Heads under which the expenditure exceeded the Budget were:

Administrative Staff	32
Regimental Pay, etc.	35,34
Supply and Transport	12,51
Barrack Establishment	57
Miscellaneous Services	7,08
Rewards for Military Services	26
Military Pensions to Europeans	1,48
Ditto to Natives	10
Family Pensions and Compassionate Allowances, etc.	22
Departmental Pensions and Gratuities	65

286. Of the excesses, 10,44 under Regimental Pay, etc., 2,43 under Supply and Transport, 84 under Barrack Establishment, 10 under Military Pensions to Europeans, 10 under Family Pensions and Compassionate Allowances, etc., 14 under Departmental Pensions and Gratuities, and 26 under Army and Garrison Staff, in comparison with the net Budget grant, still require the sanction of the Government of India. The balance under these heads and the whole of the excesses under Administrative Staff, Miscellaneous Services, Rewards for Military Services and Military Pensions to Natives have been covered by re-appropriations and additional grants.

287. As compared with the actuals of the past year, there was an increase of 7,15 under Re-organization, chiefly due to the cost of mobilization maps supplied to the Intelligence Branch, Army Head-Quarters, for the requirements of the field army; to the construction of lines for Native troops under the redistribution scheme; to the additional mule corps and cadres having been created late in 1904-05; to the maintenance of a larger number of horses, and for a longer period than in 1904-05; to large charges on account of stores for field hospitals; to larger expenditure on re-organization measures than in the previous year, and to more charges for purchase of land, partly counterbalanced by very heavy expenditure incurred in 1904-05 for the purchases of animals for the newly organized mule corps and cadres and of reserve horses, and by small expenditure on clothing. The large decrease under Special Charges was mainly due to less charges on account of Tibet Mission (80,91); Aden Delimitation Commission (8,39) and Seistan Boundary Commission (1,73). Of the increase of 83,82 under Other Charges, 1,58 under Army and Garrison Staff, was due chiefly to re-organization and redistribution of commands and staff, and to charges for additional officers and establishments for Divisions and Brigades on the abolition of the musketry staff, 38,83 under Regimental pay, was mainly due to the excess strength of British troops in India; to more charges for service pay to British soldiers; to grant of bounty to British soldiers for extension of service; to more officers being present in this year, and to the creation of 90 additional appointments; to charges on account of five Native Infantry regiments serving in the Colonies; to the return of troops from Somaliland; to an increased rate of kit-money having been sanctioned, and to the new clothing scheme for the Native Army; the increase of 26,08 under Supply and Transport was chiefly due to the re-organization of the Supply and Transport Corps; to higher rates for articles of food in consequence of scarcity; to the introduction of the regular Budget system for dairy farms, which were formerly maintained on a quasi-commercial basis; and to high rates for food supplies for animals; that of 2,85 under Clothing, was mainly due to the grant of compensation to certain native troops in lieu of special concession which were abolished under the new clothing scheme; that of 1,13 under Barrack Establishment, was chiefly due to larger purchase of barrack bedding, and to more charges for miscellaneous supplies; that of 8,13 under Ordnance was mainly due to the expansion of ordnance factories, and to larger purchases of arsenal stores and camp equipage; that of 1,22 under Military Pensions to Europeans was chiefly due to large payments of pensions and capitalized pensions to commissioned officers.

288. The expenditure in England showed a decrease of £191,1 under Effective Charges, £31,2 under Non-Effective Charges, and £920,1 under Re-organization. The first was chiefly due to the savings under stores for India, viz., Ordnance Stores, Medical Stores, Supply and Transport, and Clothing; to the number of officers provided with passages otherwise than in transports having been smaller than was provided for; and to the refund in respect of 1903-04 of payments to War Office in respect of British Forces serving in India, partly counterbalanced by an increase of furlough allowance, owing to a large number of officers being on furlough than was estimated. The second was due chiefly to less payments made than was expected; to non-effective Colonels of Royal Artillery on account of pay, and to non-effective and Retired Officers of the Indian Service for pay and pension; and to less amount claimed by the War Office on account of Retired pay, etc., of British Forces for service in India than was provided for, and to a refund on account of such charges made by the War Office in respect of 1904-05. The savings under Re-organization were due to the postponement of payments to the War Office on account of stores for India.

289. The receipts in India showed an increase of 9,51 over the Budget Estimate. The increase was chiefly due to more receipts on account of grass and dairy farms; to large sales of clothing and materials to Native troops; to extensive sales of unserviceable ordnance stores; to large issues of ordnance stores to Native States on payment; and to larger receipts than anticipated on account of Special Services, partly counterbalanced by small sale of malt liquor, and by the adjustment, by credit to His Majesty's Imperial Government, of the net value of peace equipment Europe stores (chiefly ordnance) issued to and returned from China, Somaliland and the Colonies. The excess was spread over all the heads, except Supply and Transport and Family Pensions, etc. The principal variations are given below.

290. The increase of 18 under Regimental Pay, etc., was due to a large number of soldiers having purchased their discharge; to the enhancement of the rate of discharge purchase money; and to larger recoveries of fines for drunkenness. The increase of 73 under Remounts, etc., was chiefly due to the large number of horses cast and sold from Remount Depôts and Mounted Corps; to the sale of mounted infantry ponies on reduction of establishment in Burma; to the large sale of chargers to officers; to a large demand by officers for horses on the hire system; and to the supply of six horses to His Excellency the Viceroy's stables. The increase of 1,04 under Clothing Establishment, etc., was chiefly due to large sales of clothing and materials to native troops, under the new clothing scheme introduced in 1905, and to larger sales of necessaries, partly counterbalanced by the adjustment, by deduction, of the value of peace equipment (clothing stores) brought back by units from China and Mauritius. The increase of 87 under Medical Establishment was chiefly due to recoveries on account of value of disinfectants issued to Municipal and Local Fund Hospitals in the Secunderabad Division in connection with plague, and to larger issues to Civil Department and Cantonment Hospitals, partly counterbalanced by credit to Imperial Government of the value of stores, returned from China and Somaliland. The increase of 6,53 under Ordnance Establishment, etc., was chiefly due to sales of unserviceable ordnance stores; to larger issues of ordnance stores to Native States on payment; and to recoveries of the value of Europe stores issued to His Majesty's Imperial Government and Royal Navy Reserve, partly counterbalanced by the adjustment of the net value of peace equipment stores sent to and returned from China, Somaliland and the Colonies, and by credit afforded for the value of stores returned by the Military Police, Assam. The increase of 1,60 under Miscellaneous Services was due to recoveries from the North-Western Railway for work done by a Railway Company of Sappers and Miners, and to increased receipts on account of the Aden Delimitation Commission, and the Tibet Mission. The increase of 21 under Military Pensions to Europeans was due to leave and pension contributions received in respect of European Officers lent to Foreign Service. The increase of 47 under Military Pensions to Natives was due to the settlement of claims, against the Somali Coast Protectorate, on account of contributions towards pensions of Native soldiers lent to that Protectorate, and to credits on account of capitalized value of pensions granted to men of the Indian Army in the African Protectorates. Against these increases there was a decrease of 2,18 under Supply and Transport, due to small sale of malt liquor, provisions and stores, partly counterbalanced by the adjustment of the value of Europe stores issued from stock to Somaliland, by large receipts on account of grass and dairy farms, and by large sales of condemned transport cattle, and of 15 under Family Pensions and Compassionate Allowanc to Europeans due to low recoveries on account of contributions towards Indian Military Service Family Pensions.

291. The receipts in England under Effective and Non-effective Services were in excess of the Budget Estimate by £189,5 and £9,2, respectively. The increase under Effective Services was due to the amount received in respect of the capitation rate payable on account of Indian Native Regiments, lent for service in the Colonies not provided in the Budget; to the increase in value of clothing, etc., in possession of regiments on their transfer from the Indian to the British Establishment; to the sale-proceeds of unserviceable stores; and to the receipts on account of the Indian troop service. The increase under Non-effective Services was due to insufficient provision made on account of subscription towards Indian Military Service Family Pensions, and to the contribution towards pensions of Indian Native soldiers lent for Imperial Service in Somaliland.

292. As compared with the Budget, there was a net saving of 24 under this head, due chiefly to the abolition of the Madras Command; to the absence of officers on leave; to variations in Army ranks of officers; and to vacancies. Apart from these causes, there was a decrease under Hill Sanitaria, due to the abolition of the Colaba Depôt, and to the absence for charges for the Dalhousie standing camp. Against these savings there were excesses under Commander-in-Chief (21), due chiefly to the transfer of the Army List Branch from the Military Department Secretariat to the Office of the Military Secretary to the Commander-in-Chief (10), and to more tour expenses (9); under Quarter Master General (16), chiefly under travelling and contingencies, due to the whole office of the Quarter Master General in India, instead of a Camp Office only (29), having moved to and from Calcutta, and to a large portion of the Mobilisation Branch having similarly moved, partly counterbalanced by low charges for salaries, due chiefly to the abolition of the appointment of Assistant Quarter Master General, Madras Command, consequent on the re-organization; and under District Commands (3,99), due chiefly to salaries (3,52) travelling (26), and contingencies (18), consequent on the re-organization and distribution of Commands and staff.

293. The increase of (32) was chiefly due to the appointment of an additional Aide-de-Camp to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and of one to the Lieutenant-Governor of Eastern Bengal and Assam (10), partly counterbalanced by the pay of an Aide-de-Camp to the Governor-General not having been drawn for some time, and to absences and variations in army rank (5), to the grant of conveyance allowance to clerks of the Military Accounts Department, Supply and Transport Branch, Western Command, during the prevalence of plague (5), and to the deductions made in the Budget for probable savings under Central Branch (5), Accounts Branch (2), Pay Branch (5), Inspections, etc. (4), not having been fully realized; to advances of pay drawn by certain officers (3), and to the deputation of an officer on special duty at Simla (4), partly counterbalanced by the abolition of the Clothing Branch of the Office of Controller of Military Accounts, Secunderabad Division (8).

9,81,48	TOTAL	9,84,97	10,16,48	10,20,31

294. As compared with the Budget, the increase under European Army was chiefly due to more charges for pay and command, staff and horse allowance of regimental officers, owing to deductions made in the Budget for probable savings on their accounts having been only partially realized, to excess strength of British troops, and to grant of bounty to British soldiers for extension of their service in India, partly counterbalanced by less charges for service pay and good-conduct pay of British soldiers. The increase under Native Army was chiefly due to charges (recoverable from War Office on the basis of a capitation rate) on account of the five Native Infantry regiments on garrison duty in the colonies; to the return from Somaliland of the 33rd Punjabis during the year, for which no provision was made in the Budget; to additional officers having been sanctioned for certain Native Cavalry and Infantry regiments; to the deduction made in the Budget for short strength and probable savings not having been realized in full; to the grant of clothing allowance to Native troops; to special grants having been sanctioned for constructions of lines for Native troops; and to smaller recoveries for Hospital stoppages, partly counterbalanced by partial lapse of provision, made in the Budget, for an increase to the strength of the Native Army reserves, and by fewer reservists having been called out for training.

295. The details of the principal sub-heads of the European Army are given below:—

1904-5. Accounts.		1905-6. Budget.	1905-6. Revised.	1905-6. Accounts.
1,29,77	Artillery	1,28,39	1,32,48	1,32,35

3,85	Other Charges	3,35	5,17	5,64
5,02,58	TOTAL	5,01,90	5,08,67	5,06,50

296. The increases under Artillery (3,96) and Cavalry (1,32) were chiefly due to more charges under pay of officers, warrant and non-commissioned officers, rank and file, owing mainly to the deduction for probable savings not having been fully realized; to service pay to British soldiers, owing to a large number of men having elected the service pay rules; and to payment of extra 2*d.* a day to British soldiers, owing to extra strength, partly counterbalanced by decrease under pay of native artificers and followers, due chiefly to a reduction in the complement of syces, by grass-cutters not having been employed to the full extent in the Secunderabad Division, consequent on the supply of fodder by the Supply and Transport Corps, and by less good-conduct pay, due to a large number of men having elected the service pay rules. The increase under Other Charges (2,29) was mainly due to grant of bounty to British soldiers for extension of service; to the grant of a clothing allowance sanctioned, with effect from 1st April 1905, in lieu of half-mounting allowance, which has been abolished; to a decrease in hospital and grocery stoppages, owing to fewer patients having been in hospital; and to a larger number of British troops having received messing allowance, and to increase in number of soldiers' families in receipt of family allowance. Against these increases there was a saving under Infantry (2,76), due to low charges for pay of regimental educational establishments, etc.; for good-conduct pay, and for extra 2*d.* a day owing to fewer men having been in receipt of these allowances; to less service pay to British soldiers owing to fewer men having elected the service pay rules; and to lower rates of service pay having been drawn, and to low charges for deferred pay, partly counterbalanced by increased charges for pay of officers, warrant and non-commissioned officers, rank and file, due mainly to deduction for probable savings not having been fully realized.

297. The details of the principal sub-heads under the Native Army are as follow:—

298. Under Native Army the increase under Cavalry (2,82) was due to increased charges for pay of officers, native commissioned and non-commissioned officers, rank and file, for command, staff and horse allowances, owing chiefly to the deduction for probable savings not having been fully realized; to the creation of 26 additional appointments of squadron officer in January 1906, and to increased charges for pay of subordinate medical and fixed hospital establishments, partly counterbalanced by savings in pay of native artificers and followers, and good service and good-conduct pay. The increase under Infantry (21,84) was mainly due to increased charges for pay of officers, native commissioned and non-commissioned officers, rank and file, owing chiefly to expenditure for five native infantry regiments on garrison duty in the colonics; to charges on account of the regiment (33rd Punjabis) returned from Somaliland, for which no provision was made; to the creation of 64 additional appointments of double company officers; to the payment of bonus to the 7th Gurkha Rifles as compensation for withdrawal of Assam allowance; to the deduction for probable savings having proved too high; to more charges for pay of educational establishments, and of the subordinate medical and fixed hospital establishments, and command, staff and horse allowance and for good service and good-conduct pay, partly counterbalanced by savings in pay of native artificers and ollowers, due chiefly to the cost of conservancy establishments, in the Western Command, having been borne by Cantonment Funds. The increase under Hutting-money (1,51) was due chiefly to special grants sanctioned for construction of lines for native troops, and to arrear charges. The increase under Other Charges (13,23) was chiefly due to clothing allowance sanctioned from 1st April 1905, in place of half-mounting allowance and free issues of clothing and in kind, and compensation in lieu, and to batta and kit-money for Recruits on Enlistment, due to charges incurred on account of five regiments of Native Infantry serving in the colonies. Against these increases there were savings under Sappers and Miners (18), and Indian Sub-Marine Mining Corps (31), due to less charges for pay of officers, warrant and non-commissioned officers, rank and file, due to the deduction for probable savings having proved insufficient and to short strength; under Annual Grant-in-aid of Half-mounting (5,50), due to the abolition of half-mounting allowance from 1st April 1905, and under Reserve Forces (2,66), due chiefly to the partial lapse of the special provision under this head for an increase to the strength of the reserves, and to few reservists having been called out for training.

299. The actuals under Native Army exceeded those of the previous year by (34,94), due to more officers having been present on duty; to the creation of 90 additional appointments; to charges on account of five Native Infantry regiments serving in the colonies; to smaller savings on account of absence of troops in Somaliland; to increased rate of kit-money; to the clothing scheme; to large outlay on construction of lines for native troops and for batta, partly counterbalanced by less charges under Reserve Force, due chiefly to a small number of reservists having been called out for training, and to arrear charges pertaining to 1903-4 having been paid in 1904-05, and under Annual Grant-in-aid of Half-mounting, due to the abolition of the allowance.

300. The increase of 12,51 in this grant occurred under Services (16,55), Transport Branch (5,82) and Special Services (58), and was chiefly due to the grant to Native establishment of clothing allowance, in lieu of half-mounting allowance and free issues of clothing in kind; to the grant to troops and followers of frontier kit-money and frontier kit allowance; to large payments of messing allowance; to high charges for food supplies and compensation for dearness of provision; to extra expenditure in connection with the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to India; to increased charges for conveyance of stores by rail, and for supply of water; to large purchases of warm clothing, and of transport animals; and to more charges on account of Gilgit Agency. These increases were partly counterbalanced by the savings of (88) and (9,56) under Establishment and Supplies, respectively, due to small purchases of malt liquor; to the abolition of the Colaba depôt, and adoption of Karachi as a port of embarkation and debarkation: to surrenders from the special provision of 3,50 for establishment of new and extension of existing dairies; to meet expenditure in the Military Works Services and at Home; and to the adjustment, by debit to the Imperial Government, of the value of local stores issued from stock to China and Somaliland. The increase, compared with the actuals of the past year, was chiefly due to the re-organization of the Supply and Transport Corps; to the grant of messing allowance to men enlisted for three years with the colours, and to more charges for ration articles; to high rates of food and forage in consequence of scarcity; to more charges for dairy farms and for feed of horses and animals, partly counterbalanced by smaller purchases of malt liquors, by less charges for conveyance of European and Native troops, and by less purchase of animals.

301. The details of the expenditure under Establishment are given below:—

1904-5. Accounts.		1905-6. Budget.	1905-6. Revised.	1905-6. Accounts.
6,50	Supervising Staff	6,99	5,58	5,43
27,73	Executive Establishment	28,45	30,00	29,92
33,58	Transport	34,47	34,40	34,37
3,18	Subordinate Establishment	3,54	3,46	3,11
—2	Other Heads	9	10	—17
70,97	TOTAL	73,54	73,54	72,66

302. The decrease of 1,56 under Supervising Staff, and the increase of 1,47 under Executive Establishment were due to less charges for salaries of supervising staff and their travelling expenses and more charges for salaries of executive ranks and their travelling expenses, respectively, in consequence of the re-organization and change of administration of the Supply and Transport Corps. The saving of 43 under Subordinate Establishment was due to small temporary establishments entertained in the regimental and Quartermasters' establishment, and that of 26 under Other Heads was due to the grant of clothing allowance to transport attendants; and to increased travelling allowance of mule cadres, partly counterbalanced by increased recoveries, made by the Agent for Government Consignments, on account of large quantities of stores having been landed for other departments; to three-fifths of the charges of the 58th Silladar Camel Corps, whilst employed with the Seistan Boundary Commission, having been debited to the Civil Department; and to allowance for unemployed camels not having been drawn to the full extent.

Under Supplies the details are as follows:—

1,77,07	TOTAL	1,99,83	1,88,82	1,90,27

303. The decrease of 9,56 under Supplies was due to the transfer of charges on account of dairy farms from this head to Services. Apart from this, there was a small net excess of 57. The increase of (18) under Provisions for Europeans was due chiefly to the grant of messing allowance to men enlisted for three years with the colours, a larger number having drawn compensation in lieu of rations than was anticipated, and to more charges for ration articles other than bread and meat, partly counterbalanced by smaller charges for meat, due to decrease in rates, and the issue of preserved meats. Those under Compensation to Natives for dearness of provisions (5,16) and Compensation, etc., for dearness of forage (1,02) were attributable to higher rates for articles of food in consequence of scarcity, and to money allowance, in lieu of free rations, to Native troops and followers in the Quetta Division, at Aden, and in the Persian Gulf, partly counterbalanced by a decrease due to fewer men having been rationed, to the utilization of the previous year's stock, to the detention of 93rd Burma Infantry at Hong-Kong till 25th June 1905, to the discontinuance of the issue of free rations at Jatta and Thall, and to less transport charges for provisions. The decreases under Purchase of Reserve Stock (67), Malt Liquor purchased locally (2,80) and Rum (23) were all due to smaller purchases. The increase in the deduction (1,87) for Value of Supplies, etc., was due to credits for the value of stores issued from stock to China and Somaliland, and to larger issues to other departments.

304. Under Services the following are the details:—

1904-5. Accounts.		1905-6. Budget.	1905-6. Revised.	1905-6. Accounts.
5,72	Hire of Transport	4,88	5,30	4,31

10,36	Other Heads	9,44	10,59	11,47
1,26,06	TOTAL	1,23,29	1,39,90	1,39,84

305. The increase under Railway Charges (1,62) was due chiefly to conveyance of a large number of Native troops, owing to an increase in the number of men proceeding on furlough; to expenditure incurred in connection with the escorts, guards of honour, etc., to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and to conveyance of more Ordnance stores, counterbalanced by less charges for conveyance of Supply and Transport stores, and of European troops, owing to the abolition of the Colaba Depôt, and the adoption of Karachi as a port of embarkation and debarkation; that under Dairy farms, Piggeries and Grass farms was due to the transfer of charges on account of dairy farms from Supplies, partly counterbalanced by the surrender to the Military Works Service (1,07) for buildings, and of 19 for expenditure in England on machinery; that under Feed of Horses, Battery Mules, Yaboos, etc. (4,08), was due chiefly to more charges for feed of horses and ponies, owing to higher rates, to smaller supplies from grass farms and to a special purchase of fodder at Meerut and Agra, partly counterbalanced by short strength of mules and yaboos with corps. The increase under Implements, Godown Furniture, etc. (71), was mainly due to large supplies of packing articles from the Jail Department, and to large purchases and contingent charges for godowns; that under Other Heads (2,03) was chiefly attributable to large purchases of fodder for reserves (56), to more purchases of warm clothing for troops and followers, to more charges for supply of water and for toll on troops at Bombay and Karachi, to charges for frontier kit allowance and frontier kit-money granted to troops and followers, instead of a free issue of clothing in kind, partly counterbalanced by small purchases of mules for corps, by no purchase of battery bullocks, and by less charges for purchase and repair of gear. The decrease under Hire of Transport (57) was due chiefly to less charges for conveyance of European troops and Ordnance stores.

306. The details of the charges in the Transport Branch are as follows:—

1904-5. Accounts.		1905-6. Budget.	1905-6. Revised.	1905-6. Accounts.
19,09	Unorganized Transport	15,42	15,50	18,70

Supply and Transport Charges—concluded.

307. The excess of expenditure under Unorganised Transport (3,28) was chiefly due to more charges for purchase of mules; to payment of arrear charges of 1904-5 (17); to large casualties and consequent replacements; to large purchase and repair of gear, carts and equipment, due chiefly to large condemnations; to feed of animals, due chiefly to high rates, partly counterbalanced by no charges for uniform clothing owing to the grant of clothing allowance to transport attendants as stated under Establishment (para. 302), and by low miscellaneous charges The excesses under Mule Corps (1,09), Mule Cadres (1,18) Silladar Camel Corps (40) were due to more charges for feed of animals, to higher rates for articles of feed and to large purchases of animals, counterbalanced by small outlay on purchase and repair of gear and equipment and of carts. The actuals under Ghilzai Camel Corps (24) represent chiefly expenditure incurred in completing the sub-division of the Ghilzai Camel Corps, Quetta. The decreases under Mechanical Transport (14) and Transport charges connected with Army Bearer Corps (22) were due, the first, to small purchase of stores owing to experimental work having been greatly reduced, and the second, chiefly to low charges for purchase and repairs of doolies, gear, carts and equipment due to less condemnations.

6,30	Miscellaneous	6,14	6,09	4,82
49,61	TOTAL	44,78	44,02	42,29

308. The saving of 12 under Station Veterinary Hospitals was chiefly due to the deduction for probable savings having proved insufficient, and to the transfer to other heads of a portion of the charges on account of increased rates of pay to junior officers of the Army Veterinary Department; that of 1,33 under Purchase of Remounts, to small purchases of remounts, young stock, young mules, and ponies; and that of 1,32 under Miscellaneous to less road expenses of cattle, remounts, and young stock, and to less extensive cultivation operations, partly counterbalanced by increased charges for cattle gear and rolling stock. Against these decreases, there was an increase of 31 under Feed of Cattle and Remounts, due to high rates of grain and fodder, to more horses having been maintained at the depôts, and to large purchases for stock; partly counterbalanced by less charges for feed of cattle and remounts at Garden Reach, and of ordnance mules at depôts, due to the small number of animals maintained.

309. The decrease of 23 under Manufacturing and Store Establishment was due to less charges for salaries, chiefly owing to the re-organisation of the establishment of the clothing factories, and savings in the provision for temporary establishments, that of 1,61 under Supplies and Services—Factories was due to less charges for making great-coats, etc., owing to the work having been done regimentally, and to small purchase of local stores. The absence of charges under New Scheme for the supply of clothing to the Native Army in India is due to expenditure, against the provision, having been shown under the appropriate grants, and under Compensation in lieu of clothing, where the excess of 2,72 is mainly due to this transfer. The increase of 1,20 under Supplies and Services—Regimental was due to more charges for making clothing at head quarters of British regiments, and for clothing for reserve forces, and to larger condemnations of kits of reservists. The excess over the actuals of the previous year was due chiefly to the grant to certain Native troops of compensation in lieu of special concessions, which were abolished under the new clothing scheme.

310. The increase of 57 in this grant is made up of an excess of 97, under Miscellaneous, due chiefly to large charges for chimney fuel purchased at high prices, and to large condemnations of miscellaneous articles of barrack supply, and of savings under Mechanical Punkha-pulling and Electric Lighting (30) due to less charges than were anticipated, and under Lighting charges other than by Electricity (10), due chiefly to the discontinuance of the supply of gas, at certain stations, on the introduction of electric lighting, partly counterbalanced by more charges for oil, due chiefly to purchases for stock. The excess over the actuals of the previous year was chiefly due to larger purchases of barrack bedding than in 1904-5, and to more charges for firewood for chimneys, and for miscellaneous supplies for barracks and hospitals.

311. The decrease of 8 in this grant was chiefly due to absence of charges on account of Cantonment Magistrates attached to the Judge-Advocate General's Department for training; and to less prison charges, owing to reduction in the number of prisoners, and to abolition of the military prison at Fort St. George; partly counterbalanced by the grant of an advance of privilege leave allowance.

312. The saving of 60 under Medical Establishment—Head-Quarters and Commands was chiefly due to the abolition of the appointments of Principal Medical Officer, Madras Command, and his establishment, under the re-organisation scheme; and to the absence of certain officers on leave out of India, counterbalanced chiefly by the temporary appointment of a special health officer, by the revision of clerical establishments, and by travelling charges, due to the move of the major portion of the head-quarters office to and from Calcutta. The decrease under Nursing Service (18) was due to short strength of nursing sisters; that under Army Bearer Corps (19) to short strength of bearers, and to savings under cost of clothing owing to the grant of clothing allowance and kit money, partly counterbalanced by more charges for travelling than were anticipated, and for hutting money (14) due to special grants sanctioned for construction of huts; that under Miscellaneous (27) chiefly to the small number of military pupils under tuition at medical colleges; that under Medical Supplies (80) to less charges for dieting sick, owing to few patients having been in hospital, and to small condemnations of hospital equipments; partly counterbalanced by increased charges for hospital supplies, owing chiefly to the supply of artificial teeth to British Soldiers. The increase in the deduction for Issues to Other Departments was due to the large demands of civil institutions and issues to Somaliland, partly counterbalanced by the adjustment for value of stores returned from China and Somaliland.

Ordnance—continued.

313. Under Establishments—Arsenals and Depôts, the saving of 87 was chiefly due to fewer officers than anticipated having been present on duty; to savings in office establishments; and to an insufficient deduction in the Budget for probable savings; partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure for extra temporary artificers and others. The decrease of 3,02 under Stores—Arsenals and Depôts was due chiefly to small purchases of local stores; and to the lapses of the special provisions for initial expenditure in connection with an increase to the strength of the Native Army Reserve (1,50), for the formation of the 106th Hazara Pioneers (50), and for the raising of the 2-6th and 2-9th Gurkha Rifles (60). The decrease of 6,33 under Stores—Factories was due chiefly to small purchases of local stores for the Gun and Shell Factory, Cordite Factory, Rifle Factory, Central Gun Carriage Factory (Jubbulpore) and for the Harness and Saddlery Factory (Cawnpore), and of timber for the Central Gun Carriage Factory (Jubbulpore); partly counterbalanced by increased purchase of local stores for Ammunition Factories. The saving of 16 under Freight was due to small consignments. Against these savings there was an increase of 12 under Establishments—Factories due to increased charges for extra temporary artificers and others, owing chiefly to increased outturn in factories, and to preliminary work in connection with the Ishapore Gun and Shell Factory, partly counterbalanced by savings under additional establishments in certain factories, and by an insufficient deduction for probable savings; of 11 and 86 under Other Charges and Camp Equipage respectively due to insufficient provision in the Budget. The increased credit of 1,10 under Supplies to Other Departments was due chiefly to the adjustment of the net value of local stores (including peace equipment) sent to and returned from China, Somaliland and Colonies; to the issue of stores to His Majesty's Imperial Government, and Royal Navy Reserve; to the supply of ordnance stores to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales' camp; and to the issue of stores to the Ceylon Government, partly counterbalanced by smaller issues to other Departments. The increase compared with the actuals of the past year was due chiefly to expenditure in 1904-5 having been low, owing to the augmentation of the arsenal stock during 1903-4 by the receipt back of stores from expeditions and Boer camps; to large purchases of local stores for factories; to small purchases of camp equipage in 1904-5, owing to a large stock in hand; and to supply of stores to Prince of Wales' camp; to larger issues to His Majesty's Imperial Government, and Royal Navy Reserve; partly counterbalanced by larger credits on account of net value of stores issued to and returned from China, Somaliland and Colonies.

Other Effective Charges.

314. The decrease of 22 under Ecclesiastical was mainly due to less charges for pay of Scottish chaplains, for capitation allowances to Presbyterian ministers, and for allowance to Roman Catholic chaplains, and to less travelling charges; partly counterbalanced by more capitation allowance to Wesleyan ministers. The saving of 73 under Education was due to less charges for books, materials, etc., for army schools; to the saving realised in the lump provision made on account of the Indian Staff College; and to less payments of donations to educational institutions. The saving of 2,68 under Sea Transport Charges was chiefly due to fewer officers having proceeded home by private steamers; to less passage money of officers, troops and Establishments proceeding from port to port in India, etc., to the re-adjustment, by deduction, of the share payable by Imperial Government of the cost of the Malta, which was charged to this head in 1904-5, and to payments at Home for coal supplied at Bombay to Indian Troop Service Transport, partly counterbalanced by charges for conveyance of the five Native Regiments lent to Imperial Government for service in the colonies. The decrease of 73 under Volunteer Corps was chiefly due to less travelling charges, and to less charges for capitation grant: partly counterbalanced by the appointment of an additional adjutant and certain additional sergeant instructors.

315. The figures under Miscellaneous Services may be sub-divided as follows:—

1904-5. Accounts.		1905-6. Budget.	1905-6. Revised.	1905-6. Accounts.
1,04,46	Special Charges	14,69	14,09	13,46
17,63	Other Items	15,17	31,12	23,48
1,22,09	TOTAL .	29,86	45,21	36,94

316. The variations under Special Charges have been explained in paragraph 281. Under Other Items the increase of 8,31 was due to compensation paid to British Officers and Native ranks for losses sustained during the earthquake, at Dharmsala in April 1905, and for changes in uniform and necessaries; to increased payments of Munshi allowance to officers and men on passing in Native languages; to larger expenditure for purchase of land, for which special grants were sanctioned; and to expenditure on account of concentration of troops near Rawalpindi, in connection with the visit to India of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales; partly counterbalanced by less charges for telegrams issued on the debit-note system.

Non-Effective Charges.

317. There was an increase of 26 under Rewards for Military Services due chiefly to the issue of Tibet medals; partly counterbalanced by less charges on account of the Order of British India, owing to fewer recipients. Under Military Pensions to Europeans the excess of 1,48 was mainly due to large payments of pensions and capitalised pensions to commissioned officers, and to increased charges for pensions to departmental officers, with honorary rank, and departmental warrant officers. The increase of 10 under Military Pensions to Natives was chiefly due to compensation for dearness of provisions paid to Madras pensioners, and to large payments of gratuities, partly counterbalanced by less charges for family pensions due to casualties. The increase of 22 under Family Pensions and Compassionate Allowances to Europeans was chiefly due to an increased number of Indian Military Service Family pensioners, and to more recipients of compassionate allowances. Under Departmental Pensions and Gratuities the excess of 65 was due to more admissions to the pension establishment; to the grant of compassionate allowances, and pensions to Mutiny Veterans, and to large payments of gratuities to transport followers of unauthorised castes discharged on the re-organisation of mule corps.

Expenditure in England.

318. As compared with the Budget, the English expenditure showed savings of £191,1 under Effective Charges, £31,2 under Non-effective Charges, and £920,0 under Re-organization. The savings under Effective Charges occurred mainly under Home charges of British Forces serving in India (£80,3) chiefly due to a refund of £83,7 in respect of 1903-04; under Indian Troop Service (£7,5) due to charges for services carried out by Imperial Transports, and recoverable from Indian Revenues, not being claimed within the year; under Passage of Officers and others otherwise than in Troopship (£12,2) owing to fewer officers than estimated being provided with passages otherwise than in Transports, and under Stores for India (£139,4) owing to the decreases of £10,3 under Clothing, £93,8 under Ordnance, £13,1 under Medical and £22,1 under Supply and Transport Stores; partly counterbalanced by an increase of £42,9 under Furlough Allowances of Officers of the Indian Service, owing to a larger number of officers being on furlough, than was estimated, of £3,3 under Furlough Allowances and Pay during voyage, owing to increased charges under Furlough pay and of £2,1 under Miscellaneous due principally to purchase of stallions. The savings under Non-Effective Charges were mainly due to less payments than were anticipated on account of pay of Non-effective Colonels of Royal Artillery (£1,5), and Pay and Pensions of non-effective and retired Officers of the Indian Service (£14,1), and to less amount claimed by the War Office (£5,3), on account of Retired Pay, etc., of British Forces for service in India, and to a refund of (£4,4), in respect of 1904-5 and to decreases under Miscellaneous pensions (£2,6), and Indian Military Service Family pensions (£3,3) owing to too large an allowance having been made for the growth of these pensions. The decrease of £920,1 under Re-organization was due to the postponement of payments to the War Office, on account of Stores for India.

319. The expenditure in India, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, shew an excess of 5,30, due almost entirely to outlay in the construction of the breakwater pier at Bombay. The short expenditure in England of £104,0, as compared with the Budget Estimate was due to the postponement of payments to the War Office.

320. The figures shown under this head represent the surplus or deficit of each Provincial Government in respect of the revenues and charges assigned to it, including Incorporated Local Funds. The Revenue and Expenditure under the various major heads have been shown in detail, in the foregoing pages, and the share of these, pertaining to the Provincial and Local sections of the accounts for the several groups, is given below separately for each Province.

321. The Budget provided for a reduction of R1,89,16 or £1,261,1 from the Provincial Balances, and of R16,39 or £109,3 from the Local Balances, but the accounts show an improvement of R1,58,07 or £1,053,8 over the Budget in the Provincial Balances, and of R51,08 or £340,5 in the Local Balances; aggregating an increase of R2,09,15 or £1,394,3 in the Provincial and Local Balances together. The improvement was the result of increase of revenue and decrease of expenditure in almost all the provinces. The initial grants of 30 lakhs each to the Central Provinces and Eastern Bengal and Assam to start the new Provincial settlements in 1906-7, under favourable conditions, and special contributions of 29,20 made for increase of expenditure on University education, minor irrigation works, and agricultural improvements, also contributed to the improvement.

322. The improvement was chiefly contributed by the Central Provinces (33,84), Burma (8,98), Eastern Bengal and Assam (35,66), Bengal (33,86), the Punjab (13,39), Madras (50,23), and Bombay (33,33). The improvement in the Central Provinces and Eastern Bengal and Assam was chiefly caused by the allotments of initial grants referred to above; that in Burma was due to increased revenue under all group heads except Miscellaneous, and decrease in expenditure, chiefly in Civil Departments and Other Public Works, and that in Bengal to decrease in expenditure under all the group heads except Irrigation. Increase in receipts chiefly under the principal heads of Revenue in the Punjab, Madras and Bombay, coupled with decrease in expenditure, mainly under Civil Departments in the latter two provinces accounts for the improvements in those provinces.

Central Provinces.

326. Comparing the outlay for 1905-6 with the Budget Estimate as regards lines under construction, the excess of 7,24 on the Agra-Delhi Chord was due to unforeseen outlay which became necessary when the line was taken over by the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Administration, the excess of 43,65 on the Nagda-Muttra Railway was due to provision having been made in the Budget Estimate for outlay on the Southern Section only, while the actuals represent outlay incurred during the year on the whole line. The excess of 6,96 on the Katihar-Godagiri Railway resulted principally from under-estimates under the heads "Land," "Ballast and Permanent way" and "Plant." The expenditure of 8,45 on the Shilman Branch in absence of Budget provision was due to the construction of the line having been decided on later in the year. The lapse of 17,84 on the Burma Railways Extensions was due mainly to failure in the supply of sleepers and to materials not having arrived from England. The lapse of 15,21 on the Dhubri-Gauhati Extension was due to less work having been done than was originally provided for, the lapse of 14,39 on the Tirhoot Extensions was owing to an over-estimate in the provision for English Stores, to land not being acquired to the extent anticipated and to works expenditure being less than originally estimated for. The lapse of 12,64 on the Jech Doab Railway (Southern Section) resulted from the late arrival of material and consequent short outlay under the heads "Bridge work," "Ballast and Permanent way" and "Rolling Stock." The lapse of 13,94 on the Murshedabad Branch was due partly to over-estimates under "Ballast and Permanent way" and "Ferries" and partly to a larger reduction of suspense balances than was estimated for. The lapse of 5,66 on the Rewari-Phulera Chord Railway was due to lower rates having been paid for earthwork done by the Jaipur Durbar than was provided for, to large credits on account of surplus permanent way returned to the Rajputna-Malwa Railway and to the non-receipt of engines from England before the close of the year. The lapse of 13,43 on the Khushalgarh-Kohat Conversion and Indus Bridge resulted mainly from the provision under "Bridgework" and "Permanent way" not having been utilised to the full.

327. As regards Open Lines the more important increases were 36,05 on the East Indian Railway due to larger outlay on works and purchase of Indian Stores, debits on account of substantial improvements in renewals of permanent way from 1900 to 1904, and excess outlay on English Stores; these excesses were counterbalanced to a certain extent by increased issues of stores to revenue; 71,03 on the Eastern Bengal State Railway due mainly to the purchase of the Bengal Central Railway for which provision was not made in the Budget Estimate; 34,50 on the North-Western Railway, due partly to an excess under cash outlay on works and partly to an excess in English expenditure; 39,09 on the Rohri-Samasata Doubling due mainly to excess outlay under "Bridgework" and "Ballast and Permanent way;" 15,07 on the Assam-Bengal Railway (Part II), due to the purchase of the Noakhali Branch for which the Budget Estimate did not provide; 11,82 on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway due chiefly to larger puchases of English Stores than were provided for originally; 1,49,72 on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway due to the adjustment of advances made to the old Company which was not originally provided for, and 1,16,72 on the Kalka Simla Railway due mainly to the advances made to the Company being transferred to debit of head "48" on purchase of the line by the State. The principal lapses were 11,68 on the North-East Line due to postponment of works and 43,88 under Stores and Reserve. This is only nominal, the amount having been distributed during the year where it was most likely to be required. Of the excess of 4,26,73 in India, 75,06 has been sanctioned and 3,51,67 requires to be sanctioned.

328. The expenditure during 1905-6 exceeded that of the previous year by 29,25, and was due to larger outlay being incurred on the construction of new projects in the Punjab, Madras, Burma, and the N.-W. Frontier Province. As compared with the Budget Estimate, there was a short outlay of 41,57, the principal lapses occurring in the Punjab, the United Provinces, and Burma, due to it not having been found practicable to work up to the programme.

329. As explained in former reports, these are all net sums representing excess of receipts over payments. The Indian figures represent the difference between the advances taken by the Companies, and the credits received chiefly on account of stores used on Revenue account. The English figures represent the difference between the Capital deposited by the Companies with the Secretary of State and the withdrawals for expenditure on Stores, Establishment charges, etc. These figures are necessarily liable to great fluctuations, but the following general explanations are furnished:—

330. Guaranteed Companies, India.—The increase of £174,5 on the Madras Railway was due to the Stores issues to Revenue having been heavier than was anticipated and to the Company's not being able to work up to the programme of works proposed in the Budget Estimate. The increase on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway was due to the recovery of £1,039,4 from the Bombay, Baroda and Central India State Railway on account of advances by the Secretary of State and overdrawn capital, for which no provision was made in the Budget Estimate.

331. England.—The payments on account of Establishments and Purchase of Stores fell short of the Budget Estimates by £95,8, made up of lapses to the extent of £93,7 and £2,5 on the Madras and the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railways, and an excess of 4 on the Madras Railway Extensions, while the receipts on account of subscribed capital were less by £556,7.

332. In India under Assisted Companies the lapse of £516,3 on the Bengal Central Railway was due to Overdrawn Capital and Advances made to the Company by the Secretary of State being transferred to the Eastern Bengal State Railway on purchase of the line and consequent credit to this head for which no provision was made in the Budget. The lapse of £72,7 on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway was due to works on the Pench Valley Coal Branch and the Gondia-Chanda Extension not having been carried out to the extent anticipated. The lapse of £58,4 on the Indian Midland Railway resulted partly from short outlay under the heads "Ballast and Permanent way" and "Stations and Buildings" and partly from excess provision having been made originally for unforeseen works.

333. The Branch Line Companies deposit Capital in Government Treasuries and draw against these deposits for expenditure on construction according to requirements. During the year £51,4 were deposited and £46,5 withdrawn as against 10,1 provided for deposits and withdrawals in the Budget Estimate.

335. The debit under Special Loans is composed of an adjustment of the commutation value of lapsed Wasika pensions (5), and of a charge on account of the value of pensions commuted in this year (1). The decrease from the Budget in the net receipts under Deposits of Service Funds (28) is made up of a fall in India (30), chiefly in the net receipts of the Bengal Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund, caused by the Budget being placed a little too high, of a decline in Bombay (2) in the Bombay Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund, and of a rise in the transaction of the Assistant Surgeons' Funds in Madras (4). The details of Savings Bank transactions are as follows:—

	1905-06. Budget.	Revised.	Accounts.

336. The net receipts under Post Office Savings Banks showed a heavy fall caused by large withdrawals, mainly in consequence of famine, but partly also in consequence of increased investment in Government Securities. The decrease under State Railway Provident Institutions was mainly caused by short deposits, while the provision in the receipts under Civil Engineers' Provident Fund was insufficient. The growth of the Forest and Police Officers', Financial Department and other Funds was not sufficiently allowed for in the Budget. The decline under Cemetery Endowment Fund occurred chiefly in the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province. The transactions of the Postal Life Insurance Fund which form the principal factor under Special Accounts, showed a larger growth than was allowed for.

337. The net credits under Provincial Balances and Appropriation for Reduction or Avoidance of Debt have been explained in paragraphs 320 and 188 respectively.

338. Under Excluded Local Funds the noticeable variations occurred in India, Bengal, the United Provinces and Bombay. The Budget provided for a net receipt of 50 in India, but the actual transactions produced a net expenditure of 70, chiefly by Bhopal (58) for investment and public works charges, and by the Indore and Secunderabad Abkari Funds (61) for special payments, partly counterbalanced by net deposits by the Quetta and Mhow Cantonment Funds (42), and by Medical Funds (14). The net decrease in Bengal was mainly due to increased charges of the Marine Funds on account of Hospital Port dues, Calcutta, while the net increase in the United Provinces was chiefly due to increased receipts under Cantonment Funds. In Bombay the improvement (99) over the Budget resulted from increased receipts under Cantonment Funds caused by a large improvement in Octroi revenue in the Poona Cantonment Fund, and a general increase in the receipts of the Ahmedabad, Kirkee, Aden and Baroda Cantonment Funds; and from a decrease in expenditure caused mainly by the provincialization of Cantonment Police, and the discontinuance of the practice of charging the Funds with the cost of Police establishment from 1st April 1905. The improvement under Police Funds was chiefly contributed by Karachi, Khandesh, Poona and Thar Parkar Police Funds, etc., that under Port and Marine Funds was due to increased revenue in the Northern and Southern Ports and Aden Port Funds. The transactions of the Mahi Kantha and Rewa Kantha General Funds and the Kathiawar States General Contribution and Endowment Fund resulted in a net receipt of 40 against 7 estimated in the Budget. The small improvement under Railway Funds mainly occurred in the transaction of the B. B. and C. I. and Madras Railways Provident Funds. The credit of £3,677,9 under Gold Reserve Fund represents net profits on coinage during the year under report and the debit of £3,543,0 represents amount actually paid over to the Fund. The amount due to the Fund from the Treasury balances at the end of the year is £286,9. The character and magnitude of the transactions under Departmental and Judicial Deposits render an accurate forecast impossible. Increased net receipts occurred in all the provinces except Bengal where the actuals show a net expenditure. There was, however, an improvement in the Punjab and North-West Frontier where the Budget provided for a net outgoing.

340. Under Coinage Accounts the net debit of 1,07,98 is composed of net debits of 3,03 under Mint Certificates, 4,68 under Copper Coinage Account, 1,62,27 under Ingot Reserve of Currency silver, 96,90 under Gain on conversion of currency Ingot Reserve and 1,94 under Bronze Coinage Account, and net credits of 1,27,81 under Bullion Advances, 6,03 under Small Coin Depôt balance and 27,00 under Currency Silver in process of coinage.

341. The net credit under Other Advances is the final outcome of a number of transactions; the cause of the net credit of R11,01 or £73,4 is, however, brought out by the following figures:—

	R	£
Special Advances	—44	—2,9
Permanent Advances	—1,19	—7,9
Account with Foreign States	+6,87	+45,8
Other Advances	+5,77	+38,4
TOTAL	+11,01	+73,4

342. The net debit under Special Advances occurred chiefly in India and Bengal, and was due in India chiefly to advances to Zhob Levy Corps for purchase of camels or horses and clothing, and to the Nizam's Railway Police, and in Bengal, to large payments on account of survey and settlement expenses of private and Wards' estates. Under Permanent Advances the net debit occurred mainly in India on account of Civil (10), and Post Office (10), and in the United Provinces (55) on account of Civil; under Account Current with Foreign States the actuals include net recoveries of 2,33 in India from His Majesty's Colonial Governments, Ceylon, Mauritius and Malay State, and of 3,47 and 2,26 in the Punjab and Madras reduced by net advances of 1,09 in India and 37 in Bombay under account current with Native States. Under Other Advances there were net credits under Advances Recoverable, Military (8,96) and Marine (1,24); on the other hand there were net debits of 1,55 under Revenue Advances—Advances for Survey operations in Madras and of 26 under Advances Recoverable, Post Office. The principal difference under Suspense Accounts occurred in India caused by the inclusion of 45,43 representing value of currency silver in process of coinage.

343. Under Miscellaneous the actuals closely followed the Budget, the adjustment of exchange on the Secretary of State's Bills being the prominent factor in the transactions under this head.

344. The figures in England under receipts and payments include £6,488,4 being the amount remitted from India for investment in the Gold Reserve Fund in England. But the variation from the Budget is mainly on account of the transfer of gold at the Bank of England £1,045,0, a corresponding credit having been shown in India under the head Currency Reserve—Gold Transferred.

346. The Budget provided for a net receipt of 52 under Imperial Loans and Advances whereas the actual transactions resulted in a net receipt of 1,59,76. The principal improvement occurred under Loans to Railway Companies (1,09,78) due to the Kalka Simla Railway having come into the possession of Government from the 1st January 1906, and the consequent adjustment of the total advance to the Company, and under Loans to Native States, mainly in India, due to the unexpected recovery from the Marwar State (26,88), Hyderabad (3,00) owing to the payment of an instalment before due date, Bikaneer (3,33) being the recovery of the balance of 12 lakhs advanced to that State. In the Central Provinces the Khairgarh State repaid the balance of the loan of 1,20 in April instead of in March 1906 as provided for in the Budget. In Bengal the balance (84) of the Railway loan to the Cooch Behar State was repaid during the year. No specific provision was made in the Budget for advances to Native States in Bombay where 3,76, 1,51, and 50 had to be advanced to the Kathewar, Palanpur and Bijapur Agencies for famine and marriage expenses. These form a charge against the lump provision of 30 lakhs in India. Under Loans to Presidency Corporations and Port Trust 7,00 was advanced to the Madras Municipality for sanitary improvements against a provision of 5,00 in the Budget. The short credit in Madras was caused by short payment by the Harbour Trust Board. The excess credit under Loans to Mofussil Municipalities (16) is mainly composed of an excess in the Central Provinces (23) due to recovery of deferred instalments from the Akola Municipality, and a decline in India (5) from the Ajmer Municipality due to over-estimate. The decline in the receipts under Loans to Landholders and Notabilities was chiefly due to an advance of one lakh made to Sheik of Koweit in June 1904 and repaid in March 1905, but included in the Budget Estimate for recoveries for 1905-6. Under Loans to District and other Local Committees the credit in India exceeded the Budget in consequence of repayment of 17 by the Secunderabad Cantonment Committee before due date. The transaction under Regimental and other Loans, Military, resulted in a net receipt of 30 against a provision of net expenditure of 28 in the Budget. Under Advances to Cultivators the increase in expenditure over the Budget which occurred almost entirely in India was due to famine in Rajputana.

349. There were large savings in Advances in all the provinces except Eastern Bengal and Assam where there was an excess, due to the transfer of certain municipalities from Bengal, in consequence of the partition. In the Central Provinces the saving was due to the non-payment of a loan of 1,00 proposed to be granted to the Nagpur Municipality. Except a small loan taken up by the Akyab Municipality (30), and the transfer of 20 to this head from District Committees, in respect of Taunggyi Municipality, consequent on the conversion of Taunggyi Improvement Fund into a town fund, the loans provided for in the Budget in Burma were not taken up. The savings in other provinces were due to the provision for advances to municipalities for sanitary and other improvement and water works not having been fully used. The excess in Repayments occurred in all the provinces but principally in the Central Provinces, owing to the repayment of the loan in full by the Burhanpur Municipality; in Bengal to large payments by the Dacca, Chittagong and Jalpaiguri Municipalities, and in the United Provinces, to instalments having been paid before due date. Under Loans to Port Funds the excess in the Repayments occurred almost entirely in Bengal, and was due to a large recovery from the Chittagong Port Fund. Under Loans to District Committees the saving in Advances occurred mainly in Madras, where only 4,00 was advanced to the Kristna District Board for the construction of the Bezwada-Masulipatam Railway against a provision of 10,00. The provision for advances on account of the Tinnevelly-Tiruchendur and the Kurnool-Dhone Railways lapsed in consequence of the construction not being begun within this year. On the other hand advances were made to the Salem (50), and Bellary (60), District Boards, to make up for large expenditure incurred by them on account of plague. The excess in repayment in Bengal and excess in advance in Eastern Bengal and Assam were caused by the transfer of Dinajpur and Rungpur District Boards from the former to the latter on the partition. Under Loans to Landholders, etc., 3,67 under advances represent loans to Nawada State (3,00), and Deogar Encumbered Estate (67), for which there were no provisions in the Budget. In the Central Provinces the proposed loan of 25 to the Bishop of Nagpur was not advanced which caused a saving in that province. The improvement in repayments is chiefly composed of an excess in Madras (16), due to the increased recovery from the Nawab of Banganapalle in respect of the cost of survey of his estate, an excess in Bombay (36) caused by early repayment of the loan to the Jath State, and a decrease in the United Provinces (30), due to the Sardhana State having paid a smaller amount than was anticipated towards the repayment of the loan of 10 lakhs advanced to it. The prominent variations under Advances under Special Laws occurred in Bengal and Bombay. Short recovery on account of the Rajapur Drainage advances and non-utilization of the provision for Magrahat Drainage (2,00), account chiefly for the variation in Bengal, while the prevalence of scarcity and increased assistance to Thakurs in the Ahmedabad and Broach districts resulted in a decrease in receipts and increase in expenditure in Bombay.—

350. Under Advances to Cultivators, the following are the details:—

	Budget, 1905-6.		Accounts, 1905-6.		Excess (+), Deficiency (—).
	Advanced.	Repaid.	Advanced.	Repaid.	Advanced.	Repaid.
Central Provinces	4,50	4,32	8,67	8,53	+4,17	+4,21

United Provinces of Agra and Oudh	3,40	2,35	12,52	3,39	+9,12	+1,04
Punjab	10,50	6,26	10,19	4,02	—31	—2,24
Madras	3,60	4,27	7,11	3,90	+3,51	—37
Bombay	23,00	38,00	26,64	25,84	+3,64	—12,16
TOTAL	56,89	63,10	78,49	55,17	+21,60	—7,93

351. In the Central Provinces and Burma the receipts and payments were more than the Estimate, but the net transaction closely followed the Budget. The excess payment in Eastern Bengal and Assam was caused by the transfer adjustment, chiefly on account of advances for relief of agriculturists, from Bengal to this province owing to the partition. Scarcity brought on by an unfavourable season caused excess advances and short repayments in other provinces.

352. The lapse of 6,00 under "Withdrawals from Treasury" was due partly to the postponement of the Tinnevelly-Tiruchender and Kurnool-Dhone projects, and partly to work on the Bezwada-Masulipatam Railway having been started later than was anticipated.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 h., on Thursday, the 7th March 1907, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Depressions of an ill-defined character have continued to advance eastward from Persia across northern India, and during the past week gave precipitation in Baluchistan, Kashmir, the west Himalayas and the submontane districts. No rain occurred in the United and Central Provinces, except in the north-west of the former area, but as the depressions entered north-east India they gave rain in the northern districts of that region, followed by a few falls in north Burma. A fairly deep depression appeared in the west Punjab on the 6th, as a depression from Persia was passing through Rajputana, and it caused moderate to heavy precipitation in Kashmir, Sonemarg reporting over two feet of snow on the 6th. Weather was unsettled in the south-east of the Bay during the latter half of the week, and light to moderately heavy rain occurred in south Burma and the Andamans, and occasioned a very rapid fall of temperature.

Burma.—Skies were nearly clear, and temperature approximately normal till the 4th, when moderate to thick cloud appeared in the south and spread over the whole province during the next twenty-four hours. Rain commenced falling at Port Blair and Mergui on the 4th, and increased in south Burma till on the 5th and 6th light to moderate rain occurred over the greater part of that region, as well as in the Andamans, while in north Burma rain was reported from Bhamo and Myitkyina on the 6th. The rain caused a very rapid fall of temperature which was more or less in defect over the whole province on the 6th and 7th.

North-east India and Orissa.—Rain fell in the northern districts of the division on the 5th and 6th, and skies were cloudy during the prevalence of unsettled weather, but were nearly clear during the remainder of the week. Temperature was normal or in defect, except from the 3rd to the 5th, when it was in slight excess.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Light rain fell at Muktesar and Chakrata. Skies were clear, except in the north-west of the United Provinces, on most days of the week. Temperature was in general excess from the 2nd to the 4th, and was normal or in slight defect on the 5th and 6th, and normal or in excess on the 7th.

North-west India.—Precipitation occurred on the 1st in Baluchistan, the upper India hills and the submontane districts. There was practically no rain in the division from the 2nd to the 5th, but on the 6th, and again on the 7th, light to moderately heavy precipitation occurred in the extreme north of India. Skies were clear in Baluchistan, except on the 2nd and 5th, and in the remainder of north-west India they were clear or only lightly clouded, except in the area of precipitation in the north. Temperature has been generally higher than usual.

The Peninsula.—Skies were clear or only lightly clouded, and temperature was nearly normal. A light fall of rain was reported from Cochin on the 2nd, and another from Trivandrum on the 6th.

The rainfall of the period, from the 30th November to the 7th March, is in defect only in Baluchistan and the sub-divisions of Burdwan, Calcutta and Mandalay. In all other parts of the Indian region it is normal or in excess.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8h., each day:

March 1st, Simla 0·58" and Quetta 0·29".

" 2nd, Cochin 0·73".

" 4th, Port Blair 1·00" and Mergui 0·65".

" 5th, Gauhati 0·59" and Darjeeling 1·36".

" 6th, Bhamo 3·25", Rangoon 1 44", Bassein 1·57", Port Blair 2·32", Sonemarg 2·69", Minimarg 0·97" and Cherat 0·76".

" 7th, Port Blair 0·84", Srinagar 0·82" and Minimarg 0·96".

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA,

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 2nd March 1907.

Burma.—One and a half inches of rain fell in Mergui during the week. Winnowing of wet weather paddy is completed in Lower Burma except in Myaungmya and Pyapon. Reaping of dry weather paddy is in progress in Prome. Sowing and transplanting are progressing in Upper Burma and harvesting of miscellaneous crops is progressing generally in Upper Burma. The standing crops are good. The price of paddy has fallen considerably in Mergui and Prome and slightly in Thaton, it has risen slightly in Maubin, Bassein, and Tharrawaddy; changes elsewhere are unimportant.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight rain has fallen throughout the Province except in Faridpur, Sylhet, Goalpara, and the Rajshahi Division. More rain is wanted in some districts. The prospects of the standing crops are generally fair. Transplanting of summer rice is proceeding. Preparation of land for jute and early rice is going on. Harvesting of mustard; pruning of tea; and pressing of sugarcane are in progress. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 16; Comilla 9⅜; Silchar 9 to 9¼; Dacca, Chittagong, Pabna and Kohima 9; Faridpur 7 to 9; Mymensingh 8⅞; Dinajpur 8⅝; Bogra 8⅝; Malda 8½; Rangamati 8¼; Rampur Boalia, Sylhet, Dhubri, Gauhati, Tezpur, Nowgong and Sibsagar 8; Barisal, Noakali and Dibrugarh 7½; Jalpaiguri 7¼; Rangpur 7; Tura 6 to 7 and Shillong and Aijal 6 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in two; fallen in eight; and remained stationary in the remaining districts. Three hundred and twenty-nine persons received gratuitous relief in Sylhet.

Bengal.—Very light showers are reported from Hooghly, Howrah, Jessore, Khulna, Patna, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Puri and parts of Midnapore. There was no rain in the rest of the Province. Sugarcane pressing still continues. Harvesting of the early spring crops is in progress. Prospects of the spring crops are on the whole fair. The number of persons receiving gratuitous relief is—Muzaffarpur 210 and Darbhanga 13,000. The number on test-works is—Champaran 102, Muzaffarpur 147 and Darbhanga 1,647. The number on relief works in Darbhanga is 29,809. Fodder and water are reported sufficient, except in parts of Jessore. The price of common rice has risen in three districts, fallen in seven and has been stationary in the rest.

United Provinces.—There was light rain in ten districts. Harvesting continues. Extra crops and sugarcane are being sown and opium extracted. Floods have done some damage in Saharanpur and hail in Agra and in parts of Bahraich; while in Mirzapur the crops have suffered slightly from excessive rain and cloudy weather and in Moradabad from blight. The condition of cattle is good. Markets are well stocked but fodder is scarce in Sitapur, Rae Bareli, Ballia, and Basti. Prices are stationary with a tendency to fall.

The weekly report on the scarcity is as follows:—Spring crops continue to be harvested in Gorakhpur Supplies are sufficient and fodder available. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Prices are stationary. The numbers on relief are:—on works 26, on gratuitous relief 368, in poor houses 245, total 639.

Punjab.—Light rain has fallen in all districts except Rohtak, Gurgaon, Delhi, Ferozepore, and Lahore. Prices are falling in Hissar, Gurgaon, Jullundur, and Shahpur; elsewhere they are unchanged. Sowings of extra spring crops are in progress. Harvesting of the rapeseed crop has commenced in Hissar. Ploughings for and sowings of sugarcane and cotton are in progress in Lahore, Amritsar, and Ambala. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally good. Hail has caused considerable injury to the poppy crop in Ambala; rats have damaged the wheat in Shahpur and Sialkot; and locusts have done some injury in Lyallpur; rust has appeared in one tehsil in Sialkot. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain averaging from 10 cents in Peshawar to 58 cents in Hazara fell all over the Province except in Kohat and was beneficial to the crops. The standing crops are in excellent condition. Locusts appeared in the Bannu tehsil and did some damage to the crops. Pressing of sugarcane still goes on and sowings of extra spring crops have commenced in Bannu. The water-supply is ample. Fodder is sufficient and the condition of cattle is good except in one village each of the Mardan and Swabi tehsils in the Peshawar district. Prices are falling. Prices:—Wheat 16¼ to 20¼; gram 18⅛ to 26; maize 22 to 33¼; and bajra 20 to 22½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was slight rain during the week. Prices are stationary. Prices :—wheat 11 to 21 and maize 11 to 28 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in the Kishtwar tahsil. Land is being prepared for autumn sowings in some parts of the Province.

Kashmir.—The weather was partly bright and partly cloudy. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana.—There were showers in Bikaner, Jaipur, Alwar, and Bharatpur, the maximum average fall being thirteen cents in Bikaner. Agricultural operations are satisfactory. Harvesting of the gram crop has commenced in places in Jhalawar; extra spring sowings are in progress in Bharatpur. Prospects are generally satisfactory. Slight damage has occurred in parts of the Mewar hill tracts, Kotah and Jhalawar owing to recent hailstorms. Prices are rising in Banswara; falling in Marwar, Bharatpur, and Merwara; and are nearly steady elsewhere. They are still high in places.

Central India.—Rainfall was general in Gwalior during the week. Threshing of autumn crops is completed and harvesting of spring crops is in progress. Preparation of land for next autumn crops has commenced in Bundelkhand. The standing crops and the probable outturn are fair in Bhopal and good elsewhere. Crops have been slightly damaged by rats and excessive cold in Bhopawar and by hail in Gwalior, parts of Indore, and Bhopal. Agricultural stock and pasturage are good except in parts of Indore, Bhopawar, and Malwa. Prices are high in Baghelkhand and stationary elsewhere. Opium has been slightly injured by hail in parts of Indore and Bhopawar; weeding and watering are in progress and collection continues in Bhopawar.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been clear and the days hot. Harvesting of spring crops is much advanced and threshing has commenced. Injury to gram by caterpillars continues in Balaghat, where wheat and linseed have also been damaged slightly by rust. Prospects continue to be generally favourable. Land is being prepared for sowings of autumn crops in Chhindwara and Berar. Repairs to embankments of rice fields have started in parts of Raipur. Fodder and water suffice everywhere. Juar in Narsinghpur and rice in Drug and Amraoti became dearer by 2 seers per rupee; the price of gram fell by 2½ seers in Balaghat; elsewhere prices are almost steady but are still equal to or exceed the scarcity level in Nimar, Balaghat, Bilaspur, and Amraoti.

Native States.—Harvesting and threshing of spring crops are proceeding briskly; transplantation of sugarcane has started in Raigarh and Sakti; ploughing and embanking of fields for next autumn crops are in progress in Kawardha, Sakti, and Udaipur. Prospects are generally good and fodder and water are adequate. Prices are steady.

Bombay.—There was rain during the week in parts of Upper Sind Frontier and Thar and Parkar. The standing crops are in good condition except for slight damage by locusts, rats and insects in parts of Karachi, and by rust in parts of Kaira. Harvesting of spring crops continues in parts of Gujarat, the Deccan, the Karnatak and Rewa Kantha, and threshing has commenced in parts of the Deccan. Cotton picking is progressing in Gujarat, West Khandesh, the Karnatak, Kathiawar, Baroda, Rewa Kantha and Cutch. Preparation of lands for next season continues in Karachi, the Konkan, the Deccan and Dharwar. Drinking water is generally sufficient and water for irrigation purposes is adequate except in parts of Thar and Parkar, Nasik, Poona and Sholapur. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur, and Cutch. The fodder supply is sufficient. The quantity of food grains purchasable per rupee is normal to 25 per cent. below.

Hyderabad.—No rain. The spring harvest continues. Late rice is being weeded. The standing crops are in fair to good condition. Prices :—Wheat 7½; coarse rice 7½, and jowar 15½ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Prices of food grains have fallen slightly in Kadur and Chitaldroog and are steady elsewhere. The standing crops are in good condition. The prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Prices of food grains are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—No rain. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Godavari, Kistna, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, North Arcot, Salem, and Madura. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Trichinopoly are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of the Circars, the Deccan, Salem, and South Canara. Fodder is scanty in parts of Salem and Madura. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in ten districts; has fallen in eight; and has slightly risen in five. The price of millets has fluctuated as follows: Ragi is stationary in eight districts; has fallen in five; and has slightly risen in eight. Cholam is stationary in four districts; has fallen in six; and has slightly risen in four. Cumbu is stationary in nine districts; has fallen in two; and has slightly risen in four.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY SUPPLY.

Fort William, the 15th March 1907.

APPOINTMENTS.

ARMY REMOUNT DEPARTMENT.

No. 14.—The following temporary appointment is made with effect from the 23rd January 1907 :—

Lieutenant W. H. Anderson, 33rd Queen's Own Light Cavalry.

No. 15.—The following appointment is made with effect from the 3rd February 1907 :—

Lieutenant E. C. Webb, Army Veterinary Corps.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

No. 16.—In supersession of the rules contained in Military Department Notification No. 891 of 1905 the following regulations for the grant of study leave to officers of the Indian Medical Service are published for information :—

1. Extra furlough for the purpose of study may be granted to officers of the Indian Medical Service on the recommendation of the Director-General, Indian Medical Service.

2. The period of such study leave will be calculated at the rate of one month for each year of service, up to a total of 12 months in all, during an officer's service.

3. Study leave may be taken at any time, but will not be granted more than twice in the course of an officer's service.

4. The minimum period of study which will render an officer eligible for study leave shall be two months.

5. The minimum period of leave granted solely as study leave shall be six months. Time spent on the journey to and from India by an officer whose study leave is not combined with any other kind of leave, will reckon as study leave, but the allowance specified in Rule 10 will be granted during the period of study only.

6. Study leave can be combined with any other kind of leave, provided the period occupied in study is not less than two months and, in the case of leave on medical certificate, provided that the medical board at the India Office certifies that the officer is fit for study. In the case, however, of officers in military employment study leave cannot be taken in continuation of the combined privilege leave and furlough admissible under the terms of India Army Order No. 64 of 1904, if the total period would thereby exceed eight months, but study leave may be so taken provided such leave is for not less than two months and the total period of combined privilege leave, furlough and study leave does not exceed eight months ; this limitation to eight months does not, however, apply in the case of study leave combined with privilege leave alone. The total period of absence from India, in the case of officers under the Leave Rules of 1886 for the Indian Army, will be strictly limited to two years.

7. Except as provided for in Rule 8 all applications for study leave shall be submitted, with the audit officer's certificate, to the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, through the prescribed channel, and the course or courses of study contemplated and any examination the candidate proposes to undergo shall be clearly specified therein.

8. Officers on furlough who wish to have part of their furlough converted into study leave should address the Under Secretary of State, India Office, and should furnish a statement showing how it is proposed to spend the study leave.

9. An officer who is at home on combined leave may be permitted to commence a course of study before the end of his privilege leave, and to count the period so spent as part of his study leave, without forfeiting his privilege leave allowances during such period.

10. During the course of study lodging allowance at the rate of 8*s.* a day for a field officer, 6*s.* for a Captain, and 4*s.* for a Lieutenant will be granted. It is to be understood that in order to qualify for the grant of study leave or for the receipt of lodging allowance, a definite course of study at a recognised institution, which will occupy the time of the officer for five or six days a week, must be pursued. This allowance will not be admissible to an officer who retires from the service without returning to duty in India after a period of study leave.

11. An officer in civil employ will be entitled to draw furlough pay at civil rates for a portion of his study leave equal to one-twelfth of his service under civil rules, and for the remainder either (1) at the military rate, or (2) if furlough is due to him under civil rules, at the rate admissible under those rules ; in the latter case a corresponding portion of the ordinary furlough earned under civil rules which is at his credit will be treated as if it had been earned under military rules.

12. On completion of study the certificates of examinations passed, or the certificates of special study, which must show the dates of commencement and termination of the course, with any remarks by the instructor, shall be forwarded to the Under Secretary of State, India Office, who will arrange for the transmission of the documents to the Director-General, Indian Medical Service. Officers may also be called upon to report themselves in person to the President of the Medical Board, India Office, on the conclusion of their course of study.

13. Study leave will count as service for promotion and pension, but, except so far as it may be taken during privilege leave (see Rule 9), it will not count for furlough or any other leave. It will not affect any leave which may already be due to an officer and will not be taken into account in reckoning the aggregate amount of furlough taken by an officer towards the maximum period of six years admissible under Article 299 of the Civil Service Regulations.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. A consolidated index for the year 1905, entitled "Inventions and Designs in 1905," is also on sale, price one rupee. It contains a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in that year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. PART IV.

Acts of the Governor General's Council assented to by the Governor General.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of the Governor General on the 15th March, 1907, and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT NO. III OF 1907.

THE PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT.

CONTENTS.

SECTIONS.

THE SCHEDULE.

An Act to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Insolvency in British India, as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the Town of Rangoon.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to insolvency in British India as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the Town of Rangoon ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts : and

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of January 1908.

Definitions.

2. (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "available act of insolvency" means any act of insolvency available for an insolvency petition at the date of the presentation of the petition on which the order of adjudication is made :

(b) "creditor" includes a decree-holder, "debt" includes a judgment-debt, and "debtor" includes a judgment-debtor :

(c) "District Court" means the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in any area outside the local limits for the time being of the Presidency-towns and of the Town of Rangoon :

(d) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act:

(e) "property" includes any property over which or the profits of which any person has a disposing power which he may exercise for his own benefit:

(f) "secured creditor" includes a landlord who under any enactment for the time being in force has a charge on land for the rent of that land : and

(g) "the Court" means the Court exercising jurisdiction under this Act.

(2) Save as herein otherwise provided, all words and expressions defined in the Code of Civil Procedure shall have the same meanings as those respectively assigned to them in the said Code.

Insolvency jurisdiction.

3. (1) The District Courts shall be the Courts having jurisdiction under this Act:

Provided that the Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, by notification in the local official Gazette, invest any Court subordinate to a District Court with jurisdiction in any class of cases, and any Court so invested shall within the local limits of its jurisdiction have concurrent jurisdiction with the District Court under this Act.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, a Court of Small Causes shall be deemed to be subordinate to the District Court.

Acts of insolvency.

4. A debtor commits an act of insolvency in each of the following cases, namely :—

(a) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes a transfer of his property to a third person for the benefit of his creditors generally;

(b) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes a transfer of his property or of any part thereof with intent to defeat or delay his creditors;

(c) if, in British India or elsewhere, he makes any transfer of his property or of any part thereof, or of any interest therein, which would, under this or any other enactment for the time being in force, be void as a fraudulent preference if he were adjudged an insolvent;

(d) if, with intent to defeat or delay his creditors,—

(i) he departs or remains out of British India,

(ii) he departs from his dwelling-house or usual place of business or otherwise absents himself,

(iii) he secludes himself so as to deprive his creditors of the means of communicating with him;

(e) if any of his property has been sold in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money;

(f) if he petitions to be adjudged an insolvent under the provisions of this Act;

(g) if he gives notice to any of his creditors that he has suspended, or that he is about to suspend, payment of his debts;

(h) if he is imprisoned in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section the act of an agent may be the act of the principal.

Petition and adjudication.

5. Subject to the conditions specified in this Act, if a debtor commits an act of insolvency, an insolvency petition may be presented either by a creditor or by the debtor, and the Court may on such petition make an order (hereinafter called an order of adjudication) adjudging him an insolvent.

Explanation.—The presentation of a petition by the debtor shall be deemed an act of insolvency within the meaning of this section, and on such petition the Court may make an order of adjudication.

6. (1) Every insolvency petition shall be in writing, and shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure for signing and verifying plaints, and the procedure laid down by the said Code with respect to the admission of plaints shall, so far as it is applicable, be followed in the case of such petitions.

Presentation and admission of petition.

(2) Every insolvency petition shall be presented to a Court having jurisdiction under this Act in any local area in which the debtor ordinarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain, or, if he has been arrested or imprisoned, where he is in custody.

(3) The debtor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition unless—

(a) his debts amount to five hundred rupees; or

(b) he has been arrested or imprisoned in execution of the decree of any Court for the payment of money; or

(c) an order of attachment in execution of such a decree has been made, and is subsisting, against his property.

(4) A creditor shall not be entitled to present an insolvency petition against a debtor unless—

(b) the debt is a liquidated sum payable either immediately or at some certain future time, and

(c) the act of insolvency on which the petition is grounded has occurred within three months before the presentation of the petition.

(5) If the petitioning creditor is a secured creditor, he shall in his petition either state that he is willing to relinquish his security for the benefit of the creditors in the event of the debtor being adjudged insolvent or give an estimate of the value of the security. In the latter case he may be admitted as a petitioning creditor to the extent of the balance of the debt due to him after deducting the value so estimated in the same way as if he were an unsecured creditor.

(6) No insolvency petition shall be presented against any corporation or against any association or company registered under any enactment for the time being in force.

7. No petition, whether presented by a debtor or by a creditor, shall be withdrawn without the leave of the Court.

Withdrawal of petitions.

8. Where two or more insolvency petitions are presented against the same debtor or where separate petitions are presented against joint debtors, the Court may consolidate the proceedings or any of them, on such terms as the Court thinks fit.

Consolidation of petitions.

9. Where the petitioner does not proceed with due diligence on his petition, the Court may substitute as petitioner any other creditor to whom the debtor may be indebted in the amount required by this Act in the case of a petitioning creditor.

Power to change carriage of proceedings.

10. If a debtor by or against whom an insolvency petition has been presented dies, the proceedings in the matter shall, unless the Court otherwise orders, be continued as if he were alive.

Continuance of proceedings on death of debtor.

11. (1) Every insolvency petition presented by a debtor shall contain the following particulars, namely:—

Contents of petition.

(a) a statement that the debtor is unable to pay his debts;

(b) the place where he ordinarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain, or, if he has been arrested or imprisoned, the place where he is in custody;

(c) the Court (if any) by whose order he has been arrested or imprisoned, or by which an order has been made for the attachment of his property; together with particulars of the decree in respect of which any such order has been made;

(d) the amount and particulars of all pecuniary claims against him, together with the names and residences of his creditors so far as they are known to, or can by the exercise of reasonable care and diligence be ascertained by, him;

(e) the amount and particulars of all his property, together with—

(i) a specification of the value of all such property not consisting of money;

(ii) the place or places at which any such property is to be found; and

(iii) a declaration of his willingness to place at the disposal of the Court all such property save in so far as it includes such particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure or by any other enactment for the time being in force from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree.

(2) Every insolvency petition presented by a creditor or creditors shall set forth the particulars regarding the debtor specified in clause (b) of sub-section (1), and shall also specify—

(a) the act of insolvency committed by such debtor together with the date of its commission; and

(b) the amount and particulars of his or their pecuniary claim or claims against such debtor.

12. (1) Where an insolvency petition is admitted, the Court shall make an order fixing a date for hearing the petition.

Procedure on admission of petition.

(2) Notice of the order under sub-section (1) shall be given to creditors by publication in the local official Gazette, and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

(3) Where the debtor is not the petitioner, notice of the order under sub-section (1) shall be served on him in the manner provided for the service of summons.

13. At the time of making the order referred to in section 12, sub-section (1), or at any subsequent time before adjudication, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any creditor, make one or more of the following orders, namely:—

Interim proceedings against debtor.

(1) order the debtor to give reasonable security for his appearance until final orders are made upon the petition, and direct that, in default of giving such security, he shall be detained in the civil prison,

(2) order the appointment of an interim receiver of the property of the debtor or of any part thereof,

(3) order the attachment by actual seizure of the whole or any part of the property in the possession or under the control of the debtor, other than such particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure or by any other enactment for the time being in force from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree,

(4) order a warrant to issue with or without bail for the arrest of the debtor and direct either that he be detained in the civil prison, until the disposal of the petition, or that he be released on such terms as to security as may be reasonable and necessary:

Provided that an order under clause (2), clause (3) or clause (4) shall not be made unless the Court is satisfied that the debtor, with intent to defeat or delay his creditors or to avoid any process of the Court,—

(i) has absconded or has departed from the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court or is about to abscond or to depart from such limits, or is remaining outside them, or

(ii) has failed to disclose or has concealed, destroyed, transferred or removed from such limits, or is about to conceal, destroy, transfer or remove from such limits, any documents likely to be of use to his creditors in the course of the hearing, or any part of his property other than such particulars as aforesaid.

14. (1) On the day fixed for the hearing of the petition, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court shall require proof—

Procedure at hearing.

(a) that the creditor or the debtor, as the case may be, is entitled to present the petition,

(b) that the debtor, if he does not appear on a petition presented by a creditor, has been served with notice of the order referred to in section 12, sub-section (1), and

(c) that the debtor has committed the act of insolvency alleged against him.

(2) The Court shall also examine the debtor, if he is present, as to his conduct, dealings and property in the presence of such creditors as appear at the hearing, and the creditors shall have the right to question the debtor thereon.

(3) The Court shall, if sufficient cause is shown, grant time to the debtor or to any creditor to produce any evidence which appears to it to be necessary for the proper disposal of the petition.

(4) A memorandum of the substance of the examination of the debtor and of any other oral evidence given shall be made by the Judge and shall form part of the record of the case.

15. (1) Where the Court is not satisfied with the proof of the right to present the petition or of the service of notice on the debtor as required by section 12, sub-section (3), or of the alleged act of insolvency, or is satisfied by the debtor that he is able to pay his debts or that for any other sufficient cause no order ought to be made, the Court shall dismiss the petition.

Dismissal of petition.

(2) Where a petition presented by a creditor is dismissed under sub-section (1) and the Court is satisfied that the petition was frivolous or vexatious, the Court may, on the application of the debtor, award against such creditor such amount, not exceeding one thousand rupees, as it deems a reasonable compensation to the debtor for the expense or injury occasioned to him by the petition and the proceedings thereon, and such amount may be realised as if it were a fine.

(3) An award under this section shall bar any suit for compensation in respect of such petition and the proceedings thereon.

16. (1) Where a petition is not dismissed under the preceding section and the debtor is unable to propose any composition or scheme which shall be accepted by the creditors and approved by the Court in the manner hereinafter provided, the Court shall make an order of adjudication.

Order of adjudication.

(2) On the making of an order of adjudication—

(a) the whole of the property of the insolvent, save in so far as it includes such

1882. particulars (not being his books of account) as are exempted by the Code of Civil Procedure or by any other enactment for the time being in force from liability to attachment and sale in execution of a decree, shall vest in the Court or in a receiver as hereinafter provided and shall become divisible among the creditors, and

(b) the insolvent, if in prison for debt, shall be released;

and thereafter, except as provided by this Act, no creditor to whom the insolvent is indebted in respect of any debt provable under this Act shall during the pendency of the insolvency proceedings have any remedy against the property or person of the insolvent in respect of the debt or commence any suit or other legal proceeding, except with the leave of the Court and on such terms as the Court may impose.

(3) For the purposes of sub-section (2), clause (a), all goods being, at the date of the presentation of the petition on which the order is made, in the possession, order or disposition of the insolvent in his trade or business, by the consent and permission of the true owner, under such circumstances that he is the reputed owner thereof, shall be deemed to be the property of the insolvent.

(4) All such property as may be acquired by or devolve on the insolvent after the date of an order of adjudication and before his discharge shall forthwith vest in the Court or receiver and become divisible among the creditors in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2), clause (a).

(5) Nothing in this section shall affect the power of any secured creditor to realise or otherwise deal with his security in the same manner as he would have been entitled to realise or deal with it if this section had not been passed.

(6) An order of adjudication shall relate back to, and take effect from, the date of the presentation of the petition on which it is made.

(7) Notice of an order of adjudication stating the name, address and description of the insolvent, the date of the adjudication and the Court by which the adjudication is made, shall be published in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

Power to cancel one of concurrent orders of adjudication.

17. If in any case in which an order of adjudication has been made it shall be proved to the Court by which such order was made that insolvency proceedings are pending in another Court against the same debtor and that the property of the debtor can be more conveniently distributed by such other Court, the Court may rescind the order of adjudication and stay all proceedings or dismiss the petition on such terms (if any) as the Court thinks fit.

Appointment of receiver.

18. (1) The Court may, at the time of the order of adjudication, or at any time afterwards, appoint a receiver for the property of the insolvent, and such property shall thereupon vest in such receiver.

(2) Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, the Court may—

(a) require the receiver to give such security as it thinks fit duly to account for what he shall receive in respect of the property; and

(b) by general or special order, fix the amount to be paid as remuneration for the services of the receiver out of the assets of the insolvent

(3) Where the Court appoints a receiver, it may remove the person in whose possession or custody any such property as aforesaid is, from the possession or custody thereof:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorise the Court to remove from the possession or custody of property any person whom the insolvent has not a present right so to remove.

(4) Where a receiver appointed under this section—

(a) fails to submit his accounts at such periods and in such form as the Court directs, or

(b) fails to pay the balance due from him thereon as the Court directs, or

(c) occasions loss to the property by his wilful default or gross negligence,

the Court may direct his property to be attached and sold, and may apply the proceeds to make good any balance found to be due from him or any loss so occasioned by him.

Power to appoint Official Receivers.

19. (1) The Local Government may appoint such persons as it thinks fit (to be called "Official Receivers") to be receivers under this Act within such local limits as it may prescribe.

(2) Where any Official Receiver has been so appointed for the local limits of the jurisdiction of any Court having jurisdiction under this Act, he shall be the receiver for the purpose of every order appointing a receiver issued by any such Court, unless the Court for special reasons otherwise directs.

(3) Any sum payable under section 18, sub-section (2), clause (b), in respect of the services of an Official Receiver shall be credited to such fund as the Local Government may direct.

(4) Every Official Receiver shall receive such remuneration out of the said fund or otherwise as the Local Government may fix in this behalf, and no remuneration whatever beyond that so fixed shall be received by the Official Receiver as such.

Duties and powers of receiver.

20. Subject to the provisions of this Act the receiver shall, with all convenient speed, realise the property of the debtor and distribute dividends among the creditors entitled thereto, and for that purpose may—

(a) sell all or any part of the property of the insolvent;

(b) give receipts for any money received by him;

and may, by leave of the Court, do all or any of the following things, namely:—

(c) carry on the business of the insolvent so far as may be necessary for the beneficial winding up of the same;

(d) institute, defend or continue any suit or other legal proceeding relating to the property of the insolvent;

(e) employ a pleader or other agent to take any proceedings or do any business which may be sanctioned by the Court;

(f) accept as the consideration for the sale of any property of the insolvent a sum of money payable at a future time subject to such stipulations as to security and otherwise as the Court thinks fit;

(g) mortgage or pledge any part of the property of the insolvent for the purpose of raising money for the payment of his debts;

(h) refer any dispute to arbitration, and compromise all debts, claims and liabilities, on such terms as may be agreed upon;

(i) divide in its existing form amongst the creditors, according to its estimated value, any property which, from its peculiar nature or other special circumstances, cannot readily or advantageously be sold.

Special provisions in regard to immoveable property.

21. (1) In any local area in which a declaration has been made under section 320 of the Code of Civil Procedure and is in force, no sale of immoveable property paying revenue to the Government or held or let for agricultural purposes shall be made by the receiver; but, after the other property of the insolvent has been realised, the Court shall ascertain—

(a) the amount required to satisfy the debts proved under this Act after deducting the monies already received,

(b) the immoveable property of the insolvent remaining unsold, and

(c) the incumbrances (if any) existing thereon,

and shall forward a statement to the Collector containing the particulars aforesaid; and thereupon the Collector shall proceed to raise the amount so required by the exercise of such of the powers conferred on him by sections 322 to 325 of the said Code as he thinks fit, and subject to the provisions of those sections so far as they are applicable, and shall hold at the disposal of the Court all sums that may come to his hands by the exercise of such powers.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect any provisions of any enactment for the time being in force prohibiting or restricting the execution of decrees or orders against immoveable property; and any such provisions shall be deemed to apply to the enforcement of an order of adjudication made under this Act as if it were such a decree or order.

Appeal to Court against receiver.

22. If the insolvent or any of the creditors or any other person is aggrieved by any act or decision of the receiver, he may apply to the Court and the Court may confirm, reverse or modify the act or decision complained of and make such order as it thinks just:

Provided that no application under this section shall be entertained after the expiration of twenty-one days from the date of the order or decision complained of.

Powers of Court if no receiver appointed.

23. Where no receiver is appointed, the Court shall have all the rights of, and may exercise all the powers conferred on, a receiver under this Act.

Schedule of creditors.

24. (1) All persons alleging themselves to be creditors of the insolvent in respect of debts provable under this Act shall tender proof of their respective debts by producing evidence of the amount and particulars thereof, and the Court shall, by order, determine the persons who have proved themselves to be creditors of the insolvent in respect of such debts, and the amount of such debts, respectively, and shall frame a schedule of such persons and debts:

Provided that, if, in the opinion of the Court, the value of any debt is incapable of being fairly estimated, the Court may make an order to that effect, and thereupon the debt shall not be included in the schedule.

(2) A copy of every such schedule shall be posted in the Court-house.

(3) Any creditor of the insolvent may, at any time before the discharge of the insolvent, tender proof of his debt and apply to the Court for an order directing his name to be entered in the schedule as a creditor in respect of any debt provable under this Act, and not entered in the schedule, and the Court, after causing notice to be served on the insolvent and the other creditors, and hearing their objections (if any), shall comply with or reject the application.

Mode of proof.

25. (1) A debt may be proved under this Act by delivering, or sending by post in a registered letter, to the Court an affidavit verifying the debt.

(2) The affidavit shall contain or refer to a statement of account showing the particulars of the debt, and shall specify the vouchers (if any) by which the same can be substantiated. The Court may at any time call for the production of the vouchers.

Disallowance and reduction of entries in schedule.

26. (1) Where the receiver thinks that a debt has been improperly entered in the schedule, the Court may, on the application of the receiver and after notice to the creditor, and such inquiry (if any) as the Court thinks necessary, expunge such entry or reduce the amount of the debt.

(2) The Court may also, after like inquiry, expunge an entry or reduce the amount of a debt upon the application of a creditor where no receiver has been appointed, or where the receiver declines to interfere in the matter, or, in the case of a composition or scheme, upon the application of the debtor.

Compositions and schemes of arrangement.

27. (1) Where a debtor, whether before or after the making of an order of adjudication, submits a proposal for a composition in satisfaction of his debts or a proposal for a scheme of arrangement of his affairs, the Court shall fix a date for the consideration of the proposal and shall issue a notice to all creditors by publication in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

(2) If on the consideration of the proposal a majority in number and three-fourths in value of all the creditors whose debts are proved and who are present in person or by pleader, resolve to accept the proposal, the same shall be deemed to be duly accepted by the creditors.

(3) The debtor may at the meeting amend the terms of his proposal if the amendment is, in the opinion of the Court, calculated to benefit the general body of creditors.

(4) Where the Court is of opinion, after hearing the report of the receiver, if a receiver has been appointed, and after considering any objections which may be made by or on behalf of any creditor, that the terms of the proposal are not reasonable or are not calculated to benefit the general body of creditors, the Court shall refuse to approve the proposal.

(5) If any facts are proved on proof of which the Court would be required either to refuse, suspend or attach conditions to the debtor's discharge, the Court shall refuse to approve the proposal unless it provides reasonable security for payment of not less than six annas in the rupee on all the unsecured debts provable against the debtor's estate.

(6) In any other case the Court may either approve or refuse to approve the proposal.

(7) If the Court approves the proposal, the terms shall be embodied in an order of the Court and the Court shall frame a schedule in accordance with the provisions of section 24, the order of adjudication (if any) shall be annulled and the composition or scheme shall be binding on all the creditors entered in the said schedule so far as relates to any debts entered therein.

(8) If default is made in the payment of any instalment due in pursuance of the composition or scheme, or if it appears to the Court that the composition or scheme cannot proceed without injustice or undue delay or that the approval of the Court was obtained by fraud, the Court may, if it thinks fit, adjudge the debtor insolvent and annul the composition or scheme but without prejudice to the validity of any transfer or payment duly made or of anything duly done under or in pursuance of the composition or scheme. When a debtor is adjudged insolvent under this sub-section, all debts provable in other respects which have been contracted before the date of such adjudication shall be provable in the insolvency.

(9) No composition or scheme shall be approved by the Court which does not provide for the payment in priority to other debts of all debts directed to be so paid in the distribution of the property of an insolvent.

Debts provable under this Act.

28. (1) Save as provided by sub-section (2), all debts and liabilities, present or future, certain or contingent, to which the debtor is subject when he is adjudged an insolvent or to which he may become subject before his discharge by reason of any obligation incurred before the date of such adjudication, shall be deemed to be debts provable under this Act.

(2 Demands in the nature of unliquidated damages arising otherwise than by reason of a contract or breach of trust shall not be provable under this Act.

Debt payable at a future time.

29. A creditor may prove for a debt not payable when the debtor is adjudged an insolvent as if it were payable presently, and may receive dividends equally with the other creditors, deducting therefrom only a rebate of interest at the rate of six per centum per annum computed from the declaration of a dividend to the time when the debt would have become payable, according to the terms on which it was contracted.

Mutual dealings and set-off.

30. Where there have been mutual dealings between an insolvent and a creditor proving or claiming to prove a debt under this Act, an account shall be taken of what is due from the one party to the other in respect of such mutual dealings, and the sum due from the one party shall be set off against any sum due from the other party, and the balance of the account, and no more, shall be claimed or paid on either side respectively.

Secured creditors.

31. (1) Where a secured creditor realises his security, he may prove for the balance due to him, after deducting the net amount realised.

(2) Where a secured creditor relinquishes his security for the general benefit of the creditors, he may prove for his whole debt.

(3) Where a secured creditor does not either realise or relinquish his security, he shall, before being entitled to have his debt entered in the schedule, state in his proof the particulars of his security, and the value at which he assesses it, and shall be entitled to receive a dividend only in respect of the balance due to him after deducting the value so assessed.

(4) Where a security is so valued, the Court may at any time before realisation redeem it on payment to the creditor of the assessed value.

(5) Where a creditor, after having valued his security, subsequently realises it, the net amount realised shall be substituted for the amount of any valuation previously made by the creditor and shall be treated in all respects as an amended valuation made by the creditor.

(6) Where a secured creditor does not comply with the provisions of this section, he shall be excluded from all share in any dividend.

Interest.

32. (1 On any debt or sum certain whereon interest is not reserved or agreed for, and which is overdue when the debtor is adjudged an insolvent, and which is provable under this Act, the creditor may prove for interest at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum,—

(a) if the debt or sum is payable by virtue of a written instrument at a certain time, from the time when such debt or sum was payable to the date of such adjudication; or,

(b) if the debt or sum is payable otherwise, from the time when a demand in writing has been made giving the debtor notice that interest will be claimed from the date of the demand until the time of payment to the date of such adjudication.

(2) Where a debt which has been proved under this Act includes interest or any pecuniary consideration in lieu of interest, the interest or consideration shall, for the purposes of dividend, be calculated at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, without prejudice to the right of a creditor to receive out of the debtor's estate any higher rate of interest to which he may be entitled after all the debts proved have been paid in full.

Priority of debts.

33. (1) In the distribution of the property of the insolvent there shall be paid in priority to all other debts—

(a) all debts due to the Crown or to any local authority; and

(b) all salary or wages, not exceeding twenty rupees in all, of any clerk, servant or labourer in respect of services rendered to the insolvent during four months before the date of the presentation of the petition.

(2) The debts specified in sub-section (1) shall rank equally between themselves, and shall be paid in full, unless the property of the insolvent is insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportions between themselves.

(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the expenses of administration or otherwise, the debts specified in sub-section (1) shall be discharged forthwith in so far as the property of the insolvent is sufficient to meet them.

(4) In the case of partners the partnership property shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of the partnership debts, and the separate property of each partner shall be applicable in the first instance in payment of his separate debts. Where there is a surplus of the separate property of the partners, it shall be dealt with as part of the partnership property; and, where there is a surplus of the partnership property, it shall be dealt with as part of the respective separate property in proportion to the rights and interests of each partner in the partnership property.

(5) Subject to the provisions of this Act, all debts entered in the schedule shall be paid rateably according to the amounts of such debts respectively and without any preference.

(6) Where there is any surplus after payment of the foregoing debts, it shall be applied in payment of interest from the date on which the debtor is adjudged an insolvent at the rate of six per centum per annum on all debts entered in the schedule.

Restriction of rights of creditor under execution.

34. (1) Where execution of a decree has issued against the property of a debtor, no person shall be entitled to the benefit of the execution against the receiver except in respect of assets realised in the course of the execution by sale or otherwise before the date of the order of adjudication.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the rights of a secured creditor in respect of the property against which the decree is executed.

(3) A person who in good faith purchases the property of a debtor under a sale in execution shall in all cases acquire a good title to it against the receiver.

Duties of Court executing decree as to property taken in execution.

35. Where execution of a decree has issued against any property of a debtor which is saleable in execution and before the sale thereof notice is given to the Court executing the decree that an order of adjudication has been made against the debtor, the Court shall, on application, direct the property, if in the possession of the Court, to be delivered to the receiver, but the costs of the execution shall be a first charge on the property so delivered, and the receiver may sell the property or an adequate part thereof for the purpose of satisfying the charge.

Avoidance of voluntary transfer.

36. Any transfer of property not being a transfer made before and in consideration of marriage or made in favour of a purchaser or incumbrancer in good faith and for valuable consideration shall, if the transferor is adjudged insolvent within two years after the date of the transfer, be void against the receiver and may be annulled by the Court.

Avoidance of preference in certain cases.

37. (1) Every transfer of property or of any interest therein, every payment made, every obligation incurred, and every judicial proceeding taken or suffered by any person unable to pay his debts as they become due from his own money in favour of any creditor, with a view of giving that creditor a preference over the other creditors, shall, if such person is adjudged insolvent on a petition presented within three months after the date thereof, be deemed fraudulent and void as against the receiver and shall be annulled by the Court.

(2) This section shall not affect the rights of any person who in good faith and for valuable consideration has acquired a title through or under a creditor of the insolvent.

Protection of bond fide transactions.

38. Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Act with respect to the effect of insolvency on an execution and with respect to the avoidance of certain transfers and preferences, nothing in this Act shall invalidate in the case of an insolvency—

(a) any payment by the insolvent to any of his creditors;

(b) any payment or delivery to the insolvent;

(c) any transfer by the insolvent for valuable consideration; or

(d) any contract or dealing by or with the insolvent for valuable consideration:

Provided that any such transaction takes place before the date of the order of adjudi-

Dividends.

39. (1) In the calculation of dividends, the receiver shall retain in his hands sufficient assets to meet—

(a) debts provable under this Act and appearing, from the insolvent's statements or otherwise, to be due to persons resident in places so distant that in the ordinary course of communication they have not had sufficient time to tender their proofs;

(b) debts provable under this Act, the subject of claims not yet determined;

(c) disputed proofs or claims; and

(d) the expenses necessary for the administration of the estate or otherwise.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), all money in hand shall be distributed as dividends.

(3) Any creditor who has not proved his debt before the declaration of any dividend or dividends, shall be entitled to be paid, out of any money for the time being in the hands of the receiver, any dividend or dividends which he may have failed to receive before that money is applied to the payment of any future dividend or dividends; but he shall not be entitled to disturb the distribution of any dividend declared before his debt was proved by reason that he has not participated therein.

(4) When the receiver has realised all the property of the insolvent or so much thereof as can in the opinion of the Court be realised without needlessly protracting the receivership, he shall declare a final dividend; but before so doing he shall give notice in manner prescribed to the persons whose claims to be creditors have been notified but not proved, that if they do not prove their claims within the time limited by the notice he will proceed to make a final dividend without regard to their claims. After the expiration of the time so limited, or if the Court on application by any such claimant grants him further time for establishing his claim then on the expiration of such further time, the property of the insolvent shall be divided among the creditors entered in the schedule without regard to the claims of any other persons.

(5) No suit for a dividend shall lie against the receiver; but, where the receiver refuses to pay any dividend, the Court may, on the application of any creditor who is entered in the schedule, order him to pay it, and also to pay out of his own money interest thereon for the time that it is withheld, and the costs of the application.

Management by and allowance to insolvent.

40. (1) The Court may appoint the insolvent himself to superintend the management of the property of the insolvent or of any part thereof, or to carry on the trade (if any) of the insolvent for the benefit of the creditors, and in any other respect to aid in administering the property in such manner and on such terms as the Court may direct.

(2) The Court may, from time to time, make such allowance as it may think just to the insolvent out of his property for the support of himself and his family, or in consideration of his services if he is engaged in winding up his estate; but any such allowance may, at any time, be varied or determined by the Court.

Right of insolvent to surplus.

41. The insolvent shall be entitled to any surplus remaining after payment in full of his creditors, with interest as provided by this Act, and of the expenses of the proceedings taken thereunder.

Power to annul adjudication of insolvency.

42. (1) Where, in the opinion of the Court, a debtor ought not to have been adjudged insolvent, or where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the debts of the insolvent have been paid in full, or where a composition or scheme has been approved by the Court under section 27, the Court shall, on the application of the debtor or of any other person interested, by order in writing, annul the adjudication.

(2) Where an adjudication is annulled under sub-section (1), all sales and dispositions of property and payments duly made, and all acts theretofore done, by the Court or receiver shall be valid; but, subject as aforesaid, the property of the debtor who was adjudged insolvent shall vest in such person as the Court may appoint, or, in default of any such appointment, shall revert to the debtor to the extent of his right or interest therein on such conditions (if any) as the Court may, by order in writing, declare.

(3) Notice of every order annulling an adjudication shall be published in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

Duties of debtors.

43. (1) Every debtor, whether before or after the making of an order of adjudication, shall produce all books of account, give such inventories of his property, and such lists of his creditors and debtors and of the debts due to and from them respectively, submit to such examination in respect of his property or his creditors, attend at such times before the Court or receiver, execute such instruments, and generally give such aid in the realisation of his property and the distribution of the proceeds amongst his creditors, as may be required by the Court or receiver, or as may be prescribed.

(2) If a debtor, whether before or after the making of an order of adjudication,—

(a) wilfully makes false entries in the inventories or lists referred to in sub-section (1), or

(b) fraudulently or vexatiously conceals, destroys, transfers, removes or refuses to produce any property or books of account, or

(c) commits any other act of bad faith in the performance of the duties imposed on him by this section,

the Court may sentence him, by order in writing, to simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year; and in every such case the Court shall record the facts constituting the offence with the statement (if any) made by the debtor.

44. (1) A debtor may, at any time after the order of adjudication, apply to the Court for an order of discharge; and the Court shall fix a day, notice whereof shall be given by publication in the local official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed, for hearing such application, and any objections which may be made thereto.

Discharge.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this section, the Court may, after considering the objections of any creditor and, where a receiver has been appointed, the report of the receiver,—

(a) grant or refuse an absolute order of discharge; or

(b) suspend the operation of the order for a specified time; or

(c) grant an order of discharge subject to any conditions with respect to any earnings or income which may afterwards become due to the insolvent, or with respect to his after-acquired property.

(3) The Court shall refuse to grant an absolute order of discharge on proof of any of following facts, namely:—

(a) that the insolvent's assets are not of a value equal to eight annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities, unless he satisfies the Court that the fact that the assets are not of a value equal to eight annas in the rupee on the amount of his unsecured liabilities has arisen from circumstances for which he cannot justly be held responsible;

(b) that the insolvent has omitted to keep such books of account as are usual and proper in the business carried on by him and as sufficiently disclose his business transactions and financial position within the three years immediately preceding his insolvency;

(c) that the insolvent has continued to trade after knowing himself to be insolvent;

(d) that the insolvent has contracted any debt provable under this Act without having at the time of contracting it any reasonable or probable ground of expectation (the burden of proving which shall lie on him) that he would be able to pay it;

(e) that the insolvent has failed to account satisfactorily for any loss of assets or for any deficiency of assets to meet his liabilities;

(f) that the insolvent has brought on, or contributed to, his insolvency by rash and hazardous speculations, or by unjustifiable extravagance in living, or by gambling, or by culpable neglect of his business affairs;

(g) that the insolvent has, within three months preceding the date of the presentation of the petition, when unable to pay his debts as they become due, given an undue preference to any of his creditors;

(h) that the insolvent has on any previous occasion been adjudged an insolvent or made a composition or arrangement with his creditors;

(i) that the insolvent has concealed or removed his property or any part thereof, or has been guilty of any other fraud or fraudulent breach of trust.

(4) For the purposes of this section, the report of the receiver shall be deemed to be evidence; and the Court may presume the correctness of any statement contained therein.

(5) The powers of suspending, and of attaching conditions to, an insolvent's discharge may be exercised concurrently.

45. (1) An order of discharge shall not release the insolvent from—

Effect of order of discharge.

(a) any debt due to the Crown;

(b) any debt or liability incurred by means of any fraud or fraudulent breach of trust to which he was a party; or

(c) any debt or liability in respect of which he has obtained forbearance by any fraud to which he was a party.

(2) Save as otherwise provided by sub-section (1), an order of discharge shall release the insolvent from all debts entered in the schedule.

(3) An order of discharge shall not release any person who, at the date of the presentation of the petition, was a partner or co-trustee with the insolvent, or was jointly bound or had made any joint contract with him or any person who was surety for him.

46. (1) Any person aggrieved by an order made in the exercise of insolvency jurisdiction by a Court subordinate to a District Court may appeal to the District Court, and the order of the District Court upon such appeal shall be final:

Appeals.

Provided that the High Court, for the purpose of satisfying itself that an order made in any appeal decided by the District Court was according to law, may call for the case and pass such order with respect thereto as it thinks fit.

(2) Any person aggrieved by an order made by the District Court under section 15, 16, 24, 26, 36, 37, 42, 43, sub-section (2), or 44 otherwise than in appeal from an order made by a subordinate Court may appeal to the High Court.

(3) Any person aggrieved by any other order made by a District Court otherwise than in appeal from an order made by a subordinate Court may appeal to the High Court by leave of the District Court or of the High Court.

(4) The periods of limitation for appeals to the District Court and to the High Court under this section shall be thirty days and ninety days respectively.

General powers of Courts.

47. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Court, in regard to proceedings under this Act, shall have the same powers and shall follow the same procedure as it has and follows in the exercise of original civil jurisdiction.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, High Courts and District Courts, in regard to proceedings under this Act in Courts subordinate to them, shall have the same powers and shall follow the same procedure as they respectively have and follow in regard to civil suits.

Summary administration.

48. When a petition is presented by or against a debtor, if the Court is satisfied by affidavit or otherwise that the property of the debtor is not likely to exceed in value five hundred rupees, the Court may make an order that the debtor's estate be administered in a summary manner, and thereupon—

(a) the estate shall, where practicable, be distributed in a single dividend,

(b) the provisions of this Act shall be subject to such other modifications as may be prescribed with the view of saving expense and simplifying procedure:

Provided that nothing in this section shall permit the modification of the provisions of this Act relating to the examination or discharge of the debtor.

Costs.

49. The costs of any proceeding under this Act, including the costs of maintaining a debtor in the civil prison, shall, subject to any rules made under this Act, be in the discretion of the Court in which the proceeding is had.

Courts to be auxiliary to each other.

50. All Courts having jurisdiction in insolvency and the officers of such Courts respectively shall severally act in aid of and be auxiliary to each other in all matters of insolvency, and an order of a Court seeking aid with a request to another of the said Courts shall be deemed sufficient to enable the latter Court to exercise, in regard to the matters directed by the order, such jurisdiction as either of such Courts could exercise in regard to similar matters within their respective jurisdictions.

Power to make rules.

51. (1) The High Court may, with the previous sanction, in the case of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, of the Governor General in Council, and, in the case of any other High Court, of the Local Government, make rules for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide—

(a) for the appointment and remuneration of receivers (other than Official Receivers), the audit of the accounts of all receivers and the costs of such audit,

(b) for meetings of creditors, and

(c) for the procedure to be followed in the case of estates to be administered in a summary manner.

(3) All rules made under this section shall be published in the Gazette of India or in the local official Gazette, as the case may be, and shall, on such publication, have effect as if enacted in this Act.

Delegation of powers to Official Receivers.

52. (1) The High Court, with the like sanction, may from time to time direct that, in any matters in respect of which jurisdiction is given to the Court by this Act, the Official Receiver shall, subject to the directions of the Court, have all or any of the following powers, namely:—

(a) to hear insolvency petitions, to examine the debtor and to make orders of adjudication;

(b) to frame schedules and to admit or reject proofs of creditors;

(c) to grant orders of discharge;

(d) to approve compositions or schemes of arrangement;

(e) to make interim orders in any case of urgency;

(f) to hear and determine any unopposed or ex parte application.

(2) Subject to the appeal to the Court provided for by section 22, any order made or act done by the Official Receiver in the exercise of the said powers shall be deemed the order or act of the Court.

Undischarged insolvent obtaining credit.

53. (1) An undischarged insolvent obtaining credit to the extent of fifty rupees or upwards from any person without informing such person that he is an undischarged insolvent shall, on conviction by a Magistrate, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine, or with both.

(2) Where the Court has reason to believe that an undischarged insolvent has committed the offence referred to in sub-section (1), the Court, after making any preliminary inquiry that may be necessary, may send the case for trial to the nearest Magistrate of the first class, and may send the accused in custody or take sufficient security for his appearance before such Magistrate; and may bind over any person to appear and give evidence on such trial.

Power of Local Government to bar application of certain provisions to certain Courts.

54. Any Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare that the following provisions or any of them shall not apply to insolvency proceedings in any Court or Courts having jurisdiction under this Act in any part of the territories administered by such Local Government, namely:—

section 15, sub-sections (2) and (3), section 16, sub-section (3),

sections 25 to 40 (except sub-section (1), clause (a), and sub-section (4) of section 33), section 44, sub-sections (3) and (4), and section 53.

Savings. 55. Nothing in this Act shall—

. 21. (a) affect the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848, or section 8 of the Lower Burma 900. Courts Act, 1900, or

(b) apply to cases to which Chapter IV of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief
f 1879. Act, 1879, is applicable.

56. (1) The enactments mentioned in the Schedule are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the fourth column thereof. Repeals.

(2) Where in any enactment or instrument in force at the date of the commencement of this Act reference is made to Chapter XX (OF INSOLVENT JUDGMENT-DEBTORS) of the Code of 1877. Civil Procedure, 1877, or of the Code of Civil of 1882. Procedure, 1882, or to any section of either of those Chapters, such reference shall, so far as may be practicable, be construed as applying to this Act or to the corresponding section thereof.

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. ERLE RICHARDS moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to Insolvency in British India, as administered by Courts having jurisdiction outside the Presidency-towns and the Town of Rangoon, be taken into consideration. He said :—" My Lord, the alterations in the Insolvency Bill which are recommended for adoption are shown in distinctive type in the copy of the Bill which is before this Council, and they are fully dealt with in the Report of the Select Committee which I had the honour of laying on the table at the last meeting; but I think it may be of assistance to the Council if I explain the more important of the changes which are suggested. The subject is a very technical one, but I shall endeavour to make my explanations as clear and as brief as possible.

" Speaking generally of the amendments, I think it is fair to say that they do much to simplify and abbreviate the Bill. The clauses of the Bill as introduced were taken by the Select Committee on the Code of Civil Procedure Bill from the English Bankruptcy Act of 1883, and they were justified in taking them from that Act, because the clauses in that form have been found to work well enough in England. But to people accustomed only to an elementary system of insolvency, such as that at present in force in the mufassal, they have appeared involved, and the Committee have, therefore, endeavoured to simplify the language of the Bill throughout and to dispense with the use of technical terms which are not yet familiar to Indian lawyers. Several of the more lengthy clauses have been shortened : in particular I would refer to the clauses regarding secured creditors and discharge which have been greatly reduced in length and the order of the clauses has been rearranged in order to present the procedure in its natural sequence.

"The main difficulty in framing a satisfactory law on this subject is the difficulty to which I have referred on a former occasion. It is the difficulty of framing any one law which is equally suited to the different parts of the country. A law adapted for the towns is too complicated for the country districts ; a law suited for the country districts is altogether insufficient for the great centres of trade. This is no new difficulty. I find that Lord Hobhouse, when introducing into this Council just thirty years ago the rudimentary system of insolvency which is to be found in the Code of Civil Procedure, said of the criticisms made on those provisions :—' One gentleman tells us that we ought to enact a complete Insolvency Bill for the mufassal, another that the sections we have inserted into the Bill are such as the mufassal Courts are not strong enough to work, another says that the provisions are too cumbersome, and another, they are too meagre.' The same criticisms have been made on the present Bill. Some of our critics have told us that the Bill is altogether insufficient because it does not provide for many cases which must arise in insolvency; others have said that the Bill is altogether too complicated and that the cases we have provided for can never arise. The difficulty arises not from the form of this particular Bill but is inherent in the subject with which it deals. The Select Committee have given careful consideration to this question. They feel that legal reform cannot be postponed until the requirements of the whole country become uniform ; they feel that trading centres cannot be left without an adequate system of insolvency merely because other parts of the country are as yet less developed. On the other hand, they feel that it is desirable to avoid forcing on backward districts a law which is too complicated for their requirements. In the result they suggest for the consideration of this Council that a power should be inserted—it will be found in clause 54 of the amended Bill—a power corresponding to section 1 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882—to enable Local Governments to exempt any specified districts within their territories from the operation of certain sections of the Bill. There was a power in the Bill as introduced to enable Local Governments to refrain from investing Courts in certain districts with insolvency jurisdiction: but the Committee think it preferable to have the power of exemption made clear and express. They have therefore given this express power of exemption to Local Governments subject to the control of the Government of India. The effect will be that if Local Governments exercise this power to its full extent the law in the backward districts will remain substantially the same as it is at the present time, while the law in other districts will be the law as enacted in the whole Bill. I do not myself anticipate that when the legal advisers of Local Governments become more fully acquainted with the provisions of this Bill they will advise those Governments to exercise their powers to its full extent. But be that as it may, it will be in the power of Local Governments at any future time to apply the excepted sections gradually to the backward districts as they think fit.

"The next point to which I desire to call attention is that of the Courts which are to administer insolvency. In the Bill as introduced the Local Governments were given power to invest any Courts with insolvency jurisdiction; but it has been pointed out to us—and the Select Committee accept the view—that it is desirable that only the higher Courts should have insolvency jurisdiction. They have therefore inserted a clause—it is numbered 3, sub-section (1)—enacting that District Courts are to be the Courts to administer this Act, with a proviso enabling Local Governments to invest subordinate Courts with jurisdiction in any particular classes of cases. The intention is that District Courts are primâ facie to be the Courts to administer the Act, and that subordinate Courts are only to be invested with jurisdiction in special classes of cases.

"Another important matter connected with Insolvency Courts is the subject of appeals. In the Bill as introduced there was no appeal at all from any Court subordinate to the District Court except to the District Court: there was no appeal from a subordinate Court to the High Court. And from a District Court there was no appeal to the High Court except in certain specified cases. The result was that the right of appeal to the High Court was much restricted. There can, my Lord, be no doubt that a multiplicity of appeals is in itself an evil, but it is equally beyond doubt that there is in this country a strong feeling that litigants should have a right of appeal to the High Courts in cases of importance. I trust myself that that feeling may diminish or disappear as the inferior Courts grow stronger, but at present it is a factor which has to be recognised. The Select Committee have therefore amended these provisions, and their amendments will be found in clauses 46 and 47. They propose in the first instance to give in regard to proceedings in subordinate Courts a power to a High Court to call up cases from those Courts. This is a power analogous to the power which High Courts already have in regard to proceedings in Provincial Small Causes Courts under the Act of 1887, which regulates the procedure of those Courts. The effect of this amendment is to give power to a High Court to hear an appeal from a subordinate Court in any case in which it thinks proper to take action.

"Then in regard to appeals from the District Courts to the High Courts. The Select Committee have left standing the clause which gives an appeal as of right in certain specified cases, but they have added a clause that in all other cases there shall be an appeal with the leave of the District Court or High Court. The result is to give an appeal in any case which is considered either by the Court which tries it or by the High Court to be of sufficient importance to warrant further proceedings. Further, they have added a clause to enable the High Court to deal with insolvency proceedings in the subordinate Courts in the same way as they now deal with proceedings in civil suits in those Courts. The result is that section 25 of the Code of Civil Procedure will apply to insolvency proceedings and that the High Courts will have a power to transfer those proceedings similar to that which they have in regard to civil proceedings.

"One point more is of principal importance, and that is in regard to the effect of the discharge of an insolvent. Under the Bill as introduced a discharge operated to free an insolvent from all debts provable in insolvency, that is to say, when once an insolvent was discharged he would have been free from the claims of any creditor in respect of any debt proveable under the Act, and that whether the creditor had in fact had notice of the insolvency proceedings or not. That, my Lord, is the English system and it works well in England. There the area is comparatively small; and there are commercial newspapers which circulate among trading classes, so that it is perfectly easy for any creditor to ascertain the fact of insolvency proceedings having been instituted against his debtor. But in India the conditions are very different. This is a vast country, and there are no means of communicating with the trading classes such as exist in England. Insolvency proceedings might well be started at Dacca and a creditor at Peshawar might not hear of them until the proceedings were over. The local Provincial Gazettes travel no further than the territories of the Local Government which issues them, and even the official Gazette of India has obtained no circulation sufficient for present purposes. The Select Committee have therefore proposed to restore the system of scheduling creditors and to make a discharge operate only to free a debtor from debts entered in the schedule; creditors whose names are entered in the schedule must have had distinct notice of the insolvency. That change is effected in clauses 24 and 25.

"These, my Lord, are the main points to which criticisms have been directed, and I think the Council will agree that those criticisms have been largely met by the amendments which have been introduced in the Bill. There are, however, a few other points which I think it proper to bring to the notice of the Council.

"One is in regard to receivers. It has been brought to the attention of the Committee by our Hon'ble colleague Munshi Madho Lal, and it has also been mentioned by the High Court of Calcutta. We are told—and we accept that view—that there will be difficulty in many cases in finding suitable persons to act as receivers. We are also told—and we accept that view also - that it may be advisable in some cases and in some circumstances to have officials to act as receivers in order that insolvency matters may be thoroughly investigated. We have therefore inserted a clause in the Bill to give power to Local Governments to appoint Official Receivers for specified districts. It is an optional power which can be exercised by Local Governments if they find from practical experience of the working of the Bill that it is expedient. We have added clauses to provide for the payment of these officials and for the delegation to them of certain powers.

"A further point is in regard to agriculturists. Under the Bill as introduced—clause 6, sub-clause (2) (a)—agriculturists were put in a special position in regard to insolvency. They were allowed to institute insolvency proceedings if their debts amounted to the small sum of fifty rupees. Other debtors, as you are aware, can only institute proceedings under this Bill if their debts amount to Rs. 500. The provision was originally taken by the Select Committee on the Code of Civil Procedure Bill from the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act. My Lord, this provision has been a good deal criticised, and the Select Committee are of opinion that there is no sufficient reason for giving special treatment to agriculturists If special treatment is to be given to them as a part of the general treatment of agricultural indebtedness, it should be done in a special measure and not in a general law of insolvency. The Select Committee therefore recommend that this provision should be struck out of the Bill, but in lieu of it they have inserted provisions to preserve any special enactments in regard to agriculturists which are now in force and in particular to expressly preserve the operation of the insolvency sections of the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act.

"The clauses in regard to penalties have been amalgamated and have been made of wider scope.

"The Select Committee recommend that the Bill should come into operation on the 1st January next year. They suggest to this Council that it is desirable the Courts and practitioners and the public should have an opportunity of making themselves acquainted with the Bill before it comes into operation. They do not think it could in any case be brought into operation before the long vacation of the Courts commences, and that on the whole it is better to postpone it until the new year opens.

"Several new clauses are suggested, but they are really matters of machinery and not of substance. They relate to the withdrawal of petitions, the consolidation of petitions, the power to change the carriage of proceedings, the continuance of proceedings on the death of an insolvent, mutual dealings and set-off. These are all small matters and are dealt with shortly in the Bill. The result is that the Bill as amended consists of 56 clauses as against the 46 clauses of which the Bill as introduced was composed; but this advance is apparent and not real, for owing to the simplifications introduced by the Committee the Bill is some three pages shorter than it was when introduced.

"The Select Committee are well aware that this is not a complete Bill although it is a distinct advance on the present law of insolvency. There are many matters not dealt with in this Bill which should find a place in any measure which purported to be a complete Bill, such for instance as the question of the administration of the estates of debtors who are found after their death to have been insolvent. But we have had in our minds the fact that this is the first real law of insolvency for the mufassal which has ever reached this stage in legislation. The elementary provisions in the Code of Civil Procedure, confined as they are to judgment-creditors and judgment-debtors, can hardly be called a real law of insolvency. It has seemed wise, therefore, to avoid the temptation of passing a more ambitious law in the first instance, and to confine ourselves to dealing with the points that occurred to us as being essential. When the law becomes familiar to the public and to practitioners it will be easy to amend; it will be easy then to introduce clauses dealing with such matters as those I have mentioned, and it may perhaps be thought right to introduce a clause similar to that which is to be found in the English Act—a clause to disqualify insolvents from holding public office for a certain time.

"My Lord, these are the chief alterations which the Select Committee propose for the consideration of this Council, but I cannot close these observations without expressing thanks to two of our Hon'ble colleagues who have rendered very special assistance in the consideration of this difficult matter. The Hon'ble Mr. Ismay and the Hon'ble Dr. Rashbehari Ghose, both lawyers of wide practical experience, have been good enough to devote much time to the investigation of the questions arising in connection with this Bill, and the improvements in the Bill are largely due to their suggestions."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. ERLE RICHARDS moved that the Bill as amended be passed. He said :—"I recommend this Bill as a measure that is much needed and as one that will effect a beneficial change in the law in the interests of honest traders."

The Hon'ble DR. RASHBEHARY GHOSE said :—"Your Excellency, I have no hesitation in saying that the Bill we are going to pass into law today will be a very welcome addition to our Statute Book, and I have much pleasure in giving it my most cordial support. It has been framed on a modest and not on too ambitious a scale. No attempt has been made to stereotype details, and the leading provisions are simple and readily intelligible. Definitions also have been very sparingly used, because, as every lawyer knows, it is sometimes dangerous to imprison a definition in the iron framework of a Statute. The profession, however, may find consolation in the reflection that even the best constructed code will not dispense lawyers from being learned.

"The principles underlying the law of insolvency in England and in the Presidency-towns have been carefully recast and not only expressed in a much simpler form but modified in many cases. My learned and honourable friend the Law Member, whom I may congratulate on the termination of his labours, has also tried to meet the rather moderate requirements of the more backward parts in the provinces halfway so to speak by providing for a simpler procedure.

"I do not desire to occupy the time of the Council with discussing dry technical points and will only remark that the fullest advantage has been taken of the criticisms which have been made and some objectionable provisions in the original Bill have been weeded out. The Select Committee were, however, unable to accept the suggestion made by a very eminent Judge tha an order of adjudication should relate back, as in England, to the act of insolvency. No one, I need hardly say, can differ from Sir Lawrence Jenkins without the greatest hesitation and misgiving; but I may venture to point out that the English doctrine, though it may have the effect of avoiding certain questionable transactions, is a departure from the general rule that a decree or order relates back only to the commencement of the lis and has not, I may add, been adopted in America, where an order of adjudication takes effect only from the date on which the petition of insolvency, whether voluntary or involuntary, is presented to the Court."

The Hon'ble MUNSHI MADHO LAL said:—"My Lord, the Bill has now reached a stage in which it passes into an Act and we hope it will become an Act today.

"There is one thing to which I have the honour of inviting your Excellency's attention. It is this:—

"The provision regarding the appointment of Official Receivers, of which mention has been made in our Report in paragraph 4, and enacted in clauses 19 and 52, may be put into force as soon as possible, so that schemes may be ready on the date when this Act comes into operation. This will save from ruin the large landed properties that are in the hands of the judgment-debtors at present. It need hardly be said that judgment-debtors in cases of the kind become apathetic and do not care to keep the properties attached in execution or to be sold under mortgage-decrees in the condition in which they ought to be, and the properties are possibly ruined in litigation between judgment-debtors and the decree-holders, which take a number of years, sometimes twelve to twenty years.

"The appointment of Official Receivers is a necessity. Receivers would be of great use not only to the judgment-debtor himself but to the creditor also. In this connection I may further suggest that there is a large and well educated class of vakils and pleaders in every district in this country whose services may be safely utilized for the purpose. In conclusion I may mention that it is a good Act and will be useful to debtors and creditors."

The Hon'ble MR. ISMAY said:—"My Lord, the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill now before the Council has dealt with its incidents in considerable detail, but I am unwilling to give an altogether silent vote in favour of its passing into law. It has been objected in some quarters that the Bill is in advance of the times, that the law as at present existing is sufficient for the wants of the mufassal, and reference is made to the undisputed fact that creditors very rarely invoke the assistance of that law. It is not, however, I venture to think, sufficiently realized that outside the Presidency-towns a creditor has at present practically no remedy against a dishonest debtor. The law as contained in Chapter XX of the Code of Civil Procedure was, as it seems to me, enacted almost entirely in the interests of debtors. Under that law no creditor can apply to have his debtor declared an insolvent unless and until he has obtained a decree against him, so that a trader who unexpectedly gets into difficulties has ample facilities for concealing or making a way with the whole of his property before his creditors can take any action. Even when the holder of a decree does apply under the Code, the only practical result is that the insolvent is discharged as a matter of course, that he is exempted from liability to arrest on account of any of the scheduled debts, and that those debts to the extent of two-thirds are at once remitted. The law provides no doubt that such property as the insolvent is willing to disgorge shall vest in a receiver, but there is no machinery enabling the Court summarily to annul transfers made in anticipation of insolvency, and in actual practice the only property which ever finds its way into the hands of the receiver is such property as the insolvent has not contrived to conceal or otherwise dispose of. Under these circumstances it is no matter for surprise to find that creditors studiously ignore the insolvency provisions of the Code and prefer to take their chance of getting fraudulent transfers annulled by regular suits.

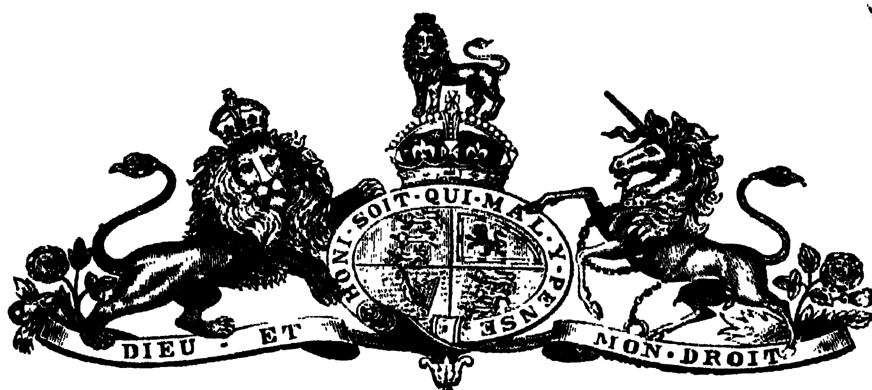
"Under the provisions of the Bill now before the Council any creditor whose debt amounts to Rs 500 may present an insolvency petition against his debtor and on sufficient cause shown may cause his property to be at once attached. Ample power is reserved to the Courts to compel the production of his property by the debtor and to deal effectively with any case in which a debtor is guilty of any act of bad faith in the performance of the duties imposed on him. Fraudulent transfers made in anticipation of insolvency may be summarily annulled, and when once an order of adjudication has been made an insolvent is debarred from making any payment or entering into any contract. Discharges will no longer be granted as a matter of course and the insolvent who fails to get his discharge will be unable to incur fresh liabilities.



"My Lord, I can recall to my mind many cases in which debtors have succeeded in getting rid of the whole of their property, leaving their creditors with absolutely no remedy. The Bill now before the Council is designed to meet cases of this kind. It is in the main an adaptation in as simple and untechnical language as the nature of the subject permits of those provisions of the English law of bankruptcy which appear to be best suited to the requirements of the mufassal. It would be too much to hope that the measure is a measure of perfection, but I believe that the Bill will be found to supply a real want and it is in this belief that it has my full support."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Wednesday, the 20th March 1907.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 h., on Thursday, the 14th March 1907, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Rain fell in Assam on the 8th and 9th owing to the movement eastward of a slight depression which was shown in Central India on the 7th, and in the extreme south of the Peninsula an area of disturbed weather gave a few light falls of rain on the 10th and 11th. Weather was dry in north-west India up to the 10th, when a depression from Persia appeared over the western desert, and gave precipitation in Baluchistan and the extreme north of India. As this depression advanced eastward, a deep secondary depression was formed in the north Punjab on the 11th, and the combined action of these two disturbances caused widespread precipitation in upper India, moderate to heavy falls being reported from the hills and submontane districts. The secondary depression filled up rapidly, but the primary continued its advance eastward, and gave rain in parts of the United Provinces on the 12th, and over nearly the whole of north-east India on the 12th and 13th. At the close of the week a fresh depression from Persia was entering north-west India, and gave light precipitation in Baluchistan, lower Sind and the north-west Himalayas.

Burma.—Myitkyina reported a light fall of rain on the 13th. Skies were generally clear or only lightly clouded, and temperature was nearly normal.

North-east India and Orissa.—Rain fell in Assam on the 8th and 9th, and over the greater part of the division on the 12th and 13th. Skies were cloudy while the two depressions were affecting the weather, and clear or only lightly clouded on the remaining days. Temperature was normal or in excess up to the 13th, when a fall took place, and it was in general defect on that day and on the 14th.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rainfall occurred in the north-west of the United Provinces on the 11th, and next day extended eastward over the northern districts of the division. Cloud appeared in the United Provinces and Central India during the advance eastward of the depression from Persia, but skies were clear or only lightly clouded in the Central Provinces. Temperature was normal or in excess for the first four days of the week, but on the 12th a cold wave entered the western districts of the division, and travelling eastward caused a considerable reduction in temperature, which on the 13th and 14th was everywhere in moderate to large defect.

North-west India.—Precipitation occurred in Baluchistan on the 10th, 11th and 14th, and in Kashmir, the Frontier Province and the Punjab on the 11th and 12th. A light fall of rain was reported from Hyderabad on the 14th. Skies were practically clear in Sind, Gujarat and Rajputana up to the 13th, but were cloudy elsewhere on most days of the week. Precipitation caused a very rapid fall of temperature in the Frontier Province and the adjacent districts on the 11th, and a cold wave advanced eastward and southward across the division in the whole of which temperature was considerably below normal from the 12th to the 14th.

The Peninsula.—A few light falls of rain were reported from the extreme south on the 10th and 11th. Skies were clear or only lightly clouded, except during the period of disturbed weather from the 9th to the 11th, and temperature remained nearly normal.

The rainfall of the period, from the 30th November to the 14th March, is in defect in only the three sub-divisions of Mandalay, Calcutta and Cuttack, and in none of these is the deficiency more than 33 per cent. of the average. In all other parts of the Indian region rainfall is normal or in excess.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 h., each day :

March 8th, Sibsagar 1·32" and Gauhati 1·36".

,, 10th, Quetta 1·18".

,, 11th, Rawalpindi 1·51", Murree 1·51", Sonemarg 4·60", Cherat 0·75" and Pamban 0·79".

,, 12th, Silchar 1·95", Jessore 1·30", Ambala 1·25", Ludhiana 1·65", Simla 1·48", Rawalpindi 1·20" and Murree 1·94".

,, 13th, Gauhati 1·29", Narayanganj 1·14" and Jessore 0·97".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 9th March 1907.

Burma.—Rain fell in several districts in Lower Burma and in Katha, Myitkyna and the Northern and Southern Shan States ; the amounts in some cases being considerable. In Myaungmya slight damage was caused by the rain to stocks of paddy lying out in the open. The standing crops in Upper Burma are generally in good condition but more rain is wanted in Mandalay for dry weather paddy and miscellaneous crops in uplands and in Sagaing for the wheat crop. Insects are reported to have caused the partial destruction of miscellaneous crops in the Salin township of Minbu. The price of paddy has risen largely in Mergui, Tharrawaddy, and the Southern Shan States and slightly in six districts ; it has fallen largely in Katha.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight rain has fallen throughout the Province except in Chittagong Hills and Plains, Rajshahi and Malda. More rain is wanted for cereals and pulses and for transplanted rice in some districts. The prospects of the standing crops are fair to good. Transplanting of summer rice is nearly finished. Sowing of jute and rice has commenced. Harvesting of mustard ; pruning of tea ; and pressing of sugarcane are nearly finished. Plucking of tea has commenced in Cachar and Darrang. Prices of common rice :—Manipur 16 ; Chittagong 9½ ; Comilla $9\frac{7}{16}$; Silchar 9 to 9¼ ; Dacca, Mymensingh, Dinajpur, Pabna, Kohima, and Sibsagar 9 ; Faridpur 7 to 9 ; Rangamati $8\frac{13}{16}$; Malda 8¾ ; Bogra 8¼ ; Rampur Boalia, Sylhet, Dhubri, Gauhati, Tezpur and Nowgong 8 ; Barisal, Jalpaiguri, and Dibrugarh 7½ ; Noakhali and Rangpur 7 ; Tura 6 to 7 ; and Shillong and Aijal 6 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in two ; fallen in eight ; and remain stationary in the remaining districts. Four hundred and twenty-two persons received gratuitous relief in Sylhet.

Bengal.—Light rain is reported from the Chota Nagpur Division, from the districts of Bankura, Nadia, Shahabad, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Balasore, and from Cooch Behar. At Darjeeling there was a moderate fall of 1·67 inches. Pressing of sugarcane and harvesting of the spring crops continue. Preparation of fields for the next season's crops are in progress. Slight damage to tobacco has been done by hail-storms in Cooch Behar. Prospects of the spring crops are on the whole fair. The number of persons on gratuitous relief and test-works in Muzaffarpur is reported to be 25 and 88 respectively and in Darbhanga 11,659 and 1,872 respectively. The number on relief works in Darbhanga is 30,988. Fodder and water-supply are sufficient, except in parts of Jessore. There was no rise in the price of common rice. It fell in seven districts and remained stationary in the remaining districts.

United Provinces.—A sprinkling of rain fell in fifteen districts and more has since fallen in four. Prospects are good and harvesting is in progress. Sowing of extra crops and sugarcane and extraction of opium continue. Crops are slightly suffering from excessive moisture in Garhwal and some damage is reported to the poppy crop from hail in parts of Etah. The condition of agricultural stock is good except in Garhwal and Bareilly. Supplies are adequate but fodder is still scarce in Sitapur, Rae Bareli, and Ballia. Prices are falling.

The weekly report on the scarcity is as follows :—Light rain fell in the Padrauna, Gorakhpur and Hata tehsils. Agricultural stock is in good condition ; supplies and fodder are ample. Prices are stationary. The numbers on relief are : on works 14, on gratuitous relief 2,103, in poor houses 167, total 2,284.

Punjab.—Good to moderate rain has fallen in parts of Ambala, Amritsar, Sialkot and Rawalpindi and light rain in other districts. Prices of food grains are generally unchanged ; wheat is rising in Hissar and falling in Jullunder and Sialkot. The rapeseed crop is being harvested in Hissar and Gurgaon. Sowings of extra spring crops continue in several districts. Ploughings for and sowings of sugarcane and cotton are in progress in Gurgaon, Amballa, Jullunder, Lahore, Amritsar, Sialkot, Shahpur, and Lyallpur. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are generally good. The poppy crop is average in Lahore. Damage by hail is reported from Ambala ; crops have also been damaged by excessive rain and water logging in parts of Amritsar and Sialkot ; and by locusts in parts of Lyallpur ; eggs have been laid by locusts in Mianwali and measures have been taken for their destruction. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient. There are no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain has fallen all over the province during the week. The condition of the standing corps is excellent but sunshine is much needed now everywhere. Heavy hail fell in Bannu and did considerable injury to corps; slight hail is reported from the Tank tehsil of Dera Ismail Khan. Locusts have appeared in the Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan districts and arrangements are being made for their destruction. Sugarc ane pressing still goes on. Sowings of extra spring crops continues The water-supply and fodder are sufficient. Cattle are in good condition except in two villages of the Swabi tehsil in the Peshawar district. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 16¾ to 20; gram 18 to 20; maize 22½ to 31; and bajra 21½ to 26½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was heavy rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 11 to 22 and maize 11 to 36 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient except in Kishtwar where it is scarce.

Kashmir.—The weather is rainy and cold. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana.—Rainfall:—Nizamat Reni in Bikaner 3 cents. Agricultural operations are satisfactory. Harvesting of gram has commenced in places in Jhalawar. Extra spring sowings are in progress in Bharatpur. Slight damage to crops is reported in parts of Kotah and Jaipur owing to hail storms. Prices are falliug in Marwar and Marwara and are nearly steady elsewhere; they are still high in places.

Central India.—No rain. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress. The standing crops and the probable outturn are fair in Bhopal and good in all other agencies. Agricultural stock and pasturage are good except in parts of Indore, Malwa, and Bhopawar. Prices are high in Baghelkhand and Sitamau and stationary elsewhere. Opium is in good condition; collection continues.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues clear and hot. Harvesting of spring crops is in full swing. Gram in Jubbulpur has been damaged slightly by insects and wheat by rust in Bhandara. Sugarcane pressing in Betul and sowing in Brahmapuri tehsil (Chanda) are in progress Prospects are generally good throughout the provinces. Preparation of land for sowing of autumn crops is proceeding in Chhindwara, Wardha, Bilaspur, and Berar. Fodder and water are sufficient. The retail prices of food grains fell in the following districts:—wheat by 2 seers in Betul; gram by 2 seers in Damoh and 2¾ seers in Saugar; elsewhere prices are steady or fluctuate slightly; prices are equal to or exceed the scarcity rate in Drug, Wardha, Chanda, Balaghat, and Bilaspur.

Native States.— Raigarh and Udaipur received a few cents of rain. Harvesting, threshing and winnowing of spring crops and sowing of sugarcane and preparation of land for next autumn crops are in progress. Prospects remain favourable and fodder and water are adequate. Rice has become cheaper by 2 seers in Kawardha and Sakti; prices continue stationary elsewhere.

Bombay.—The standing crops have been slightly damaged by locusts, rats or insects in parts of Karachi, by rust in parts of Kaira, by adverse winds in parts of Upper Sindh Frontier and by hail and frost in parts of Baroda; the opium crop has been damaged by frost in Baroda; crops are in good condition elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops continues in parts of Gujarat, the Deccan, the Karnatak, and Rewa Kantha and threshing is progressing in parts of Broach and the Deccan. Cotton picking continues in parts of Gujarat, West Khandesh, the Karnatak, Kathiawar, Baroda, Rewa Kantha and Kutch. Preparation of lands for next season are progressing in Karachi, the Konkan, the Deccan and Dharwar. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Nasik, Sholapur, and Satara, and water for irrigation purposes is adequate except in parts of Thar and Parkar, Nasik, Poona, and Sholapur. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur, and Cutch. The fodder supply is sufficient. The quantity of food grains purchaseable per rupee is normal to 25 per cent. below. Labourers are getting sufficient field employment in the harvesting and threshing of spring crops, in cutting and crushing of sugarcane and in picking cotton. The failure of the spring crops in parts of Belgaum has necessitated the grant of relief to inferior village servants and doles to infirm persons left behind by emigrated relatives.

Hyderabad.—No rain. The spring harvest continues. Late rice is doing well and crops are generally in good condition. Prices of wheat 7½, coarse rice 7½, and jowar 15½ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Prices of food grains are steady. The standing crops are in good condition and the prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Prices of food grains are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—No rain. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Vizagapatam, Godavari, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, North Arcot, Salem, and Madura. Ploughing, sowing, weeding, and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Madura are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of the Circars, the Deccan, Salem, and South Canara. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in nine districts, and risen slightly in thirteen. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows :—ragi is stationary in nine districts, has fallen in two, and has slightly risen in ten. Cholam is stationary in five districts, has fallen in four and has slightly risen in five. Cumbu has fallen in five districts and slightly risen in nine.

The number of persons in receipt of relief during the preceding and present weeks in each province is shown in the following table :—

Calcutta, March 14, 1907.

SECOND GENERAL MEMORANDUM ON THE WHEAT CROP OF THE SEASON 1906-07.

The provinces to which this memorandum relates commonly contain 90 per cent. of the total reported area under wheat in India. On the average of the revised final forecast figures for the five years ending 1904-05, they contained 23,065,800 acres of wheat.

The present crop in these tracts is now estimated at 25,469,800 acres which marks an advance of 1,856,700 acres or 7·9 °/₀ on the figures for the same date of 1905-06.

Of this increase 1,854,400 acres occurs in British India whose acreage under wheat has risen from 22,265,200 acres in 1905-06 to 24,119,600.

In Native States the acreage is estimated at 1,350,200 acres which marks an increase of only 2,300 acres on the area of last year.

The presence of rust in the United Provinces, which contain nearly 28 °/₀ of the entire reported wheat area in India, causes anxiety. And damage by drought or by recent hail is reported in certain quarters. Otherwise the condition of the crop would appear to be encouraging.

The following gives the average rainfall recorded in the various provinces since the 15th February:—

Bengal	0·37 inches.	Punjab and Frontier	1·71 inches.
Eastern Bengal	0·45 „	Bombay and Sind	0·1 „
United Provinces	0·76 „	Central Provinces and Berar	1·43 „

The following is a summary of the provincial reports. The figures in brackets following the name of each province indicate what percentage of the total area under wheat in India is ordinarily cultivated in that province; the ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage in the province is also stated.

Panjab (29·3°/₀; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 51 per cent).—The total area sown is now estimated to be 9,334,400 acres which is about 9 per cent. larger than last year. The showers of rain received in December, January, and February have been generally beneficial and the crop now promises well everywhere.

North-West Frontier Province (3·5°/₀; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 27·3 per cent.).—In the December forecast the area was estimated at 1,018,900 acres, but timely rains in the third week of December made further sowings possible; and the total area is now estimated to be 1,129,400 acres (irrigated 303,000 acres) as compared with 932,700 acres reported at this date last year. The prospects of the crop were excellent at the date of report (16th February), especially on unirrigated lands, and good rain in the second week of February has further improved the condition of the standing crop.

United Provinces (27·9°/₀; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 51 per cent.).—Figures of acreage sown are not yet available: in the December forecast the total area sown was roughly estimated to be 6,865,000 acres compared with 6,367,000 acres last year—an increase of about 8 per cent. Rainfall in December and January was generally scanty except in parts of the Meerut, Agra, and Rohilkhand divisions. Good general rain in the first fortnight of February has benefited the unirrigated crop. Local damage from hail has been reported from places; a more serious danger is the spread of rust which has been favoured by the continued wet and cloudy weather. The exact extent of the damage from this cause cannot be known until the crop is harvested; but there is reason to fear that it will be serious in a considerable portion of the province. For the province, as a whole, the crop is estimated at 90 per cent. of the normal compared with 80 per cent. last year. This estimate is, however, provisional.

Bengal (5°/₀; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 2·4 per cent.).—The total area sown is reported to be 1,323,900 acres as compared with 1,241,100 acres last year—an increase of 6·7 per cent. On the whole, the season has not been favourable, the crop having suffered through drought in most of the Bihar districts. The outturn is at present estimated to be 77 per cent. of normal.

Eastern Bengal and Assam (0·7°/₀).—The area is reported to be 156,300 acres as against 159,800 acres last year—a decrease of 2 per cent. The sowing season was favourable, but the crop afterwards suffered from want of rain. An outturn equal to 78 per cent. of normal, is expected.

Central Provinces and Berar (11·4°/₀; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage = 0·8 per cent.).—The total area sown is reported to be 3,680,600 acres (3,267,800 in the Central Provinces and 412,800 in Berar), as compared with 3,446,500 acres last year—an increase of 6·8 per cent. The increase is attributed mainly to favourable conditions at sowing time. In December there was no rain in the Nerbudda Valley and the Vindhyan districts, but elsewhere it was fairly well distributed. Rain and hail during February damaged the crop in several districts; but the extent of the injury is not yet known. The outturn is at present estimated to be 111 per cent. of normal in the Central Provinces. In Berar the outturn ranges between 94 and 66 per cent. For both provinces together the estimate stands at 107 per cent. of normal.

Bombay (7·2°/₀; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage=11·8 per cent.).—The British districts report 1,060,000 acres compared with 964,400 acres at this date last year—an increase of about 10 per cent. The Native States (including Baroda) return a total area of 377,000 acres which is about 2 per cent. larger than the area at the corresponding date of last year. The increase is attributed to favourable conditions at sowing time. In Gujarat and Khandesh the crop was good at first, but cloudy weather and frost have done some damage and only a fair outturn is expected. In the rest of Deccan dry crop has suffered considerably through want of moisture, and is estimated to yield middling to poor outturn. Irrigated wheat has also suffered through deficiency of water supply and only fair yield is expected. In Karnatak the crop has withered in the east, and December rain has induced rust and disease in many places, and thus here also the outturn will be mostly poor.

Sind (1·9°/₀; ratio of irrigated to total wheat acreage=86 per cent.) —The total area sown is reported to be 614,000 acres (44,000 in Native States)—a decrease of 1·4 per cent. as compared with last year. The crop is progressing satisfactorily and is expected to yield fairly well.

Hyderabad (3·2°/₀) reports the area sown to be 924,600 acres as against 934,500 acres for last year. The returns are however incomplete, but there is not likely to be an increase in area, as the cultivators have grown more cotton this year than grain. Prospects of the crop are fair to good ; and the outturn is estimated to be 53 per cent. of normal.

Mysore reports 4,600 acres as compared with 2,400 acres last year.

PRESENT.

The King's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by Treaty, grant, usage, sufference, and other lawful means, His Majesty the King has jurisdiction within the dominions of the Emperor of China and the Emperor of Corea.

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in this behalf by "The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890," or otherwise in His Majesty vested is pleased by and with the advice of His Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows :—

1. This Order may be cited as "The China and Corea (Amendment) Order in Council, 1907," and shall be read as one with "The China and Corea Order in Council, 1904," hereinafter referred to as the "Principal Order."

2.—(1) Where one or more commissioned Consular officers are stationed in a Consular district assigned to another commissioned Consular officer, the Minister may, if he think fit, appoint such commissioned Consular officer or officers to whom no district is assigned to be an additional Judge or additional Judges of the Provincial Court of the district.

(2) Where an officer is so appointed he shall hear and determime such matters, civil and criminal, being within the jurisdiction of a Provincial Court, as the Consular officer to whom the district is assigned, with the sanction of the Judge of the Supreme Court, directs.

(3) Where an officer is appointed under this Article he may sit at the same time and place as the Consular officer to whom the district is assigned, or in a different place, and each sitting shall be deemed a sitting of the Provincial Court of the district.

3. The following Article shall be substituted for Article 69 of the Principal Order :—

Any act which, if done in the United Kingdom, or in a British Possession, would be an offence against any of the following Statutes of the Imperial Parliament or Orders in Council, that is to say :—

(a) "The Merchandize Marks Act, 1887";

(b) "The Patents, Designs, and Trademarks Acts, 1883 to 1902";

(c) "The Trade Marks Act, 1905";

(d) "Any Statute amending or substituted for any of the above mentioned Statutes;

(e) Any Act, Statute, or Order in Council for the time being relating to copyright, or to inventions, designs, or trademarks, of which a copy is kept exhibited in the public offices of the Consulates at Shanghae and Seoul, and is there open for inspection by any person at all reasonable times; shall, if done by a British subject in China or Corea, be punishable as a grave offence against the Principal Order, whether such act is done in relation to any property or right of a British subject, or of a foreigner or native, or otherwise howsoever.

Provided :—

(1) That no person shall be punished under this Order for an act which would be an offence against any Act, Statute, or Order in Council, the exhibition of which is required by paragraph (e) above, unless such exhibition had commenced not less than one month before the act took place, or unless the person offending is proved to have had express notice of such Act, Statute, or Order in Council.

(2) That a prosecution by or on behalf of a prosecutor who is not a British subject shall not be entertained, unless either (a) an arrangement is in force between His Majesty's Government and the Government of the State or Power to which the prosecutor belongs, or (b) the Court is satisfied that effectual provision exists, for the punishment in Consular or other Courts in China or Corea of similar acts committed by the subjects of such State or Power in relation to or affecting the interests of British subjects. Where such an arrangement is in force the Minister may issue a notification to that effect, and the Court shall take judicial notice thereof.

4. No action shall be brought for the protection of any copyright, trade-mark, patent, or design by any person who is not a British subject, unless either (a) an arrangement is in force between His Majesty's Government and the Government of the State or Power to which the plaintiff belongs, or (b) the Court is satisfied that effectual provision exists, for the protection in Consular or other Courts in China or Corea of the rights and interests of British subjects in copyrights, trade-marks, patents, and designs infringed by the subjects of such State or Power.

Where such an arrangement is in force the Minister may issue a notification to that effect, and the Court shall take judicial notice thereof.

5. The following Article shall take effect instead of Article 75 of the Principal Order:—

(1) Every person subject to the criminal jurisdiction of the Court who prints, publishes or offers for sale any printed or written newspaper or other publication containing seditious matter shall be guilty of a grave offence against the Principal Order, and may, in addition to, or in lieu of, any other punishment, be ordered to give security for good behavior, and in default thereof, or on a further conviction for the like offence, he may be ordered to be deported.

(2) Where any printed or written newspaper or other publication containing seditious matter is printed, published, or offered for sale within the limits of the Order by a Company registered in the United Kingdom or in a British possession, the Court may, after notice to the Company, and on proof of the facts, require the Company to give security to abstain from such printing, publishing, or offering for sale in future. If the Company fail to give security, or if the Company is shown to have again printed, published, or offered for sale such newspaper or other publication containing seditious matter after giving such security, the Court may make an order prohibiting the Company from carrying on business within the limits of the Order, and may make such other orders as to the Court may seem just. the Court may also declare all the property of the Company within the limits of the Order so be forfeited to His Majesty the King, and shall dispose of it, subject to any general or Tpecial directions of the Secretary of State, as it thinks fit.

(3) Matter calculated to excite tumult or disorder, or to excite enmity between His Majesty's subjects and the Government of China or the Government of Corea, or the authorities or subjects of any Power in amity with His Majesty, being within the limits of this Order, or between the Government of China and its subjects or the Government of Corea and its subjects, shall be deemed to be seditious matter within the meaning of this Article.

(4) Jurisdiction under this Article shall not be exercised except by the Supreme Court.

6. The following Article shall be substituted for Article 84 of the Principal Order:—

Where any person is deported to any place to which he can most conveniently be sent through Hong Kong, and it is necessary to land and tranship him at Hong Kong, he shall, on his arrival there, be delivered, with the warrant under which he is deported, into the custody of a Magistrate of Police at Hong Kong, who, on receipt of the person deported and of the warrant, shall detain him, and shall forthwith report the case to the Governor of Hong Kong, who shall, by warrant, cause the person so deported to be detained in costody until a convenient opportunity occurs for sending him to the place to which he has been deported, and shall then send him to that place.

7. Where a case is stated under Article 85 of the Principal Order, the Judge shall have power, save where the case has been stated by himself, to order that it shall be heard and determined in the manner provided by Article 86 by himself alone, instead of by the full Court.

8. The following Article shall be substituted for Article 108 of the Principal Order:—

If any person named executor in a will takes possession of, and administers or otherwise deals with any part of the property of the deceased, and does not obtain probate within one month after the death or after the termination of any proceedings respecting probate or administration, he shall be liable to pay double the amount of any fees chargeable on obtaining probate, and he shall also be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

9. Article 112 of the Principal Order shall be amended by the substitution of the sum of one hundred pounds for the sum of fifty pounds therein mentioned.

10. Any person desirous of levying a distress for rent may apply to the Court to appoint a bailiff to levy such distress, and the Court may thereupon, and upon the applicant giving sufficient security to answer for any misconduct on the part of such bailiff, appoint a person to act as bailiff to levy such distress.

11. The following Articles shall be substituted for Article 114 of the Principal Order:—

(1) Any party to an action in the Supreme Court, other than an Admiralty action, or to an appeal to the Supreme Court, aggrieved by the decision of that Court or by the verdict of a jury, may move the Supreme Court to rehear such action or appeal.

(2) The motion shall be heard by the full Court unless the Judge of the Supreme Court otherwise orders.

(3) On such motion the Supreme Court may make any order that may be made by the Court of Appeal in England in the exercise of its ordinary appellate jurisdiction.

(4) An application for a rehearing shall be made within the prescribed time.

12. The following provision shall be substituted for Article 151 (1) of the Principal Order :—

(1) Where a foreigner desires to institute or take in the Court an action against a British subject, or a British subject desires to institute or take in the Court an action against a foreigner the Court shall entertain the same, and the action shall be heard and determined either by the Judge siting alone or, if all parties consent or the Court so directs, with a jury or assessors, but in all other respects according to the ordinary procedure of the Court.

13. The following provision shall be substituted for Article 155 (3) of the Principal Order :—

Any person committing a breach of any such Regulations shall, on conviction, be liable to the punishment, forfeiture, or fine therein prescribed, or if no such punishment or fine is prescribed, he shall be liable, on conviction, to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a period not exceeding three months, or to a fine, or to both. Regulations imposing penalties shall be so framed as to allow in every case of part only of the highest penalty being imposed.

14. The following Article shall take effect instead of Article 157 of the Principal Order :—

King's Regulations and Municipal Regulations made or adopted under Articles 155 and 156 of the Principal Order shall not have effect unless and until they are approved by a Secretary of State, save that in case of urgency declared in any such Regulations, the same shall take effect before that approval, and shall continue to have effect unless and until they are disapproved by a Secretary of State, and until notice of that disapproval has been received and published by the Minister.

15. Every Consular officer shall, as far as there is proper opportunity, promote reconciliation and encourage and facilitate the settlement in an amicable way, and without recourse to litigation, of matters in difference between British subjects, or between British subjects and foreigners in China or Corea.

16. " The China, Japan, and Corea (Patents) Order in Council, 1899," "The China and Corea (Supreme Court) Order in Council, 1900," and the following Articles of the Principal Order are hereby repealed, viz.: Articles 27, 69, 75, 84, 108, 114, 151 (1), 155 (3), 157 ; but this repeal shall not (a) affect the past operation of such Orders or such Articles, or any right, title, obligation, or liability thereunder, or (b) interfere with the institution or prosecution of any legal proceedings thereunder.

And the Right Honourable Sir Edward Gray, Bart., one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein.

A. W. FITZROY.

At the Court at Buckingham Palace, the 11th day of February 1907.

PRESENT.

The King's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by Treaty, grant, usage, sufferance, and other lawful means, His Majesty the King has jurisdiction within the dominions of the Emperor of Corea ;

And whereas the exercise of the jurisdiction aforesaid is now regulated by the China and Corea Order in Council, 1904 ;

And whereas by the said Order in Council certain powers, authority and jurisdiction are conferred upon His Majesty's Minister in Corea ;

And whereas His Majesty has ceased to be represented by a Minister of the Court of the Emperor of Corea, and it is desirable to make other arrangements for the exercise of the said powers, authority and jurisdiction ;

Now therefore, His Majesty, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in this behalf by " The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890," or otherwise in His Majesty vested, is pleased by and with the advice of His Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1. (1) The powers, authority and jurisdiction conferred upon His Majesty's Minister in Corea by the China and Corea Order in Council, 1904 (hereinafter referred to as the Principal Order), or by any amending Order in Council, or by any other Order in Council, in force in Corea, are hereby conferred upon the Consul-General, and from and after the commencement of this Order all functions hitherto exercised by the said Minister under such Orders in Council, or any of them shall be exercised by the Consul-General.

(2) All references to the Minister in the Principal Order, or in any King's Regulations, Proclamations, Notices, Rules of Court, or other documents appertaining to Corea issued or made under the Principal Order shall be deemed to be references to the Consul-General, and shall be construed accordingly.

(3) The power given to the Minister by article 156 of the Principal Order to join with the Ministers of other Powers in making Municipal Regulations shall be deemed to be a power to join with the Ministers or other Representatives of the Powers aforesaid in making such Regulations.

2. In the event of the death, incapacity, removal, or absence from Corea of the Consul-General for the time being, all the powers and authority conferred upon him by this or any other Order in Council shall, until His Majesty's further pleasure is signified through the Secretary of State, be vested in the senior Consular Officer in His Majesty's service for the time being in Corea.

3. This Order may be cited as "The Corea Order in Council, 1907."

And the Right Honourable Sir Edward Grey, Baronet, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein.

A. W. FITZROY.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. Consolidated indexes for 1905 and for 1906, entitled "Inventions and Designs," are also on sale, price one rupee each. They contain a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in the year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. Royal 8vo volumes, paper cover, 13 annas or 1*s*. 1*d*. Postage extra. To be had of the Superintendent, Government Printing, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, or of the Superintendent, Patents Branch, Department of Commerce and Industry, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

RULE OF PRACTICE.

Dated Bangalore, the 5th March 1907.

No. 9.—Under section 554 (2) (a) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, and in supersession of the Rules of Practice cited on the margin, the Resident in Mysore is pleased to make the following rules for the preparation and transmission of statements by the Criminal Courts in the Civil and Military Station. The rules will have effect from 1st April 1907.

No. 4, dated 31st May 1878.
No. 30, dated 5th July 1883.
No. 2, dated 15th August 1895.

SECTION I.

MAGISTERIAL RETURNS.

1. The undermentioned periodical returns in the forms annexed to this Rule of Practice shall be furnished by the Magisterial authorities concerned :—

Return No. I, Monthly Criminal Return, in Form A, of cases tried, committed for trial, discharged, or permitted to be withdrawn by the District Magistrate and Magistrates of the First Class.

Return No. II, Monthly Return, in Form B, of cases disposed of by the District Magistrate and Magistrates of the First Class under Chapter VIII B of the Criminal Procedure Code (security for keeping the peace in cases not provided for in section 106 and security for good behaviour).

Return No. III, Monthly Return, in Form C, of appeals disposed of by the District Magistrate and Magistrates of the First Class empowered to hear appeals.

Return No. IV, Criminal Return, in Form A, mutatis mutandis of cases disposed of by Magistrates of the Second and Third Classes.

Return No. V, Quarterly Return, in Form D, of pending cases, showing the persons in custody or on bail for any offence, under the orders of the Magisterial Authorities.

Return No. VI, Monthly Return, in Form E, of recognizances declared forfeited by Magistrates other than the District Magistrate.

Instructions for the preparation and submission of these returns are printed on the specimen forms annexed.

2. Returns Nos. IV and VI shall be submitted not later than the 5th of each month, to the District Magistrate, who will, after scrutiny, file them in his office. Return No. V will be submitted by the District Magistrate, through the Sessions Judge, to the Court of the Resident in Mysore within a month after the close of the quarter to which it relates.

3. Returns Nos. I, II and III of First Class Magistrates shall be forwarded to the District Magistrate not later than the 5th of each month. The District Magistrate shall, after making any remarks on them which he may think requisite, send them on along with his own Returns to the Sessions Judge not later than the 15th of each month. If for any reason the return be not submitted in due time, a detailed report should be made explaining the cause of delay. In order to secure accuracy and punctuality with regard to the Returns each Magistrate should keep a calendar book with the same headings as Form A, and enter up the particulars of each case immediately on its being disposed of. It will then only remain to have a fair copy made at the end of the month.

On receipt of these Returns, the Sessions Judge will examine them in order to see whether any action is required under section 435, Criminal Procedure Code, and will forward them to the Resident's Court as quickly as possible without remark except a note of any case called for under this section. The Returns need not be accompanied by a letter, but the Sessions Judge will note upon them the date of receipt and of despatch by himself, and the cause of any delay exceeding fifteen days in his own office.

The explanations submitted by Magistrates on Proceedings of the Resident in Mysore on their Criminal Returns should be sent direct to that Court by the District Magistrate unless otherwise specially ordered.

There is no objection to the Returns of the First Class Magistrates being passed on in original to the higher authorities. In this case they should be stitched together in proper order. When the District Magistrate sends up the original Returns he need not retain copies for his own office.

SECTION II.

SESSIONS JUDGE'S RETURNS.

4. The following periodical Returns are required from the Sessions Judge:—

Return No. I, Monthly Return, in Form F, of cases decided by the Court of Session.

Return No. II, Monthly Return, in Form G, of appeals disposed of by the Sessions Judge.

Return No. III, Quarterly Return, in Form H, showing the number of cases and persons before, the results of trial in, and appeals disposed of by and pending in, the Court of Session.

5. Returns Nos. I, II and III should be submitted to the Court of the Resident in Mysore as soon as possible after the end of each month or quarter, as the case may be, and should in no case, but one of inevitable necessity, be delayed beyond the 15th of the month after that to which it relates. In case of longer delay being unavoidable, a detailed report must be made explaining the cause of delay.

6. Unless when it may be necessary to report causes of delay in submitting the Returns they are not to be accompanied by a letter.

SECTION III.

GENERAL RULES APPLICABLE TO ALL RETURNS.

7. Blank Returns should not be submitted. When there is no material for filling in any Return, a report to that effect will be sufficient.

8. Ordinarily the required information will be entered in the appropriate column of each return, use being made, if necessary, of blank spaces in neighbouring columns; but where this does not afford sufficient room for long statements or explanations which have to be given, separate memoranda may be appended to the Return, a reference in each case being noted in the proper column.

Registrar.

District Magistrate.

Forwarded by the Sessions Judge to the Registrar of the Court of the Resident in Mysore on the of 190 .

Sessions Judge.

The following instructions are to be carefully attended to in filling up this Return :—

(a) Column 1. This column should show the number of the case on the file of the Magistrate who disposed of the case.

(b) Column 2. "Names of accused persons." The numbering in this column should correspond with the numbering used in the charge at the time of trial, or, if no charge has been framed, with that used in the Magistrate's proceedings.

(c) Column 4. "Race, Religion or Caste, Occupation and Residence." In the case of a Hindu, his caste only need be given; the vernacular name of the caste, and not a translation, should be given. In the case of a Musalman, his religion, and, if necessary, his tribe or sect should be given, e. g., Pathan, Mogul, Khoja, etc. If the accused is a European British Subject, the fact should be noted in this column; and if his name indicates British extraction, but he is not a European British Subject, it should be made clear to what race he belongs. In the case of other Europeans, Americans, etc., their nationality and religion should be stated.

(d) Column 5. "Abstract of circumstances constituting the alleged offence."

The entry in this column should be in three parts :—

(1) The name of the alleged offence expressed concisely in terms of the enactment declaring it to be an offence. In cases in which, as in the Penal Code, a name is given to the offence in the margin of the enactment, such name may appropriately be given mutatis mutandis. Where a charge has been framed, the offences described in this column should be those named in it; in other cases those named in the complaint or Police report.

(2) A brief abstract of the criminating circumstances alleged against the accused. This abstract should relate in ordinary (not technical) language, so much of the alleged facts as will be sufficient to bring the case within the definition of the offence alleged. It should also, if necessary, give briefly information conveying an idea of the gravity of the offence: for instance, if the offence be theft, the probable value of the property stolen should be stated; if voluntarily causing hurt, the weapon or other means by which the hurt was caused, and the nature of the injury inflicted, should be specified; when it is alleged that the accused was legally bound to do something, the law should be referred to under which he was so bound.

(3) Below this abstract, the section of the law under which the alleged acts are punishable should be given; thus in a case of theft, section 379, Indian Penal Code, should be quoted.

(4) When a previous conviction is necessary to justify any particular sentence or order, which otherwise could not have been passed, e.g., when whipping is awarded as an additional punishment or when a case is committed to the Court of Session which, in the absence of previous convictions, the Magistrate would have tried himself, the particulars should be entered in column 5.

Exception.—When an accused person is sentenced to imprisonment not exceeding seven days or to fine not exceeding R10, or is discharged under sections 209, 253 or 259 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, or is acquitted under sections 245, 247, 248, 258 or 345 of the same Code, it will be sufficient to enter in this column only the section of the law under which the alleged act is punishable.

(e) Column 7. "Date and hour of apprehension by the Police." When arrest without warrant has been made by the Village Police, the letter V should be entered in this column; when by the District Police, the letter D; when by the Railway Police, the letter R; and when by officers other than the Village, District or Railway Police, acting under the Opium, the Excise or other Special Act the official title of such officers. In cases where accused has been liberated after his first apprehension and rearrested, the date and hour of both arrests and of liberation should be shown.

(f) Columns 7 and 8 will be blank when S. or A. is entered in column 9.

Column 8 will ordinarily be blank when W. is entered in column 9. If column 11 shows that the accused was released on bail or personal recognizance by the Police, it would be wrong to show a person who is on bail as forwarded by the Police.

The law provides that no Police officer shall detain in custody a person arrested without warrant for a longer period than is reasonable, and such period shall not, in the absence of a special order from a Magistrate, exceed 24 hours exclusive of the time necessary for the journey from the place of arrest to the Magistrate's Court. Columns 7 and 9 furnish the information required. The maximum period of 24 hours is to be counted from the time of arrest (as the law requires), not from the date of despatch from the Police Station. Column 8 of the Return need not be filled in except in the few cases where arrest is made by the Village Police and the accused is forwarded by them to the Police Station. In Columns 7 and 9 not only the date but the hour also of the arrest as well as of the arrival of the accused before the Magistrate should be shown.

Similar entries in columns 7 and 8 of the Return No. II, Form B, should also show the hour as well as the date required.

(g) Column 9. "Date and hour of arrival or appearance before Magistrate having jurisdiction." The date and hour to be entered in this column is that on which the accused person is brought finally or appears in obedience to a process before the Magistrate having jurisdiction, so as to continue thence forward under his cognizance and not a date on which the accused person may be brought before him merely to be remanded to police custody under section 167, Criminal Procedure Code. When the attendance of the accused has been obtained by warrant, by summons, or by arrest under the personal order of a Magistrate, this should be shown by entering the letter W, S, or A, respectively, in this column. When in a case in which a summons has issued, a period of more than two months is shown to have elapsed between the date in column 6 and that in this column, the dates of the complaint and of the issue of process should be written across the blank space between the two columns, any explanation which may be necessary being given in column 16.

(h) Column 10. "Explanation of detention by the Police." Under this heading the following points are to be noticed :—

(1) Explanation of any undue delay between the dates shown in columns 7 and 8 or in columns 7 and 9 when 8 is blank.

Note.—When the arrest has been made by a District Police officer not authorised to make an investigation, the person arrested must be forwarded "without unnecessary delay" to a Magistrate having jurisdiction or to the officer in charge of the Police Station (Criminal Procedure Code, section 60) and explanation is required to show that whatever delay occurred in such case was unavoidable.

(2) Explanation of delay in excess of 24 hours between the dates shown in columns 7 and 9.

Note.—(a) When a special order for detention has been obtained from a Magistrate, under section 167 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, it is necessary to state the date on which the accused was sent to such Magistrate, whose name and powers should be given.

(b) When the order does not authorize detention for more than 48 hours in excess of the 24 hours allowed by law to the Police, the reasons for it need not be stated. But when an accused person is detained by the Police more than 8 hours under a special order, detailed explanation should be given in this column of the Magistrate's reasons for granting the special order.

(3) It is the duty of the Magistrate, who disposes of the case, to see that the time occupied in transmitting accused persons to the Police Station or the Magistrate is reasonable, with reference to the distance to be traversed and other local considerations. If more than a day is occupied in travelling, the distance travelled should be stated across the columns below the dates which show the time occupied in the journey. When the time occupied appears primâ facie unduly long explanation should be given in this column.

(4) Where there has been illegal detention, it should be stated what steps have been taken to prevent a repetition of the illegality.

(i) Column 11. "In custody, on bail, or on personal recognizance." The information given in this column should extend from the arrest or first appearance, as the case may be, of the accused to the date entered in column 13 showing the dates of any changes which may have occurred in the meanwhile. When an accused person has been arrested and released on bail or personal recognizance, the date of such release should always be given. When the accused appeared in answer to a summons, and the case was disposed of the same day it should be so stated. When an accused person is in custody for a bailable offence, or on bail, or personal recognizance for a non-bailable offence the reason should be stated.

(j) Column 12. "Abstract of conviction and sentence, or other order in the case." This column should show the decision come to as regards each accused person as to each offence described in column 5. When an accused person is convicted, or committed to the Court of Session, the section, under which the offence for which he is convicted or committed is punishable, should be quoted. When an accused person is acquitted or discharged, the section of the Code of Criminal Procedure should be quoted under which the acquittal is recorded or the discharge ordered. In all cases the order should be stated in terms of the Act quoted and when a fine is imposed it should be stated whether or not it is paid.

(k) Column 14. "By whom decided and where." The name and office of the deciding officer should be given. The letters J. P. should be entered when it is necessary to show that the deciding officer is a justice of the peace. Where special authority is required to give jurisdiction (as under certain special laws) the letters S. A. should be entered.

(l) Column 15. "Explanation of delay before Magistrate." Explanation showing the reasons for adjournments, the dates and other details should be given when there has been a delay of more than 15 days from the date entered in column 9, whether the accused person was in custody or on bail.

(m) Column 16. "Remarks." Any explanation that may be necessary of the apparent leniency or severity of a sentence, and of delay in isuing summons or in arresting the accused should be given here. When a case has been tried summarily, the letters S. T. should be entered in this column.

(n) The following points should also be noted :—

(i) Cases in which a conviction is recorded, but no sentence is passed, should be entered in the Return : for example, cases under Act XIII of 1859 in which fulfilment of contract is ordered, but no sentence of imprisonment pronounced. Cases under the Cattle Trespass Act I of 1871 as amended by Act I of 1891 should also be entered in the Return.

(ii) Cases which are compounded before the accused comes before the court need not be entered in the Return.

(iii) Cases falling under the following descriptions need not be entered in full in the Return, but the number of cases under each head of the description disposed of during the month should be entered at the foot of the return in column 2, the law and section applicable and the method of disposal of each such set of cases being entered in columns 5 and 12, respectively, and all other columns remaining blank.

(1)—Cases of offences under the Indian Penal Code which are compounded, not being such as are compoundable only with the permission of the Court

(2).—Cases of offences under :—

i.—Police Act V of 1861, section 34.

ii.—Bangalore Municipal Law, 1897.

iii.—Hackney Carriage Rules, 1904.

In which (a) the accused is acquitted or discharged, or (b) a sentence of fine only of less than one rupee is passed.

(3).—Cases under Act XIII of 1859, in which (a) the accused is discharged, or (b) the complaint is withdrawn.

This exception does not apply to cases in the disposal of which there has been a delay of more than fifteen days, or to cases in which the accused has been detained in custody for more than twenty-four hours before coming before the Magistrate for trial, or to cases in which any order is made under section 250 or section 545, of the Criminal Procedure Code. All such cases must be entered serially, as usual, with the necessary explanation.

Magistrate.

(1) A calendar of every case in which a conviction has been recorded by a Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates of the second or third classes shall be submitted in the Form A (mutatis mutandis) to the District Magistrate within twenty-four hours from the time of passing sentence, in order that he may at once take measures for rectifying any injury done by an illegal sentence.

(2) A monthly return of all other cases disposed of by such Magistrates or Bench of Magistrates shall be submitted in a similar form to the District Magistrate.

(3) In order to satisfy itself that the duty of supervision is properly performed, the Court of the Judicial Commissioner may, from time to time, call for a Return of all the cases decided by the Magistrates or Bench of Magistrates of the second and third classes within a particular month. This Return will be prepared in English by the District Magistrate from the calendars of convictions and the monthly returns furnished by such Magistrates or Bench of Magistrates, and will contain all the cases disposed of by them, and also the remarks (if any) made by the District Magistrate. For convenience of reference the cases should in addition to any number they may have borne in the original Calendar or Return, bear a consecutive number, the first case entered being No. I, and so on.

(4) The following instructions are to be carefully attended to in filling up this Return:—

(a) Column 1. This column should show the number of the case on the file of the Magistrate who disposed of the case.

(b) Column 2. "Names of accused persons." The numbering in this column should correspond with the numbering used in the charge at the time of trial, or, if no charge has been framed, with that used in the Magistrate's proceedings.

(c) Column 4. "Race, Religion or Caste, Occupation and Residence." In the case of a Hindu, his caste only need be given; the vernacular name of the caste, and not a translation, should be given. In the case of a Musalman, his religion, and, if necessary, his tribe or sect should be given, e.g., Pathan, Mogul, Khoja, etc. If the accused is a European British Subject, the fact should be noted in this column; and if his name indicates British extraction, but he is not a European British Subject, it should be made clear to what race he belongs. In the case of other Europeans, Americans, etc., their nationality and religion should be stated.

The entry in this column should be in three parts:—

(1) The name of the alleged offence expressed concisely in terms of the enactment declaring it to be an offence. In cases in which, as in the Penal Code a name is given to the offence in the margin of the enactment, such name may appropriately be given mutatis mutandis. Where a charge has been framed, the offences described in this column should be those named in it; in other cases those named in the complaint or Police report.

(2) A brief abstract of the criminating circumstance alleged against the accused. This abstract should relate in ordinary (not technical) language, so much of the alleged facts as will be sufficient to bring the case within the definition of the offence alleged. It should also, if necessary, give briefly information conveying an idea of the gravity of the offence: for instance, if the offence be theft, the probable value of the property stolen should be stated; if voluntarily causing hurt, the weapon or other means by which the hurt was caused, and the nature of the injury inflicted, should be specified; when it is alleged that the accused was legally bound to do something, the law should be referred to under which he was so bound.

(3) Below this abstract, the section of the law under which the alleged acts are punishable should be given; thus in a case of theft, section 379, Indian Penal Code, should be quoted.

(4) When a previous conviction is necessary to justify any particular sentence or order, which otherwise could not have been passed, e.g., when whipping is awarded as an additional punishment or when a case is committed to the Court of Session which, in the absence of previous convictions, the Magistrate would have tried himself, the particulars should be entered in column 5.

(e) Column 7. "Date and hour of apprehension by the Police." When arrest without warrant has been made by the Village Police, the letter V should be entered in this column; when by the District Police, the letter D; when by the Railway Police, the letter R; and when by officers other than the Village, District or Railway Police, acting under the Opium, the Excise or other Special Act, the official title of such officers. In cases where accused has been liberated after his first apprehension and rearrested, the date and hour of both arrests and of liberation should be shown.

(f) Columns 7 and 8 will be blank when S. or A. is entered in column 9.

Column 8 will ordinarily be blank when W is entered in column 9. If column 11 shows that the accused was released on bail or personal recognizance by the Police, it would be wrong to show a person who is on bail as forwarded by the Police.

The law provides that no Police officer shall detain in custody a person arrested without warrant for a longer period than is reasonable, and such period shall not, in the absence of a special order from a Magistrate, exceed 24 hours exclusive of the time necessary for the journey from the place of arrest to the Magistrate's Court. Columns 7 and 9 furnish the information required. The maximum period of 24 hours is to be counted from the time of arrest (as the law requires), not from the date of despatch from the Police Station. Column 8 of the Return need not be filled in except in the few cases where arrest is made by the Village Police and the accused is forwarded by them to the Police Station. In columns 7 and 9 not only the date but the hour also of the arrest as well as of the arrival of the accused before the Magistrate should be shown.

Similar entries in columns 7 and 8 of the Return No. II, Form B., should also show the hour as well as the date required.

(g) Column 9. "Date and hour of arrival or appearance before Magistrate having jurisdiction." The date and hour to be entered in this column is that on which the accused person is brought finally or appears in obedience to a process before the Magistrate having jurisdiction, so as to continue thenceforward under his cognizance, and not a date on which the accused person may be brought before him merely to be remanded to police custody under section 167, Criminal Procedure Code. When the attendance of the accused has been obtained by warrant, by summons, or by arrest under the personal order of a Magistrate, this should be shown by entering the letter W, S, or A, respectively, in this column. When in a case in which a summons has issued, a period of more than two months is shown to have elapsed between the date in column 6 and that in this column, the dates of the complaint and of the issue of process should be written across the blank space between the two columns, any explanation which may be necessary being given in column 16.

(h) Column 10. "Explanation of detention by the Police." Under this heading the following points are to be noticed :—

(1) Explanation of any undue delay between the dates shown in columns 7 and 8 or in columns 7 and 9 when 8 is blank.

Note.—When the arrest has been made by a District Police officer not authorized to make an investigation, the person arrested must be forwarded "without unnecessary delay" to a Magistrate having jurisdiction or to the officer in charge of the Police Station (Criminal Procedure Code, Section 60) and explanation is required to show that whatever delay occurred in such case was unavoidable.

(2) Explanation of delay in excess of 24 hours between the dates shown in columns 7 and 9.

Note.—(a) When a special order for detention has been obtained from a Magistrate, under Section 167 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, it is necessary to state the date on which the accused was sent to such Magistrate, whose name and powers should be given.

(b) When the order does not authorize detention for more than 48 hours in excess of the 24 hours allowed by law to the Police, the reasons for it need not be stated. But when an accused person is detained by the Police more than 48 hours under a special order, detailed explanation should be given in this column of the Magistrate's reasons for granting the special order.

(3) It is the duty of the Magistrate, who disposes of the case, to see that the time occupied in transmitting accused persons to the Police Station or the Magistrate is reasonable, with reference to the distance to be traversed and other local considerations. If more than a day is occupied in travelling, the distance travelled should be stated across the columns below the dates which show the time occupied in the journey. When the time occupied appears primâ facie unduly long explanation should be given in this column.

(4) Where there has been illegal detention, it should be stated what steps have been taken to prevent a repetition of the illegality.

(i) Column 11. "In custody, on bail, or on personal recognizance." The information given in this column should extend from the arrest or first appearance, as the case may be, of the accused to the date entered in column 13, showing the dates of any changes which may have occurred in the meanwhile. When an accused person has been arrested and released on bail or personal recognizance, the date of such release should always be given. When the accused appeared in answer to a summons, and the case was disposed of the same day, it should be so stated. When an accused person is in custody for a bailable offence, or on bail, or personal recognizance for a non-bailable offence, the reason should be stated.

(j) Column 12. "Abstract of conviction and sentence, or other order in the case.' This column should show the decision come to as regards each accused person as to each offence described in column 5. When an accused person is convicted, or committed to the Court of Session, the section under which the offence for which he is convicted or committed is punishable should be quoted. When an accused person is acquitted or discharged, the section of the Code of Criminal Procedure should be quoted under which the acquittal is recorded or the discharge ordered. In all cases the order should be stated in terms of the Act quoted, and when a fine is imposed it should be stated whether or not it is paid.

(k) Column 14. "By whom decided and where." The name and office of the deciding officer should be given. The letters J. P. should be entered when it is necessary to show that the deciding officer is a justice of the peace. Where special authority is required to give jurisdiction (as under certain special laws) the letters S. A. should be entered.

(l) Column 15. "Explanation of delay before Magistrate." Explanation showing the reasons for adjournments, the dates and other details should be given when there has been a delay of more than 15 days from the date entered in column 9, whether the accused person was in custody or on bail.

(m) Column 16. "Remarks." Any explanation that may be necessary of the apparent leniency or severity of a sentence, and of delay in issuing summons or in arresting the accused should be given here. When a case has been tried summarily, the letters S. T. should be entered in this column.

(n) The following points should also be noted :—

(i) Cases in which a conviction is recorded, but no sentence is passed, should be entered in the Return : for example cases under Act XIII of 1859, in which fulfilment of contract is ordered, but no sentence of imprisonment pronounced. Cases under the Cattle Trespass Act I of 1871 as amended by Act I of 1891 should also be entered in the Return.

(ii) Cases which are compounded before the accused comes before the court need not be entered in the Return.

(b) Column 14, "In confinement, or at large on bail." The information in this column is to extend from date of commitment to date of decision, with the dates of any changes that may have occurred in the meanwhile.

(c) Column 15, "Abstract of the Conviction and Sentence or Decision in each case." This column should show the decision come to as regards each accused person as to each offence described in column 8 and below it the section of the Act authorizing each portion of the sentence or decision. When any combined punishment is awarded which requires the authority of more than one enactment, each should be quoted. Should the accused be convicted of any offence not mentioned in column 8, the offence found proved should be shown in this column, with any necessary explanation.

(d) Column 17, "Remarks." In this column should be entered any previous convictions against the prisoners, the cause of delay in bringing the prisoners to trial, if any such delay has taken place; the reason, on a conviction for murder, for not passing a capital sentence, or any particular reasons for giving a lighter or heavier punishment than ordinary, or any other information with which it may seem well that the court of the Resident in Mysore be made acquainted.

When, however, a previous conviction is necessary to justify a particular sentence, such previous conviction, with its date, the extent of the punishment, and the section of the Penal Code or other law should be entered in column 8 as forming part of the charge (Criminal Procedure Code, Section 221), and such entry need not be repeated in Column 17.

THE HONOURABLE THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE.

NOTIFICATION.

BREWERY RULES.

Bangalore, the 11th March 1907.

No. 10.—In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 9 (d), (e), (f) of the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896), as in force in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, the Honourable the Resident in Mysore is pleased to make the following rules for the working and supervision of breweries in the said Civil and Military Station in supersession of the rules issued under his Notification No. 2-I., dated 16th January 1902. These rules will come into force from the 1st April 1907 :—

1. In these rules, unless the contrary appears from the context, "Collector" means the Collector of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore.

2. Any person desirous of obtaining a license for a brewery shall apply to the Collector through the Superintendent of Excise, Civil and Military Station, Bangalore. The application shall be accompanied by a treasury receipt for Rs. 15 and a full description (hereinafter called an entry) of his premises and utensils, in which the purpose of, and the distinguishing mark on each room, place and vessel, shall be clearly specified. The entry will be checked either by the Superintendent of Excise or some other officer authorised to inspect breweries, who will certify to the fact if he finds it correct, and submit it with the brewer's application, the treasury receipt and his remarks to the Collector, who will, if satisfied with the entry and that the applicant is a fit person to receive a license, recommend the issue of a license and the Resident will, if he thinks fit, issue a license accordingly.

Note.—Persons desirous of constructing new buildings or equipping already existing buildings to be used as breweries are advised, before commencing the work to submit plans of the buildings and descriptions of the plant they propose to put up to the Collector through the Excise Superintendent for approval. Any alterations and additions suggested by the latter officer should be duly attended to, since persons neglecting to comply with such suggestions will run the risk of being refused a brewery license.

3. An officer (hereinafter called the Surveying Officer) will be appointed by the Collector to take account of all the operations in the brewery, and it shall be competent for him or for any other officer authorised to inspect breweries to enter the building and visit and examine any room, place or utensil mentioned in the entry at any time either by day or night.

4. Licenses shall be in such form and for such period as the Resident may from time to time prescribe and may be renewed. Each application for renewal shall be made to the Superintendent of Excise at least one month before the expiration of the license and shall be accompanied by a treasury receipt for Rs. 15. A copy of the entry shall also be filed unless there has been no change in either the buildings or the plant since the issue of the previous license, in which case it will suffice if the surveying officer endorses that fact upon the application. The Superintendent of Excise will submit the application with its enclosures to the Collector for orders.

5. All mash tuns, underbacks, coppers, coolers, fermenting and racking or setting vessels shall be so placed and fixed as to admit of the contents being accurately gauged and measured. Before being taken into use all such vessels shall be gauged jointly by the Superintendent of Excise and the Surveying Officer under the rules in force for gauging such vessels, and tables shall be constructed showing the total capacity of each vessel in imperial gallons (in the case of mash tuns in imperial bushels) and its capacity for each tenth of an inch in depth. These tables before being taken into use shall be certified by the brewer or his accredited agent to be correct.

6. The name, or an abbreviation thereof, of each room or vessel shall be conspicuously painted thereon, and where more than one room or vessel is used for the same purpose they shall be distinguished by progressive numbers. Any room or vessel entered for a specific purpose shall be used for that purpose solely.

7. No alteration shall be made in the position or capacity of any gauged vessel without previous sanction in writing having been obtained from the surveying officer or his superior officer ; and before any vessel so altered can be again taken into use it shall be regauged and new tables shall, if necessary, be constructed. In the absence of the Superintendent of Excise and to avoid delay, such regauging shall be effected by the surveying officer and such other officer as the Collector may direct, their results being checked by the Superintendent of Excise on his next visit to the brewery.

8. Where beer is stored in casks which are used exclusively for storing beer and not for issue from the brewery, such casks shall be numbered consecutively and each shall have marked on both heads its number and capacity, which shall also be entered in a register to be kept by the brewer in a form prescribed by the Resident. Any cask removed for repair or recoopering shall be regauged before being again taken into use and, if the capacity has been affected, a new entry shall be made in the cask register.

9. The surveying officer will be provided departmentally with proper gauging rods and a standard saccharometer and thermometer. If the brewer questions the correctness of the instruments or the results obtained by the officer, he must immediately put in a written protest which will be forwarded with his remarks by the officer to the Superintendent of Excise who will, after due enquiry, report the matter to the Collector for orders.

10. Each licensed brewer shall keep in some part of the brewery, previously approved by the Collector, a brewing book in such form as the Resident may prescribe. This will be supplied to him by the surveying officer, and it shall be accessible by day or night to all officers authorised to inspect the brewery. In this book the brewer or some responsible person employed by him, whose name has been previously approved by the Collector, shall correctly enter the particulars of each brewing. The book shall not be in any way defaced or mutilated and the loss of it will entail immediate suspension of the brewer's license and if, on enquiry, the explanation of the brewer is unsatisfactory, his license may be cancelled.

11. The brewer shall enter in the proper columns at least 24 hours before beginning to mash malt or grain or to dissolve sugar the day and hour of brewing with the date and hour of making the entry, and at least six hours before the time entered for mashing or dissolving he shall enter separately in the proper columns the quantities of malt or unmalted corn and of sugar or glucose to be used and the hour when all the worts will be drawn off the grains in the mash tun. He shall also enter in the appropriate columns the dip and gravity of the worts collected, the number and description of the vessel or vessels in which they have been collected and the date and hour of the entry. Such entry shall be made within one hour after the collection has been completed or, if the worts be not collected before 6 p. m., the entry shall be made before 8 next morning. If fermentation has started before the requisite entry has been made, the brewer shall enter the true original gravity of the worts. Each entry shall be initialled by the brewer or his agent.

12. Beer shall be brewed from good materials and its quality shall be such as to satisfy the Resident. Wort shall not be brewed of a higher gravity than 1073°. Nothing shall be added to beer after it has been racked and removed to a beer store, except finings or other materials approved by the Collector. Beer in beer stores must not be diluted and any beer found in store which has been either diluted or in any way adulterated shall be liable to forfeiture. The forfeiture of the beer will not relieve the brewer from the penalty of fine or cancellation of license under rule 21.

13. Officers surveying breweries shall on every day on which they visit a brewery, make a complete survey of the whole brewery plant showing in the proper columns in a survey book, the form of which will be prescribed by the Resident, the condition of each vessel and the dip and gravity of each vessel containing fermenting wort unless such wort shall be fining, when, except in case of suspicion of fraudulent addition of saccharine matter or of addition or removal of wort, the surface need not be broken. A copy of each survey will be made in a similar book and left at the brewery for the information of the brewer.

14. Each brewer shall keep a stock account in such form as may be prescribed by the Resident in which he shall daily enter the quantity of beer actually brewed by him, the allowance for wastage at 5 per cent. the net quantity, the quantity issued and the person to whom issued. Each issue to any place within the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore shall be accompanied by a permit, the counterfoil of which shall be retained in the permit book. Permits shall be consecutively numbered, and before any permit book is taken into use it shall be examined by the Surveying Officer who will certify as to its correctness. No brewer is allowed to issue permits for consignments of beer to be exported to places outside the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. Application for such permits should be made to the Superintendent of Excise who, if he sees no reason to the contrary, will grant the permit which must accompany the consignment and send a letter of advice to the brewer. All such letters of advice and counterfoils of permits issued by the brewer must be retained for at least a year. The stock book will be checked at least once in each week by the Surveying Officer, the quantities brought into it being compared with those entered in his survey book and the issues with the counterfoils of the permits issued, with the letters of advice from the Superintendent of Excise, if any, and with the certificates granted by the officers of the department to whom beer has been issued on the public service.

15. No entry in any of the books kept by a brewer under these rules shall be erased or overwritten. Should it be necessary to correct any entry a line should be drawn through the incorrect entry in such a manner as to leave it distinctly visible and the amended entry should be inserted above it. Every correction shall be initialled by the person making it at the time and by the Surveying Officer in his next inspection of the book. Merely clerical or arithmetical errors need not be specially noticed, but in the case of errors, which cannot be so classed, the explanation of the brewer should be obtained and submitted to the Superintendent of Excise with the Surveying Officer's remarks.

16. Samples of wort in any stage of fermentation or of stored beer may be taken for analysis without payment by the Surveying Officer or any other officer authorized to inspect breweries. Samples of wort during fermentation should be taken by the Surveying Officer at least once in each quarter in accordance with such instructions as the Resident may issue and the Excise Superintendent should have them analysed. On any other occasion on which samples are taken, either of wort or beer, the officer taking them should submit a special report through the Superintendent of Excise to the Collector explaining the reasons for sampling and the nature of the analysis required. Samples of brewing materials will only be taken if called for by the Collector. When however there is a large discrepancy between the quantity of malt or unmalted corn entered in the brewing book and that of the grains in the mash tun, a sample of the grain should be taken and at once sent for analysis together with a report giving a copy of the entry in the brewing book, the dip of the grains in the mash tun, the quantity represented by the dip and the percentage of increase or decrease. On this report and after examination of the sample, the Collector will pass such orders as he thinks fit.

17. The stock of beer in every brewery will be taken at least twice in each year by the Superintendent of Excise or such other officer as the Collector may direct and the results reported to the Collector. Stock may be taken at other times by the Surveying Officer or other officer superior to him and shall be taken at once if there is any suspicion of fraudulent practices. On each such occasion the officer taking stock will immediately report the result to the Collector with his reasons for taking stock. The explanation of the brewer for any excess or deficiency exceeding one per cent. found in stock should be obtained before the report is submitted. The Collector will pass orders whether any, and if so, how much duty shall be claimed in regard to such excess or deficiency.

18. The Superintendent of Excise after careful examination of all the books will submit to the Collector at the end of each quarter an account showing the quantity of beer actually brewed, less five per cent. allowed for wastage, and the duty thereon calculated at the rate of one anna per imperial gallon or at such other rate as may be prescribed by the Government. On this account the Collector will pass orders as to the amount of duty to be paid. Beer issued to the Supply and Transport Department on the public service, for which certificates have been granted by the officers of that department, should be deducted from the net quantity brewed during the quarter before calculating the duty.

19. The brewer shall pay the duty demanded into the Resident's Treasury within five days of the receipt of advice of its amount. Interest at 6 per cent. per annum will be calculated upon all sums overdue at the date of payment. The Treasury Officer will grant a receipt to the brewer for all such payments and send a letter of advice to the Superintendent of Excise who will notify the payment to the Collector.

20. If a brewer objects to the amount of duty demanded from him he may move the Collector to revise the charge. But no revision will be undertaken unless and until all sums demanded under Rule 18 have been paid. In the event of the original charge being found incorrect any excess levied from him will be refunded to the brewer, and if the amount claimed from him is found to be less than that actually due, he will be called upon to pay the difference at once into the Resident's Treasury. The brewery buildings shall be security for any duty which may become overdue.

21. In case of any breach of these rules or of the conditions of the license either by the brewer or by any person in his employment, it shall be competent for the collector to impose a fine not exceeding R50 for each such breach or to suspend or recommend the cancellation of the license.

22. The imposition of a fine or the suspension or cancellation of the license under the last preceding rule shall not be held to prevent the prosecution of any person for any offence which he may commit against the provisions of the Excise Act XII of 1896 or other law for the time being in force. If on such prosecution before a magistrate a brewer be convicted, it shall be lawful for the collector to declare his license forfeited.

23. On a date to be fixed by the collector, subsequent to the date on which these rules come into force stock will be taken at all existing breweries. Duty, at the rate for the time being in force, will be claimed on all beer then found, less a five per cent. allowance for wastage, and a date or dates will be fixed, by which all the duty so claimed must be paid into the Resident's Treasury.

24. Brewers shall be bound by all additional rules for the control of breweries which may hereafter be prescribed under the existing Excise law or under any law which may hereafter be enacted and by all special orders issued by the Resident with regard to individual breweries and shall cause all persons employed by them in their breweries to obey all such rules.

F. P. RENNIE,
First Assistant Resident.

HON'BLE THE AGENT TO THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN CENTRAL INDIA.

NOTIFICATION.

Indore, the 14th March 1907.

No. 450-B.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 269 of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act XIV of 1882), as applied to the Cantonments of Mhow, Neemuch and the Cantonment and civil lines of Nowgong by the Notification of the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 5022-I., dated the 24th December 1891, the Agent to the Governor General in Central India is pleased to make the following rules for the maintenance and custody, while under attachment by a Civil Court, of live stock:—

1. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, the expression "attaching officer" includes the subordinate of an attaching officer acting under his orders.

2. (1) Where live stock has been attached under a decree passed by a civil court, the attaching officer shall leave it, by order in writing:—

(a) if the judgment-debtor furnishes such security as appears to the officer to be sufficient, in the custody of the judgment-debtor, or

(b) if the judgment-debtor does not furnish such security and some landholder or other respectable person is willing to undertake the custody and to produce the live stock when required, then in the custody of such landholder or other person.

(2) The attaching officer shall enter a brief description of the live stock—

(a) in the order in writing referred to in sub-rule (1), and

(b) in the report of attachment made by him to the Court,

(3) Where arrangements cannot be made under sub-rule (1), the attaching officer shall remove the live stock to the Cantonment cattle-pound.

3. (1) Where live stock is removed to a pound under rule 2, sub-rule (3), the pound-keeper shall enter in the Register—

(a) the number and description of the stock,

(b) the day and hour on and at which the stock was committed to his custody; and

(c) the name of the attaching officer who so committed it, and shall give such officer a copy of the entry.

(2) The pound-keeper shall take charge of all animals committed to his charge under sub-rule (1) and shall duly feed and water them.

4. For every animal committed to the custody of a pound-keeper there shall be leviable a rent for the use of the pound for such period of fifteen days, or part of such period, during which the custody continues, in accordance with the scale prescribed in section 12 of the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871.

(2) All sums so levied shall be applied in the manner prescribed in section 18 of the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871, for fees levied under section 12 of that Act, and the pound-keeper shall be paid, for feeding and watering any animal committed to his custody, at the rate for the time being fixed under section 5 of that Act by the Cantonment Magistrate for the charge for feeding and watering impounded cattle.

5. An animal committed to the custody of a pound-keeper shall not be released until all charges leviable under rule 4 have been paid in full, otherwise than upon the order in writing of the Court executing the decree addressed to the pound-keeper.

6. The cost of preparing live stock for sale or of conveying it to the place at which it is to be kept or sold shall be payable in the first instance by the decree-holder.

7. The amount of charges payable hereunder shall be ascertained and recorded by the attaching officer or the officer holding the sale when the live stock is released from attachment or sold and shall, so far as may be, be discharged by him from the amount, if any, paid in by the judgment-debtor before the release of the live stock or from the proceeds of the sale.

8. (1) Where—

(a) the live stock is adjudged to belong to a third person who has objected to the attachment, or

(b) the proceeds of the sale are found to be insufficient, or

(c) the decree is settled out of Court, or

(d) for any other reason payment of the charges is impossible, the attaching officer or the officer holding the sale shall report the matter for orders to the Court executing the decree.

(2) On receiving a report under sub-rule (1), a court shall recover all charges payable from the decree-holder, which will then be disposed of in the manner prescribed in rule 4.

By order,

FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1907-1908.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER introduced and explained the Financial Statement for 1907-1908. He said :—" My Lord, I beg to lay on the table the Financial Statement for 1907-1908 together with the usual papers and accounts. The following is a summary of those points which seem likely to be of general interest.

" A year ago we budgetted for a surplus during the current year of 131 lakhs of rupees. When the year opened agricultural prospects were somewhat unpromising in certain parts of India, and nearly half a million persons were in receipt of relief. These unfavourable features however soon passed away; the monsoon rains were full and well distributed nearly everywhere, and the harvests have been generally abundant, especially in the Bombay Presidency. The consequences of this good fortune may be seen in the general expansion of most of our principal heads of revenue—Land Revenue has exceeded our estimate by over 20 lakhs : Excise by 13 lakhs: Assessed Taxes by 10 lakhs : and Stamps by nearly 8 lakhs. The opium receipts are in excess of what we expected by the large sum of 116 lakhs, in consequence mainly of the high prices obtained at the sales of Bengal opium. The only exceptions of note are Salt and Customs, which between them are 40 lakhs below the estimate. The shortage in the latter case is mainly due to the large contraction in the exports of rice, and in less degree to reduced imports of spirits, in consequence of extensive clearances in February of last year. Our receipts from commercial services and other Departments have exceeded the estimate by 148 lakhs, the chief contributing factors being Irrigation, Interest, Exchange, and seignorage charges on coinage. All told our total revenues are likely to be in excess of the Budget Estimate by 287 lakhs of rupees, which represents about 2½ per cent of the total. Our gross expenditure fell short of Budget provision by 34 lakhs, but the Provincial Governments and local bodies added largely to their balances instead of drawing on them, and the sum chargeable against revenue has been correspondingly increased. We now expect to close the year with a surplus of 199 lakhs, which is 67 lakhs better than we anticipated a year ago.

" For next year, we estimate our revenue at 11,252 lakhs: our expenditure chargeable against revenue at 11,136 lakhs: and our net surplus at 116 lakhs.

" For the third year in succession we are fortunate enough to be able to make a substantial reduction of taxation. We have decided to reduce the Salt tax by 8 annas a maund, with effect from this date. The duty will now stand at a uniform rate of R1 a maund throughout India and Burma, and the incidence works out to less than 2¾ annas a head of the population. Council will remember that just five years ago, the duty was R2-8-0 a maund except in Burma. The loss of revenue is estimated to amount to 190 lakhs of rupees per annum.

" The future of our Opium revenue has been engaging our earnest attention, in connection with the proposals recently made by the Chinese Government for the gradual suppression of the opium habit in that country. We have recently addressed the Secretary of State fully on the subject, and it is not in my power to make any announcement at present. In fact no forecast of the ultimate outcome is at all possible. But as evidence of the expressed desire of His Majesty's Government to meet the Chinese reformers in a sympathetic spirit, we have decided to reduce the area under cultivation immediately to 900,000 bighas, and also to fix the number of chests of Bengal opium offered at the monthly sales at 4,000, with effect from July next, in place of 4,400 as at present. We have also thought it prudent to take a cautious estimate of the prices likely to be realized at the sales and have taken these at R1,250 per chest as compared with an average of R1,391 obtained during the current year. The net revenue which we expect to receive from this source is estimated at over 96 lakhs less than in the present year.

" We propose to effect certain reductions in postal charges, which though not of great amount will nevertheless be a considerable convenience to the public. The half anna rate of letter postage will carry letters up to one tola in weight, instead of ¾ of a tola as hitherto: and the weight carried for one anna will be raised from 1½ tolas to 3 tolas. There will also be some minor reductions in the foreign letter rates. These changes will take effect from the 1st October next and we expect that they will cost us 11 lakhs during the remainder of the year.

" Under Army charges of all kinds we have effected a reduction of over 68 lakhs. The grants for what is called special military expenditure, including the reorganisation of the army, have been reduced by 75 lakhs, and the amount carried over from the current year is limited to 47½ lakhs as compared with 90 lakhs on the last occasion. These reductions are however partly counterbalanced by growth of ordinary military expenditure, mainly due to the increased cost of food, fodder and supplies.

" For police reform we have provided additional grants aggregating 30½ lakhs a year.

" For Education, the budget provision is 303 lakhs, which is, I think, the highest ever yet made. This is exclusive of building grants and indirect charges debited under other heads. The budget includes no provision for making education free of charge in primary schools: but we are in communication with Local Governments on this important question, and we have received an assurance from the Secretary of State that notwithstanding the absence of a budget grant, if a suitable scheme is submitted to and approved by him, he will authorize us to introduce it in the course of the year if the financial position then permits.

" We have recast the system under which the cost of famine relief has hitherto been a wholly Provincial charge, and have introduced a new plan by which Imperial revenues will bear the lion's share, though not the whole, of the burden. The ruling principle of the new scheme is that we provide Local Governments with the means of building up a reserve of credit with the Imperial Government, on which they can draw when famine comes. Full details will be found in the body of the Financial Statement.

" For capital expenditure, we have provided 125 lakhs for Irrigation Major Works, and 13½ crores for Railways, of which 568 lakhs have been allotted for rolling stock on open lines. We should have been glad to provide 10 millions sterling for Railway construction, as we did in 1900-07 and hoped to do in the ensuing year. But the state of the money market both in this country and still more markedly in London makes it inopportune to call upon it for the larger sum.

" We have introduced a change in the form of the Railway accounts, by which working expenses are deducted from gross receipts, and the earnings are shown net in the summation of our revenues.

" These, my Lord, are the leading features of the Financial Statement for the ensuing year. To all appearance our finances are still on an ascending plane of prosperity. Causes for anxiety are indeed not wanting and the need for economy and unceasing watchfulness is as great as ever. But so far as can now be judged the outlook is clear and our prospects for the coming year are full of hope."

REPEALING AND AMENDING (RATES AND CESSES) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. MILLER moved that the Bill to repeal and amend certain enactments relating to abolished rates and cesses be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MILLER moved that in Part E of the Schedule to the Bill, after the entries relating to Act X of 1878, the following be inserted, namely :—

" Act XVII of 1878 (The Northern India Ferries Act, 1878).	17	For sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) the following to be substituted : ' (ii) be applied to any local works likely to promote the public health, comfort or convenience.' "

He said :—" Two small amendments have been found necessary in the Schedule to this Bill. We are now repealing Act X of 1878 (the Central Provinces Additional Rates Act, 1878). It has been pointed out that in Act XVII of 1878 allusion is made to the Act which is now about to be repealed, and which will in the future disappear from the Central Provinces Code of Laws. It is more convenient that, instead of this reference to the Act about to be repealed, the words which are used in that Act be transferred to Act XVII of 1878."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MILLER moved that in the same Part of the said Schedule, for the entry in column 3 opposite section 143A of Act XVIII of 1881, the following be substituted, namely :—

> " In clause (c), the words 'patwari and' to be omitted ; and for the words 'they are' the words 'he is' to be substituted."

He said :—" This is a purely drafting amendment."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MILLER moved that the Bill as amended be passed. He said :—" My Lord, the Bill that we have been considering places the seal upon the policy that has been followed during the past two years by the Government of India in utilising a portion of its surplus in remitting certain burdens imposed on the land over and above the land-revenue. That policy has evoked lively expressions of appreciation in this Council. It has been received with much satisfaction in the provinces generally both by the classes immediately interested in the land and by the Local Governments and Administrations concerned. Steps have already been taken to give effect to the various remissions, and the Council will, I have no doubt, be glad to pass this Bill, which marks the disappearance of these rates and cesses from the Statute Book."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Wednesday, the 27th March 1907.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1907-1908.

PART I.

Introductory.

I beg to present the Financial Statement for 1907-1908, together with the usual figures relating to the accounts of 1905-1906, and the Revised Estimate of 1906-1907.

2. At the beginning of 1906-1907, agricultural prospects were distinctly unpromising in certain parts of the country, including the Deccan and Karnatak districts of Bombay, Bundelkhand in the United Provinces, and certain Native States in Rajputana and Central India, where a bad rabi crop had followed on a poor kharif. When the year opened there were 310,000 persons on relief in British territory and 173,000 in Native States. Fortunately the monsoon rains set in at a normal date, and were well distributed, with the result that from July the numbers on relief works rapidly dwindled, and by October it was found possible to close all relief works in the affected areas mentioned above.

3. The general character of the monsoon was very favourable over almost the whole of India, and nowhere more so than in the Bombay Presidency. The winter harvest has been excellent nearly everywhere, and the rabi crop which will shortly be reaped promises to be a distinctly good one. Cotton, which is one of the most valuable staples of the country, seems likely to give a record outturn. The latest estimates indicate that the area under this crop is more than a million acres in excess of that of last year, while the estimated yield of 4,908,000 bales exceeds that of any previous year by over a million bales. The area under sugarcane has increased by 11 per cent, and the estimated outturn by more than 29 per cent. Jute also, which is to Bengal what cotton is to Bombay and the Peninsula, has grown in area by 200,000 acres, and in outturn by 600,000 bales, as compared with the previous year. The Director-General of Commercial Intelligence estimates that the cultivators of the jute-growing districts have received the enormous sum of 40 crores of rupees in payment of their crop during the past season.

4. The only blot on the general prosperity of the year occurred in a few of the eastern districts, where the monsoon rice crops suffered from a deficiency in the earlier rains, and from floods later on. The damage due to these causes, combined with the abnormally high price of rice, rendered it necessary to afford some measure of relief, but the works were not freely resorted to, and the only district where any appreciable number of persons are still on relief is Darbhanga.

5. The effects of the favourable season are written large all over our revenue returns, and nowhere more conspicuously than in the all-important item of Land Revenue. This time last year we estimated that this head would yield 110½ lakhs, or £735,500, more than in 1905-1906, and I will admit that I adopted this high figure with some misgiving. The result has surpassed our expectations by the considerable sum of £135,300, notwithstanding the grant of suspensions and remissions wherever occasion demanded.

6. For the third year in succession, we are in the fortunate position of being able to announce a substantial remission of taxation. It has been decided to make a further reduction of the salt tax to R1 a maund throughout the whole of India. This measure will take effect from to-day, and we estimate that, after allowing for growth of consumption, it will involve a sacrifice of revenue to the extent of 190 lakhs of rupees in 1907-1908, besides a small sum of perhaps 8 lakhs during the few remaining days of the current year. The manner in which the consumption of salt has responded to each lowering of the duty is as remarkable as it is gratifying. The first reduction to R2 a maund was made, broadly speaking, with effect from 1903-1904, and the second, to R1-8 per maund from 1905-1906. Excluding Burma, which was not affected, the consumption increased by 9,68,000 maunds in 1903-1904, 15,97,000 maunds in 1904-1905, and 13,32,000 maunds in 1905-1906; and during the first eight months of 1906-1907 it exceeded that of the corresponding period of the previous year by 14,41,000 maunds.

This rate has not been maintained during the subsequent months, but there is reason to believe that this is mainly due to the dealers holding back in anticipation of a further lowering of the duty, and the comparative shortage will no doubt now be quickly made up. It is a source of satisfaction to us to be able to effect this important fiscal reform notwithstanding that allowance has to be made for the impending loss of a part of our Opium revenue. I am not yet in a position to make any definite announcement on this latter subject, but what it is at present possible to say will be found in a later section of the present Financial Statement.

Changes in the form of the Railway Accounts.

7. Before setting forth the figures, I desire to draw attention to an important change which we have introduced this year in the manner of exhibiting the earnings and working expenses of our railways. In Appendix I the figures for the Budget Estimate of 1906-1907 have been altered in the following manner :—

	In last year's Financial Statement.	In the present Financial Statement.
Revenue	86,495,100	73,711,100
Expenditure	85,621,000	72,837,000
Surplus .	874,100	874,100

A similar reduction will be observed in all the other corresponding totals which are dealt with in the Financial Statement and Appendices A, B, C and E. The explanation is to be found in the Railway section of the accounts. Hitherto we have shown the gross traffic receipts from State Railways on one side of the account, and the working expenses on the other: this year, for the first time, we show the revenue net. The interest on Railway debt continues to be entered as expenditure; but the working expenses are brought over to the Revenue side of the account and deducted from the gross traffic receipts; the result for next year being a reduction of the totals on both sides by more than 13½ millions. The nature of the change is brought out very clearly in Appendix A, under head XXVI where we first have a line of figures showing the gross receipts, and then immediately under it another line showing working expenses: the latter are deducted from the former, and then we have a third line which represents the net earnings. The arrangement by which all the figures used to be shown in gross was open to many objections; it unduly inflated the accounts, it suggested misleading comparisons, and it conveyed a wholly erroneous impression of the cost of the administration and the burden of taxation. As I explained in replying to the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale, when he raised this question last year, it would not be justifiable to exclude altogether from our accounts the enormous sums of actual receipts and expenditure which would disappear if we exhibited merely our net profits from Railways and Irrigation. The arrangement now introduced, however, with the Secretary of State's approval, shows both the gross receipts and the per contra charges, but it enables us in the summation of our revenue figures to bring the net earnings alone into the account. We have left the Interest on Railway debt in its original place: to have brought it over to the Revenue side of the account as a deduction from the gross receipts would have necessitated a large minus entry in the column for revenue accruing in England. It is possible that some further changes may be made hereafter in the manner of exhibiting the Interest charges, but no decision has yet been arrived at on this point. We have not thought it essential to go so far as the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale suggested, and to show the Irrigation revenue net. I quite admit that the same general principle applies to the Irrigation as to the Railway figures: but the former are not yet sufficiently large to cause any serious distortion of the true revenue and expenditure of India.

8. Two changes of minor importance which have been made in the form of the Railway accounts may also be mentioned. One is the exhibition by a separate entry of the surplus profits which are paid to Companies working State lines. These profits were previously included under the head "Working Expenses," which is not a suitable description of the charge. The other change is the appearance of the new sub-head "Sinking Funds" under Railway expenditure. The amounts now shown in this manner were formerly included in the entry for "Annuities in purchase of Railways;" but they really represent payments towards the redemption of India Stock which has been created in exchange for annuities and debentures of purchased Guaranteed Railways.

9. After making these adjustments I present the figures for the three years, reduced to their simplest form, and excluding Capital Debt and Remittance transactions. They are as follows :—

	1905-1906 (Accounts). £
Revenue	73,327,957
Expenditure (charged against Revenue)	71,236,103
Surplus .	2,091,854

	1906-1907 (Revised Estimate). £
Revenue	75,626,900
Expenditure (charged against Revenue)	74,300,800
Surplus .	1,326,100

	1907-1908 (Budget Estimate). £
Revenue	75,012,800
Expenditure (charged against Revenue)	74,238,100
Surplus .	774,700

Accounts of 1905-1906.

10. Last March we estimated that the year 1905-1906 would close with a surplus of £1,755,700. The audited accounts show that the surplus has actually amounted to £2,091,854, being an improvement of £336,154. This represents the result of the Imperial Section only. The net Provincial and Local surplus was less than the estimate by £56,406, and the combined result is a betterness of £279,748.

11. The net improvement in revenue was £168,185. Railway earnings were less than we had estimated by £64,052, the bulk of which occurred on the Eastern Bengal, Rajputana-Malwa, and Great Indian Peninsula systems. The issues of Malwa opium during March were exceptionally low, leading to a reduction of £21,720. Under Land Revenue, we underestimated the check in collections due to the unfavourable agricultural prospects in certain provinces by the considerable sum of £166,531. On the other hand, practically all the other heads of revenue exceeded the estimate in a greater or less degree. The largest increase was one of £111,796 in the army receipts, of which £82,500 represented a payment made by the War Office towards the end of March on account of the cost of five Native Infantry regiments employed in the Colonies.

12. The expenditure was less than expected by £111,563. The greater part of this represents lapses of expenditure in England on account of the Army (£173,170), and special defences (£45,694). Railway charges fell short of our calculations by £40,518. They would, however, have exceeded the estimate but for the fact that a sum of £72,575, being a portion of the surplus profits due to the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Company, was not actually paid till after the end of the year. Most of the other heads of expenditure were more or less in excess of the estimate, the largest increase being £42,708 under education, which was due to heavier payments on account of building and furniture grants to schools in Bombay, the Punjab, Bengal and Burma.

13. Further details will be found in Part II of the Financial Statement, and in the Comptroller General's Appropriation Report which has recently been published.

Revised Estimate for 1906-1907.

14. In making a comparison between the figures of the Budget Estimate of the current year, as framed in March last, and those of the Revised Estimate now presented, it is necessary to make allowance for the new method of showing Railway earnings net, instead of gross, which was explained in paragraph 7 above. The change affects only the figures of the Railway Revenue Account, and those of total revenue and expenditure; no others are concerned.

15. After making the requisite corrections of the Budget figures, due to this cause, it will be seen that a year ago we estimated that the total revenue of the year would amount to £73,711,100, and the expenditure chargeable against revenue to £72,837,000, and that the year would close with a surplus of £874,100. The actual results, so far as they are now known, have been somewhat more favourable. The revenue is now estimated at £75,626,900, the expenditure chargeable against revenue at £74,300,800, and the surplus at £1,326,100. This last figure exceeds the original estimate by £452,000. The total revenue, Imperial, Provincial, and Local, has increased by £1,915,800, while the expenditure has fallen by £227,300. The improvement in actual receipts and expenditure is thus £2,143,100. In March last, however, we anticipated that the Provincial Governments and local bodies would draw upon their accumulated balances to the extent of £1,077,600. Instead of this, they have on the whole increased their balances by £613,500, and the effect of this is to increase the expenditure chargeable against revenue by £1,691,100. The way in which this happens is further explained in a later section of the present Financial Statement.

16. The following statement shows the principal heads in which the Revised Estimate differs from the Budget by £50,000 or more :—

REVENUE.

Increase—
Land Revenue	135,300
Opium	776,600
Stamps	51,300
Excise	89,400
*Assessed Taxes	67,700
Interest	95,800
Mint	213,800
Miscellaneous	306,700
Irrigation	281,100
Decrease—
Customs	157,100
Salt	110,000

EXPENDITURE.

Increase—
Interest	56,800
Miscellaneous	118,400
Decrease—
Civil Departments	67,400
Irrigation	59,500
Other Public Works	167,100
Special Defences	90,200

Full explanations on all necessary points will be found in the memorandum by the Financial Secretary. The only matters to which I need allude are the following :—

17. Under Land Revenue, the betterness is mainly due to the extremely favourable character of the season in the Bombay Presidency, which has facilitated the collection of outstanding arrears as well as of the current demand. The improvement is estimated at 36·09 lakhs. There has also been some increase in the Punjab, the North-West Frontier Province, Eastern Bengal, and Madras. In Burma, on the other hand, mainly in consequence of floods in some districts, the expansion of the revenue has been less rapid than was expected, and the Revised Estimate falls short of the Budget by 21·17 lakhs, though it exceeds the actuals of the previous year by 8·75 lakhs.

18. The predominant element in the expansion of our revenues has been opium. In February 1906, and again in March of that year, heavy successive falls occurred in the sale prices realised at the auctions of Bengal opium, and in view of the possibility that this might continue, we then thought it prudent to calculate on an average rate not exceeding R1,125 per chest for the whole year. A recovery, however, set in almost at once and prices gradually rose during the year, with the result that the average price for the twelve months has amounted to R1,391 per chest. This accounts for an increase of 140·45 lakhs over the estimate. On the other hand, the weighments of Malwa opium have been the smallest known for many years, and are not expected to exceed 12,500 chests in all, as compared with our estimate of 16,500. The loss of pass duty due to this cause is estimated at 24·40 lakhs.

19. The improvement under Stamps and Excise has been fairly general throughout the country, except in Burma and the United Provinces. In the former province the probable growth of the excise revenue was overestimated. In the latter, the shortage amounts to 6 lakhs. This is mainly due to the fact that in the last weeks of 1905-1906 a large firm of distillers, in anticipation of the increase of the duty on spirits from R6 to R7 per gallon, took out of bond a quantity sufficient for nearly two years' consumption.

20. Under Salt we estimate that the revenue will be less by £110,000 than we expected. About half of this shortage is due to the reduction in the duty with effect from this date. The remainder is due partly to dealers in Northern India holding back in expectation of a reduction in the duty, and partly to the effect of credit sales having been underestimated in Madras.

21. Under Customs the receipts have been disappointing, and in place of the improvement of £139,300 which we hoped for a year ago, we now expect that the revenue will be nearly £41,000 below that of 1905-1906. The chief items contributing to this result are spirits and the export duty on rice. Instead of getting an increase of 3 lakhs from the enhanced duty on spirits, we now expect a falling-off of over 12 lakhs, which is due to large clearances in February 1906. The effect of this, however, has probably exhausted itself by now, and the trade will doubtless resume its normal course. The exports of rice have largely declined, mainly in consequence of the high prices prevailing in Bengal and some other parts of India, which diverted the trade from its usual channels. The receipts from this item we expect to be less than the estimate by £120,000. Cotton goods have not maintained the exceptionally high figure of 1905-1906, and have yielded £29,200 less than in that year. On the other hand, the imports of sugar, especially from Germany and Java, have been on an unprecedented scale, and will probably yield £37,000 in excess of the estimate. Imports of silver have recovered from the set back they underwent last year, and have surpassed even the record figures of 1904-1905, the improvement over the estimate being £76,600. Burma petroleum continues to compete successfully with foreign oil, which is a feature satisfactory in itself, but not conducive to growth of revenue from customs.

22. Under Interest the improvement occurred in England, and is due to the high Bank rate which prevailed in London during a considerable part of the year, and the favourable terms on which the Secretary of State was enabled to lend out his floating balances.

23. The increase in Mint receipts was due to seignorage being charged on coinage largely in excess of the estimate, and is partly counterbalanced by an increase of £21,800 in working charges. The coinage of the year depends almost wholly on the demands of trade, and cannot be forecasted with any approach to certainty.

24. Under Miscellaneous, the improvement is due mainly to two causes. The first of these is the strong demand for money prevailing during the latter months of the year, which resulted in unusually high prices being obtained for Council Bills and Telegraphic Transfers, yielding a profit of 23 lakhs. The other is the payment of two instalments of the Tibet indemnity, aggregating 16·67 lakhs. A small item (1·34 lakhs) of some interest represents the value of old outstanding currency notes, written off for the first time under the provisions of section 17 of the Paper Currency Act of 1905.

25. The agricultural conditions of the year were favourable for an expansion of irrigation, especially in the United Provinces and the Punjab. In the former the area under irrigation for the rabi crop was the largest on record. In the latter the extension was greatest on the Sirhind, Western Jumna and Upper Bari Doab Canals, and there was no failure of the cotton crop to necessitate remissions. Every other province also contributed to the increase, though in a smaller degree than the first two.

26. Our net Railway earnings are better than those of 1905-1906 by 60 lakhs, but have fallen short of the estimate by nearly 7 lakhs. The gross receipts are well up to the original estimate, but the working expenses have increased more rapidly, mainly in consequence of heavy renewals and repairs on the East Indian, Rajputana-Malwa, Bengal Nagpur, and Great Indian Peninsula Railways.

27. Under Army, there has been a saving, or rather a lapse, of 26·60 lakhs on the grant for special expenditure. (This is exclusive of other lapses aggregating 22·80 lakhs taken under military works and special defences.) Under ordinary charges there has been an excess of 24·41 lakhs, of which about 4½ lakhs represents the charges on account of the concentration of troops at Agra in connection with the visit of the Amir in January last. Most of the remainder occurred in supply and transport charges, and is due to the high prevailing price of food and fodder, and to the larger sums therefore payable as compensation for dearness of provisions.

28. Instead of a Provincial and Local deficit of £1,077,600, we now expect that there will be a surplus of £613,500. As I explained last year, this does not affect the actual revenue or expenditure, but merely its allocation as between Imperial, Provincial, and Local. A large part of the difference is due to the initial grant of 50 lakhs which we have made to Burma in connection with its new Provincial Settlement recently concluded; and to the refund to Bombay and the United Provinces of the sums expended by those Local Governments on famine relief during the past two years. These aggregate 90·67 lakhs in all. Other transfers, aggregating 10·18 lakhs, were made from Imperial to Provincial for Education, Irrigation Works, and Archæology, while additions amounting to 8·50 lakhs were made to the assignments of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam in connection with their new Provincial Settlements, and for the reorganisation of their Provincial services. The remainder of the variation is due partly to the growth of the Provincial shares of revenue having been greater than was expected, and partly to the failure of the Local Governments to expend their assignments in full.

Budget Estimates of 1907-1908.

29. For next year we estimate the Revenue at £75,012,800, and the Expenditure (after allowing for a sum of £443,300 which is chargeable against Provincial and Local balances) at £74,238,100, thus leaving a net surplus of £774,700 in the Imperial Section of the accounts.

30. The estimated revenue is thus seen to be less by £614,100 than that which we expect to receive in the current year. The causes of this reduction may be summed up in two words—Salt and Opium.

31. I have already announced that we have decided to reduce the rate of salt duty to R1 per maund throughout India with effect from this date. Had this reduction not been made we calculate that we might have expected to obtain a Revenue of £4,556,700 in 1907-1908 from this source, or £266,700 more than in the current year. We now expect to receive one million less than in 1906-1907, so that the sacrifice of revenue amounts to £1,266,700. In this estimate, allowance has been made for probable increase in consumption. I have already dwelt on the remarkable stimulus which has been imparted to the consumption of salt by the reductions made in former years, and there seems every reason to anticipate that the present measure will be equally efficacious and beneficial.

32. The incidence of the duty now works out to rather less than 2¾ annas per head of the population, a rate which can only be regarded as extremely moderate when it is remembered that the salt tax is the only contribution towards the public expenditure that is made by a large number of the people.

33. In 1906-1907 our net opium revenue is expected to amount to £3,690,900, or about 553·63 lakhs of rupees. For 1907-1908, we estimate it at £3,046,300, or about 457 lakhs. In each case about 32 lakhs represents the cost price of opium transferred to the Excise Department for local consumption, and the remainder, which for next year amounts to about 4¼ crores, represents the revenue derived from the opium trade.

34. The reason for this considerable falling-off is to be found in the reduction in the number of chests of Bengal opium notified for sale during 1907-1908 to 49,200 as compared with 52,800 in the past year. As is already known, proposals have been submitted by the Chinese Government for the gradual reduction of the imports of Indian opium into China, pari passu with the gradual contraction of the production of opium in that country, the object in view being the eventual extinction of the opium habit among the Chinese. The negotiations have not yet reached a stage when it would be possible to make any announcement of the result: but it has been thought expedient to give effect during the ensuing year to the foregoing reduction of sales, and to a corresponding contraction of the area under cultivation, as evidence of the readiness of His Majesty's Government to receive the Chinese proposals in a sympathetic spirit. It has also been considered prudent to take a cautious estimate of the prices likely to be obtained at the sales during the coming year. We have accordingly issued orders to reduce the cultivation to not more than 900,000 bighas in the ensuing year, and we take the average sale price at R1,250 a chest as compared with an average of R1,391 obtained during 1906-1907.

35. What the eventual outcome will be it is impossible to foresee, for the practical difficulties of the task which China has imposed on herself are enormous, and may prove insuperable. But it is evident that the gradual reduction and eventual extinction of the revenue which India has derived from the trade have been brought a stage nearer, and it is necessary for us to be prepared for whatever may happen.

36. Twenty years ago, or even less, the prospect of losing a revenue of 5⅛ crores a year would have been a cause of very grave anxiety. Even now, if the whole or a great part of the revenue should be struck off at a blow, the dislocation of our finances would be serious, and might necessitate recourse to increase of taxation. But if, as we have a clear right to expect, the transition is effected with a due regard to our convenience, and is spread over a suitable term of years, the consequences may be faced, if not with equanimity, at least without apprehension. The elasticity of our ordinary revenues has recently been remarkable. During the five years beginning with 1903-1904, and including the year which is about to begin, we have been able to carry out three successive reductions of the salt tax, estimated to cost us in the aggregate more than 5 crores per annum; we have taken off a number of cesses on the land aggregating upwards of a crore per annum; and we have raised the limit of exemption from income tax at a cost of 36 lakhs per annum. These various measures taken together have involved a sacrifice of revenue not far short of 6½ crores of rupees a year, and exceed the present amount of the opium revenue by nearly 20 per cent. Nor has this relief to the tax-payer been purchased at the cost of starving the administration. During the same period, from Imperial Revenues alone and irrespective of Provincial resources, we have provided 105 lakhs per annum for Police reform, 80 lakhs per annum for Education, 24 lakhs per annum for Agricultural development, and over 60 lakhs per annum for grants-in-aid of District and Local Boards, besides allotting 3½ crores per annum for completing the preparation of the Army for war. All of these grants are recurring, and all but the last mentioned are permanent in their character. They are irrespective of numerous isolated non-recurring grants which we have made for a great variety of purposes, and they take no account of the large additional resources placed at the disposal of Local Governments in accordance with the new Provincial Settlements.

37. If our revenues continue to expand as they have recently done, and if no unforeseen mischance should befall us, we may hope that the void will be made good without imposing on Indian tax-payers a burden greater than they can bear. I am far from suggesting that the loss of revenue is the sole outcome of the Chinese proposals that concerns India. The economic loss to the country occasioned by the proscription of a valuable crop and an important industry; the contraction of our exports by the exclusion of a staple valued at over 9 crores a year, and its effect on our balance of trade; and the loss inflicted upon the people and Durbars of the poppy-growing States in Malwa,—all these are considerations which deserve the most anxious attention. The point which I wish to emphasize at present is that there is no need for despondency, and that, if all goes well, there is nothing worse to fear than the absorption for a few years of the means of affording further relief to the tax-payer, and of incurring useful expenditure for the development of the country.

38. In his speech on the budget last year, the Hon'ble Mr. Hewett held out the hope that before long we should be in a position to raise the weight of letters carried for half an anna from ¾ of a tola to one tola. This we have now decided to do. We have also arranged that the weight carried for one anna shall be raised from 1½ tolas to 3 tolas. In regard to the Foreign post, we have decided to conform to the scale approved at the recent Postal convention. The weight carried for one anna within the Empire will thus be one ounce instead of half an ounce as hitherto. For letters outside the Empire, a similar weight will be carried for 2½ annas, and an additional 1½ annas will cover each ounce after the first. These reductions will take effect from the 1st October 1907, and are estimated to cost us £73,300 during the remainder of the year.

39. The other heads of revenue do not call for any lengthy consideration in this place. Apart from Salt and Opium, we expect that the normal growth of the principal heads will yield £1,250,400 more in 1907-1908 than in the present year, while the Miscellaneous and Departmental receipts, together with Commercial Services, Railways and Irrigation will be less by £107,900. In the increase Land Revenue is the most important factor. The prospects of the crops are excellent almost everywhere, and we hope to receive £372,900 more than in the current year. The largest part of this is expected in the United Provinces and Burma, but most provinces contribute towards it, except Bombay where the collections during the current year have been exceptionally large. We take credit for the normal growth of revenue from Stamps, Excise, Assessed Taxes and Forests. Under Customs we hope to obtain an increase of £288,400, or approximately 43¼ lakhs of rupees. Of this, 15 lakhs are expected under spirits, the enhanced rate of duty on which will, we hope, become fully effective. We also hope that the check which the exports of rice have undergone during the current year will cease, and we reckon on an increase of 15½ lakhs from this item. An improvement is expected from nearly all the other principal staples, including sugar and cotton goods. We do not, however, feel justified in assuming that the recent abnormally large importations of silver will continue, especially in view of its advance in price, and we allow for a reduction of 4½ lakhs on this account.

40. As already stated, our Railways have not done quite so well as we expected, but there is no reason to anticipate that the set back will continue, and we feel justified in taking credit for an increase of £346,400 in net earnings in the ensuing year. Irrigation receipts, on the other hand, have been exceptionally high during 1906-1907, and we have thought it prudent to assume that those of next year will fall short by £105,800. Under Exchange we have estimated for a reduction of £60,000, in view of the exceptionally high rates which have prevailed during a long period of the current year. These show little present sign of falling, but it would not be wise to count on their continuance for another twelvemonth.

41. On the Expenditure side of the account we anticipate a net increase of £994,100; Provincial Governments and local bodies expect to draw on their accumulated balances to the extent of £443,300, instead of adding to them, as in the current year, by £613,500. In the Imperial Section there is a reduction of £161,100. The increase in total expenditure is the net result of a number of variations some of which are considerable in amount. The largest item is a decrease of £481,200 in Army charges. A reduction of half a million sterling has been made in the annual grant for special military expenditure. The lapses on the current year's grant for this head have also been smaller than in 1905-1906, and the amount carried forward to next year is only 47½ lakhs, including a special provision of 7½ lakhs for a new Indian Marine Vessel as compared with 90 in 1906-1907. These reductions are counterbalanced in part by growth of ordinary expenditure on the Army. There is a decrease of £272,700 under Interest charges, but the greater part of this represents a mere transfer of debt from the non-productive to the Railway account, under which there is an increase of £255,800. Under Public Works, Civil and Military, we provide for an increase of £432,600, three-fourths of which belongs to the former class. The largest increase, however, occurs under the group of heads entitled "Salaries and Expenses of Civil Departments," and amounts to £562,100. This is the net result of a number of variations under the principal heads of charge representing the cost of the Civil Government. Thus, under Police we have provided for an increase of £269,800. Rather less than half of this represents the efforts made by Local Governments gradually to carry into effect the recommendations of the Police Commission, for which grants have been made to them in the past but have not yet been fully utilized. £150,000 represents additional recurring grants now sanctioned for the same purpose with effect from 1907-1908. This sum, which amounts to 22½ lakhs, has been allotted to the different Provinces as follows:—

	Lakhs.		Lakhs.
Madras	1·00	United Provinces . .	5·00
Bombay	2·00	Punjab . .	5·50
Bengal	4·00	Central Provinces . .	1·00
Eastern Bengal and Assam .	2·50	Minor Provinces . . .	1·50

In addition to these, we have given to Burma a grant of approximately 8 lakhs a year, which is included in the terms of the new Provincial Settlement, and which, together with grants of 7½ lakhs previously made, will cover the entire estimated cost of police reform in that Province. The total assignments made for this purpose from Imperial Revenues during the three years 1905-1906 to 1907-1908 amount in all to 105¾ lakhs of rupees a year, and exceed two-thirds of the total ultimate expenditure in contemplation.

42. For expenditure on Education we have provided 304 lakhs, which represents an increase of almost 33 lakhs over that of the current year. This is distributed over all the Provinces, the increase being largest in Bombay and Madras. These figures do not include any provision for the cost of free primary education, which formed the subject of some discussion in the debate on the last Financial Statement. It must not, however, be inferred from this that we have lost sight of the question. During the summer it was very fully considered in the Department concerned, and in the autumn a letter, which has been published in the press, was addressed to Local Governments, reviewing the position at length, calling for certain information, and inviting an expression of their opinions. On receipt of their replies, the matter will receive prompt and earnest attention; and we have received an assurance from the Secretary of State that, notwithstanding the absence of Budget provision, if a suitable scheme should be prepared and sanctioned by him he will be ready to allow it to be carried into effect in the course of the year, provided that the financial position permits.

43. Under "Scientific and Minor Departments" we have provided for an increase of £118,600, partly on account of the Survey of India, and partly in connection with the progressive introduction of measures of agricultural improvement. Political charges are expected to be less than in the current year by £78,500, which is mainly due to the fact that no provision is necessary, as in the current year, for the entertainment of His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan. None of the remaining heads of expenditure call for special remark, and all necessary explanations of detail will be found in Part II of the Financial Statement.

Ways and Means.

44. As stated in paragraph 29, our revenue account closes with a surplus of £774,700 which is carried forward to the second part of the statement dealing with Capital and Debt transactions, including Deposits, Remittances and Advances. Our total estimate of Capital Expenditure not chargeable to Revenue on Railways and Irrigation Major Works is £9,874,000, of which £833,300 is for Irrigation, £7,215,100 for State Railways, and £1,825,600 for expenditure by Railway Companies. In addition to the above, we have to find £585,100 for the discharge of permanent debt (chiefly Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway debentures). We have also to make a net payment of £80,300 on account of loans to local bodies, advances to cultivators, etc. Our aggregate capital requirements thus amount to £10,539,400.

45. To meet this outlay we have (1) the revenue surplus of £774,700, (2) the net receipts of the Post Office Savings Banks which are estimated at £684,800, (3) a net receipt of £112,900 under Deposits and Remittances, and (4) a sum of £3,840,400 to be raised by Railway Companies. These various resources amount to £5,412,800, leaving £5,126,600 still to be provided. In order to meet this, we propose to borrow £5,500,000, of which £3,500,000 will be raised in England, and 3 crores of rupees or £2,000,000 in India. Our cash balances are expected to stand on the 31st March 1908 at £12,369,000 in India, and at £3,437,000 in England.

46. The announcement regarding the amounts to be borrowed in England and India is made subject to the usual reservation, and the Government of India retain full discretion to vary the programme, as now declared, to any extent that may be considered desirable.

47. The present intention of the Secretary of State is to draw bills on India to the amount of £18,100,000, but this also is subject to a similar reservation. This estimate of Council drawings is for the amount necessary to provide for the Secretary of State's requirements: but additional bills will, as usual, be sold, if needed to meet the demands of trade.

Provincial Expenditure on Famine Relief.

48. In the discussion on the last Financial Statement I stated, in reply to the Hon'ble Mr. Logan, that the Government of India recognized that the present arrangement under which the cost of famine relief is a wholly Provincial charge was open to certain serious objections; and I undertook to have the matter fully examined in the hope of devising some more appropriate system. This has now been done. During the summer months, we worked out certain proposals, which were referred for the views of the various Local Governments, and by them were generally well received. After revising the scheme in some minor points in accordance with the criticisms we had received, we submitted it to the Secretary of State, who has accorded it his approval and has authorised us to bring it into effect from the ensuing financial year.

49. The ruling principle of the scheme is to enable each Local Government whose territories are liable to famine gradually to build up a reserve of credit with the Imperial Government on which it will be at liberty to draw when it becomes necessary to incur expenditure on famine relief. The means of creating this reserve of credit will be provided from Imperial revenues, in the form of an increase to the annual fixed assignment of each Local Government. This arrangement is equitable, and indeed necessary, because the existing Provincial settlements make no allowance for famine relief expenditure, and the Provincial Governments could not provide the funds without curtailing their ordinary expenditure.

50. The additional assignments thus made to Local Governments will be debited in their accounts each year under the head 36.—Reduction or Avoidance of Debt, which will to that extent become a divided head instead of being wholly Imperial as at present; and an account will be kept of the amounts thus accumulated year by year to the credit of each Government.

51. When famine occurs, the Local Government will be entitled to draw upon the amount standing to its credit to meet its famine expenditure, and charges thus incurred will be shown in our accounts as Imperial expenditure instead of being Provincial as at present. In a famine of relatively small extent the reserve of credit will usually be sufficient to meet the whole charge, and the Local Government will be secured from all dislocation of its ordinary administrative machinery.

52. If a famine should be widespread or severe, it is possible that the reserve of credit may be exhausted. When that happens, we have decided that any further expenditure on famine relief shall be equally shared between the Imperial and the Local Government, instead of being wholly Provincial as at present. Both Governments will bear their share of the inevitable burden, but the Local Government will have to support it to only one-half the extent that it does at present.

53. If a famine should unhappily be prolonged, it may happen that even this measure of assistance may be insufficient. We have therefore decided that when in consequence of the prevalence of famine the balances of any Local Government are depleted so that they fall below one-half of the prescribed minimum, further assistance shall be given from Imperial revenues; but we consider that its precise measure or extent cannot be decided beforehand, and that in that event—which, we trust, will be of rare occurrence under the system now to be introduced—they should be left for determination according to the circumstances of the occasion.

54. The amount of the annual assignments to be made to each Local Government has been determined with reference to, but not in exact proportion to, the average expenditure incurred by them on famine relief during the past 25 years. It has not been thought necessary to make any assignment to Burma, or to Eastern Bengal and Assam, as these provinces have only been subject to famine in a very limited degree. The amounts assigned are as follows:—

	R
Madras	2,50,000
Bombay	13,70,000
Bengal	2,60,000
United Provinces	4,50,000
Punjab	1,40,000
Central Provinces	12,80,000

55. There are two subsidiary points to which allusion may be made. The scheme will come into operation from 1907-1908; but it is possible that a famine might occur before the province affected had accumulated a sufficiently strong reserve of credit to enable it to meet the charge. To provide for this contingency it has been decided that any famine relief expenditure that may be incurred in the first five years shall be treated as Imperial up to a limit equal to five years' accumulated credits in the pro formâ account.

The second point is that, in order to avoid the possible accumulation of credit to an unnecessarily high figure, it is necessary to fix some maximum limit to the reserve of each Province. When that limit has been reached, the annual assignment and addition to the outstanding credit will cease until it has been reduced by expenditure on relief. The amount to be fixed for each province cannot suitably be based on average expenditure, and it has been determined roughly with reference to the maximum expenditure likely to be incurred in a year of moderately severe famine. The maxima decided on are as follows:—

	Lakhs of rupees.
Madras	25
Bombay	80
Bengal	25
United Provinces	30
Punjab	10
Central Provinces	80

56. By these measures we hope to avoid or mitigate the evils of the present system, which were set forth in the debate on last year's Financial Statement. On the one hand we preserve in large measure the inducement to economy which is the sole apparent merit of the present system. For the more a Local Government draws on its reserve of credit, the faster it will be exhausted, and the sooner will be reached the stage at which half the charges begin to fall on Provincial revenues. On the other hand, we take effective steps to protect the Provincial Governments, each in approximate proportion to its liability to famine, from the utter dislocation of its resources which a considerable famine almost immediately involves. If the famine is on a small scale, the protection is complete. If it is more extensive, we share the burden. In the worst case of all, we indicate definitely the point at which a still larger measure of assistance may be claimed from Imperial revenues. Lastly, we obviate the anomaly which has occurred under the present system, by which the occurrence of a famine has actually operated to increase the Imperial surplus, by transferring expenditure from an Imperial head (Reduction or Avoidance of Debt) to the head Famine Relief, which has hitherto been wholly Provincial.

57. As stated above, the new arrangements will take effect from the ensuing financial year. In two Provinces, however, viz., Bombay and the United Provinces, a considerable amount of expenditure has been incurred on famine relief during 1905-1906 and 1906-1907, and this has made serious inroads upon the initial lump grants which these Local Governments received when their Provincial Settlements were last revised. In order that they may not be prejudiced by this misfortune, we have decided, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, to refund to these two Provinces the sums which they have spent on this account. The amounts in question are 12·32 lakhs and 28·35 lakhs respectively, and these sums have been added to the Provincial balances in the Revised estimates of the current year.

Military Expenditure.

58. I append the usual statement showing the total expenditure on the Army under the various heads during the past five years:—

	Army.	Military Works.	Marine.	Special Defences	TOTAL.
1903-1904	17,865,208	1,034,654	580,307	27,054	19,507,223

59. In paragraphs 30 to 32 of the Financial Statement for 1905-1906 and again in paragraph 54 of the Statement for 1906-1907, I described our present policy of financing special military expenditure from current revenues, and gave a brief indication of the principal objects on which such expenditure would be incurred in those years. I now propose to deal somewhat more fully with this subject.

60. For some years prior to 1904-1905, in addition to the amount required for the normal maintenance of the Army, we also provided for "special military expenditure," i.e., outlay on measures designed for the improvement of the condition, equipment or preparedness of our military forces. This special provision fluctuated from year to year, being dependent on the amount which we were able to spare from general revenues, and on the utilisation of special savings which accrued in our ordinary military expenditure by reason of the employment of a portion of our troops by the Imperial Government in South Africa and China. The objects to which this special military expenditure was applied were not, moreover, selected by the Military authorities in pursuance of any preconceived plan, which would in any case have been rendered difficult, by the necessarily considerable fluctuations in the amount we could assign from year to year.

61. In 1904 His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief put forward a scheme defining the broad lines on which he considered that the reorganisation and the redistribution of the Army should be undertaken, and he laid stress on the point that this scheme could not be progressively and economically worked out without a definite programme of expenditure extending over a series of years. Lord Kitchener's recommendations were accepted, and it was decided to provide annually, for a period of five years, a sum of £2,000,000 to cover outlay on the new measures advocated by His Excellency as essential to prepare the Army for war, as well as on other measures which had hitherto been classed under the head of special military expenditure. The grant of £2,000,000 was subsequently increased to £2,167,000 in order to extend the fixed grant system thus introduced to all additional outlay on Military Works. It was also decided that lapses which might occur in the expenditure from the grant should be carried forward from one year to another, but subject as a rule to a limit of £333,000. It will be seen from paragraphs 41 and 64 that the amount has been reduced for 1907-1908 by half a million sterling.

62. In view of statements that have sometimes been made to the effect that Lord Kitchener's schemes involved the burdening of Indian revenues with an additional charge of £2,000,000 per annum, it is desirable to emphasise the fact that the total special grant initiated in 1904-1905 is a grant for all special expenditure connected with the Army. Within the four years prior to 1904-1905 we had on the average spent a sum of £928,000 annually on special military expenditure, including outlay on a programme of defences for our chief seaports which was initiated in 1902. The additional liability we undertook in pursuance of Lord Kitchener's scheme was, therefore, about £1,250,000 per annum. Under present conditions the special grant covers expenditure on all special measures which had been initiated prior to 1904-1905, in excess of the Budget provision made in that year, and on all new military expenditure of whatever kind, with the exception of petty items whose maximum cost, adding the full amount of recurring expenditure in any one year to the initial outlay, will be less than £1,400.

63. In the latter part of 1904-1905 we provided £1,040,000 towards the carrying out of Lord Kitchener's scheme of reorganisation, in addition to a sum of £500,000 already provided in the Budget for new artillery, making a total of £1,540,000; but the actual expenditure of the year amounted only to £1,100,000 besides a sum of £128,000 spent on coast defences. In 1905-1906 the normal special grant for all purposes would have been £2,500,000 (including £333,000 on account of lapses from the previous year); but in view of our favourable financial position we raised the total to £3,267,000 with the object of completing our necessary supply of new artillery. The actual expenditure, however, was only £2,006,000, mainly owing to the fact that the War Office were unable to supply us within the year with the new quick-firing guns, stocks of ammunition and other stores which we had ordered and arranged to pay for. In view of this large lapse we carried forward a sum of £600,000 instead of the normal £333,000 to the year 1906-1907, making the total special allotment for that year £2,767,000. Of this amount we shall, according to the Revised Estimate, spend £2,437,300.

64. The present political situation and the reduced receipts we anticipate from opium have led us to reduce the normal grant to £1,666,700 during the coming year, and to this is added £316,700 on account of lapses for the current year, bringing the total provision under the special grant for 1907-1908 to £1,983,400. The regrant lapses include, as above stated, a special provision of £50,000 to admit of the construction of a new ship for the Royal Indian Marine.

65. If we take the Revised Estimate figures for the current year as approximately correct, our actual "special grant" expenditure in the years 1904-1905 to 1906-1907 inclusive will have been £5,543,000, of which £2,400,000 may be said to be due to Lord Kitchener's schemes for reorganisation and redistribution, and £3,143,000 to other measures, including coast defences, from 1905-1906 onwards, and Marine expenditure. Of the provision in the coming year £1,100,000 may be said to be due to reorganisation and redistribution and £883,400 to other measures.

66. Taking the results achieved by this expenditure up to the end of the current year, we have practically completed the rearmament of our artillery for the field army with modern quick-firing guns, and have made progress towards reorganising the personnel of horse and field artillery in accordance with present day requirements. Our artillery ammunition columns are also being reorganised and added to in view of the larger field requirements of quick-firing guns, and we are pushing on with the necessary reserves of small arm and artillery ammunition. Our ordnance factories have been developed and will, it is hoped, shortly be able to produce guns, rifles and other war material which they were not formerly in a position to turn out. We have spent £443,000 on coast defences (including £155,400 found prior to the initiation of the present special grant), and are steadily advancing towards the completion of our original programme of £818,000 on that item. The transport has been reorganised and augmented; our field and general hospitals have been equipped on modern lines; and reserves of mobilisation equipment for units proceeding on field service have been completed. We have established dairy farms in many cantonments, and are making progress with the installation of electric punkhas and lighting in barracks. We have added 257 officers out of a proposed total of 350 to the strength of the Indian Army, and have opened a Staff College for the local training both of British and Indian Army officers. We have reconstituted several native regiments in view to obtaining more efficient fighting material, and have provided for additional concessions to the sepoy in the shape of additional extra kit money, boot allowance, and travelling expenses when proceeding on leave. Lastly, adequate steps are being taken towards the redistribution of our garrisons on the lines indicated by Lord Kitchener in 1904.

67. Among the principal measures to which our special expenditure for 1907-1908 will be devoted, I may specify the following:—the supply of telephone equipment to the Field Army; the formation of an additional Indian Cavalry Regiment from a nucleus of two squadrons of irregular cavalry; the raising of two Indian Mountain Batteries; the partial reorganisation of our heavy artillery; and the completion of the formation of the additional ammunition columns, of the reorganisation of the personnel of our horse and field batteries, and of our reserves of small arms ammunition.

Railway Construction and Earnings.

68. The following statement shows in the usual form the capital expenditure on railways during the past five years and the Budget Estimate for 1907-1908, whether incurred directly by the State or through the agency of Guaranteed or Assisted Companies:—

	1902-1903.	1903-1904.	1904-1905.	1905-1906.	1906-1907 (Revised).	1907-1908 (Budget).

69. On the 31st March 1906 the total length of open lines was 28,611 miles, classified according to gauge as follows :—

5' 6" gauge	15,143
Metre „	12,197
Special gauges	1,271
TOTAL	28,611

During the current year we have added to these approximately the following mileage :—

5' 6" gauge	597
Metre „	278
Special gauges	77
TOTAL	952

During the ensuing year we hope to increase this length by 832 miles more.

70. For the current year, we were able to provide the large sum of 15 crores for capital expenditure, and we anticipate that all but about 39 lakhs will have been spent by the end of the year. This includes the balance, 45 lakhs, of the purchase price of the Kalka-Simla Railway which was taken over by Government from the 1st January 1906.

71. For next year, it is a matter of regret that we have found ourselves unable to provide more than 13½ crores for this purpose. We are aware of the disappointment with which this reduction will be viewed by the commercial public, and we realize that it will involve some retardation in the progress of railway development. But in present conditions it is unavoidable. Railways are in the main constructed from loan funds, eked out only to a minor extent by such sums as we can find from surplus revenue, the balance of the Famine Insurance Grant, Savings Bank deposits, and the like. Apart from these relatively small supplementary resources, therefore, the amount which we can grant for railway construction is limited by what the money market will supply; and it unfortunately happens that at the present time the conditions are distinctly unfavourable for borrowing on a large scale either in India or in London. During the last three years we have raised loans in India aggregating 11½ crores of rupees, in addition to which local authorities have come upon the market in increasing frequency for loans of a magnitude exceeding anything previously known. The price of rupee paper was, till recently, nearly two points lower than it was a year ago, and though there has been some subsequent recovery we consider it only common prudence to give the market a comparative rest. In London the price of 3 per cent India sterling stock now stands at 90 as compared with 97 or more a year ago; the bank rate has ruled exceptionally high throughout the winter; and though some improvement has occurred and more may be expected in the spring, it would clearly be unwise to reckon on making up the shortage except on onerous terms. While these conditions prevail, we must be content to move more slowly than we had hoped. Even as it is, the allotment now made exceeds that of any year except 1906-1907.

72. The foregoing remarks relate to construction for which funds are provided by the State. They are applicable in at least an equal degree to construction which is financed by private agency, whether with or without a State guarantee. Dear money checks new business, and the credit of private companies is no more exempt from the limitations of the money market than that of the State. On the contrary, it has happened only too often that undertakings which possess borrowing powers of their own have been unable to raise the sums they required for capital outlay, and have been obliged to fall back on the Secretary of State to provide them with funds. We are considering whether it may not be practicable to dispense with some of the restrictions which now hedge round our railway policy, and if this can be done I am hopeful that a greater degree of elasticity may be imparted to the railway programme. But I am sceptical as to the possibility of devising any means whatever whereby the provision of funds for railway construction can be rendered immune from the vicissitudes of the money market.

73. Of the total grant of 13½ crores, 10 crores have been reserved for expenditure on open lines, and 3½ for lines under construction. The grant will not admit of our undertaking any new lines. The allocation of the funds to different systems will be found set forth in the annexed memorandum by the Railway Board. I do not propose to enter upon a discussion of the thorny subject of the shortage of rolling stock, but the following figures will show succinctly what is being done in this direction. During the current year we expect to have spent 381·29 lakhs on additional stock for open lines, the distribution being as follows:—

	R
Locomotives	1,00,37,000
Coaching stock	83,58,000
Goods "	1,97,34,000
TOTAL .	3,81,29,000

74. For 1907-1908 the provision for additional rolling stock on open lines is 568·10 lakhs, or £3,787,300; but it is far from certain whether it will be possible to spend this large sum within the year. If that should prove to be the case, the grant will be redistributed. For the present the allotments to the principal systems are as follows, viz., 126·61 lakhs are for the North-Western Railway, 101·27 lakhs for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, 79·47 lakhs for the East Indian Railway, 42·49 lakhs for the Eastern Bengal State Railway, and 51·20 lakhs for the Great Indian Peninsula Railway.

75. As regards earnings we have not done quite so well as we expected. The following table shows the results in the usual form:—

Year.	Receipts.	Charges.	Net surplus.

1907-1908 Budget . . .	,261,200	25,111,500	2,149,700

76. As explained on former occasions, the charges shown above include inter alia interest on capital of all lines whether open for traffic or not, and sinking fund payments in liquidation of the purchase price of certain lines which have been bought by Government. The capital at charge at end of the present year is estimated at £260,356,500. The net receipts are estimated to amount to £13,324,500, which represents a return on the capital of 5·27 per cent. If open lines only are taken into account, the capital at charge amounts to £253,320,100 and the net return to 5·41 per cent.

77. The gross receipts during the current year have been well up to the estimate, but the working expenses have expanded more rapidly than we anticipated. In the opinion of the Railway Board this feature is likely to recur for some few years, in consequence of the efforts which are being made by the railway administrations to replace their old stock by stock more capable of dealing efficiently with the requirements of the growing traffic, and to strengthen the permanent-way and bridges so as to enable them to bear the heavier loads now being carried. In this view we have estimated that the growth of net earnings will not more than approximately cover the increase in interest charges, and that the net surplus will be a trifle less than that which we expect in the current year.

Irrigation.

78. The following table exhibits the principal figures of Revenue and Expenditure connected with Irrigation :—

* The figures for 1906-1907 include the Lower Swat River Canal, which though originally constructed as a protective work has proved highly remunerative, and has been transferred to the Productive class.

79. On the 31st March 1906 52,513 miles of main and branch canals and distributaries had been constructed commanding 46 million acres of culturable land, the area actually irrigated in 1905-1906 being 23,357,000 acres. The productive works during that year yielded a net return of 7·7 per cent on the capital outlay of 3,700 lakhs after paying all charges exclusive of interest. The net profit to the State was 140 lakhs.

The Revised Estimate for 1906-1907 shows a net profit of 205 lakhs on productive works, and a net return on capital outlay of 9 per cent. If, as we expect, these figures are realized they will be the largest on record for any one year. On the 31st March 1907 we expect to have 53,314 miles of main and branch canals and distributaries constructed to command 46,670,000 acres of culturable land, and we shall have actually irrigated close on 24 million acres during the year.

80. In the Punjab alone during 1905-1906 over 6,900,000 acres were irrigated by canals, and in spite of unusually large remissions on account of the destruction of the cotton crop by boll-worm, the Lower Chenab Canal paid nearly 21 per cent on the capital invested, the Bari Doab 11 per cent and the Western Jumna nearly 10 per cent.

81. Of the works in active progress, the most important is the Triple Canal Scheme of the Punjab, which provides for carrying a canal from the Chenab river across the Ravi, by means of a syphon, for the irrigation of the Lower Bari Doab tract, the supply from the Chenab being supplemented by means of water from the river Jhelum. Good progress has been made during the year on this ambitious project, which is estimated to cost 782 lakhs and to irrigate 1,876,000 acres, with a return of nearly 10 per cent on the capital outlay. The interesting Upper Swat Canal project, referred to in paragraph 64 of last year's Financial Statement, has been provisionally sanctioned by the Secretary of State, and preliminary investigations to fix the final alignments of the channels and the exact site of the head works are in progress.

82. In addition to the canals actually in operation, there are altogether 56 projects which are either under construction, or awaiting sanction, or being examined by the professional advisers of Government. Of these 17 are productive, and 35 are of the protective class. They are designed to irrigate 3½ million acres and 3 million acres respectively, at a total capital cost of 15 crores and 27½ crores respectively: and the former are estimated to yield a net return of 8½ per cent on the outlay. We are arranging to strengthen our establishments, to enable them to cope with the work, but even when we have obtained the full numbers we require, their energies will be strained to the utmost for many years to come.

Provincial Surpluses and Deficits.

83. At the foot of the expenditure side of the General Statement of Revenue and Expenditure, which occupies the first place in the accounts presented to Council, there will be found the following entries :—

Add—Provincial Surpluses; that is, portion of allotments to Provincial Governments not spent by them in the year.

Deduct—Provincial Deficits; that is, portion of Provincial Expenditure defrayed from Provincial Balances.

Similar entries occur in Statement B, which gives details and totals of expenditure by major heads; and the balance is struck after inclusion of the figures shown against them. In the body of the Financial Statement also references occur to the same entries. There is reason to believe that these entries are something of a stumbling block to those who are not very familiar with our accounts, and it may therefore be worth while to explain as clearly as possible what it is exactly that they denote.

84. The accounts of the Government of India include not merely the transactions of the Imperial Government itself, and of the Secretary of State, but also those of the eight Provincial Governments with which Provincial settlements have been effected and which enjoy a certain measure of financial independence. (They also include the transactions of certain Incorporated Local Funds. The explanation which I am about to offer in regard to the Provincial Governments applies, mutatis mutandis, to these Local Funds also, and for the sake of simplicity I shall make no further allusion to them.) It is clearly necessary that Provincial figures should be included, for otherwise the accounts we present would give a wholly misleading idea of the transactions of the Empire. For instance, in the current year, the aggregate collections of Land Revenue are expected to amount to 2,985 lakhs of rupees. Of this sum, 1,821 lakhs belong to the various Local Governments, and the Imperial share amounts to only 1,157 lakhs. It would clearly be quite incorrect and misleading if we were to show only the latter sum in our accounts. In respect of expenditure this result would be even more marked. The total expenditure on Police, for instance, amounts to 553 lakhs, of which a little over 22 lakhs is debited to Imperial, and more than 507 to Provincial. The Imperial and Provincial figures are shown separately in the principal Statements A and B, so that any one can readily distinguish them when he desires; but it is clearly necessary that the aggregate of both sections should be combined when we are presenting the accounts of the Empire as a whole.

85. But when we speak of the net surplus or the net deficit of the year, we mean the surplus or deficit of the Imperial section only, and not that of the two sections combined. It would be quite possible to follow a different course, and either of them would be equally correct from a book-keeping point of view, provided always that we make it quite clear what it is that our surplus or deficit denotes. But there are two considerations which make it inexpedient in practice to include Provincial transactions when striking the balance of the year. In the first place, under the system of Provincial settlements, certain portions of the revenues of the country are assigned to the Local Governments, either for a term of years, or for an indefinite period, for expenditure on Provincial purposes. These revenues are the property of the Local Governments, and are not at the disposal of the Government of India for the general purposes of the Empire save in exceptional circumstances. If we were to take them into account when exhibiting our surplus, we should show the latter as something different from what it really is. Similar considerations of course apply to the Expenditure side of the account. Secondly, it is a leading principle of Imperial finance that the expenditure of the year shall be met from the revenue of the year. This principle, however, is not applicable to the Provincial Governments. When one of the latter has an excess of revenue over its expenditure, the excess stands at its credit in the books of Government, and it is allowed to carry it forward and draw upon it in subsequent years from time to time. This arrangement has been adopted advisedly in order to permit of greater continuity in the scale of expenditure on the civil administration, the bulk of which is entrusted to the Provincial Governments. The relation of the latter towards the Imperial Government is, in this respect, very similar to that of a bank's depositor towards the banker. When the latter makes out his profit and loss account at the end of the year, the excess of deposits over withdrawals constitutes a liability against himself and is of course not a portion of his net profit.

86. We have thus the following position; our accounts exhibit the combined transactions of both the Imperial and the Provincial Governments; but the surplus or deficit to be worked out must be that of the Imperial Government only. It is therefore necessary, when striking the balance, to eliminate the net transactions of the Provincial Governments, and this is effected by means of the adjusting entries to which I have referred above. When a Local Government receives revenue in excess of its expenditure during the year, or when it gets a special grant from Imperial (as not infrequently happens) the net excess is placed to its credit for the purpose of being drawn upon hereafter. In such a case the Local Government is said to have a surplus for the year. That surplus obviously constitutes a liability against the Imperial Government, and in order to provide for it, the practice is (when working out the Imperial surplus or deficit of the year) to charge it off at once as Imperial expenditure of the year, placing the amount in deposit to credit of the Local Government concerned. The effect of this is that when a Provincial surplus occurs, the amount of it is treated, for this purpose, as an addition to the expenditure of the year, and this explains why in the adjusting entry the Provincial surpluses are added to the Expenditure side of the account. Conversely, when the Local Government wishes to draw upon its accumulated balances, or, in other words, to spend more than its current revenue during the year, the amount of the excess—which constitutes the Provincial deficit—is similarly treated as a deduction from the aggregate expenditure of the year. The amount has already been charged off as Imperial expenditure in the year in which the balance accrued, and it would plainly be incorrect to show it as expenditure a second time.

87. It should be clearly understood that these additions to or deductions from the aggregate expenditure for the year are only made when we are striking the balance, and working out the surplus or deficit on the Imperial section of the accounts. When accumulated balances are actually drawn upon, then and then only is the expenditure charged under the appropriate major head.

88. A concrete illustration will perhaps serve to make the matter clearer. Three years ago, the Bengal Government received from Imperial revenues a grant of 50 lakhs for the Calcutta Improvement Scheme. That grant formed an addition to the Provincial surplus of that year, while so far as the Imperial section of the accounts is concerned it represented actual outlay. On the other hand, though the money had been transferred to the Local Government for eventual expenditure, it had not yet been actually expended in bricks and mortar. It could not therefore be shown under the major head of expenditure to which it will eventually belong, viz., 45—Civil Works. It was therefore shown under the adjusting entry, "Provincial surpluses," and formed (for the purposes of the balance) an addition to the Imperial section of expenditure. When, hereafter, the money is actually spent in carrying out works in Calcutta, the charges will be shown in their proper place under 45—Civil Works. But inasmuch as the charge has already once been shown as Imperial expenditure and has already had effect on the Imperial surplus of 1904-1905, it would be incorrect to show it a second time as affecting the surplus of the year of outlay: so the expenditure will then be debited against the Provincial balances, and will be deducted in the adjusting entry from the gross expenditure of the year as a Provincial deficit.

Note Circulation.

89. I append the usual statements illustrating the note circulation and the Government balances with the Presidency Banks. The first of the two statements shows separately (1) the gross circulation, and (2) the circulation, excluding the notes held by the Reserve Treasuries, and by the Presidency Banks at their head offices.

90. A bill to amend the Presidency Banks Act, by relaxing or withdrawing certain restrictions which experience had shown to be unnecessary, was passed into law on the 15th February last. It was a small and unimportant measure, the only feature in connection with which that aroused any public interest being the abandonment of the proposal to allow the Banks to borrow in London. I have already explained the reasons for this decision and need not refer to them further.

Coinage and the Mints.

91. The Indian Coinage Act of 1906 provided, among other things, for the eventual substitution of bronze for copper in the fractional coinage, and also for the introduction of a nickel coin of the value of one anna.

92. The first of these measures was brought into operation from the 1st August 1906, from which date the coinage of copper ceased and the issue of bronze began. From that date to the end of February we have issued R14,91,500 worth of the new coins. The latter are of the same diameter and design as the copper coins which they superseded, but their weight is less by 25 per cent; e.g., the copper pice weighed 100 grains, whereas that of the bronze pice is 75. When the original proposal was under consideration the apprehension was expressed in some quarters that the reduction in weight would cause the new coins to be viewed with suspicion and accepted with reluctance by the people. We have caused enquiries to be made on this point, and we find that nothing of the kind has occurred. On the contrary it is established that they are received and circulate with the same freedom as their predecessors. It is perhaps not generally known that when bronze took the place of copper in the coinage of the United Kingdom in 1860, the reduction in weight then made was far greater than that which was made last year in India. The old copper penny weighed one ounce, or 480 grains, whereas the standard bronze penny which took its place weighs only 145·83 grains. The saving which this large reduction effected for the British Exchequer has been estimated at about £50,000 a year. The 25 per cent reduction which we have made in this country is estimated to effect a saving of about £550 per lakh on the face value of the coins issued.

93. The issue of the nickel one-anna piece is less advanced, though substantial progress has been made. It was originally contemplated that the coin should be struck from "commercially pure" nickel. The question was, however, raised whether a cupro-nickel alloy, such as is used in the United States of America and several European countries (though not in all) does not possess germicidal properties which would make it more appropriate in this country, and after somewhat prolonged experiments, both here and at home, it was decided that the balance of advantage lay in favour of employing an alloy. The question of the design also presented much difficulty. A coin with a centrical perforation cannot bear the King's effigy. On the other hand, a coin with an eccentric perforation is extremely troublesome and expensive to strike. Our efforts have accordingly been directed towards turning out a coin with a scolloped edge, which will, we consider, be even more distinctive than a perforated coin. For this purpose, special machinery had to be designed and imported, and the workmen had to be trained in the use of it; and a variety of minor difficulties had to be surmounted, especially in regard to the raised rim which is less easy to get up in a workmanlike manner than in the case of a circular coin. The perseverance and ingenuity of Captain McCormick, Mint Master at Bombay, have, however, gradually overcome all the more serious difficulties, and a consignment of specimen coins struck under normal working conditions was forwarded to the Secretary of State for consideration. His Majesty the King Emperor has now expressed his approval of the design; matrices are shortly expected from the Royal Mint, and a supply of the raw material is on the way. It is anticipated that the coinage and issue of the new coins to the public will be begun at an early date.

94. In last year's Financial Statement I explained that it had been decided to spread the purchase of silver and coinage of rupees over the whole twelve months of the year, instead of waiting until the demand began to be acute and thus concentrating our transactions upon the three or four months of the busy season. We have pursued this policy during the past year. We have purchased over 12 millions worth of silver during the year, partly in India and partly in London, and by the end of the current month we expect to have coined 2,510 lakhs of rupees, inclusive of rupees supplied to Native States, and those recoined from uncurrent issues.

95. During the last five years the gross outturn of rupees at the two Mints has been as follows:—

	Lakhs.
1902-1903	11,27
1903-1904	16,17
1904-1905	10,88
1905-1906	19,60
1906-1907 (estimated)	25,10

96. This great demand, which shows no present sign of slackening, has led us to consider the capacity of the Mints. At present these, after providing for normal requirements in regard to bronze, small silver, and nickel, can turn out 9 lakhs of rupees per working day, which can be raised to 18 lakhs by means of overtime, the latter, however, not being possible for any great length of time at a stretch. This gives a maximum outturn for a year of 266 working days of about 24 crores without overtime, and of 33½ crores with such overtime as is possible. This is sufficient for present requirements and provides an adequate margin of safety. The demands on us have, however, grown rapidly of recent years, and it would be very difficult to make a sudden expansion in our manufacturing power if we should be called on to increase the output at short notice. We have therefore decided, ex majore cautela, to take steps for this in advance. We are extending the buildings of both Mints, we are introducing electric power at Calcutta, and have ordered a considerable quantity of additional plant. When this is installed and in full working order, the capacity of the two Mints will have been raised to 36 crores a year working ordinary hours, and to 47½ crores with overtime. These figures are considered to be ample for any period which it is necessary for us to take into account.

The Gold Standard Reserve.

97. In the Financial Statement for 1905-1906 I explained the nature of the silver ingot reserve and the objects which we had in view in creating it. It originally consisted of a stock of silver bullion, assayed and prepared for coinage, and cast in the form of standard ingots. Its amount was fixed at 300 lakhs of tolas, and it was held as a part of the Paper Currency Reserve. It provided a source from which additions could be made to the supply of coined rupees more rapidly than if bullion for new coinage had to be purchased and imported from Europe as required.

98. In the Financial Statement for last year I mentioned that the ingot reserve had proved of great service, and that it had been decided to increase its amount to 600 lakhs of tolas. I also stated that further important developments of this reserve were then in contemplation. These have now been carried into effect, with the approval of the Secretary of State, and I proceed to explain of what they consist. It is desirable to state the facts with some fulness, as from what has appeared in the London press and from representations received from some of the Chambers of Commerce, it seems that some misapprehension has arisen on the subject in certain quarters.

99. The changes which we have introduced are two. Firstly, we have decided to remove the reserve of silver bullion from the Paper Currency Reserve, and to hold it as part of what was formerly styled the Gold Reserve Fund. Secondly, when it is so held, we have come to the conclusion that there is no object in keeping the bullion in an uncoined or partially coined state, and that the balance of advantage lies in holding it in the form of fully coined rupees.

100. The reason for the first of these measures was that when it became necessary to increase the amount of the ingot reserve, there was no longer room for it in the Paper Currency Reserve, and this applied equally whether the silver was held in the form of bullion or of fully coined rupees.

101. The primary and essential object of the Paper Currency Reserve, and that for which it has been created by law, is to provide for the encashment of currency notes on demand. For this purpose the law requires that for every note that is issued, in excess of the statutory investment, which at present is fixed at 12 crores of rupees, the Currency Reserve shall always contain an equal sum in legal tender coin or in bullion. It is quite legitimate that uncoined bullion should form part of the metallic portion of the Reserve, because it can be converted into legal tender coin in a very short time by the mechanical process of coining. But, though the time is short, it is still appreciable; in the case of bullion in ingot form it is not less than four days, and it can scarcely be reduced to less than three in any event. It is therefore manifest that uncoined bullion in the Currency Reserve is not quite so immediately effective for the purpose of encashing notes as an equal amount of coined money would be.

102. So long as the uncoined bullion bears only a comparatively small proportion to the coined money in the Reserve this relative disability is of little consequence; for in the event of heavy demands for trade or other purposes there would be ample time to complete the process of coinage before the stock of coin was reduced too far. When, however, the proportion of uncoined bullion is more considerable, this condition is no longer fulfilled. The value of the metallic reserve is limited by the volume of the note circulation and the amount of the paper currency investment (which last may be regarded as fixed), and all bullion held within the Currency Reserve must therefore displace legal tender coin of equal value. In these circumstances it can easily be demonstrated that it is not possible to maintain a store of 600 lakhs of tolas of uncoined silver (approximately equivalent in value to four crores of coined rupees) within the Currency Reserve. If we take the note circulation at the beginning of the busy season at 42 crores, and if we estimate that 18 crores is a safe though not excessive rupee balance with which to begin that season, it will be seen that the Currency Reserve would then be constituted as follows :—

(1) Investment	12 Crores.
(2) Coined rupees	18 "
(3) Uncoined bullion, 6 crores of tolas, equal to	4 "
(4) Gold	8 "
TOTAL	42 "

103. It would clearly be wasteful to reduce the investment, which is even now of moderate amount in proportion to the volume of the note circulation. As regards the metallic portion of the Reserve, it will be seen that the stock of gold would amount to only £5⅓ millions sterling. This is clearly insufficient for our needs. We require to keep from four to five millions sterling in the currency chest in London, primarily for the periodical purchase of silver, and also for the various subsidiary purposes explained in paragraph 75 of last year's Financial Statement; and when provision has been made for this, there would remain a sum of only £1⅓ millions at most with which to meet even the present demand for gold as a circulating medium in India. Nothing at all would be left in this country for contingent requirements, and in the event of an incipient drain of gold setting in, we should be driven back at once upon the London currency chest and the Gold Reserve Fund.

104. If we substitute coined rupees for the uncoined bullion in the Currency Reserve, the difficulty in regard to the prompt encashment of notes is no doubt removed. But the second and more serious difficulty, viz., the reduction in the stock of gold, remains as before. The stock of rupees in the Currency Reserve can only be increased by reducing the stock of gold, and that cannot safely be done except within comparatively narrow limits.

105. When therefore experience had shown that the amount of the ingot reserve (or its equivalent in coined rupees) must be doubled, it at once became clear that there was no longer room for it in the Currency Reserve, and that other arrangements must be made.

106. The ideal method of maintaining a reserve of bullion for coinage purposes would be to purchase it from revenue or from loan funds, and to replenish it from the same sources as required from time to time. It would then form a stock of raw material for manufacture, held in exactly the same way as we hold stocks of rails or girders, or military stores for mobilisation. This plan, however, had to be discarded because of its costliness. It would have involved, either the reduction of our cash balances by about £2⅔ millions sterling, which it was quite beyond their capacity to bear, or the borrowing of an equivalent amount, which would have imposed a permanent charge of some £80,000 a year on Indian revenues, not to mention the impolicy of increasing our loans beyond the considerable sum already required for productive capital expenditure. This objection applies equally if the reserve bullion, instead of being held in that form, is coined into rupees, the latter being held in reserve apart from our ordinary balances.

107. In these circumstances, we came to the conclusion that the most appropriate course was to hold the bullion (or the rupees into which it was coined) in the Gold Reserve Fund. In this course there is nothing inconsistent with the purposes for which that fund was created. Hitherto, when silver has been purchased for coinage, the procedure, when stripped of incidental complications, has been as follows :—First, we pay for the silver with gold which is either actually or constructively withdrawn from the Paper Currency Reserve for the purpose. Secondly, we coin into rupees so much of the bullion as is required, at the standard rate of exchange, to replace the gold, thus bringing up the reserve to the amount required by law. Thirdly, the surplus bullion also is then coined into rupees, the amount thus obtained constituting the "profit on coinage" from which the Gold Reserve Fund has been built up. Fourthly, these last-named rupees are exchanged for gold. Lastly, the gold is remitted to England for investment in interest-bearing sterling securities. Under the arrangement now introduced, with the approval of the Secretary of State, this process will be arrested—but only temporarily arrested—at the end of the third stage, i.e., the rupees which form the "profit on coinage", instead of being at once exchanged for gold and invested in sterling securities, are retained intact until required for actual use. They are held entirely apart from our Treasury balances. They will eventually be exchanged for gold and invested, but this process will be deferred till the demand for rupees requires it. It is true that the amount thus held uninvested is not earning interest in the meantime. The practical effect of the new system is in fact to make the Gold Reserve Fund bear the charge for interest on the capital locked up in the stock of rupees which has taken the place of the ingot reserve instead of imposing it on current revenues. Having regard however to the rapid growth of the fund during the past five years, we are of opinion that the question of its further accretion by interest is now of less importance than the formation and maintenance of a sufficient reserve of silver bullion, or of fully-coined rupees in lieu of bullion. Moreover, as is shown below, there will be no prolonged retardation or stoppage of the growth of the gold reserve.

108. The following illustration shows clearly the way in which the stock of bullion was actually built up within the Gold Reserve Fund during the present year. Early in the year, we purchased one million sterling worth of standard silver at approximately 30*d.* an ounce. This gave us about 215 lakhs of tolas. Out of this amount, 150 lakhs of tolas were coined into an equal number of rupees, which were placed in the Currency Reserve to replace the one million sterling spent in the purchase of the silver. The Mint charge for seignorage amounted to four lakhs, and about one lakh was required for the cost of freight and insurance and other miscellaneous charges. There remained a surplus of about 60 lakhs of tolas, which represented the net profit on the coinage of 1½ crores of rupees, and these were placed, in a partially coined state, in the Gold Reserve Fund. They have since been coined into rupees, and these are held as a part of the Gold Standard Reserve, and are quite separate from our ordinary Treasury balances. The intention is to continue this process, so long as new coinage continues, until we have accumulated a total stock of 600 lakhs of rupees. We are now within measurable distance of reaching that figure.

109. To utilize this reserve, if circumstances should require it to be drawn upon, we should transfer from it to the Currency Reserve the amount required at the moment, say 150 lakhs of rupees, and credit the Gold Reserve Fund with the equivalent in gold, i.e., one million sterling. This credit would be made either in India or in England as might be more convenient at the time. Of this gold a sum worth about 60 lakhs of tolas of bullion (£280,000, if silver were at 30*d.* an ounce) would be applied for investment in sterling securities as part of the Fund—that amount being the net profit on the coinage of 150 lakhs of rupees—while the remainder would suffice for the repurchase of the amount of silver which had been withdrawn from our stock, viz., 150 lakhs of tolas, besides meeting the seignorage and miscellaneous charges. The stock of rupees in the reserve would thus be automatically restored to its full amount.

110. In connection with the new arrangement, we have deemed it expedient to change the name of the Gold Reserve Fund, which will henceforth be known as the Gold Standard Reserve. This change of designation does not connote any alteration in the objects of the fund. The original title might be deemed to indicate that the fund consisted exclusively of gold, either liquid or in the form of sterling securities. That would no longer be strictly correct, inasmuch as a part of it will henceforth be kept in the form of silver. This criticism cannot be applied to the new nomenclature. The primary object of the fund, now as formerly, is the effective maintenance of the gold standard, and its protection against whatever dangers may assail it. For this purpose it must always contain a large stock of gold or gold securities in a readily convertible form, on which we could draw in the event of the balance of trade turning against India and the Secretary of State being temporarily unable to find a market for his Council Bills without forcing down exchange. Hitherto, however, this danger has not actually presented itself, whereas, on the other hand, we have more than once been confronted with a temporary deficiency in our stock of rupees and with a difficulty in procuring new ones with sufficient promptitude. It is equally legitimate to employ the reserve, by whatever name it be called, to provide against this danger also.

111. It has been supposed in some quarters that the intention was to provide the stock of silver (whether of bullion or of rupees) within the Gold Standard Reserve, by selling out part of the gold securities of which the latter consists. It is true that circumstances might arise in which this course might conceivably become necessary and legitimate. But they have not yet arisen, and the explanation given above will, I hope, make it clear that we contemplate no such measure as part of the normal procedure. In ordinary circumstances we propose to accumulate the desired stock by the simple process of abstaining from immediately converting the profits of coinage into gold.

112. The second of the two changes referred to in paragraph 99 above is of minor importance. According to the original plan the partially coined bullion was held in the form of ingots, assayed and alligated. We have now decided to complete the process of coinage, and to hold our stock of reserve silver in the form of fully coined rupees. The sole object of this step is to get rid of the delay that would occur before the bullion would be ready for issue in the form of legal tender coin. In paragraph 61 of the Financial Statement for 1905-1906, I gave reasons, which were, I think, valid at the time, for not adopting this course. These, however, no longer hold good. At that time the ingot reserve was held in the Currency Department. Had the bullion been coined into rupees, they must either have been merged in the ordinary stock of the Currency Reserve (which would have deprived the ingot reserve of all independent existence), or they must have been kept arbitrarily apart therefrom, which would have been difficult for the public to understand, and which is in no way contemplated by the Currency Act. Now, however, the silver reserve has no connection whatever with the Paper Currency Reserve, and is also held wholly apart from and outside our ordinary Treasury balances, and no risk of confusion can arise whether the form in which it is held consists of fully coined or of only partially coined rupees. In these circumstances, there seems no object in retaining it in a partially coined state, and it has therefore been arranged, with the approval of the Secretary of State, to extinguish the delay altogether by completing the operation of coinage at once.

PART II.

BEING A MEMORANDUM BY THE FINANCIAL SECRETARY EXAMINING THE DETAILS OF THE ACCOUNTS AND ESTIMATES.

Section I.—The Accounts of 1905-1906.

113. The Accounts of the year show a surplus of £2,091,854, being better by £336,154 than the surplus of £1,755,700 anticipated in the Revised Estimates framed in March last. 1905-1906. General Resul of Accounts.

The variations between the figures finally entering into the Accounts and those taken in the Budget and Revised Estimates of the year are fully explained in the Appropriation Report published in the Gazette of India of the 9th instant.

114. The following is a general comparison of the Revised Estimates with the Accounts of the year, after an adjustment of the Railway figures as explained in paragraph 7:— 1905-1906. Statement of gross figures.

	Revised.	Accounts.	Accounts, better.	Accounts, worse.
	£	£	£	£
Total Revenue, Imperial, Provincial and Local . . .	73,199,200	73,327,957	128,757
Total Expenditure, Imperial, Provincial and Local . . .	71,363,100	71,212,109	150,991
Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit .	80,400	23,994	56,406
NET .	71,443,500	71,236,103	207,397
SURPLUS .	1,755,700	2,091,854	336,154	.

115. The revenue was higher, and the total expenditure smaller, than the estimate, the net improvement being £279,748. But as the Provincial and Local section of the accounts was worse by £56,406, the Imperial section was better by £336,154. 1905-1906. General Rema

116. Out of this total improvement of £336,154 in the Imperial Section, £330,660 is accounted for by decreases of £284,966 and £45,694 in the net Army Expenditure and in the expenditure on Special Defence Works respectively. The Army receipts exceeded the Revised Estimate by £111,796, of which £82,500 represented a payment made by the War Office towards the end of March on account of the cost of five Native Infantry regiments employed in the Colonies. The receipts from the sale of unserviceable Ordnance Stores and Camp Equipage also exceeded anticipations. The Army expenditure was less than was expected by £173,170, of which £142,933 occurred in the payments to the War Office on account of reorganisation stores. There was also a considerable saving on the estimate of the extra expenditure in connection with the concentration of troops near Rawalpindi on the occasion of the visit to India of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The saving under Special Defence Works was in the payments to the War Office on account of stores. 1905-1906. Saving in Ar and Special Defence Work. Expenditure.

117. The Railway Revenue Account was worse by £23,534. The gross earnings fell short of the Estimate by £64,052, while the Working Expenses exceeded it by £39,428, giving a total worseness of £103,480; but this was partly counterbalanced by a decrease of £72,575 in the payments of the surplus profits of Guaranteed Railway Companies, the payment due to the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Company for the half-year ending 31st December 1905 not having been made till after the end of the year. There was a small net decrease in the other charges appertaining to the Railway Revenue Account. The falling-off in the earnings occurred mainly on the Eastern Bengal, Rajputana-Malwa, 1905-1906. Railway Reve and Working Expenses.

Indian Midland, and Great Indian Peninsula Systems, while there was an increase on the East Indian and Oudh and Rohilkhand Railways. The bulk of the increase in Working Expenses occurred on the East Indian, North-Western, Oudh and Rohilkhand and Bengal-Nagpur Railways, the only line on which there was an important decrease being the North-East line of the Madras Railway.

1906. 'ency in Revenue tions.

118. The collections of Land Revenue, including the share due to Irrigation, fell short of the estimate by £109,752. The more noticeable decreases occurred in Bombay (£56,977) owing to an under-estimate of the suspensions necessitated by unfavourable agricultural conditions, and in Burma (£46,567) and the Central Provinces and Berar (£30,419), due to an over-estimate of the normal demands of the year.

1906. r variations r Revenue.

119. Of the total improvement of £279,748 over the Revised Estimate, £197,374 is thus accounted for by the variations mentioned above in the Expenditure on Army and Special Defence Works and under Land Revenue and the Railway Revenue Account. The remainder of the improvement (£82,374) is the net result of an increase of £230,193 in the receipts and of £147,819 in the expenditure under other heads. The more important items which contributed to the increase in Revenue are: Salt (£39,710), Stamps (£58,664), Excise (£34,320), Provincial Rates (£23,451), Customs (£23,117), and Miscellaneous (£35,400). There was, on the other hand, a decrease of £21,720 in the opium revenue, due to unusually low issues of Malwa opium in March. The issues of Northern India salt in March were exceptionally high, while there was an increase in the Stamp Revenue of most of the Provinces. Under Excise and Customs sufficient allowance had not been made for the heavy clearances from bond of country spirits made after the European method and for the imports of foreign spirits in anticipation of the rise in duty. The bulk of the increase under Provincial Rates was in Madras and Bombay, while under Miscellaneous the amount of unclaimed deposits lapsing to Government was underestimated in several provinces.

5-1906. er variations ler Expendi- e.

120. The excess of £147,819 in expenditure was the net result of increases and decreases under a number of heads, the only noticeable items being an increase of £42,708 under Education and of £25,600 under Miscellaneous, and a decrease of £28,247 under Minor Works and Navigation. The increase under Education resulted chiefly from heavier payments for building and furniture grants in Burma, the United Provinces, Punjab and Bombay. Grants-in-aid unexpectedly sanctioned towards the close of the year to the Moulmein, Bellary and Ootacamund Municipalities swelled the charges under Miscellaneous; and there was also an increase in the charges connected with the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and in those for interest on loans taken by Native States but payable by Government under the terms of the Delhi Durbar concession. The saving under Minor Works occurred chiefly in the Central Provinces, Burma, Bengal, the United Provinces, and Bombay.

05-1906. crease in ovincial and cal Surplus.

121. The decrease in the Provincial and Local surplus was the outcome of an increase of £44,799 in the Provincial and Local Revenues, mainly under the heads mentioned in paragraph 119, and of an increase of £101,205 in the Provincial and Local Expenditure, chiefly in the charges of the several Civil Departments.

Section II.—The Revised Estimate of 1906-1907.

06-1907. atement of the oss figures.

122. The following is a general comparison of the Revised Estimate with the Budget Estimate of 1906-1907:—

	Budget.	Revised.	Revised better.	Revised worse.
	£	£	£	£
Total Revenue	73,711,100	75,626,900	1,915,800	...
Total Expenditure	73,914,600	73,687,300	227,300	...
Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit	—1,077,600	613,500	...	1,691,100
NET	72,837,000	74,300,800	...	1,463,800
SURPLUS	874,100	1,326,100	452,000	...

1906-1907. Railway earning shown net.

123. As explained in paragraph 7, the Working Expenses of State Railways and the surplus profits paid to Companies working State lines have been deducted from the gross earnings of State Railways, and only the net earnings have been included as revenue in the figures for both the Budget and Revised Estimates for the year.

1906-1907. General Remarks

124. Of the increase in the total Revenue and decrease in the total Expenditure, an increase of £753,400 in Revenue and of £301,400 in Expenditure appertains to the Imperial Government, and the net outcome is the improvement of £452,000 in the Surplus shown in the table. In the Provincial and Local Section there is an increase in revenue of £1,162,400 and a decrease in expenditure of £528,700, or a total improvement of £1,691,100. The result is that the Local Governments, instead of drawing upon their balances to the extent of £1,077,600, as provided in the Budget, will add £613,500 to their accumulated balances.

1906-1907. Special assignments to Local Governments.

125. Of the increase in the revenue of Provincial Governments, however, the major part is due to assignments from the Imperial Revenues in excess of the amounts provided in the Budget. If these transfers were eliminated, the true increase of revenue in the Imperial Section would be £1,482,400 and in the Provincial and Local Section it would be £433,400. The excess transfer of Imperial Revenue to Provincial Governments has thus been £729,000, made up as follows. As explained in paragraph 28 an initial lump grant of R50,00,000 has been made to the Provincial Revenues of Burma to start the new settlement which comes into effect from 1907-1908. A special assignment of R40,67,000 has also been made, as explained in paragraph 57, to the Provincial Governments of the United Provinces and Bombay to cover the expenditure incurred by them on famine relief in 1905-1906 and 1906-1907. During the course of the year it was also found that the new settlement concluded with Eastern Bengal and Assam was unfavourable to the Local Government and it was accordingly decided to raise the annual assignment by R6,83,000. Assignments amounting to R2,46,000, R6,94,000 and R78,000 were sanctioned during the year to Local Governments for expenditure on European and Eurasian Education, Minor Irrigation Works and Archæological works respectively. For these objects lump provisions had been made in the Budget under Imperial Expenditure pending distribution of the allotments among the several Local Governments. A special assignment of R1,67,000 has also been sanctioned to the Government of Bengal for an increase in the cadre of Deputy Magistrates. The total additional assignments thus made in the current year to Provincial Governments, in addition to the assignments provided in the Budget, amount to R1,09,35,000 or £729,000, and have the effect of reducing the Imperial share of Land Revenue receipts to that extent by a corresponding increase in the Provincial share.

1906-1907. Variations in Revenue.

126. The more important variations leading to the large improvements in the Revised Estimate of Revenue are the following:—

	Imperial.	Provincial and Local.	Total.	Total.
	R	R	R	£
Increases—
Opium	1,16,49,000	...	1,16,49,000	776,600
Mint	32,07,000	...	32,07,000	213,800
Exchange . . .	23,00,000	...	23,00,000	153,300
Miscellaneous . . .	23,32,000	—1,12,000	22,20,000	148,000
Interest	13,65,000	72,000	14,37,000	95,800
Land Revenue (including that due to Irrigation) .	—96,15,000	1,23,18,000	27,03,000	180,100
Stamps	3,77,000	3,93,000	7,70,000	51,300
Excise	6,20,000	7,21,000	13,41,000	89,400

Army Services . .	7,62,000	...	7,62,000	50,800
Decreases—
Customs . . .	23,44,000	13,000	23,57,000	157,100
Salt	15,85,000	65,000	16,50,000	110,000
Net receipts from Railways	7,05,000	—14,000	6,91,000	46,100

906-1907. Opium, Mint, Exchange, Miscellaneous and Interest.

127. By far the largest increase in Imperial revenue occurs under Opium. The price of Bengal opium continued high throughout the year, the average price obtained at the monthly sales being R1,391 per chest against R1,125 assumed in the Budget, thus contributing a revenue of R1,40,33,000 in excess of the Budget Estimate. The exports of Malwa opium on the other hand have declined very seriously and there is a decrease in the receipts from duty of R24,25,000 compared with the Budget Estimate. The Miscellaneous receipts under the head, including cost price of opium sold in the Excise Department, are R41,000 more than the Budget. The net increase under the head is thus R1,16,49,000 (£776,600). The seignorage duty on the exceptionally heavy silver coinage of the year is mainly responsible for augmenting the Mint receipts to the extent of R32,07,000 (£213,800). The average rate of exchange obtained for Council Bills has been favourable and the sale of Bills has been very heavy; the receipts under the head Exchange thus having increased by R23,00,000 (£153,300). Of the increase of R22,20,000 (£148,000) under Miscellaneous, R16,67,000 represents two instalments of the Tibet indemnity, R1,34,000 the value of old outstanding currency notes which has been credited to Government on the assumption that they are no longer in circulation, and R1,81,000 an excess credit in Bombay on account of the adjustment of the cost of famine labour employed on relief works. The interest realised on the investment of the cash balances in England and on the Paper Currency investments is expected to exceed the Budget Estimate by £137,900; while out of the interest due on the Calcutta Port Trust Loans R5,96,000 is not expected to be paid in until next year.

906-1907. Land Revenue and other heads.

128. Under Land Revenue there is an excess of R39,12,000 in Bombay, due partly to an under-estimate of the current demand and partly to better collections in consequence of the more favourable agricultural conditions. The collections in Eastern Bengal and Assam, Punjab, North-West Frontier Province and Madras are also expected to exceed the Budget by R2,00,000, R10,03,000, R1,09,000, and R9,60,000, respectively. Most of the other provinces show a decrease; the most notable item being one of R21,00,000 in Burma, due to floods and scarcity in some parts of the province. The very large figures shown under this head in the Imperial and Provincial Sections are, in a great measure, the result of the assignments of R1,09,35,000 as explained in paragraph 125; the transfer of this amount accounts for the minus figure in the Imperial column. The increases under Stamps, Excise, Assessed Taxes, and Post Office, and some minor increases under Forest and Registration, represent the normal growth of the revenues generally throughout the country at a somewhat more rapid pace than was allowed for in the Budget Estimates. The only points worth special mention here are that the growth of the Stamp revenue in Bombay and the Central Provinces, and of Assessed Taxes in Burma, has received a check in the current year, there being a decline of R1,80,000 and of R84,000 under the former head in the two provinces respectively and of R40,000 in the latter as compared with last year. The Budget provided for a falling off of R14,000 in the Stamp revenue of the Central Provinces and for improvements of R50,000 in both the Stamp revenue of Bombay and the Assessed Taxes receipts of Burma. The bulk of the increase under Direct Receipts from Major Irrigation Works occurs in the United Provinces and the Punjab, and is due to the development of irrigation, partly under normal conditions and partly in consequence of the dryness of the seasons having increased the demand for canal-water. Under Civil Works there is an increase in all the provinces except the United Provinces, where there is a small decrease. The increase is mainly in rents of buildings, receipts from ferries and tolls and in the profits of the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway. There are also some special receipts in the Punjab from the sale of lands in the Hissar District and in Bombay from the sale of some buildings. The improvement in the Army receipts is mainly due to the large sale of ordnance stores to Native States, to an abnormal sale of unserviceable ordnance and other stores, to increased receipts from clothing stores, and to a special receipt from the War Office on account of furlough pay of Native troops earned while on field service in China and Somaliland and specially granted to them on return to India. On the other hand the receipts from the sale of malt liquor and from dairy farms are smaller than had been anticipated.

906-1907. Customs Revenue.

129. The decrease under Customs occurs chiefly (1) in the duty on spirits and liqueurs, the imports having diminished in consequence of the heavy stocks laid in at the close of last year in anticipation of the increase in the rate of duty; (2) in the export duty on rice, the scarcity and the consequent high prices ruling in India throughout the year having diminished the exports from Bengal and having also led to the diversion of a large portion of the Burma exports from foreign to Indian ports; and (3) in the import duty on cotton manufactures. On the other hand, there has been an appreciable increase in the imports of silver and of sugar, the latter chiefly from Germany and Java.

1906-1907. Salt Revenue.

130. Of the decrease under Salt R8,00,000 is the anticipated result of the reduction of the duty during the last 12 days of the year. Apart from this there is an increase in Bengal while there is a large decrease in Madras and Northern India, amounting in the former case to nearly 10 lakhs. The Budget Estimate of Madras was based on the actuals of the previous year and sufficient allowance was not made for the higher rate at which duty was realised in that year on the credit sales outstanding at the close of 1904-1905. The decline in Northern India is attributed to traders deferring their purchases towards the close of the year in the hope of a reduction in the duty.

1906-1907. Net earnings of Railways.

131. As regards Railways there is an improvement of R48,40,000 (£322,700) in the gross earnings, but this is swallowed up by a larger increase in the Working Expenses. The chief variations occur in the following lines :—

	Increase +; Decrease —.
	Gross Receipts.	Working Expenses.	Net Receipts.
East Indian	+20,00,000	+43,77,000	—23,77,000
Rajputana Malwa	—10,00,000	+ 6,60,000	—16,60,000
Bengal Nagpur	—5,00,000	+10,00,000	—15,00,000
Eastern Bengal	+25,00,000	+4,50,000	+20,50,000
North Western	+15,00,000	—23,50,000	+38,50,000
Indian Midland	+19,50,000	+9,50,000	+10,00,000
Great Indian Peninsula	—30,00,000	—7,25,000	—22,75,000

132. The improvement in traffic receipts on the East Indian Railway is ascribed to a great increase in the long distance carriage of coal: on the Eastern Bengal State Railway to a big jute trade and to heavy movements of grain in consequence of scarcity in Eastern Bengal; on the Indian Midland Railway to an improvement in traffic in food grains and other merchandise and on the North Western Railway to greater mileage and to good seasons. The Rajputana Malwa and the Great Indian Peninsula systems suffered from the unfavourable agricultural conditions in Western India, and carried less raw cotton and grain than they had budgeted for. The increase in Working Expenses, wherever it occurs, is mainly explained by the cost of handling the increased traffic, by heavy renewals of way and works, and partly also by the high cost of coal. The North Western Railway, on the other hand, has been unable, through the late delivery of sleepers, to carry out the improvements in its permanent way for which provision was made.

1906-1907. Variations in Imperial Expenditure.

133. The excess of Imperial expenditure over the Budget provision amounts, as mentioned in paragraph 124, to £301,400 (R45,21,000). The more important variations which have led to this increase are the following :—

	R	£
Increases—
Famine Relief and Insurance	28,21,000	188,100
Gross charges for Interest on Debt	15,87,000	105,800
Political	8,16,000	54,400
General Administration	4,58,000	30,500
Opium	6,83,000	45,500
Stationery	10,09,000	67,300
Miscellaneous	6,76,000	45,100
Guaranteed Railways surplus profits, etc.	6,22,000	41,400
Decreases—
Scientific and other Minor Departments	5,04,000	33,600
Subsidized Companies, Land, etc.	5,58,000	37,200
Minor Works and Navigation	14,60,000	97,300
Military Works	6,52,000	43,500
Special Defences	13,53,000	90,200
Army Services	2,19,000	14,600

1906-1907. Famine Relief and Insurance.

134. The largest of the above items is the result of a saving of R28,22,000 (£188,100) on the Provincial allotments for Famine Relief Expenditure. Inasmuch as the total grant for Famine Relief and Insurance is a fixed amount of R1,50,00,000 (£1,000,000), any reduction in the share of it that may have been provided in the Provincial section necessitates a corresponding increase in the Imperial allotment, which is taken under the head Reduction of Debt. There are also savings on the allotment for Imperial Expenditure on Famine Relief and Protective Irrigation Works, but these do not enhance the Imperial surplus as their effect is to cause a corresponding increase under Reduction of Debt. The net increase in the Imperial Expenditure for Famine Relief and Insurance is thus the exact amount of the saving on the allotment for Provincial Expenditure for the purpose. The measures explained in paragraphs 48 to 56 will stop the anomalous arrangement by which a decrease in the Provincial Expenditure on Famine Relief had the effect of reducing the Imperial surplus of the year and vice versâ.

1906-1907. Interest Charges.

135. The next largest increase in Imperial Expenditure has occurred under Interest, the increase being R15,87,000 (£105,800), of which R2,00,000 (£13,300) in India is more than explained by higher charges for discount and interest on the new loan raised during the year; and £92,400 in England is covered by the discount on the India 3 per cent stock of £2,000,000 raised there.

1906-1907. Political and General Administration.

136. The increase under Political is due to the expenses connected with the tour of His Majesty the Amir in India, partly counterbalanced by a saving in consequence of His Majesty not having drawn during the year the full amount provided in the Budget on account of his subsidy. The bulk of the increase under General Administration has been contributed by the expenses of the State visit to Agra.

1906-1907. Opium Expenditure.

137. The actual outturn of the opium crop of the year was larger than expected and there is an increase of R6,83,000 in the expenditure under the head Opium, mainly to cover additional payments to cultivators.

1906-1907. Stationery and Printing charges.

138. The bulk of the increase under Stationery and Printing occurs in England in the charges for Stores. In India also there is an increase of R5,67,000 chiefly in the charges of the Government of India Central Press and for purchase of Central Stores; but the latter item has been partially counterbalanced by larger recoveries from Local Governments on account of supplies made to them.

1906-1907. Miscellaneous.

139. Under Miscellaneous, the increase is due to arrear charges connected with the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and to the cost of the special Commissions of Enquiry appointed during the year.

1906-1907. Surplus Profits, &c., of Guaranteed Railway Companies.

140. No provision was made in the Budget Estimate for payment of surplus profits of Guaranteed Railway Companies; but the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Company drew their share for the half-year ending 31st December 1905 and some arrears of previous half-years in the current year. The Madras Railway also has unexpectedly earned surplus profits in the first half of 1906.

1906-1907. Army Expenditure.

141. The variations in the ordinary and special expenditure under Army are as follows:—

	India.		England.	TOTAL.
	R	£	£	£
ORDINARY—
Budget .	20,14,51,000	13,430,100	4,558,000	17,988,100
Revised .	20,20,44,000	13,469,600	4,681,200	18,150,800
Increase .	5,93,000	39,500	123,200	162,700
SPECIAL—
Budget .	1,22,08,000	813,800	1,044,800	1,858,600
Revised .	1,09,88,000	732,500	948,800	1,681,300
Decrease .	12,20,000	81,300	96,000	177,300
Net decrease .	6,27,000	41,800	−27,200	14,600

142. The increase in the ordinary expenditure in England is due, to the extent of £46,000, to the engagement of two fresh ships for an accelerated service and to the conveyance of a larger number of troops partly from South Africa and to the trooping voyage of the Royal Indian Marine Ship "Dufferin". There are also increases of £50,000 in the furlough allowances of officers of the Indian service; of £16,000 in furlough pay during the voyage of British forces on the Indian Establishment; and of £48,200 in the payments to the War Office on account of the effective and non-effective charges of the British Troops serving in India. These increases have however been partially counterbalanced by a saving on the estimate for Stores. Of the increase in India, R4,50,000 are on account of the expenses for the concentration of troops at Agra in connection with the visit of His Majesty the Amir, and the balance is the net result of a number of increases and decreases due to a variety of causes. The chief increases are :—

1906-1907. Army Ordina Expenditure.

(1) Charges for food supplies and compensation for dearness of food and forage in consequence of the prevalence of high prices	17,00,000
(2) Service pay of British soldiers	2,00,000
(3) Pay of British Officers owing to an over-estimate of the savings due to absence on leave, etc. . . .	2,00,000
(4) Charges for the Tibet Mission due to high prices of food supplies	2,98,000
(5) The share of the charges for bounties to time-expired British soldiers which has been debited to ordinary Expenditure, the remainder being treated as Special Expenditure	1,90,000
(6) Compensation in lieu of clothing to British troops .	2,00,000
(7) Sea transport charges and conveyance of stores . .	2,00,000
(8) Purchase of Camp Equipage	1,10,000

The chief decreases are :—

(1) Pay of British troops, owing to short strength . .	5,00,000
(2) Native Army Reserve	3,00,000
(3) Smaller purchase of malt liquor	3,65,000
(4) Ditto of medical supplies	1,70,000
(5) Ditto of transport animals, remounts and ordnance mules	2,00,000
(6) Reduction in the Army Bearer Corps	1,25,000
(7) Grass and Dairy farms	1,35,000
(8) Savings in pay of officers and establishments of Supply and Transport Corps	1,50,000
(9) Savings under officers of the Indian Army, unattached etc.	1,70,000
(10) Charges of the Aden Delimitation Commission consequent on the demobilisation of the force at D'thala .	2,38,000

143. The saving in special expenditure has occurred chiefly (1) in the reorganisation of horse and field batteries, the original plans having been materially modified on the advice of the Army Council and certain details not having been finally decided yet; (2) on the provision for purchase of land and new regimental lines in connection with the redistribution scheme; (3) on the provision for increase in reserves of rifles and artillery rearmament, the manufacture of rifles by the Ishapore Rifle Factory and of guns by the Cossipore Factory having been smaller than expected; and (4) on the provision for increase of Native Army Reserves owing to the enrolment of additional reservists not having come up to expectations. A part of the savings has, however, been applied to (1) the constitution of a new Chief of the Staff's Division at Army Head-quarters, the larger portion of the establishment having been obtained by transfer from the divisions of the Adjutant General and Quarter Master General; (2) the grant of concessions to the Native Army in the shape of increased kit-money on enlistment, an annual grant for boots and larger facilities for visiting their homes in the hot weather; and (3) the payment of bounties to time-expired British soldiers to induce them to continue their service in India. A part of this expenditure will be borne by His Majesty's Government and, pending settlement of the exact allocation, the expenditure which is likely to be ultimately recovered has been debited to ordinary expenditure.

1906-1907. Army Special Expenditure.

)6-1907. nor Works and vigation, cial Defences.

144. The most important lapses on the grants for Imperial Expenditure are R14,60,000 (£97,300) under Minor Works and Navigation and R13,53,000 (£90,200) under Special Defences. The Budget provided for a reserve under the former, to assist provincial schemes; but only a part of this has been allotted to Local Governments and the expenditure is shown as Provincial. The balance has not been utilised. It has not also been found possible to spend during the year the whole allotment made for Special Defences, and there is a saving of R6,33,000 (£42,200) in India and £48,000 in England; a reconsideration of the armament required for port defences delayed the utilisation of the Budget provision in full.

6-1907. ntific, &c., bsidised npanies, l Military rks.

145. Of the saving under Scientific and other Minor Departments £20,500 occurs in England in the charges for stores and for the "Provincial Gazetteer of India." In India there is a saving of R1,97,000 chiefly in the expenditure of the Survey of India. The Budget provisions for land for the Dacca Railway extensions and some other Railways were not utilised at all, while the grant for the Bengal and North-Western Railway was only partially utilised. Under Military Works, the progress of the special building operations in connection with the redistribution scheme has been slower than was expected.

6-1907. iations in vincial enditure.

146. The more important variations which have led to the saving of £528,700 in Provincial and Local expenditure are the following:—

	R	£
Decreases—
Land Revenue	8,26,000	55,100
Police	11,19,000	74,600
Education	13,03,000	86,800
Scientific and Minor Departments	6,95,000	46,300
Famine Relief	28,22,000	188,100
Civil Works	21,64,000	144,300
Increases—
Jails	6,69,000	44,600
Major Irrigation Works, Working expenses	5,95,000	39,800
Courts of Law	3,78,000	25,200

5-1907. d Revenue rges.

147. Under Land Revenue there are savings of (1) R3,09,000 in Bengal, due to the allotment for additional officers and reorganisation of the pay of establishment not being fully utilised; (2) R1,21,000 in the United Provinces, due to a delay in the introduction of the scheme for improving the position of the kanungo establishment and a saving in the outlay on improvement of Government Estates; (3) R3,35,000 in Madras, due to a delay in the revision of village establishments in Proprietary Estates; and (4) R1,49,000 in Bombay, where the Budget was pitched too high. On the other hand the Budget estimate in Burma has proved too low and there is an increase of R94,000.

5-1907. ice, Education, ntific and other tor artments.

148. The savings under Police, Education and Scientific and other Minor Departments are due to the inability of most of the Local Governments to utilise to the full extent the large allotments made for Police reform, development of Education and reorganisation of the Educational Service and for expansion of the Agricultural Department and Experimental farms. A part of the allotments under Education has also been transferred in some of the provinces to Civil Works for the construction of educational buildings.

6-1907. nine Relief.

149. An improvement in agricultural conditions has led to a saving on the allotments for Famine Relief in Bombay (R32,20,000), Madras (R3,00,000), and the Punjab (R1,18,000); but there are excesses of R75,000 and R8,00,000 in Eastern Bengal and Bengal respectively, where there has been considerable local scarcity.

6-1907. il Works benditure.

150. When the Budget Estimates were framed in March last the agricultural outlook in Bombay was very unfavourable, and the necessity for setting aside a large sum from Provincial revenues for expenditure on famine relief led to a restriction in the programme of Provincial expenditure on Civil Works in the province. The subsequent improvement in the position, however, set free a considerable part of the funds provided in the Budget for expenditure on famine relief, and they have been applied to increase the expenditure on Civil Works, which is now expected to exceed the Budget Estimate by R20,38,000. There is an increase of R61,000 in the United Provinces due to similar causes. These increases are, however, more than counterbalanced by heavy lapses in Burma, Bengal and Madras, owing to the progress of Provincial works being slower than had been hoped by the Local Governments. There are also considerable lapses in the grants under the control of Local Boards, especially in Bengal and Madras.

151. The exceptionally high prices of food supplies which ruled during the year have increased the cost of dietary in Jails in most of the provinces. 1906-1907. Jails.

152. Under Major Irrigation Works—working expenses, the increase is chiefly in the Punjab, being due to certain unforeseen important works and repairs on the Lower Chenab, Lower Jhelum, Western Jumna, Sirhind and Upper Bari Doab canals. 1906-1907. Major Irrigati Works—Work Expenses.

153. A comparatively small increase under Courts of Law is distributed over all the provinces except the Central Provinces and Bombay, and is due partly to increased charges for diet money to witnesses and grain compensation allowances granted to establishments in consequence of the high price of food, and partly to the abolition of the rule restricting the grant of acting allowances in the case of officers promoted during the first 30 days of privilege leave vacancies. In the Central Provinces there is a saving of R1,34,000 mainly in consequence of the separation of certain Judicial and Executive Establishments having been effected from 1st October instead of from 1st April 1906, as provided in the Budget. In Bombay there is a saving of R10,000 only. 1906-1907. Law and Justi Courts of Law

Section III.—The Budget Estimate of 1907-1908.

154. The following is a general comparison of the Budget Estimate of 1907-1908 with the Revised Estimate of 1906-1907:— 1907-1908. Statement of g figures.

	Revised, 1906-1907.	Budget, 1907-1908.	1907-1908 Better than 1906-1907.	1907-1908 Worse than 1906-1907.

Total Expenditure . .	73,687,300	74,681,400	...	994,100
Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit.	613,500	—443,300	1,056,800	...

155. The principal feature of the estimate of Revenue is a decrease in the receipts from salt and opium. As announced in paragraph 6 the duty on salt is being reduced, except in Burma, by 8 annas a maund with effect from to-day. This makes the duty uniform throughout India and Burma at one rupee per maund, except in regard to salt produced in the small State of Mandi in the Punjab. In accordance with the existing arrangements with the Raja, the duty on Mandi salt will be reduced from 4½ annas to 3 annas a maund. The estimate of salt revenue next year is R1,50,00,000 less than the Revised Estimate of the current year. The sacrifice of revenue entailed by the reduction of duty is really much larger; but against it have to be set (1) the increase in consumption due to the stimulus given by the reduction, and (2) the realisation of a part of the duty next year in Madras and Bombay at the old rate of R1-8 per maund. The reason for the latter set-off is the system of credit sales which prevails in these two provinces. The duty on about four million maunds of Madras salt and on a small quantity of Bombay salt remains always unrealised, the dealers being allowed a running credit on the security of a deposit of Government promissory notes. The duty on these credit sales now outstanding will be realised next year at R1-8 per maund, the rate prevailing at the time when the salt was actually issued, while the duty on the credit sales outstanding at the end of next year will be paid at one rupee per maund only. The estimate for next year accordingly includes an extra eight annas of duty per maund on the credit sales outstanding 1907-1908. Salt Revenue.

on the 31st of this month in Madras and Bombay. The loss involved by the reduction of the duty on the estimated consumption of next year is about 210 lakhs of rupees; but, under the system above explained, about 20 lakhs of the loss will in effect be carried forward into 1908-1909.

)08. Revenue. 156. The reduction in opium receipts is a consequence of the restriction of the exports from India to China (vide paragraph 34). The sales of Bengal opium have been at the rate of 4,400 chests a month during 1906-1907; but it has now been notified that only 4,000 chests a month will be sold from July 1907. There will thus be a decline of 3,600 chests as compared with the sales of the current year. In view also of the drop in the price of Bengal opium up to the last month of the current year, it has not been considered prudent to take the price at a higher rate than R1,250 per chest against an average rate of R1,391 actually obtained in the current year. The receipts from the sale of Bengal opium next year have thus been taken R1,19,33,000 less than the Revised Estimate of 1906-1907. On the other hand, the exports of Malwa opium in the current year have been the smallest known for many years and a recovery has been provided for next year, the receipts from the duty on the exports in that year being taken at R5,00,000 higher than those of the current year. The cost price of opium sold in the Excise Department has also been taken higher by R84,000. The total estimate of opium revenue is thus R1,13,49,000 less than the Revised Estimate of the current year.

908. ·es in postal 157. As referred to in paragraph 38 it has been decided to make the following reductions in postal rates with effect from 1st October next:—

(a) To raise the letter weight, carried by foreign post to places within the British Empire for 1 anna, from half an ounce to one ounce; and for places outside the British Empire, to raise the letter weight carried for 2½ annas to one ounce, and to fix 1½ annas as the rate for each ounce or fraction of an ounce carried in excess of one ounce, the present rate being 2½ annas for each half ounce. These concessions are estimated to entail a loss of revenue of R2,00,000 during the six months of next year in which they will have effect.

(b) To raise the letter weight carried by the inland post in India for ½ anna from three quarters of a tola to one tola. This concession is estimated to cost R4,50,000 in the last six months of next year.

(c) To raise the letter weight carried by the inland post in India for 1 anna from one and a half tolas to three tolas, and to fix 1 anna as the rate for every additional three tolas or fraction of it in place of 1 anna for every one and a half tolas. This concession will entail a loss of R4,50,000 during the last six months of next year.

158. The total loss of postal revenue entailed by the concessions enumerated above, between the 1st October 1907 and the 31st March 1908, is estimated at R11,00,000. It is expected that, if there had been no change in rates, the normal growth of postal business would have brought in next year an additional revenue of R15,55,000. The Budget Estimate of postal revenue for next year has accordingly been placed only R4,55,000 higher than the Revised Estimate of the current year.

·1908. ·features of nditure nates. 159. On the other side of the Budget, it has been decided to spread the special expenditure entailed by the measures connected with the reorganisation and redistribution of the Army over a longer period, and to reduce the annual grant for this special expenditure for next year from 325 lakhs of rupees (£2,166,600), to 250 lakhs (£1,666,600), i.e., by 75 lakhs of rupees (£500,000). The amount regranted next year on account of lapses on the current year's Budget Estimate of special expenditure is 47½ lakhs in place of 90 lakhs regranted in the current year out of the lapses of last year.

·1908. ial assignment Police nditure. 160. A special assignment has again been placed at the disposal of the Provincial Governments for police reform. On this occasion the amount is 22½ lakhs (£150,000); and Burma has been omitted from the distribution, the full amount required for its police reforms having been given to that province, as a standing provision in connection with the revision of its Provincial settlement. The total amount allotted for police reform since 1905-1906 is now 97½ lakhs a year (£650,000), besides 8 lakhs (£53,300) which has been included in the terms of the Burma Provincial Settlement.

161. The effect of the reduction in the salt duty and the changes in the postal rates is to reduce to £774,700 a surplus which would otherwise have been about £2,114,700. The estimated Revenue and Expenditure of the year is distributed as follows:— 1907-1908. General Result.

	Imperial.	Provincial and Local.
Revenue	50,525,400	24,487,400
Expenditure	49,750,700	24,930,700
Surplus (+) or Deficit (—)	+774,700	—443,300

As compared with the Revised Estimate for the current year, there is a decrease in revenue of £614,100 (R92,11,000) and an increase in expenditure of £994,100 (R1,49,12,000). Of the decrease in revenue £712,500 appertains to the Imperial Government, while in the expenditure of the Imperial Government there is a decrease of £161,100, the net result being a decrease in the surplus of £551,400. In the Provincial and Local Sections there is an increase in revenue of £98,400 and an increase in expenditure of £1,155,200, or a net worseness of £1,056,800. The result is that the Provincial and Local balances will be drawn upon to the extent of £443,300, against the £613,500 by which the Revised Estimate of the current year provides that they will be increased.

162. It has already been mentioned that, as compared with the Revised Estimates of the current year, the decrease in the Budget Estimate for Salt is R1,50,00,000. Under the existing settlement with Burma, half the salt revenue there is Provincial; but under the new settlement which comes into effect next year, the whole of it has been imperialised. There is, therefore, a decrease of R8,35,000 under the head in the Provincial section and the decrease in the Imperial section is R1,41,65,000. The decline under Opium revenue is R1,13,49,000. These two heads, therefore, account for a decrease in Imperial revenue of R2,55,14,000 (£1,700,900); but as the total decrease in Imperial revenue is only R1,06,88,000 (£712,500), there is an increase of R1,48,26,000 (£988,400) under heads other than Salt and Opium while, as mentioned before, there is an improvement of £98,400 (R14,76,000) in the Provincial and Local Sections. The chief variations which have brought about these increases are the following:— 1907-1908. Main features of Estimates of Revenue.

1907-1908. Variations under Revenue heads other than Salt and Opium.

163. The improvement under Land Revenue is distributed over all the provinces with the exception of the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province where the figures are practically stationary, and Bombay where there is a 1907-1908. Land Revenue.

decrease of R15,30,000. The improvement is the result generally of better harvests throughout the country and in places also it is due to revision of settlements and extension of cultivation. The largest increases are expected in the United Provinces (R24,16,000) where the remissions next year are estimated to amount to R2,02,000 only against R28,53,000 granted in the current year, and in Burma (R23,85,000) where the current demand next year should exceed that of the current year by R14,76,000, while the remissions are expected to be R2,00,000 less. A considerable part of the arrears of the current year due to floods and unfavourable agricultural conditions in some parts of that province, are also expected to be collected next year. An increase is counted upon in the current demand in Bombay; but owing to the prospects of good harvests, the bulk of the large outstanding suspensions has been collected in the current year and a net decrease has accordingly been provided in the Budget Estimate of 1907-1908. As explained in paragraph 125 a certain number of special non-recurring assignments have been given to Local Governments in the current year. The absence of these in the Estimates for next year accounts for the large increase in the Imperial share and the decrease in the Provincial share of Land Revenue. The variations would have been larger but for the special assignment of R37,50,000 to be annually given to the Local Governments from next year on account of Famine Relief expenditure as explained in paragraphs 48 to 56.

1907-1908. Other heads.

164. The most of the other increases shown in the table above represent the normal growth of the revenues under the various heads and are distributed over all the Provinces. In the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province there are decreases of R30,000 and R20,000 respectively under Provincial Rates, due partly to the realization in the current year of some arrears of the abolished cesses and to a special receipt in the current year in the North-West Frontier Province from an experimental cess (now abolished) in the Mahsud colony in the Dera Ismail Khan district. There is also a decrease of R1,50,000 in the Forest revenue in Bombay, due partly to the absence of any special receipts from the sale of famine grass and partly to a diminution in the stock of teak on private lands in the Northern Circle.

1907-1908. Interest Receipts.

165. Owing to the exceptionally heavy drawings of Council Bills, the cash balance in England was very high throughout the current year and a large amount has been received on account of interest by investing it at the high rates of interest which have prevailed during the year. The exceptional circumstances of the current year are not expected to recur and the Budget Estimate accordingly provides for a decrease of £137,700 in the interest receipts in England. In India there is an increase of R22,65,000 (£151,000) in the interest realized on agricultural loans and advances granted to Local Bodies and others. Of this R17,36,000 appertains to the Imperial Government and R5,29,000 to the Provincial Governments.

1907-1908. Railway Revenue.

166. As regards Railways the following table shows the chief variations between the Revised Estimates of the current year and the Budget Estimates of next year for Gross Earnings and Working Expenses of the different lines :—

	Increase +	Decrease —
	Gross Receipts.	Working Expenses.	Net Earnings.
	R	R	R
East Indian Railway .	...	—14,90,000	+14,90,000
Bengal Nagpur Railway	+15,00,000	+11,00,000	+4,00,000
Rajputana Malwa Railway . . .	+10,00,000	—1,60,000	+11,60,000
Burma Railways . .	+10,00,000	+2,16,000	+7,84,000
Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway . .	+5,00,000	+10,00,000	—5,00,000
Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway	+5,00,000	—10,000	+5,10,000
Great Indian Peninsula Railway . . .	+20,00,000	+13,00,000	+7,00,000
North-Western Railway	+25,00,000	+25,00,000	...
Nagda-Muttra Railway	+7,35,000	+3,50,000	+3,85,000

As explained in paragraph 132, there has been a continued expansion of traffic in the current year on most of the railways except the Great Indian Peninsula and Rajputana-Malwa lines. Next year the seasons are expected to be more propitious and provision has been made in the Budget Estimate for a further expansion of traffic, for a recovery of the ground temporarily lost by the Great Indian Peninsula and Rajputana-Malwa railways, and for the opening of the Nagda-Muttra railway and additional mileage on other lines. The growth of revenue on the North-Western and Oudh and Rohilkhand Railways will, however, be counterbalanced by an increase in the working expenses consequent on the necessity for renewal of permanent-way and rolling stock. The only appreciable decrease in Working Expenses is on the East Indian and the Rajputana-Malwa Railways. On both these lines the expenditure in the current year on the renewal of permanent-way and rolling stock has been abnormally heavy.

167. It is not anticipated that the same volume of work will be required from the Mints next year as in the current year, and the receipts on account of coinage fees are expected to be less than the Revised by R22,32,000. Provision has been made in the Budget Estimate for a profit of R2,00,000 on the nickel coins to be issued during the year, but the estimate of the gain on copper and bronze coinage is R5,00,000 less than in the Revised. 1907-1908. Mint Receipts.

168. The decrease under Marine is due mainly to a change in the method of accounting by which recoveries from Local Governments and other Departments and the Royal Navy on account of labour and locally purchased stores expended on work done for them, which had hitherto been credited as receipts, will in future be deducted from expenditure. 1907-1908. Marine.

169. It has not been considered prudent to anticipate so favourable a rate of exchange for Council Bills as has been obtained in the current year and there is consequently a decrease of £60,000 in the receipts under Exchange. 1907-1908. Exchange Receipts.

170. The Budget Estimate provides R8,33,000 for the last instalment of the Tibet indemnity, against R16,67,000 paid in the current year on account of the first two instalments. There is also a decrease of (1) R1,30,000 in the amount creditable on account of the value of outstanding Currency Notes, (2) R2,16,000 in Bombay in the recoveries of Famine Relief charges, and (3) R1,00,000 in Burma, because the Khedda receipts will in future be shown as Forest Revenue, and because there was a special recovery in the current year of a temporary contribution granted in the previous year to the Moulmein Municipality. On the other hand, an increase of R94,000 is expected in the amount of unclaimed deposits lapsing to Government mainly in the United Provinces and the Punjab, while the further extension of Sitabuldi in Nagpur town by leases of Nazul lands is expected to bring in an additional revenue of R51,000. 1907-1908. Miscellaneous Receipts.

171. The area under Irrigation during the rabi of 1905-1906 was exceptionally high in the United Provinces and parts of the Punjab and the Irrigation Revenue of the two provinces in the current year will be the highest on record. It is not considered prudent to count upon similar circumstances next year, especially in view of the favourable winter rains of the current year, and the Budget Estimate is accordingly less than the Revised Estimate of the current year. 1907-1908. Irrigation Major Works—Direct Receipts.

172. In the current year the sale of ordnance stores has been abnormally high, and the Revised also includes a special receipt of R5,11,000 from the War Office on account of the furlough pay of Indian troops earned during service in China and Somaliland. As regiments will make their own arrangements for the supply of beer with effect from January 1908, the sale of malt-liquor will also be largely reduced next year. The Budget Estimate for that year accordingly provides for a decrease in Army receipts which would have been much larger but for an increase in the receipts from dairy farms consequent on the increased outlay provided for them. 1907-1908. Army Receipts.

1907-1908. Variations in Imperial Expenditure.

173. The decrease of £161,100 (R24,17,000) in Imperial Expenditure referred to in paragraph 161 is the net result of a large number of variations, the more important of which are as follows :—

	R	£
Decreases—
Army Services	72,18,000	481,200
Opium	16,80,000	112,000

1907-1908. Variations in Ordinary and Special Army Expenditure.

1907-1908. Ordinary Army Expenditure.

175. R1,55,000 out of the increase in India is only nominal, being the net result of (1) the transfer from the civil to the Army Estimates of R6,65,000 on account of charges for Cantonment Magistrates who are now under the administrative control of the Commander-in-Chief and the Army Department and (2) the transfer of R5,10,000 from Army to Military Works Services of charges for water-supply and maintenance of electrical installations. The rest is the net result of a number of variations, the more important of which are the following :—

Increases—
Pay of British troops, the shortage in the strength in the current year being abnormal	5,00,000

Increases—contd.	R
Larger provision for Native Army Reserve Forces which is dependent on the number of men to be called out for training	3,00,000
Larger provision for conveyance charges specially of ordnance stores	1,50,000
Larger provision for grass and dairy farms largely covered by increased receipts	4,60,000
Larger provision for purchase of transport animals, remounts and ordnance mules, owing to short purchase in previous years	4,00,000
Larger provision for medical supplies, camp equipage and local stores for ordnance factories	5,20,000
Decreases—
Special bounty payable in current year to British soldiers for extension of service	1,90,000
Smaller purchase of malt liquor due to the fact that after 1st January 1908, British regiments in Northern India, which have hitherto been supplied with beer through the supply and transport corps on payment, will make their own arrangements for obtaining it . . .	4,25,000
Smaller expenditure in connection with the concentration of troops at Agra and absence of charges for Rawalpindi concentration	4,90,000
Smaller charges for the Aden Delimitation Commission owing to the demobilisation of the force at D'thala .	3,22,000

The decrease in England is in the charges for furlough allowances, Indian Troop service and stores, while there is an increase in the payments to the War Office for effective and non-effective pay of British forces for service in India.

1907-1908. Special Army Expenditure.

176. The special expenditure next year is partly for the measures already in progress and partly for the following new measures :—

(a) Raising of two Indian Mountain Batteries.

(b) Re-organisation of Mountain Artillery.

(c) Partial re-organisation of the Heavy Artillery.

(d) Raising an additional Indian Cavalry regiment from a nucleus of two irregular squadrons.

(e) Supplying the field army with telephonic equipment.

(f) Electrification of Harness and Saddlery factory at Cawnpore.

(g) Modification of present pensionary conditions in the Indian Army.

The large decrease in the expenditure in England is due to the completion in the current year of the re-armament of Horse and Field Artillery.

1907-1908. Opium Expenditure.

177. According to the latest reports, the outturn of the opium crop now on the ground is not expected to be as good as the last crop. As stated in paragraph 34 the area under cultivation will also be reduced next year. Provision has accordingly been made in the Budget for smaller payments to cultivators both on account of the standing crop and as advances for the next season.

1907-1908. Telegraph Expenditure.

178. The capital expenditure of the Indian and Indo-European Telegraph Departments in 1907-1908 is expected to be less by R15,13,000 than in the current year in consequence of a smaller construction programme; but this decrease will be counterbalanced to some extent by an increase in the expenditure on revenue account brought about by the expansion of the Departments and the development of traffic.

1907-1908. Marine.

179. The decrease under Marine is due partly to the change in the method of accounting referred to in paragraph 168 and partly to smaller provision for special expenditure mainly for replacement of old vessels. The Budget estimate for next year includes R13,01,000 on this account against R18,88,000 included in the Revised Estimate of the current year.

1907-1908. Political and Miscellaneous Expenditure.

180. The expenditure under the head Political in 1907-1908 is expected to be less than in the current year by R16,45,000. Of this R4,55,000 is only nominal, being merely a transfer from the Imperial to the Provincial section in consequence of a change in the incidence in Burma; under the terms of the new Provincial settlement Political expenditure will be provincialized from next year instead of being Imperial as hitherto. The absence of any special expenditure in connection with the Indian tour of His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan, partly counterbalanced by increased provision for payment of arrears of his subsidy, mainly accounts for the remainder of the decrease. The Revised Estimate under Miscellaneous includes some arrear charges in connection with the visit of Their Royal Highnesses' the Prince and Princess of Wales. The expenditure in connection with special commissions of enquiry is also expected to be less next year.

1907-1908. Customs.

181. An increase of R4,70,000 under Customs is explained by the fact that expenditure under this head in Burma which has hitherto been treated as Provincial will, under the terms of the new settlement with that province, become Imperial from 1st April 1907. The remainder of the increase represents ordinary growth in expenditure.

1907-1908. Forest Expenditure.

182. The increase in Forest expenditure is partly concomitant with the increase in receipts mentioned in paragraph 162, and partly due to revision of establishments and larger outlay on buildings and communications.

1907-1908. Post Office.

183. The increase in Post Office expenditure is a result of the growth of the operations of the Department and, but for the reduction in rates mentioned in paragraph 157, would have been covered by an increase in revenue.

1907-1908. General Administration.

184. Under General Administration provision has been made for additional buildings at the Store Depot of the India Office and for larger purchase of stores.

1907-1908. Police Expenditure.

185. The increase under Police is mainly for reorganisation of the police forces in the North-West Frontier Province, Baluchistan, Coorg, and other minor provinces directly under the administration of the Government of India.

1907-1908. Scientific and other Minor Departments.

186. The increase in the expenditure of Scientific and other Minor Departments is due mainly to the increased operations to be undertaken by the Survey of India Department in accordance with the recommendations of the Survey Committee, and to the development of the Agricultural and Veterinary Departments.

1907-1908. Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances.

187. The increase under Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances occurs almost wholly in England and is the outcome of the recent decision of the Secretary of State to pay in England the privilege leave allowances of officers on combined leave out of India.

1907-1908. Reduction of Debt and Construction of Protective Irrigation Works.

188. The smaller provision under Reduction of Debt is explained partly by the fact that, in accordance with the new arrangements described in Part I in connection with the future incidence of Famine Relief Expenditure, a sum of R37,50,000 has been provided as Provincial expenditure under the head, and partly by the fact that provision has been made for a larger programme of Protective Irrigation Works, chiefly in the Central Provinces, Bengal, United Provinces and Bombay. This has reduced the share of the fixed grant of 1½ crores of rupees, which remains available to be charged under Reduction of Debt.

1907-1908. Interest on Capital deposited by Companies.

189. The charges under Interest on Capital deposited by Companies will be swelled next year by the interest on the additional capital which is proposed to be raised by the Bengal-Nagpur, Burma, and East Indian Railways.

1907-1908. Minor Works and Navigation.

190. The increase under Minor Works and Navigation is mainly due to the provision of a reserve of 10 lakhs to meet special expenditure entailed by the recommendations of the Irrigation Commission.

1907-1908. Military Works.

191. Under Military Works the increase in expenditure is partly for buildings, acquisition of land and outlay on regimental lines in connection with the redistribution scheme and partly for the transfer of the charges for water-supply and maintenance of electrical installations from the head "Army" to "Military Works."

192. The increase under Civil Works is partly accounted for by the fact that Imperial Works in Burma were formerly paid for from the Provincial revenues. There are also special provisions for a new Secretariat building in Calcutta and for the new Agricultural buildings at Pusa. The additional expenditure in India is partly counterbalanced by smaller outlay in England, chiefly as a result of the closing of the College at Coopers Hill. 1907-1908. Civil Works.

193. The chief items which have caused the increase of £1,155,200 (R1,73,28,000) in Provincial and Local Expenditure referred to in paragraph 161 are the following:— 1907-1908. Variations in Provincial Expenditure.

Increases—
Land Revenue	21,32,000	142,200
Forest	5,96,000	39,700
Police	36,05,000	240,300
Education	31,30,000	208,600
Medical	9,14,000	60,900
Political	4,68,000	31,200
Scientific and other Minor Departments	11,06,000	73,700
Superannuation Allowances and Pensions	5,75,000	38,300
Reduction of Debt	37,50,000	250,000
Minor Works and Navigation	4,50,000	30,000
Civil Works	38,03,000	253,600
Decrease—
Famine Relief	39,11,000	260,700

194. The increase in Land Revenue collection charges is due to an increase of revenue establishments in most of the provinces, the chief items being an increase in the cadre of Deputy and Sub-Deputy Collectors and in the pay of ministerial establishments in Bengal and Eastern Bengal; the extra charges due to the constitution of an additional district in both Bombay and Madras; and also to the reorganisation of village establishments in the latter province. 1907-1908. Land Revenue Expenditure.

195. The increase in Forest expenditure has already been explained in paragraph 182; this head of account being divided between Imperial and Provincial in all provinces. The increases under Police, Education and Scientific and other Minor Departments are distributed among all the provinces and represent respectively further progress in the introduction of police reforms, advancement of education and development of the Agricultural and Veterinary Departments. 1907-1908. Forest, Police, Education and Scientific and other Minor Departments.

196. Under Medical provision has been made for increased expenditure on hospitals and dispensaries in most of the provinces; on measures for the prevention of plague in the Punjab; and in connection with the improvement of water-supply and sanitation in villages in Madras. 1907-1908. Medical.

197. As has already been explained, the provincialisation of the Political expenditure in Burma under the terms of the new settlement is responsible for the increase under that head. 1907-1908. Political Expenditure.

198. The increase under Superannuation allowances represents the normal growth of the Retired list. 1907-1908. Superannuation Allowances.

199. The provision in the Provincial Section under Reduction or Avoidance of Debt and the absence of any provision under Famine Relief—Provincial are connected with the change which it has been decided to make with effect from next year, in locating the burden of Famine Relief Expenditure. 1907-1908. Reduction of Debt and Famine Relief.

200. The decrease in the Provincial expenditure under Minor Irrigation Works is only nominal. Provision has been made under Imperial for the usual reserve and allotments will be made to Local Governments during the course of the year. 1907-1908. Minor Works and Navigation.

201. The strong financial position of the Local Governments is reflected in the provision made by all of them next year for an enlarged programme of Civil Works expenditure. The large grants made during the last two years to Local funds, both in aid of their general resources and for the construction of primary schools, have enabled them also to increase their programme of Civil Works expenditure to a considerable extent. 1907-1908. Civil Works Expenditure.

202. The collections in the current year have been kept down in Burma by floods in two districts and scarcity in a third; in the Central Provinces by the suspension of some arrears due to frost in the previous winter; and in Bengal by the poverty of the monsoon rice crop in Durbhanga and adjoining districts. But there has been a more than counterbalancing rise in several other provinces, particularly in the Punjab, where good crops have led to the revenue coming in easily, and in Bombay, where a considerable amount of revenue that had been postponed during the recent famine is now being collected. In 1907-1908 the general agricultural recovery is expected to result in higher collections in the Central Provinces and United Provinces; as also, to a small degree, in Ajmer. The increase in Bengal is mainly due to the payment of survey charges in Behar and Ranchi; while in Burma and Madras it is assisted by revision of settlements, and in the former province also by smaller remissions than in the current year. In Bombay the collection of arrears has been very high towards the end of the current year, and next year's figures are expected to be more normal.

203. The opium figures have already been discussed in paragraphs 127, 137, 156 and 177. The prices realised for Bengal opium during the current year have exceeded expectation. Beginning at R1,278 in April 1906, the average price per chest at the monthly sales rose in November to the very high figure of R1,513. There was a decline after that; but the notifications restricting the sales and the poppy area for next year were immediately followed by a jump to R1,512 in the price for the current month. The revenue from Bengal opium is thus R1,40,33,000 better than the Budget figure for 1906-1907. On the other hand, the weighments of Malwa opium have fallen off very heavily since November. In the last four months of 1905-1906, the number of chests which passed the scales was 4,490: in the same period this year, the estimated number is under 3,000.

204. For next year it would be unsafe to assume a continuance of the high prices obtained this year for Bengal opium; but the issues of Malwa opium have been taken at a figure a little above the actuals for the present year, though not quite so high as the exports of 1905-1906. The reduction in expenditure next year is due partly to the indifferent reports about this season's crop and partly to a lower estimate of the advances for next season's crop in consequence of the reduction of the area to be sown in the Behar and Benares agencies.

(a) Chiefly excise on local manufacture. | (b) Chiefly duty on imported salt.

205. The Revised Estimate is based upon an expected consumption of 402 lakhs of maunds in India proper and 13 lakhs of maunds in Burma, as compared with the actual consumption of 393 and 14¼ lakhs of maunds respectively in 1905-1906. The latest information points to a general increase in the issue of salt, as compared with last year, except in Northern India, where stocks have apparently been kept low in the hope of a decrease in duty, and also in Burma. The reason why a corresponding increase in revenue is not apparent in Madras is that the accounts for 1905-1906 were swollen by about R18,25,000 on account of payments for salt which had been issued on credit in the previous year at the higher rate of duty. For 1907-1908 the consumption is estimated at 420 lakhs of maunds in India proper and 14 lakhs of maunds in Burma; being a rise of 19 lakhs over the estimated figure of the current year. The increase in 1905-1906, when the last reduction in duty took place, was 13½ lakhs of maunds. The revenue from salt which would have been budgeted for, if the duty had not been altered, would have been 683½ lakhs (£4,556,700), or an increase of 40 lakhs (£266,700) over the Revised Estimate of the current year.

206. The improvement in the Stamp receipts for 1906-1907 is common to all the provinces, except Bombay, where there has been some decline in court-fees, and in the Central Provinces, where the receipts from general stamps have fallen off. The further increase anticipated in 1907-1908 is also general, and is the ordinary accompaniment of satisfactory agricultural conditions.

207. The drop in the Burma figures for the current year occurs, about half under liquor and half under the sale of excise opium. The falling off in the United Provinces is a consequence of the seasons having turned out less favourable than had been anticipated. The growth of the revenue elsewhere has been normal; and the improvement in agricultural conditions gives reason to expect that it will continue in 1907-1908. The failure to utilize the provision for expenditure in the current year occurred mainly in Burma, where the new Excise establishment has not yet been fully employed. Improvements in the establishment in that province and in the United Provinces and Bombay account for the extra expenditure provided for in 1907-1908.

208. The variations in the Revised are inconsiderable, except in the Punjab and Bombay, where large arrears were collected: otherwise the figures follow those of the land revenue receipts. The fluctuations under the fourth head are mainly due to the payments of the Proprietary Estates Village Service Cess in Madras having been over-estimated for the current year; while the extension of the cess in 1907-1908 accounts for the higher Budget figure.

The accumulated balances of the Patwari Funds in the provinces where these funds were abolished in 1906 have been transferred to the general credit of Government.

209. The failure of the Customs revenue to work up to the Budget Estimate in the current year is mainly due to the set-back in the receipts from the import of spirits and the export of rice. The increase in the duty on spirits and liqueurs from the 26th February 1906 led to a rush of imports and withdrawals from bond at the end of 1905-1906, with a view to obtaining the benefit of the old tariff. Since then there has been a marked falling off in imports; but stocks are now being replenished and a normal recovery is anticipated for 1907-1908. The drop in the receipts from the export duty on rice is due to the larger consignments from Burma to Indian ports in consequence of scarcity in Bengal and Eastern Bengal, as well as to the restriction of the Bengal exports for the same reason. The only other important differences from the original estimates of the current year are under cotton manufactures, sugar, and silver. The imports of manufactured cotton have presumably been checked by the movement in favour of indigenous articles. On the other hand, there has been a very marked increase in the imports of sugar from Germany. The rise in the price of silver will probably stem the great demand for that metal which has characterised the current year; but under the other main heads a steady improvement is expected in 1907-1908.

210. In the current year the collections exceed the original estimate in every province except Burma; the rise being particularly noticeable in Bombay, where the profits from the cotton mills in 1905-1906 were very high. A considerable retrogression having occurred this year, the Budget figure for Bombay has dropped by 3 lakhs. In the other provinces a steady upward movement is provided for; especially in Bengal, where the great activity in trade during the current year should be reflected in the assessments of next year.

211. The rise in revenue, as compared with the current year's Budget Estimate, would have been higher except for a drop of 9 lakhs in Burma. There is a moderate improvement in the Central Provinces, the United Provinces and Madras: but the chief increase has occurred in Bombay, where the Forest Department has received credit for large sales of grass in relief of a scarcity of fodder. This source of income will not require to be drawn upon next year, it is hoped; and the Budget figure is below the Revised in Bombay. Elsewhere, provision has been made for a moderate increase in revenue, especially in Burma, where also there is an addition of R2,00,000 for Kheddah receipts, which were not formerly taken to this head. The increased expenditure in next year is due to revision of subordinate and clerical establishments, to larger outlay on communications and buildings, and to the introduction of the time-scale of pay for the Superior Forest Service.

212. In India the interest receipts have been diminished in the current year by R3,50,000 which it was estimated that the Simla-Kalka Railway would pay on its loan: the purchase of the line by Government having wiped out the liability. There has also been a transfer of R5,96,000 from the estimates for the current year to those of next year, there being some doubt whether a payment of that amount, which is now due from the Calcutta Port Commissioners, will be made before the 31st of March. In most provinces, the Estimate has been fully realized, and in Bombay it has been exceeded by reason of good recoveries from the Kathiawar States and on agricultural loans. In England the great improvement in this year's figures is the result of the very favourable rates of interest which have been prevailing in the London market, and of the large sums which the Secretary of State has been able to lend out of his surplus balances in consequence of his heavy drawings of Council Bills. For next year a more normal figure is taken in England, and in India an increase is expected mainly in the interest on agricultural loans and on capital advanced to Railway Companies.

213. The excess in the Debt charges in India in the Revised over the Budget figure for the current year is due to the charges in connection with the 4½ crore loan having been higher than there was reason to expect when the estimate was framed in March 1906. The estimate otherwise was a full one; but any saving on it has been counterbalanced by the interest payments (about 3¼ lakhs) on the loan taken from the Gold Standard Reserve. The addition of 8 lakhs for next year is due to the increase of the rupee debt: but, as this is more than outpaced by the increase of productive capital expenditure, the balance of interest charged to ordinary debt is steadily decreasing. The Revised figure of the charges in England is higher than the original estimate by the expenses of the sterling loan raised in 1906-1907, for which—in accordance with the usual practice—no special provision was made.

214. The check in the growth of Savings Bank deposits, to which reference was made last year, has now disappeared, and the net deposits, in spite of the agricultural depression in parts of India, have been materially better than expectation. Next year a further moderate increase is provided for.

215. The Revised shows an improvement over the original Estimate by about 5 lakhs from the sale of Postage Stamps. For next year a further rise of 12 lakhs would ordinarily have been anticipated under the same head, with about 1½ lakhs increase under Money Order fees; but the reduction of rates, as explained in paragraph 157, will swallow up the greater part of the improvement in receipts for which provision would otherwise have been made. The additional expenditure in 1907-1908 provides for revision of establishments and for an increase of about 6 lakhs in the cost of carrying mails, railway charges, and construction of new vans and vehicles.

216. The message revenue in the Indian Section has been somewhat better than expectation this year; but in the Indo-European Section it has not yet recovered from the reduction in the foreign tariff rates in 1905-1906. The increase of wire mileage has led to an unexpected improvement in the miscellaneous receipts from the rents of railway, canal and private lines.

217. The decline in capital expenditure in the Revised is due to short outlay on construction work in Persia and the Persian Gulf. For next year a normal figure has been taken, as the requirements for departmental lines are not expected to be as heavy as in the current year: the stores expenditure in England has been correspondingly reduced. The ordinary expenditure grows with the steady increase of traffic; provision is also made in the 1907-1908 Budget for customs compensation and increased rates of local allowances.

218. The current year has been one of extraordinary activity in the Mints. The rupee coinage has been the largest on record, and there has also been a very heavy outturn of small silver and bronze. The seignorage on the silver coinage has exceeded the Budget Estimate by about 23 lakhs, and the gain on the bronze coinage by about 8 lakhs. For next year it would be unsafe to calculate on a continuance of this heavy output, and a moderate figure has been taken. It includes 2 lakhs as probable gain on the new one-anna nickel coin; the approximate figure cannot be conjectured until the coin is issued. The excess expenditure in the current year is the result of extra establishment and overtime wages due to the very heavy work.

219. These figures have already been discussed in Sections II and III. Excesses over the current year's budget are mainly explained by about 2 lakhs on account of charges in connection with the State visit to Agra; 1½ lakhs in connection with the establishment of the Military Finance Department; increased judicial establishments in Eastern Bengal and Assam; compensation to minor employés for the dearness of grain; increased dietary charges for prisoners due to the same reason; about 3 lakhs of plague expenditure in Burma beyond the budget provision; and finally, the charges incidental to His Majesty the Amir's visit to India. The savings in this year's allotments are due to the grants for Police reforms, Education, Veterinary and Agricultural development not being fully utilized in most of the provinces. In the Budget for 1907-1908 a number of the abnormal items of the current year disappear: and the more important additional provisions are under Police, Education, Survey and Agriculture. Under the first of these heads, the general scheme of police reforms claims the bulk of the increase, being mainly financed by the 22½ lakhs of special grants from Imperial revenues. Education receives an addition of nearly 33 lakhs, of which 5 lakhs is a lump provision for Primary Education in Madras, and 2 lakhs for Primary Schools in Bombay City; the balance being spread pretty equally over all the provinces. The increase of about 3 lakhs in Survey charges includes the first instalment of expenditure under the scheme for reorganizing the Survey of India which is the result of the recommendations of the Survey Committee.

220. The excess over the current year's Budget provision under Miscellaneous is due mainly to the cost of the Excise, Telegraph and Assam Labour Committees. Under Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances in the English Estimates for 1907-1908, provision is made for the payment by the India Office of their privilege leave allowances to those officers who are on combined leave in England. These allowances have been taken in the past to the same heads as the salaries of the officers drawing them.

221. As has frequently been explained before, this fixed grant of 1½ crores is devoted, firstly, to actual Famine Relief; then, if not fully required for this purpose, to expenditure (not exceeding 75 lakhs) on Protective railways and irrigation works; and lastly, if any balance remains, to capital expenditure which would otherwise be met from loan funds. The cost of actual famine relief in the current year is expected to be about 8 lakhs in Bengal, nearly 19½ lakhs in the United Provinces, 12½ lakhs in Bombay, and 5 lakhs in Ajmer and Rajputana; the expenditure, except in Bengal, being considerably less than had been anticipated. For next year the only important provision is 8 lakhs in Bengal. Under Protective irrigation works the full allotment of the current year could not be spent, partly owing to the postponement of certain works and partly owing to scarcity of labour.

225. Even the very high estimate which was framed for the current year of direct receipts from irrigation has been exceeded: in the United Provinces by R19,17,000, in the Punjab by R11,85,000 and by smaller amounts elsewhere. In the United Provinces the acreage supplied with canal water during the rabi of 1905-1906 was the highest on record. In the Punjab there was a great development of irrigation from the Sirhind, Western Jumna, and Upper Bari Doab Canals. For next year, a reversion to more normal conditions is anticipated in both provinces. The improvement in the amount of land revenue credited to irrigation occurs mainly in Sind, and is the result of the extension of cultivation rendered possible by canal water.

226. The increase of Working Expenses during the current year is almost wholly in the Punjab, and is due to greater activity in pushing on important works and repairs. Next year's figure has been susceptible of a corresponding reduction; but provision is made for expenditure on the Shwebo Canal in Burma, which will be in operation next year. The interest charges rise with the growth of the capital expenditure on irrigation.

227. Under Minor Works the chief advance in the current year has been in the Punjab, mainly from an increased employment of the Lower Sutlej Inundation Canals, and in Bombay, chiefly from recoveries of arrears in the Satara district. The receipts for next year are taken at a more normal figure.

228. The Military Works expenditure in India was short of the estimate for the current year by reason of difficulties in carrying out the full programme of buildings consequent on Lord Kitchener's reorganization scheme. For next year, more rapid progress is expected; and the Department has also taken over certain charges connected with electric lighting and water-supply in barracks and cantonments which were formerly debited to the head Army.

229. Under Imperial Civil Works the chief excesses over budget provision have been in the purchase of land and buildings in Calcutta for the construction of a new Secretariat office, in a special grant for the Daly College at Indore, and for settlement buildings in Eastern Bengal. The larger provision for next year is partly due to the fact that Civil Works was formerly an entirely Provincial head in Burma, and that under the new settlement a provision has had to be made of 3,38 for Imperial Works in that province. Among other items which had to be considered in fixing the higher grant for next year may be mentioned a grant of 4 lakhs for the Daly College at Indore and of 5 lakhs for the new agricultural buildings at Pusa. The decrease in the charges to be incurred next year for Civil Works in England is mainly due to the closing of the Royal Indian Engineering College at Cooper's Hill.

Section V.—Capital Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation Works not charged to Revenue.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION.

Capital outlay on Railways in 1906-1907 and 1907-1908.

231. The expenditure on Railway Construction for which the Government of India undertakes financial responsibility or gives any direct guarantee is now estimated at R14,61,16,000 in 1906-1907. There was a lapse of about a crore of rupees from the amounts placed at the disposal of the Secretary of State and of some of the Railway Companies' Boards, but this lapse has, to a large extent, been counterbalanced by increased grants for expenditure in India.

232. For 1907-1908 the programme of capital outlay on Railway Construction has been placed at R13,50,00,000.

Distribution of expenditure proposed.

233. The distribution of the total expenditure on Railway Construction between State and Companies' agency in each of the three years from 1905-1906 to 1907-1908 is as follows:—

Total outlay on Railways including expenditure by Branch Line Companies and on Protective Lines, etc.

234. The figures in the above table do not include the expenditure on Protective Railways met from the Famine Insurance grant, nor of Branch Line Companies not in receipt of a direct guarantee. Including this expenditure, and also some small expenditure from Provincial and Local Revenues, the total outlay on Railway Construction in the three years is as follows:—

CONSTRUCTION OF PRODUCTIVE IRRIGATION WORKS.

236. The figures are:—

The decrease of R1,54,000 in the Revised Estimate as compared with the Budget Estimate is small and compares most favourably with the large lapses of several previous years under this important head. The Budget grant for 1907-1908 has again been fixed at R1,25,00,000.

Section VI.—Provincial Finance.

238. The system of quasi-permanent settlement described in paragraphs 211 to 213 of the Financial Statement of 1904-1905 has now been extended to Burma, which was the only province remaining to be brought under the new system. The new settlement will come into effect from 1st April 1907. In accordance with the precedent of the most recent settlements, Burma has been given a one-half share of the principal divisible heads of revenue, with the exception of Registration, which will be wholly Provincial. Under the expiring settlement, the shares were three-fourths under Stamps, one-third under Excise and one-half under all the other divided heads. The province also enjoyed a half share of the Salt Revenue, which has now been wholly imperialized as in other provinces. New settlement with Burma.

239. The Local Government receives a fixed assignment of R90,68,000 to cover the difference between its total revenue and its total expenditure. Furthermore, in order that it may start the settlement under favourable conditions and provide for non-recurring public works expenditure, it has been given an initial grant of 50 lakhs. Advantage has been taken of the new settlement to merge therein the special grants-in-aid to District Boards, and the grants for Police, Primary Education, Agricultural development, and European and Eurasian Education. Allowance has also been made for all further expenditure on police reform, so that the Province will not participate in the distribution of any fresh grant that may be made for this purpose in the future.

240. Some modifications of detail were introduced into the settlement made with Eastern Bengal and Assam. These had the effect of converting the fixed assignment of R0,23,000 (paragraph 221 of the last Financial Statement) from Provincial to Imperial into one of R60,000 from Imperial to Provincial. The special grants separately allowed for police reform and reorganisation of military police, which aggregated R4,25,000, have also been merged in the fixed assignment and have raised the latter to R4,85,000; but, as explained above, the real increase to the assignment amounted only to R6,83,000. Modification of Eastern Bengal and Assam Settlement.

241. In accordance with a promise originally made in 1904 the fixed assignment to Bengal has been increased by a sum of R1,67,000 on account of the reorganisation of the Provincial Service. A special assignment (non-recurring) of R2,23,000 has also been made to Bengal for certain expenditure incurred as a result of the partition in Assam but debited to the Eastern Bengal surplus for 1905-1906. Grant to Bengal for reorganisation of Provincial Service, etc.

242. As stated in paragraph 41 a further grant of 22½ lakhs will be made next year to ensure steady progress in the execution of the police reforms advocated by the Police Commission. This is in addition to the sum of nearly 8 lakhs allowed to Burma for the same purpose in the new settlement. It will be remembered that a recurring grant of 50 lakhs was made for this purpose in 1905-1906 and one of 25 lakhs in the current year. Some of the Local Governments, notably the United Provinces and the Punjab, have made steady progress with the reforms and have fully utilised the Imperial grants for the purpose for which they were given. Other Local Governments have not found it possible to push on their reforms at the same pace, and the consequence is that portions of the Imperial grants still remain in their balances. These sums will be available for expenditure when the reforms are ready for introduction; and the distribution of the lump grant for next year has accordingly been somewhat varied. In determining the allotments for each province, regard has been had not only to its requirements for next year, but to the unexpended portions of former grants which are now lying in its balances and can still be employed for their original purpose. The distribution of the grant for 1907-1908 is thus as follows:— Grants for Police Reform.

	R
Madras	1,00,000
Bombay	2,00,000
Bengal	4,00,000
Eastern Bengal and Assam	2,50,000

Central Provinces	1,00,000
Minor Provinces	1,50,000
	22,50,000

ribution of the it for opean Eurasian cation.

243. As stated in paragraph 224 of the last Financial Statement, out of the five lakhs grant for technical schools and European and Eurasian education, R2,54,000 intended for the former was distributed in the Budget Estimate of the current year, but the balance was not distributed among the several provinces at the time. The amount has since been allotted as follows; the amount falling to the share of Burma having been merged in the fixed assignment under the new settlement:—

	R
Madras	40,000
Bombay	35,000
Bengal	65,000
United Provinces	50,000
Punjab	27,000
Burma	12,000
Eastern Bengal and Assam	5,000
Central Provinces	12,000
TOTAL	2,46,000

The sum of R10,000 which, as mentioned in paragraph 224 of the last Financial Statement, was included in the Central Provinces allotment as a special grant for building has, with effect from 1907-1908, been transferred to the Punjab allotment for the establishment of a school at Sanawar for the training of European teachers.

ant to Bombay d United ovinces for mine penditure.

244. As stated in paragraph 57, Bombay and the United Provinces have received R12,32,000 and R28,35,000 respectively, on account of the Famine expenditure defrayed by them out of their Provincial revenues during the years 1905-1906 and 1906-1907. These Provinces were adversely affected by the Famine which, occurring soon after the conclusion of the new settlement, deprived them of the full benefit of their initial grants.

signments for ilding up ovincial serve for famine penditure.

245. As explained fully in Part I of the Financial Statement, some important alterations will be made with effect from next year in the method of dividing the burden of famine relief expenditure between the Imperial and Provincial Governments. The assignments noted below will be given annually to the Provincial Governments to enable them to build up a reserve of credit with the Government of India; to be drawn against when it becomes necessary for them to incur famine relief expenditure. The amounts of the assignments will be debited in the Provincial Section of the accounts to Reduction of Debt and a pro formâ account will be kept of the amounts thus accumulated year by year to the credit of each Government. When famine occurs, the expenditure incurred by the Local Government concerned on relief operations will be charged to Imperial revenues so long as the amount at credit of the Local Government is sufficient to cover it. After the credit has been exhausted, further expenditure will be divided between Imperial and the Provincial Government concerned in equal shares. If a famine should be so widespread as to reduce the Provincial balance below one-half of the prescribed minimum, the incidence of expenditure after that stage will have to be determined in each case. If famine occurs in any province during the next five years, before a sufficiently large reserve of credit has been accumulated, any expenditure incurred on relieving it will be treated as Imperial up to a limit equal to the accumulated credits for five years. In order also to prevent the possible accumulation of the credit for a Provincial Government to an unnecessarily high figure, the amounts noted below have been fixed as the maximum limits for these reserves. When the limit has been reached, the annual assignment and addition to the outstanding credit of a Local Government will cease until it has been reduced by expenditure on relief. Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam will not participate in these special arrangements, as they are provinces which have been subject to famine only to a very limited extent.

07. 2[illegible]. In the Budget Estimate of the current year, the net disbursements, exclusive of receipts from Council Bills and loans, were taken at £22,725,600, includ-
Remarks. ing £7[illegible]9,900 for the discharge of Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Debentures; and it was proposed to meet them by the sale of Council Bills for £[illegible]0,000, by the issue of £2,000,000 of India stock and by drawing to the extent of £2,925,600 on the opening cash balance of the year.

249. The results according to the Revised Estimate show considerable variations from this forecast. The Estimate of Council Bills was framed to meet the Secretary of State's own requirements only, though it was understood that additional bills would, as usual, be sold, if need be, to meet the demands of trade. The actual demand for Council Bills proved to be exceptionally high and it is now estimated that the amount of drawings this year will reach the record figure of £33,000,000, being £15,200,000 in excess of the Budget Estimate and £1,833,000 in excess of the drawings of last year. The additional funds thus obtained by the Secretary of State have been applied, to the extent of £11,817,500 (over and above the sum of £750,000 provided in the Budget Estimate), for the purchase of silver sent to this country for the coinage of rupees required to meet the additional Council Bills; and £3,500,000 have been placed in the currency reserve in London so as to set free a corresponding amount from the currency reserve in India to be withdrawn for replenishing the treasury balance in this country. The net result is an excess payment of £117,500 in England. The other important variations from the Budget forecast are: (1) the excess of expenditure over revenue is £165,900 less, mainly in consequence of the realisation of an extra amount on account of interest on the investment of the high cash balances of the year; (2) the capital outlay on State Railways and Irrigation Works is £923,900 less; (3) the payments to Railway Companies and those working purchased Railways for their capital outlay, after deducting their small receipts on account of transfer fees, are less by £732,000 and £48,000 respectively; and (4) a special receipt of £250,000 in England against a corresponding payment made in this country in gold. These improvements aggregate £2,119,800. On the other hand (1) fresh capital to the extent of £899,900 and £1,850,000 expected to be raised respectively by Railway Companies and those working purchased railways have not been received; (2) payments have been made to Railway Companies for discharge of debentures for £302,800 which were expected to be met from fresh capital that (as just mentioned) has not been raised; (3) the amount of gold withdrawn from the Currency chest against payments into the Currency chest in this country is £100,000 less; and (4) the net payments under Deposits, Advances and Miscellaneous remittances are £46,700 more. As already mentioned, the remittances to India in silver and through the Currency Department have also exceeded the amount of additional Council Bills drawn by £117,500. These deteriorations aggregate £3,316,900 and, if the total improvement £2,119,800 mentioned above be deducted from it, they give a net worseness of £1,197,100. The amount drawn upon the cash balances of the year is thus £4,122,700 against £2,925,600 taken in the Budget Estimate.

250. The details of the transactions under Capital raised and deposited by Railway Companies are as follows :— 1906-1907. Capital raised and deposited by Railway Companies.

Owing to stringency in the London money market no fresh capital was raised by any of the Companies. Debentures for £2,415,500 were renewed instead of being replaced by fresh capital, and debentures for £302,800 were discharged from funds supplied by the Secretary of State. There was a decrease in the withdrawals of most of the Companies for capital outlay, notably by the Bengal Nagpur and Madras Railway Companies. Failure to raise capital required for the discharge of debentures is not a matter of much consequence, as the Companies are almost always able to renew them. But the case of money required for capital outlay is different, as it means a larger drain on the Secretary of State's resources.

1906-1907. Remittance Account between England and India—Railway Transactions.

251. The Railway Companies whose transactions are dealt with above have separate capital deposit accounts in England, and funds raised and withdrawn by them in England are brought directly to account in the Home Treasury. There are, however, other Companies which work railways that are the property of the State. Advances are made to these Companies in England for the purchase of stores, and funds are sometimes raised by them and deposited with the Secretary of State: these deposits and advances, instead of being brought directly to account in England, are treated as remittances from or to India and are brought to account in this country. The details of the transactions during the current year are as follows:—

252. The Budget Estimate provided for a sterling loan of £2,000,000 for the discharge of Bombay, Baroda and Central India debentures to the extent of £749,900, and for advances to Railway Companies under 51 Vict., c. 5. The sterling loan was announced in May last, tenders being invited for £2,000,000 of 3 per cent India stock at a minimum rate of £94 10s. per cent. The total amount tendered was £4,369,000 and the average rate of accepted tenders was £94 16s. 5d., against the rate of £97 18s. 1d. obtained in the previous year. 1906-1907. Loans.

253. The Budget Estimates provide for a net disbursement of £22,476,700, exclusive of receipts from Council Bills and the issue of India stock, but taking into account a payment of £500,000 for the discharge of railway debentures which mature on 30th June 1907. The net disbursements are £248,900 less than the current year's Budget. This is the net result of the following variations,— The Budget Estimate of 1907-08.

259. The programme herein announced of the probable drawings on India, and of the transactions in connection with the Government Sterling Debt and the borrowings of Railway Companies, represents the present intentions of the Secretary of State. But in view of the varying conditions of Indian finance and of the London money market, no assurance can be given that this programme will be adhered to either in amount or in form. The Secretary of State reserves to himself the right to vary the programme to any extent that may be considered necessary during the course of the year. The estimate of Council drawings is for the amount necessary to provide for the Secretary of State's requirements, but additional bills will as usual be sold if needed to meet the demands of trade.

17. atures of Estimate.

261. In the Budget Estimate of 1906-1907, the cash balance in Indian Treasuries on 1st April 1906 was taken at 19,95 lakhs. It was estimated (1) that the net Imperial revenue in India would amount to 29,41 lakhs, (2) that the net deposits in Savings Banks and Provident Institutions would increase during the year by 91 lakhs, (3) that 2 lakhs would be available from the Famine Insurance Grant for the avoidance of debt, (4) that 1,50 lakhs of silver bullion would be received from England, and (5) that the remittances of Railway Companies and other miscellaneous remittance and deposit transactions would result in net credits in India of 3,31 and 21 lakhs, respectively. On the other hand, provision was made (1) for a net expenditure from Provincial balances of 1,62 lakhs, (2) for capital expenditure in India on Railways and Canals to the extent of 7,65 lakhs, (3) for 13 lakhs for the payment of the annual instalment towards the liquidation of the Gwalior Loan of 1887 and for the discharge of outstanding balances of old loans, (4) for a net payment of 68 lakhs on account of loans to Native States, cultivators, municipalities and other local bodies, (5) for a payment of 4,57 lakhs to the Currency Department as the equivalent of an amount to be withdrawn by the Secretary of State from his currency chest in aid of his treasury balances, and (6) for the payment of Council Bills to the extent of 26,70 lakhs. The payments mentioned aggregate 41,35 lakhs, and as the receipts amount to 35,36 lakhs only, there was a deficiency of 5,99 lakhs. It was proposed to meet this deficiency by a rupee loan of 4,50 lakhs and by drawing on the cash balances to the extent of 1,49 lakhs.

1906-1907. Main features of Revised Estimate.

262. The results according to the Revised Estimate show considerable variations from this forecast. The actual opening balance on 1st April 1906 fell short of the Estimate by 2,28 lakhs partly in consequence of larger payment of Council Bills and smaller receipts of silver from England towards the close of 1905-1906 than was allowed for in the Revised Estimates for that year, and partly as a result of the estimate of net receipts under deposit and miscellaneous remittance transactions having proved too sanguine. Council Bill payments are now expected to amount to 50 crores, or 23,30 lakhs more than the Budget Estimate. Capital expenditure in India on Railways and Irrigation works is expected to exceed the estimate by 2,11 lakhs owing to short expenditure in England on the purchase of stores. The payments on account of loans to cultivators, municipalities and other local bodies are expected to exceed the estimate by 25 lakhs, the net credits from remittances of Railway Companies are 7 lakhs less, while deposits and miscellaneous remittance transactions are expected to result in a net payment of 28 lakhs instead of a net receipt of 21 lakhs taken in the Budget Estimate. The deterioration from all these sources will amount to 28,50 lakhs. On the other hand, (1) the net Imperial revenue in India is now estimated at 29,84 lakhs, or 43 lakhs more than the Budget Estimate; (2) receipts from Savings Banks are 9 lakhs more; (3) Provincial balances will be increased by 92 lakhs instead of being drawn upon to the extent of 1,62 lakhs, thus yielding an improvement of 2,54 lakhs; (4) the amount available from the Famine Insurance Grant for the avoidance of debt will be 47 lakhs more; (5) the receipts of silver bullion from England will exceed the figure entered in the Budget Estimate by 17,57 lakhs; and (6) instead of a remittance of 4,57 lakhs from India to England through the Currency Department there will be a net remittance of 1,05 lakhs from England to India. The total improvements mentioned above amount to 26,72 lakhs and reduce the deterioration of 28,50 lakhs calculated above to one of 1,78 lakhs only; this accordingly is the amount by which the cash balance on 31st March 1907 is now expected to fall below the figure entered in the Budget Estimate for the current year.

1906-1907. Council Bills.

263. As mentioned already, the demand for Council Bills in the current year has again been exceptionally heavy, and the payments on this account in 1906-1907 are expected to exceed the payments in 1905-1906, which were themselves unusually high, by over two crores. To meet the very heavy telegraphic transfers drawn by the Secretary of State during December and the following months, a temporary loan of 3,80 lakhs, carrying interest at 3½ per cent, was taken from the silver branch of the Gold Standard Reserve; the whole loan will be repaid to the Reserve before 31st March 1907.

1906-1907. Rupee Loan.

264. In accordance with the intention expressed in paragraph 252 of the last Financial Statement, a 3½ per cent loan of 4½ crores was announced in July last. Tenders were opened on the 31st July and the result of the loan was as follows:—

Total amount tendered.	Amount accepted.	Average rate of accepted tenders.	Minimum rate accepted.
R	R	R a. p.	R a. p.
10,66,54,200	4,50,00,000	97 5 6·74	97 3 0

7-1908. in features of lget Estimate.

265 In 1907-1908, the net Imperial revenue in India is estimated at 27,84 lakhs. Savings Banks deposits are expected to yield a net receipt of 1,03 lakhs; 71 lakhs will be available from the Famine Insurance Grant for the avoidance of debt; the remittance transactions of Railway Companies are likely to result in a net credit in India of 3,89 lakhs; and 25 lakhs worth of the silver bullion purchased in England this year will be added to the treasury balances in India. On the other hand, provision has been made (1) for expenditure of 66 lakhs from Provincial balances; (2) for capital expenditure of 6,64 lakhs in India on Railways and Canals; (3) for payments of 13, 12, and 13 lakhs respectively in connection with the discharge of permanent debt, loans to cultivators, Native States, municipalities and other local bodies, and miscellaneous deposit and remittance transactions; and (4) for payment of Council Bills to the extent of 27,16 lakhs. The payments mentioned aggregate 34,84 lakhs, and as the receipts come to 33,72 lakhs, the net disbursements amount to 1,12 lakhs. It is also considered necessary to increase the cash balances in India which have been seriously reduced in the current year.

7-1908. v Rupee Loan.

266. It is accordingly intended to raise a new rupee loan of 3 crores in 1907-1908. With a loan of this amount the year is expected to close with a cash balance of 18½ crores. The announcement now made regarding the rupee loan is in accordance with the present intention; but full liberty is reserved, as usual, to vary the programme now announced to any extent that may be considered desirable.

6-1907 and 7-1908. t Office Savings nks, etc.

267. The following table gives details of the transactions of Savings Banks and Provident Funds during a series of years, and the estimated transactions for 1906-1907 and 1907-1908:—

A net deposit in the Post Office Savings Banks of 22½ lakhs apart from interest was assumed in the Budget Estimate of the current year. The transactions of the first ten months of the year have resulted in a net increase in the deposits of about 52 lakhs, but there is some indication that the withdrawals in the closing months of the year will be heavy and it is now estimated that, during the year 1906-1907 apart from interest, there will be a net increase of 28 lakhs only in the Post Office Savings Banks deposits and of 13 lakhs in those of the other institutions classed under this head.

In the Budget Estimate for 1907-1908, a total net deposit of 40 lakhs, apart from interest, is anticipated.

Section VIII.—Summary.

268. The principal features in this statement are the following :—

I.—The Accounts of 1905-1906 closed with a surplus of £2,091,854, being £336,154 more than the surplus expected in the Revised Estimates of that year.

II.—1906-1907—

(1) The Revised Estimates show a total revenue of £75,626,900, a total Expenditure charged to Revenue of £74,300,800 and a surplus of £1,326,100. This surplus is higher than that estimated in March last by £452,000.

(2) A reduction will be observed in the totals of both Revenue and Expenditure owing to an important change introduced this year in the manner of exhibiting the earnings and working expenses of State Railways. For the first time, the net receipts of Railways are shown under Revenue, the working expenses being deducted from the total earnings instead of being entered on the Expenditure side as hitherto.

(3) There has again been a large development of revenue under all the main heads except Salt, Customs and net receipts of Railways.

The average price obtained for Bengal opium was R1,391 per chest against R1,125 assumed in the Budget and the opium revenue has exceeded the Estimate by £776,600.

Land Revenue has yielded an increase of £135,300 and there are smaller increases under Stamps, Excise and Assessed Taxes.

Interest receipts show an improvement of £95,800 on account of the favourable rates obtained for temporary investment of a part of the cash balances in England ; Mint receipts have improved by £213,800 due to heavy coinage of rupees ; Exchange by £153,300 due to high rates obtained for Council Bills ; Miscellaneous by £148,000 due chiefly to the recovery of two instalments of the Tibet indemnity ; and Irrigation by £281,100 due to a great demand for water in the United Provinces and the Punjab.

The only important decreases have occurred under—

(a) Salt (£110,000), due to reduction in the duty which affects the last twelve days of the year and to the postponement of purchases by traders in anticipation of the reduction ;

(b) Customs (£157,100), due to a diminution of the imports of spirits and cotton manufactures and of the exports of rice ; and

(c) Net receipts of Railways (£46,100). Traffic receipts have expanded largely ; but the improvement has not been sufficient to cover the additional expenditure required for much needed renewal of permanent way and rolling stock.

(4) The large allotments made for Police reform, development of education and the expansion of the Agricultural Department have not been fully utilised, and there are savings of £71,700, £106,000 and £79,900 under Police, Education and Scientific and other Minor Departments, respectively.

Local Governments have also been unable to employ their full allotments under some other administrative heads, the more important savings being £51,700 under Land Revenue, and £122,400 under Civil Works.

Owing to improved agricultural conditions Famine Relief Expenditure is £226,500 less than the Estimate. There is a saving in Bombay of £196,200 and of smaller amounts in Rajputana, Madras and the Punjab; while there has been an outlay of £53,300, for which budget provision had not been made, in Bengal. The expenditure on the construction of Protective Irrigation Works is also £90,400 less, but as the total grant for Famine Relief and Insurance has been maintained at £1,000,000, the abovementioned savings have been charged under Reduction of Debt.

The allotment for Minor Irrigation Works has not been utilised in full and there is a saving of £107,200. Under Military Works the progress of special building operations in connection with the redistribution scheme has been slow; and a reconsideration of the armament required for port defences has delayed the utilization of the full grant for Special Defences. The savings under the two latter heads are £43,500 and £90,200.

Army expenditure is only £14,600 less than the estimate. Special expenditure is less by £177,300 while ordinary expenditure is more by £162,700, chiefly in consequence of high prices of food supplies, the concentration of troops at Agra and larger payments to the War Office.

High prices of food supplies have also increased the cost of dietary in Jails to the extent of £52,500, while charges under General Administration and Political have exceeded the estimates by £41,900 and £59,400, respectively, chiefly in consequence of the State visit to Agra and the Indian tour of His Majesty the Amir, who has not however drawn the arrears of his subsidy to the full extent of the Budget provision.

The charges under Stationery and Printing and Miscellaneous have exceeded the estimates by £63,600 and £54,800, respectively.

(5) Special grants aggregating £271,100 have been made to the Governments of the United Provinces and Bombay to cover expenditure incurred by them in 1905-1906 and 1906-1907 for famine relief. The Provincial settlement with Eastern Bengal and Assam has been modified and the fixed assignment increased by £45,500. An initial grant of £333,300 has been given to Burma to start the new settlement with that province which comes into effect next year.

(6) A 3½ per cent loan of four and a half crores of rupees was raised; India 3 per cent stock was issued in England for £2,000,000; and part of the latter loan was employed in discharging Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway debentures for £749,900.

(7) Owing to stringency in the London money market no fresh capital was raised by any of the Railway Companies, although the Budget Estimate had provided that they would raise new capital amounting to £2,750,000 for capital outlay. Debentures for £302,800 were discharged from funds supplied by the Secretary of State.

(8) The drawings of Council Bills in 1906-1907 are expected to amount to £33,000,000 as compared with £17,800,000 entered in the Budget. From the proceeds of the additional Council Bills sold during the year, silver to the value of £11,817,500 has been purchased and sent to India for coinage and £3,500,000 is being remitted to India through the Currency Department.

(9) The Gold Standard Reserve on 31st March 1907 stands at £16,813,900.

III.—1907-1908—

(1) The Budget Estimates of 1907-1908 show a total revenue of £75,012,800, a total expenditure charged to revenue of £74,238,100 and a surplus of £774,700.

(2) This surplus is obtained after providing for the following two important measures of fiscal relief and administrative improvement—

(a) Reduction of the salt duty to R1 a maund throughout the whole of India involving a sacrifice of revenue of £1,266,700.

(b) Reduction in postal charges to take effect from 1st October next. The letter weight by inland post carried for half an anna will be raised from ⅔ tola to 1 tola and that carried for one anna from 1½ tolas to 3 tolas. For foreign post, the letter weight carried within the Empire for one anna will be one ounce instead of half an ounce and for places outside the Empire, one ounce will be carried for 2½ annas and an additional 1½ annas will cover each ounce after the first. These reductions are estimated to cost £73,300 in the last six months of the year.

The total cost of these measures next year is thus estimated at £1,340,000. Under existing conditions the surplus would therefore have been £2,114,700.

(3) Compared with the Revised Estimates of the current year, Salt and Opium show decreases of £1,000,000 and £756,600. The quantity of Bengal opium to be sold has been taken at 4,400 chests in each of the first three months of the year and at 4,000 chests in each of the last nine months. The price has been taken at R1,250 per chest against an average of R1,391 obtained in the current year.

Other important variations in revenue are increases of £407,700 under Land Revenue including the portion due to Irrigation, £145,600 under Stamps, £301,000 under Excise, £288,400 under Customs, and £346,400 under Railway revenue.

There are decreases of £170,400 under Mint, the silver coinage of the current year having been unusually high; £127,700 under Major Works—Direct Receipts, and £60,000 under Exchange, the revenue of the current year under both heads being abnormally high; and £96,200 under Miscellaneous, the estimate under which for next year includes only the last instalment of the Tibet indemnity against two instalments realized in the current year.

The total Military Expenditure including Army, Military Works, Marine and Special Defences is £457,400 less. The special expenditure connected with the reorganisation and redistribution of the Army is to be spread over a longer period and the annual grant for it has been reduced from £2,166,600 to £1,666,600. The amount regranted next year for lapses on the current year's Budget is £316,700 including a special sum of £50,000 given for a new marine survey steamer, against £600,000 regranted in the current year's Budget out of lapses of the last year.

The only other appreciable decrease in expenditure is £112,000 under Opium due to smaller payments to cultivators in consequence of the unfavourable prospects of the 1906-1907 crop and the restriction of cultivation next year.

Civil Administration heads show a general increase, except Political under which there is a decrease of £78,500, due to the absence of the special charges connected with the Indian tour of His Majesty the Amir, counterbalanced by a larger provision on account of the arrears of his subsidy. The most important increases in this group are under Police £269,800, due to provision for further reforms; Education £219,400; Scientific and other Minor Departments £118,600; and General Administration £75,800.

The other important increases in expenditure are £151,100 under Land Revenue; £89,800 under Forests, which is nearly covered by increased receipts; £90,500 under Post Office which also would have been covered by increased receipts, but for the reduction in the rates; £70,000 under Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances due to the payment in England of privilege leave allowances to officers on combined leave, which would otherwise have been charged to the respective departments; £92,500 under Interest on capital deposited by Companies, being interest on the additional capital proposed to be raised by Railway Companies; £96,700 under Minor Irrigation Works, due to extension of programme in accordance with the recommendations of the Irrigation Commission; and Civil Works, £301,000 due to the good financial position of Local Governments and District Boards which has enabled them to enlarge their programme of expenditure under this head.

(4) A quasi-permanent settlement has been made with Burma. That province will get a half share of the principal revenue heads except Registration which will be wholly Provincial; while salt revenue, of which it hitherto received a half share, will be wholly Imperial, and Political Expenditure, which was hitherto Imperial, will be Provincial in future. The Provincial Government also receives in the current year a lump assignment of £333,300 to start the new settlement under favourable conditions.

(5) An important change takes effect next year in regard to the allocation of Famine Relief Expenditure between the Imperial and Provincial Governments. In future, annual assignments aggregating £250,000 will be made to Local Governments to enable them to build up a reserve of credit with the Government of India for meeting Famine Relief Expenditure. Burma and Eastern Bengal and Assam, however, will not participate in these special arrangements as they are subject to famine only to a limited extent.

A further assignment of £203,300 will be made to Local Governments next year for carrying out Police reforms. The total amount allotted between 1905-1906 and 1907-1908 amounts to £703,300 a year.

(6) Subject to the usual reservation, loans of £3½ millions in England and of 3 crores in India are announced. The loans are required for Capital Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation. Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway debentures for £500,000 will also be discharged out of the sterling loan.

(7) Subject to the usual reservations, provision is also made for the raising of Capital through Railway Companies as follows: namely for outlay on Companies' Railways £1,190,400, and for Expenditure on purchased Railways £2,650,000.

(8) Drawings of Council Bills are entered at £18,100,000.

APPENDIX II.

Memorandum by the Military Finance Secretary on Military Expenditure for the years 1906-1907 and 1907-1908.

This memorandum is concerned with the expenditure incurred in England and India under the four Budget heads "46—Army," "21—Marine" (Imperial), "44—Military Works," and "47—Special Defences." It also makes an approximate differentiation between "Special" and Ordinary military expenditure.

2. Special expenditure, as explained by the Hon'ble Financial Member in Part I of the Budget Statement, consists of outlay on—

(1) Measures connected with the carrying out of Lord Kitchener's scheme for the Reorganisation and Redistribution of the Army.

(2) Other special measures for the improvement of Military administration which had been initiated prior to the year 1904-1905. In this case, the further expenditure on such measures is treated as Special only to the extent that it exceeds the budget provision made in 1904-1905.

(3) All expenditure connected with the scheme for the rearmament and improvement of our coast and frontier defences.

(4) All other new measures which appreciably add to military expenditure. If the maximum cost of such a new measure, adding the full amount of recurring expenditure in any one year to the initial outlay, exceeds R20,000 (R50,000 in the case of buildings), the cost is debited to the Special expenditure grant.

The balance of military expenditure outside special outlay of these descriptions is classed as Ordinary.

1.—REVISED ESTIMATES OF 1906-1907.

A.—SPECIAL EXPENDITURE.

3. The following table shows the amount of Special expenditure—Home and Indian—under the Budget heads concerned, as provided for in the Budget of the current year and as now estimated:—

GRAND TOTAL	4,15,00,000	2,766,600	3,65,60,000	2,437,300

Special expenditure for 1906-1907 was fixed at 325 lakhs of rupees, (£2,166,600), as the ordinary grant of the year, with a further addition of 90 lakhs (£600,000) to make up for large lapses which had occurred in the previous year, largely owing to delay in the supply of Artillery and stocks of ammunition and other stores contracted for through the War Office. The amount which will be spent during the year is now estimated at about 365¼ lakhs (£2,437,300). The principal causes of this decrease of expenditure as compared with the Budget, which amounts to about 49⅜ lakhs (£329,300), are as follows.

4. Short expenditure under Special Defences, which is mainly concerned with the adequate protection of the principal Indian sea-ports, is due to the question of the nature of the guns which should be mounted for the protection of these ports having been reconsidered, and the consequent delay in carrying out the original programme.

5. The decrease under Military Works (India) is due to slower progress than was anticipated in carrying out the building operations consequent on Lord Kitchener's Redistribution scheme. The Home expenditure incurred, which was not provided for in the Budget, is due to the necessity for procuring stores which were not discriminated from the Indian outlay when the Budget was framed.

6. The small decrease under Marine calls for no special remarks.

7. The decrease under Army is due mainly to smaller expenditure than had been anticipated on the following important measures :—

(1) Reorganisation of horse and field batteries.

The original scheme was materially modified on the advice of the Army Council, and the Government of India are now awaiting a final decision on certain details. It thus became necessary to defer expenditure.

(2) Provision made for the purchase of land and new lines for Indian troops in connection with the Redistribution scheme.

(3) Purchase of reserve artillery ammunition in England.

(4) Increase in reserves of rifles.

The Ishapore Rifle Factory has not yet been able to turn out the local supply of rifles which was anticipated.

(5) Progress of artillery rearmament.

Here again, the Cossipore Factory, on which we rely for a local supply of guns, has not worked up to the anticipated output.

(6) Increase of Indian Army reserves, owing to the enrolment of additional reservists not having come up to anticipation.

8. On the other hand, failure to work up to the original programme in these and other matters has rendered it possible to undertake certain measures which had not been provided for in the current year's budget. The most important of these are :—

(1) Constitution of a new Chief of the Staff's Division at Army Head-Quarters.

The appointment of a Chief of the Staff, to assist the Commander-in-Chief in dealing with the questions of Army policy and the preparation of the Army for war, was sanctioned by the Secretary of State in connection with the constitution of the Army and Supply Departments. The larger portion of the establishment provided for this high officer has been obtained by transfer from the Divisions of the Adjutant-General and Quartermaster-General, while the additional outlay involved has been treated as Special expenditure.

(2) Supply of half the extra British personnel required for the existing and additional artillery ammunition columns.

The budget provision was only for matériel and horses.

(3) Concessions to the Native army in the shape of—

(a) Increase of kit money on enlistment.

(b) An annual grant for boots.

(c) Larger facilities for visiting their homes in the hot weather.

(4) Payment of bounties to time-expired British soldiers to induce them to continue their service in India.

Part of this expenditure will be borne by His Majesty's Government and the exact allocation is still under discussion. In the meantime the portion which India may have to pay has been debited to Special expenditure, and the amount which the Government of India count on getting recouped, to Ordinary.

9. Taking the principal results obtained from Special expenditure during the current year, the Government of India have, in addition to progress on Special Defences, and on the building and other outlay required in connection with the Redistribution scheme—

(1) Met the recurring expenditure involved in measures which had been previously brought to practical completion, such as the reorganisation and completion of transport, the reconstitution of certain regiments, and the re-equipment of field hospitals.

(2) Added 87 officers to the Indian army making a total addition of 257 since the 1st January 1906.

(3) Made satisfactory progress in the rearmament of horse and field batteries pertaining to the field army, a measure which will be brought to completion in 1907-1908.

(4) Made large progress in the provision of Small Arms Ammunition Columns.

(5) Considerably expanded the Ordnance factories at Cossipore and Ishapore, with the object of obtaining local production of guns, rifles and bayonets, and nearly completed the Gun Carriage factory at Jubbulpore. The Bombay arsenal is also in course of transfer to a more convenient site at Kirkee, and considerable progress has been made on the buildings there.

(6) Added to and improved Army dairies.

(7) Practically completed the new Staff College buildings at Quetta. The Indian Staff College, hitherto provisionally located at Deolali, will move to Quetta very shortly.

(8) Obtained a new vessel for the Indian Marine, the "Northbrook," to replace the "Canning" which is now past service and is to be sold.

(9) Provided for another Indian Marine vessel to replace the "Nancowry" which has been employed on Marine surveys. The contract provides for the delivery of this vessel at an early date in 1907-1908.

10. It may also be noted that the Supply and Transport Corps, which has hitherto been under His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and the Army Department in respect of Supply and Transport work, and under the Department of Military Supply in respect of Contracts and Registration, has now been placed entirely under the Commander-in-Chief and the Army Department; and the Corps is, at the same time, undergoing an economical reorganisation which will eventually reduce its cost as estimated for in the current year's Budget by about 2¾ lakhs per annum (£18,000).

B.—Ordinary Expenditure.

11. The following table exhibits Ordinary expenditure—Home and Indian—as provided for in the Budget of the current year and as now estimated :—

	Budget, 1906-1907.		Revised Estimate, 1906-1907.
	R	£	R	£

India	88,97,000	593,100	89,50,000	596,600
Total	93,53,000	623,500	95,57,000	637,100
Total under all heads—
Home	7,15,85,000	4,772,300	7,39,79,000	4,932,000
India	21,45,40,000	14,302,700	21,50,42,000	14,336,000
GRAND TOTAL	28,61,25,000	19,075,000	28,90,21,000	19,268,000

12. Marine charges are about 2½ lakhs (£17,000) in excess of the Budget owing to an increase of nearly 4 lakhs in Home outlay consequent on larger purchase of stores there, which is partially counterbalanced by a decrease of nearly 1½ lakhs in expenditure in India.

13. Ordinary Military Works expenditure is incurred against what is known as the fixed Military Works Grant. At the beginning of the current year this grant was fixed at about 93½ lakhs (£623,500), but has recently been raised to 95 lakhs (£633,300), as it was found that a reduction formerly made in respect of the transfer of up-keep of certain roads to Local Governments had been larger than the actual facts warranted. The actual expenditure will, it is anticipated, slightly exceed the grant owing to larger expenditure on stores in England.

14. Under Army, the Revised Home estimate charges show an increase of about 18½ lakhs (£123,000). This is due to increased trooping charges, additional furlough payments, and larger credits to the War Office on account of British troops serving in India, partly counteracted by smaller outlay on stores.

15. The Indian expenditure shows an increase of about 6 lakhs (£40,000), of which 4½ lakhs is due to expenditure on the concentration of troops at Agra, in connection with the visit of His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan, which had not been provided for in the Budget. This leaves a net increase of about 1½ lakhs. There has been a considerable increase of expenditure, amounting to 17 lakhs, under charges connected with food and compensation for dearness of food and forage, owing to prevalence of high prices. This, however, is partially counterbalanced by a net saving of 15½ lakhs, the resultant of a variety of increases and decreases as compared with the Budget. The principal decreases are, 5 lakhs on pay of British troops, owing to short strength (counterbalanced by 2 lakhs more on account of service pay and 2 lakhs for increased expenditure on clothing compensation), 3 lakhs under Native Army Reserve, 3·6 lakhs owing to smaller purchase of malt liquor, and 1·7 lakhs less expenditure on medical supplies. A decrease of 2·4 lakhs under the Aden Delimitation Commission, consequent on the demobilisation of the force at D'thala, is more than counterbalanced by an increase of 3 lakhs under the Tibet Mission owing to high prices of food supplies. There has also been an increase of about 2 lakhs under the pay of British officers owing to the savings consequent on absence on leave and otherwise having been over-estimated; and, as explained in paragraph 8, part of the amount spent on bounties to time-expired British soldiers has been debited to Ordinary expenditure.

16. The total Ordinary expenditure under all heads shows an increase of about 29 lakhs (£193,000) as compared with the Budget Estimate, of which about 2 lakhs occurs under Military Works, 2½ lakhs under Marine, and about 24½ lakhs (£163,000) under Army. The causes which have led to this increase have been explained above: it may be succinctly summarised as mainly due to—

(1) Increase in the Military Works fixed grant.
(2) Expenditure on the concentration of troops at Agra.
(3) Larger Home charges under Army and Marine.
(4) Additional outlay consequent on high prices of food and forage.

C.—TOTAL MILITARY EXPENDITURE, ORDINARY AND SPECIAL.

17. The following statement compares the total Military expenditure, i.e., Ordinary and Special taken together, as shown in the Budget and Revised Estimates of the current year :—

GRAND TOTAL .	32,76,25,000	21,841,600	32,55,81,000	21,705,300

18. The Revised Estimate shows a decrease of over 20 lakhs (£136,000), a lapse of about 49½ lakhs under Special expenditure having been partially counterbalanced by an increase in Ordinary charges, the reasons for which have been explained above.

D.—MILITARY RECEIPTS.

19. Certain receipts are credited under Army, Military Works, and Marine. These arise mainly from payments by His Majesty's Government against charges incurred on their account, rents of quarters, sales of stores, and recoveries on certain issues such as malt-liquor and rum, and in certain cases clothing, to soldiers.

20. The following table shows the total receipts of 1906-1907 as respectively taken in the Budget and in the Revised Estimate :—

	Budget, 1906-1907.		Revised Estimate, 1906-1907.
	R	£	R	£
Army	1,59,68,000	1,064,500	1,67,30,000	1,115,300
Marine . . .	21,45,000	143,000	19,16,000	127,700
Military Works . .	7,10,000	47,300	7,50,000	50,000
Total .	1,88,23,000	1,254,800	1,93,96,000	1,293,000

21. The increase in Army receipts is mainly due to credit taken for a refund agreed to by the War Office on account of pay of Native troops during furlough earned by service in China and Somaliland.

Marine receipts show some falling-off owing to smaller recoveries for hire of vessels, etc.

E.—NET MILITARY EXPENDITURE.

22. Deducting the receipts from the gross expenditure, the net military expenditure for 1906-1907 was taken at R30,88,02,000 (£20,586,800) in the Budget for the current year, and is now estimated at R30,61,85,000 (£20,412,300).

	GRAND TOTAL .	2,766,600	2,437,300	1,983,400

24. In the coming year, owing to the more favourable political situation and the reduction of revenue estimated under opium, the current special grant has been reduced from 325 lakhs (£2,166,600) to 250 lakhs (£1,666,700). To this is added 47½ lakhs (£316,700) on account of lapses during the current year, which includes a special provision of 7½ lakhs (£50,000) for a new vessel to replace the R.I.M.S. Investigator on Marine Survey work. We thus get a total provision of 297½ lakhs against 415 lakhs in the current year's Budget. The reduction fall mainly under army expenditure in connection with war matériel.

25. The following are the principal measures for which expenditure has been provided, outside progress under Special Defences, and on buildings, acquisition of land and outlay on lines in connection with the Redistribution scheme:—

(a) Measures already in progress:—

(1) The reorganisation of Horse and Field Batteries.
(2) The reorganisation of Ammunition Columns.
(3) Increase to the reserve of Artillery ammunition.
(4) Increase to the reserve of small arms ammunition.
(5) Increase to the reserve of rifles.
(6) Increase to the number of officers in the Indian Army.
(7) Increase to the reserve of the Indian Army.
(8) Extension of Army dairies.

(b) New measures:—

(1) The raising of two Indian Mountain Batteries.
(2) *The reorganisation of Mountain Artillery.
(3) *The partial reorganisation of the Heavy Artillery.
(4) Raising an additional Indian Cavalry regiment from a nucleus of two irregular squadrons.
(5) Supplying the field army with telephonic equipment.
(6) The electrification of the Harness and Saddlery factory at Cawnpore.
(7) *Modification of present pensionary conditions in the Indian Army.
(8) Provision of the new Indian Marine vessel referred to in paragraph 24.
(9) Provision of a new Indian Marine vessel to replace the Irrawaddy.

* These measures have not as yet been sanctioned by the Secretary of State.

27. As compared with the current year's Budget, Marine charges show a decrease of nearly 9 lakhs (£58,000). This is really due to an altered system of accounting, in connection with labour and local stores transactions incurred by the Marine Dockyards on behalf of His Majesty's Government or Local Governments in India. Formerly the full expenditure incurred on behalf of these authorities was debited in the Marine accounts as outlay and the corresponding recoveries credited as receipts. Hereafter such balancing charges disappear from both sides of the Marine accounts, the debit falling directly, by adjustment, on the employing authority.

28. As already explained in paragraph 13, the Military Works fixed grant was raised to 95 lakhs (£633,300) during the current year, and it has now been further raised by about 5 lakhs (£33,800), consequent on the transfer to the Military Works head of certain charges connected with punkah-pulling, electric lighting and water-supply in barracks and cantonments, hitherto debited to the head Army.

29. Army expenditure shows an increase of about 30½ lakhs (£204,000) as compared with the current year's Budget Estimate, of which about 11½ lakhs (£78,000) occurs at Home, and 19 lakhs (£126,000) in India. The increase in the Home figures is due to additional trooping charges, more furlough payments, and larger credits to the War Office on account of British troops serving in India, partially counterbalanced by smaller requirements as regards stores.

30. Of the increase in India, 1½ lakhs is due to a change in accounting. As already stated, the Army estimates have been relieved of certain barrack and cantonment charges aggregating 5 lakhs which are now debited to Military Works. On the other hand, charges in connection with Cantonment Magistrates to the extent of 6½ lakhs have been transferred from the Civil to the Army estimates, as Cantonment Magistrates are now under the administrative control of the Commander-in-Chief and the Army Department. Again, with reference to the experience of the current year as shown in the Revised Estimates, charges in connection with food and forage have been increased by about 18 lakhs. Less noticeable increases, which are in the aggregate counterbalanced by decreases under other items, are as follows :—Under service pay to British soldiers, 2 lakhs; for larger expenditure on the pay of regimental officers consequent on the experience of the current year—(vide paragraph 15, supra), 2 lakhs; on grass and dairy farms (largely covered by corresponding estimated receipts), 3¼ lakhs; on procurement of Remount and Ordnance mules owing to short purchases in previous years, 2 lakhs; local Ordnance stores, 2·7 lakhs; on placing of stock of tents and camp equipage generally in adequate condition, 2·3 lakhs; and on additional charges under the Tibet Mission and Gilgit Agency owing to food prices, nearly 3 lakhs. On the other hand, there are noticeable decreases under the Aden Delimitation Commission, 5·6 lakhs, owing to removal of troops from D'thala; and under the Army Bearer Corps, where reductions are being made, 2 lakhs. There is also a decrease of nearly 8 lakhs consequent on smaller purchase of malt liquor, but this is counterbalanced by decreased receipts. This is due to the fact that, after 1st January 1908, British regiments in Northern India, which have hitherto been supplied with beer through the Supply and Transport Corps, for consumption by soldiers on payment, will make their own arrangements for obtaining this.

31. Total Ordinary expenditure under all heads thus shows an increase of about 28½ lakhs (£189,000) as compared with the Budget of the current year.

C.—Total Expenditure, Ordinary plus Special.

33. The Budget for 1907-1908 shows a total decrease of about 89 lakhs (£594,000) as compared with the Budget for 1906-1907. There is a decrease of 117½ lakhs (£783,000) in Special expenditure, partly counterbalanced by an increase of nearly 28½ lakhs (£189,000) under Ordinary. The latter is accounted for by the increases in Army and Military Works charges explained above.

34. It may be noted that the principal sub-heads of Army Expenditure in India, known technically as "grants," are as follows in the order of their financial importance, the amounts provided under each for 1907-1908 being given to the nearest lakh of rupees :—

1. Regimental pay and allowances (Grant 3)	10,76
2. Supply and Transport (Grant 4)	4,91
3. Ordnance establishments, stores and camp equipment (Grant 10)	1,50
4. Pensions and other non-effective charges (Grants 16—20)	1,01
5. Medical establishments, supplies and services (Grant 9)	90
6. Army and Garrison staff (mainly the cost of establishments at Army Head-Quarters and of Commands, Divisions and Brigades) (Grant 1)	63
7. Remount and Veterinary establishments, supplies and services (Grant 5)	60
8. Clothing establishments, supplies and services (Grant 6)	33
9. Miscellaneous services (Grant 14)	28
10. Volunteer Corps (Grant 15)	26
11. Military Accounts Department, in which is also included the cost of the Military personal staff of the Viceroy, Provincial Governors and Lieutenant-Governors (Grant 2)	23

The existing system of distribution by grants is, however, not as satisfactory as it might be, as it does not bring out with sufficient clearness the administrative character of the expenditure involved: for example, Grant 4, Supply and Transport, includes a number of charges with which the Supply and Transport Corps has nothing to do. Measures are now being taken for revising the grants so as to make these correspond more clearly with the financial responsibilities of the spending departments and the Divisions of Army Head-Quarters.

D.—MILITARY RECEIPTS.

35. The following statements compare the receipts taken in the Budget of 1907-1908 with those of the Budget and Revised Estimates of the current year :—

	Budget, 1906-1907.	Revised, 1906-1907.	Budget, 1907-1908.

Military Works	47,300	50,000	48,800
TOTAL	1,254,800	1,293,000	1,181,000

36. As compared with the current year's budget, the only noticeable variation is under Marine, which shows a decrease of more than 11 lakhs (£74,000), due mainly to the change in accounting referred to in paragraph 27, supra.

E.—NET MILITARY EXPENDITURE.

37. The following figures show the aggregate net military expenditure under all heads estimated for in the current year as compared with the Budget and Revised Estimate figures for 1906-1907:—

APPENDIX III.

Memorandum by the Railway Board

ON THE

Results of Indian Railway Working 1906-1907 and Proposals for 1907-1908.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURE.

The capital expenditure during the year 1906-1907 will amount to R14,61,16,000 (£9,741,100) being nearly a crore in excess of the expenditure for the year 1905-1906.

2. The expenditure in 1905-1906 includes a sum of approximately 114½ lakhs advanced to the Delhi-Umballa-Kalka Railway Company for the construction of the Kalka-Simla railway, and adjusted against the head "48—State Railways, Construction" on purchase of the railway from the Company by Government. Excluding this special item, the increase over the expenditure in 1905-1906 will be nearly 2¼ crores.

3. For the year 1907-1908 these figures have been greatly reduced. The estimate provides for spending a sum of 13½ crores (£9,000,000), a reduction of 10 per cent. on the provision of last year.

4. Under the head of lines already open, including the provision for additional rolling stock, the amount expended in 1906-1907 will be 919¼ lakhs (£6,129,300), showing an advance of about 151 lakhs over the expenditure under the same head for the previous year. Under the same heads in 1907-1908 provision is made for 1,013¼ lakhs (£6,755,000), an increase of about 10 per cent.

5. A comparison showing capital expenditure for 1907-1908 and the previous five years is contained in the following statement: —

	Lines already open, including additional rolling stock.	Lines under construction.		Total.	Equivalent in sterling.

1907-1908 (proposed grants) .	10,13·24	3,36·76	...	13,50·00	9,000,000

6. The information showing in detail how the expenditure in 1906-1907 and 1907-1908 will be distributed is contained in statement A attached to this memorandum.

The programme for 1907-1908 as originally framed contemplated an outlay of R15 crores. Financial considerations, however, necessitated its reduction to R12 crores, for which figure it received Secretary of State's sanction. It was subsequently increased by R1½ crores and now stands at R13½ crores.

7. The mileage of lines of all gauges open to traffic on 1st April 1906 was 28,611 and under construction 2,534; on 1st April 1907 there will be 29,571 open and 2,535 under construction. At the end of the coming year there will be 1,703 miles under construction.

RAILWAY REVENUE ACCOUNT.

8. The Railways of India, taken as a whole, have for a succession of years shown a balance to the credit of general revenues, after allowing for working expenses, interest on capital expended, charges for annuities in redemption of capital and miscellaneous railway expenditure. The following table shows the approximate figures for 1906-1907 compared with the actual results for the previous five years :—

[Figures in rupees, omitting 000.]

Estimate—
1906-1907 . . .	39,71,89	19,14,29	17,33,96	3,23,64	2,157,800

* NOTE.—The figures to end of 1904-1905 include the Companies' shares of surplus profits, now shown under interest charges, etc.

Compared with the results of the previous year the figures for 1906-1907 show an improvement of R23,35,000 (£155,900). The receipts are more by 2,82,77,000 (£1,885,200), the working expenses are higher by R2,19,13,000 (£1,460,900), while interest charges, etc., have increased by R40,29,000 (£268,400).

GROSS RECEIPTS.

9. In 1905-1906 the gross receipts of railways showed a large improvement over those of the previous year consequent on the opening of new lines, development of passenger traffic on existing lines, and larger movements of food grains as a result of scarcity in Guzerat, Kathiawar, Central India and certain districts in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies. The improvement was general on all railways with the exception of the North Western railway, on which there was a falling-off of over 60 lakhs due mainly to short exports of wheat to Europe owing to the uncertainty as to the prospects of the wheat crops of 1906-1907.

10. In the current year while there has been a set-back in the earnings of the Great Indian Peninsula railway due to a falling-off in traffic in raw cotton, wheat and other grains, the earnings from other railways have continued to expand, notably under goods traffic of the East Indian railway, and in jute and grain traffic on the Eastern Bengal State railway, the latter being the result of scarcity in Eastern Bengal. The earnings of the Indian Midland railway also show a phenomenal increase due to large movements of food grains and other merchandise, while those of the North Western railway are expected to reach practically the same figures as were obtained in 1904-1905.

11. The more important increases are:—

	R
East Indian	38,69,000
Eastern Bengal State	40,01,000
Indian Midland	24,22,000
North Western	61,88,000

The principal decrease being:—

Great Indian Peninsula	19,22,000

WORKING EXPENSES.

12. The increase in working expenses during the year 1906-1907 is estimated to amount to R2,19,13,000 (£1,460,900). This increase to a large extent is due to increased traffic on certain lines of which the North-Western, Eastern Bengal State and Indian Midland railways are the most prominent examples.

These three lines will have earned more than a crore and a quarter of rupees (£833,300) in excess of their earnings during the previous year, and this increase in earnings necessitates increased working expenses.

13. That working expenses would tend to increase was indicated by the Railway Board in their memorandum of last year. The reasons that were given for their opinion apply now as when written a year ago.

14. Railways in India have now to run faster trains, provide better carriages, improve the conditions under which third class passengers are carried, introduce a more elaborate system of signalling, and generally conduct their business under more up-to-date methods than were in use in the past.

15. Some of these improvements will lead to increased revenue Some will not, but have to be provided to meet the public demands

16. The cost of many of these improvements being in the nature of renewals has to fall to a considerable extent on revenue.

17. During the period this raising of the standard is being carried out working expenses must rise, though in the end, under some items, more economical working should be secured.

18. To enable railways to carry the heavy traffic offering the permanent-way has to be improved and girders strengthened. Most lines now when making branches wish to use their light main line rails in these branches and renew the main line with heavier rails.

19. This is a sound business arrangement, but carrying out the policy indicated means that revenue has to renew before the rail itself is nearly worn out. The result is increased debits to revenue for a time, causing increased working expenses The Board hope that a practical solution may be found to meet this difficulty, so that working expenses may be steadied and not liable to unnecessary fluctuations.

NEW LINES TO BE CONSTRUCTED.

20. Owing to the reduction in the programme, the heavy demands on account of open lines, and the large mileage of lines at present under construction, no expenditure on new lines is proposed during the year 1907-1908.

OPEN LINE REQUIREMENTS.

21. The total amount allotted during 1907-1908 to open lines, viz., 1,013¼ lakhs (£6,755,000) out of a total for the year of 1,350 lakhs (£9,000,000), has been divided between general open line requirements and additional rolling stock requirements approximately as follows:—

		Lakhs. R
1907-1908	Open line requirements	445¼
	Rolling stock	568

This shows a decrease of 64 lakhs under open line requirements and an increase of 186 lakhs under rolling stock, in comparison with the provision made under these heads in 1906-1907, the figures for which were as follows :—

		Lakhs.
1906-1907	Open line requirements	509
	Rolling stock	382

ROLLING STOCK.

22. In their memorandum on the Budget last year, the Railway Board definitely stated that the then standard of equipment of Indian Railways in the matter of rolling stock was below the requirements. Acting on this opinion they made the very large provision of 382 lakhs, to be spent for rolling stock during the year 1906-1907, and this money has all been spent. The sum of 382 lakhs represents in sterling about 2½ million pounds and was ¾ of a million pounds sterling more than the allotment provided for 1905-1906.

23. For the ensuing year 1907-1908, they have made a provision of 568 lakhs or about 3¾ million sterling for rolling stock, which provision has met in full the demands of all railways for grants for rolling stock for that year.

This increased provision of rolling stock, coupled as it is with the necessity for providing additional sums for open line works, to enable the increased stock to be worked efficiently, has exhausted the funds at the Board's disposal, with the result that no new lines can be put in hand, until next year at the earliest.

24. The Railway Board are as fully aware, as the public are, of the urgent necessity for more rolling stock, and have consistently done as much as they were able, with the funds placed at their disposal.

COMMUNICATION BETWEEN PASSENGERS AND GUARD OF A TRAIN.

25. The provision of an effective means of communication between passengers and the guard being a matter that seriously affects the safety of the travelling public, orders were issued by the Railway Board for the adoption on all railways in India of the type of communication now in general use in England. The North Western, Oudh and Rohilkhand and Eastern Bengal State railways were instructed to at once provide this means of communication on new and rebuilt stock, and to fit the communication to the existing stock of all classes as rapidly as possible. The work of fitting the existing carriages of Companies' railways is, with certain exceptions, required to be completed within two years from the date of the order.

GENERAL.

26. In order to encourage imports into tracts suffering from fodder famine the administration of the North Western railway was instructed to help the movement of bhusa from the Punjab, and specially from the canal colonies, by quoting low rates. Rates were accordingly reduced by them, and the Oudh and Rohilkhand, East Indian, Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Jodhpur-Bikaner and Gwalior Light railways followed suit. These reductions resulted in great benefit to the famine-stricken tracts.

27. Attention is invited to statements B and C attached to this memorandum which contain information of interest.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 h., on Thursday, the 21st March 1907, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The depression from Persia which was entering north-west India on the 14th March, proved to be a very ill defined disturbance, and gave very little precipitation in north-west India, but it established low pressure conditions over the whole of northern India, and rainfall increased as these conditions extended eastward. Scattered rain occurred in the United Provinces and the Central Provinces on the 16th and 17th, and commenced falling in the western districts of north-east India on the 16th, steadily increasing in that division till on the 18th and 19th it was general over the whole of north-east India and Orissa. Weather was slightly unsettled in Burma from the 16th, and rain was reported from a few stations on that day and on the 17th, but as the disturbance in north-east India continued to extend eastward rainfall increased in Burma, and on the 18th and 19th occurred over a large part of the province. A low pressure area covering the east of the Deccan and the adjacent coast districts gave rain in the Circars from the 18th to the 20th, and a few falls also occurred in the south of the Peninsula. The last day of the week was marked by the appearance in north-west India of another depression from Persia, which unlike its predecessor was a well defined disturbance, and gave fairly widespread, though light, precipitation in Baluchistan, the Frontier Province, the Punjab hills and the submontane districts.

Burma.—Rain was reported from Tenasserim on the 15th and 16th, and extending northwards was fairly widespread in lower Burma on the 18th and over the greater part of the province on the 19th. It then decreased, and only a few light scattered falls occurred on the 20th and 21st. Cloud varied with the rainfall—skies being nearly clear on the 15th and moderately to thickly clouded on the 18th and 19th. Temperature was normal or in slight excess on the first four days of the week, but on the 19th the rain caused a rapid fall, and from that day to the 21st temperature was below normal everywhere.

North-east India and Orissa.—Weather was dry on the 15th, but on the 16th rain commenced in the western districts and spread eastward over the whole division, being most general on the 18th, after which it decreased, and on the 20th and 21st was confined to a few falls in Assam. The skies were more or less thickly clouded from the 16th to the 19th. Temperature was unusually low, more particularly on the 18th and 19th, when day temperatures were more than 20° in defect at several stations.

United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rain fell in parts of the United Provinces and in the east of the Central Provinces from the 16th to the 18th. Skies were clouded from the 15th to the 17th, and cloud again appeared in the northern district on the 21st. Temperature was below normal, and extremely low maxima were reported on the 17th from many stations in the United Provinces.

North-west India.—A few scattered falls of rain occurred on the 15th and 16th as the depression from Persia advanced across north-west India, but though weather was for some days slightly unsettled in the upper India hills, no more rain fell in other parts of the division till the last day of the week, when the fresh depression from Persia gave light precipitation in Baluchistan, the west Himalayas and the submontane districts of upper India. Skies were clear or only lightly clouded from the 16th to the 19th and more or less heavily overcast on the 15th, 20th and 21st. Temperature was steadily below normal throughout the week, except on the 20th and 21st in Baluchistan and the adjacent districts, where temperature had risen and was normal or in excess.

The Peninsula.—Weather was dry during the first three days of the week, but from the 18th to the 21st a few scattered falls of rain were reported—chiefly associated with thunder storms. Skies were generally clear, except in the eastern and southern districts. Temperature was nearly normal, except for a defect in the northern districts on the 18th and 19th.

The rainfall of the past week has added considerably to the total seasonal rainfall in Burma, Bihar and Chota Nagpur, where it is now more than a hundred per cent. in excess of the normal. The only area in the whole Indian region where rainfall is still as much as twenty per cent. is defect in the subdivision of Ahmedabad. Here, however, the normal rainfall is very small, and the actual deficiency is only five cents. The excess is largest in amount in the Simla subdivision where it is nearly seven inches.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts of the week, as reported at 8 h., each day:

March 15th, Hyderabad (Sind) 0·24″.
" 16th, Tavoy 1·02″.
" 17th, Hazaribagh 1·22″, Ranchi 2·09″, Muktesar 1·20″ and Pendra 2·55″.

SIMLA;
The 21st March 1907.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA,

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 16th March 1907.

Burma.—Tavoy received nearly two inches of rain, Thaton one and a half inches, Mergui half an inch, Myitkyina 30 cents, Akyab 15 cents, Bhamo and Katha 6 cents each, and Tharrawaddy 5 cents. The standing crops in Upper Burma are in good condition except in Mandalay where the condition of dry weather paddy and miscellaneous crops is on the whole fair but the want of rain is badly felt. The price of paddy has risen largely in Prome and slightly in six districts; it has fallen largely in the Southern Shan States and slightly in Amherst; the changes elsewhere are unimportant.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain has fallen in all districts benefiting the standing crops. More rain is wanted in Faridpur and Chittagong. The prospects of tea are favourable, the leaf growing well in Lakhimpur. The prospects of transplanted rice and other standing crops are fair to good. Sowing of jute and rice are in progress. The harvesting of mustard, the pruning of tea and the pressing of sugarcane are nearly finished. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 17; Chittagong $9\frac{1}{2}$; Comilla $9\frac{7}{16}$; Pabna $9\frac{3}{8}$; Silchar 9 to $9\frac{1}{4}$; Dacca, Mymensingh and Kohima 9; Faridpur 7 to 9; Rangamati and Malda $8\frac{3}{4}$; Dinajpur $8\frac{11}{16}$; Rampur Boalia aud Bogra $8\frac{1}{4}$; Sylhet, Dhubri, Gauhati, Tezpur, Nowgong and Dibrugarh 8; Barisal $7\frac{3}{4}$; Jalpaiguri $7\frac{1}{2}$; Noakhali and Rangpur 7; Tura 6 to 7 and Shillong and Aijal 6 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in three, fallen in five and remain stationary in the remaining districts. Five hundred and thirty-eight persons received gratuitous relief in Sylhet.

Bengal—Rain fell generally throughout the province during the week. In Bankura, Hooghly, Jessore, Angul, Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Manbhum and Singhbhum it was fairly heavy. In the rest of the province it was light. The recent rain, which was accompanied with hail in places, has done some damage to those spring crops that were ready to be harvested. Such damage is reported from Hooghly, Patna, Shahabad, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau. The number of persons on test-works is—Champaran 105, Muzaffarpur 17 and Darbhanga 1,530. In Darbhanga the number on gratuitous relief is 11,416 and on relief works 19,309. Fodder and water are reported sufficient, except in parts of Jessore. The price of common rice has risen in four, fallen in five districts and has remained stationary in the rest of the province.

United Provinces.—Light rain fell throughout the province accompanied by hail in places which caused some damage to standing crops. The damage done was most serious in parts of the Bareilly district; injury to some extent is also reported in places owing to cloudy weather and rain, and generally clear weather is needed. Harvesting continues; sowing of extra crops and sugarcane is in progress; and opium is being collected. Markets are well supplied but fodder is still scarce in Sitapur and Rae Bareli. Prices continue to fall.

The weekly report on the scarcity is as follows:—Relief operations are coming to a close in Gorakhpur. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Supplies and fodder are sufficient and prices are stationary. Numbers on relief are:—on works 3; in poorhouses 133; total 136.

Punjab.—Good to light rain has fallen in all districts except Ferozepore and Amritsar. The prices of food grains are slightly rising in Sialkot, are falling in Jullundur, Ferozepore, Shahpur, Rawalpindi and Lyallpur, and remain unchanged elsewhere. Harvesting of the rapeseed crop is in progress in Rohtak, Gurgaon and Amritsar. The barley crop is being reaped in Gurgaon. Sowings of extra spring crops continue. Ploughings for and sowings of autumn crops are going on in some districts. The condition and prospects of standing crops are generally good. The outturn of rapeseed in parts of Amritsar has decreased owing to rain. The poppy crop is average in Lahore. Crops have been slightly damaged by hail in parts of Gurgaon and Mianwali; locusts are damaging crops in Lyallpur and parts of Shahpur and have laid eggs in Mianwali; destructive measures are being taken. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient. There are no complaints regarding the water supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain averaging from 11 cents in Peshawar to 41 cents in Bannu fell all over the province and was beneficial to crops. The standing crops are in excellent condition. Warm weather is much needed everywhere. The gram crop has been slightly damped by the recent cold in Bannu and the destruction of locusts continues in the Bannu and Dekhan districts. In the former district some 226 maunds of eggs have been destroyed. The pressing of sugarcane is still in progress. The sowings of the extra spring crops continue. Water supply is ample and fodder is sufficient. The condition of cattle is generally good. Prices :—wheat 16 to 20¼; gram $18\frac{3}{16}$ to 28; maize 22¼ to 31½ and bajra 21½ to 24 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was slight rain during the week in certain tehsils. Prices are stationary. Prices :—wheat 10 to 22 and maize 11 to 36 seers per rupee. The condition of the standing crops is good. Fodder is sufficient save in the Kishtwar tehsil where it is scarce. Land is being prepared for autumn sowings in some parts of the province.

Kashmir.—The weather is bright. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—There were showers in Jaisalmer, Sirohi, Jhalrapatan, Alwar, Karauli and Bharatpur during the week; the maximum average fall being forty-five cents in Jaisalmer. Agricultural operations are satisfactory and harvesting has commenced in the hilly tracts of Mewar, Partabgarh, Bundi and Jhalawar. Spring sowing continues in Bharatpur. Prices are falling in Kotah and Jhalawar, rising in Bharatpur and are nearly steady elsewhere. They are still high in places.

Central India.—No rain. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress. The standing crops and probable outturn are fair in Bhopal and good in all other agencies. Agricultural stock and pasturage are good except in parts of Indore and Bhopawar. Prices are falling in Bundelkhand and in parts of Malwa and are stationary elsewhere. Opium has been damaged by hail in Gwalior and in parts of Malwa; collection continues.

Central Provinces.—Rain was received in eight districts amounting to 1½ inches in Bilaspur and nearly an inch in Mandla. Light showers fell in the other districts accompanied in Balaghat by hail. The harvesting of spring crops is almost completed in Nimar, Akola and Buldana and is in progress elsewhere. The standing crops have been slightly damaged by hail in the Baihar tehsil of the Balaghat district and by rain and cloudy weather in Raipur. Rust is reported from Saugor, Jubbulpore and Mandla. Sugarcane pressing and planting are nearing completion in Betul and Bhandara and continue in the Brahmapuri tehsil of the Chanda district. Preparation of land for the sowing of the autumn crops is in progress in Seoni, Chhindwara, Wardha, Nagpur, Chhattisgarh and Berar. Prospects are generally good. Fodder and water are adequate. The cost of rice rose by 2 seers in Bilaspur; elsewhere prices are fairly steady with a tendency to fall but are equal to or exceed the scarcity level in Balaghat, Wardha, Chanda, Bilaspur and Amraoti.

Native States :—Udaipur received 2½ inches of rain and Kawardha 1 inch accompanied by hail. The falls in Raigarh, Chhaikhadan, Sakti, Sarangarh and Kankar ranged from 75 to 6 cents. Harvesting of spring crops and threshing and winnowing are in full swing. Udaipur expects a full outturn of wheat, tobacco and barley. Fodder and water are sufficient. Wheat became cheaper by 2 seers in Kawardha and Rajnandgaon.

Bombay.—Rain fell during the week in parts of Sind and Bijapur. It was beneficial in Karachi and Larkana. Standing crops are in good condition except for slight damage by rain in Hyderabad and Thar and Parkar; and by rats and insects in the Panch Mahals and blight in Dharwar. Harvesting of spring crops generally continues and threshing is in progress in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, the Deccan and Mahi Kantha. Cotton picking continues in parts of Gujrat, West Khandesh, the Karnatak, Baroda, Rewa Kantha and Cutch. Preparation of lands for next season is progressing in Karachi, the Konkan, Deccan, Dharwar and Cutch. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Nasik, Sholapur and Satara. Water for irrigation purposes is adequate except in parts of Thar and Parkar, Nasik, Poona, Sholapur and Bijapur. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Bijapur and Cutch. The fodder supply is sufficient. The quantity of food grains purchasable per rupee is normal to 28 per cent. below. Labourers get sufficient field employment in harvesting and threshing, cutting of spring crops, crushing of sugarcane and picking cotton.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. The total from 1st January is 1 inch 38 cents. The spring harvest continues. Late rice is being weeded and the crop is in fair to good condition. Lands are being prepared for monsoon sowings. Prices :—wheat 7½; coarse rice 7½; and juar 15½ seers per rupee.

Mysore.—Prices of food grains have risen in Kolar and Chittaldrug and are steady elsewhere. The standing crops are in good condition. The prospects of the season are good. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Prices of food grains are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—There was light rain in Ganjam, Coimbatore, Madura, Tinnevelly, the Vizagapatam littoral, Salem, Tanjore and Malabar, but none elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of Vizagapatam, Godavari, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, Salem and Madura. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair, but some in parts of Bellary are poor and some in parts of Madura are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of the Circars, the Deccan, Salem and South Canara. Fodder is scanty in parts of Madura. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in twelve districts, has fallen in three and has slightly risen in eight. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—ragi is stationary in ten districts, has fallen in three and has slightly risen in eight. Cholam is stationary in four districts, has fallen in three and has slightly risen in seven. Cumbu is stationary in six districts, has fallen in one and has slightly risen in eight.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

EDUCATION.

Nos. 221—238.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Home Department under date Calcutta, the 19th March 1907.

ASSISTANCE TO EUROPEAN AND EURASIAN SCHOLARS IN INDIA TO PROSECUTE THEIR STUDIES BEYOND THE STANDARD OF HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION.

RESOLUTION.

THE Government of India have recently had under consideration the question of affording assistance to European and Eurasian scholars in India who may desire to prosecute their studies beyond the standard of high school education. The need of domiciled Europeans and Eurasians for separate school education is already recognized and provided for, but if, after completing their school course, students of these classes wish for a University education, they have to adapt themselves as best they can to the Indian University system, which is primarily intended for the benefit of natives of this country, and to which the existing scheme of European education in India does not lead up. Moreover, on general grounds the Government of India think it desirable to give some inducement to Europeans and Eurasians in India to pursue their studies up to a high standard and to offer them some prizes to look forward to in their own line of education.

2. After consulting local Governments on the question, the Government of India have now obtained the sanction of the Secretary of State to the grant of one scholarship annually, tenable at an English University, for members of the domiciled European and Eurasian community in India, on the understanding that candidates belonging to these classes will no longer be regarded as eligible for the two University state scholarships at present granted to natives of India. The Governor General in Council is accordingly pleased to announce that the scholarship will be granted on the following terms and conditions.

3. One scholarship of the value of £200 a year, the cost of which will be defrayed from Imperial revenues, will be awarded annually to a European or Eurasian candidate who is a native of India within the meaning of Statute 33 Vict., Cap. 3, section 6, and whose parents are not resident in India for temporary purposes only.

The following procedure will be observed in the selection of candidates for the scholarship:—

(i) Each local Government will be invited to nominate annually a candidate who has been for the preceding two years a pupil of a recognized school or college in India and who has passed the European High School examination or who is a graduate of one of the Indian Universities. The candidate must be not more than 22 years of age, of good physique and active habits, and must produce medical evidence of good health. Nominations should be submitted by the 31st March of each year, but as a special case the date up to which the recommendations of local Governments will be received during the current year is extended to the 1st June.

(ii) The Government of India will select from among the candidates nominated by local Governments the one who appears to them to be best fitted to hold the scholarship. In making the selection due regard will be paid to the claims of each province to participate in its turn in the scheme.

4. The scholarship will entitle the holder to an allowance not exceeding £200 per annum payable from the date of his arrival in England, and will be tenable for three or four years, as circumstances may require, at any University in the United Kingdom or, with the special sanction of the Government of India, at a foreign University. The candidate to whom the scholarship is awarded will be required to proceed to England within a reasonable period from the date of his selection, and to reside there for a period of three or four years, as the case may be, unless compelled to return sooner by ill health. He will be provided with a free second class passage to England and also with a free return passage if he completes the full period of residence or is compelled by sickness to return within that period.

5. The scholar will, on arrival in England, be required to bind himself by a written engagement to submit to the following rules and to such other regulations as may from time to time be framed by His Majesty's Secretary of State for the guidance of scholars in England :—

(a) Every scholar shall, on reaching England, at once present himself to the Secretary, Judicial and Public Department, at the India Office, and report his arrival in writing.

(b) Every scholar shall, without any unnecessary delay, inform the Secretary of State to which University or College he is about to proceed, and shall at once take steps to enter himself thereat.

(c) Every scholar shall, at the end of each term of residence at a University, submit to the Secretary of State a certificate from the proper University or College authority, showing that his residence, conduct and progress in study have been satisfactory during the term.

(d) Every scholar shall at all times obey such instructions as he may receive from the Secretary of State.

(e) Subject to a due compliance with the above conditions, the allowance, at the rate of £200 a year for three years, or four years, if so determined, will be paid quarterly, in advance, by the India Office, commencing from the date of the scholar's reporting his arrival in England.

(f) Every scholar will forfeit his scholarship who, not being disabled by illness or prevented by any other cause which the Secretary of State may consider sufficient, fails to complete the required terms of residence at a University or who is guilty of misconduct, persistent idleness or disregard of the orders of the Secretary of State. If the scholarship be forfeited, the scholar will lose his claim to a free return passage to India, and will further become liable to refund the cost of his free passage to England.

(g) The scholar will be under the supervision and charge of the Political A. D. C. to the Secretary of State through whom the necessary orders will be given, and to whom all reports and other communications respecting him should be sent.

Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the supplement to the Gazette of India.

Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTICES.

All communications relating to applications for leave to file specifications and for registration of designs under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), or in continuation of such applications, should be addressed to the Patents Secretary, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, will in future be open for the transaction of business from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. on all days, except Sundays and gazetted holidays.

The Government of India are advised that, as trade marks are not "designs" within the meaning of the Act, they cannot be registered under Part II.

The fees payable under the fourth and sixth schedules are now collected in cash and applicants are warned that they must be responsible for any delay in cashing cheques.

Cheques and money orders will only be accepted if made payable at Calcutta to the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act.

Copies of the weekly notifications, and of the quarterly lists, of applications and specifications filed in the Secretary's Office are now on sale to the public at one anna and eight annas a copy, respectively. Consolidated indexes for 1905 and for 1906, entitled "Inventions and Designs," are also on sale, price one rupee each. They contain a chronological list, subject-matter and name indexes of exclusive privileges for inventions, which have been obtained or applied for in the year, together with lists of designs applications.

Attention is requested to the rules made by the Government on the 10th October 1895 in regard to the preparation of applications, specifications and drawings.

All applications made under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888, will from this date (December 19th, 1896) lie in the visitors' room of the Patents Office for ten days from the date of the Gazette of India in which their filing may have been notified: or, if the 10th day is a holiday, till the evening of the office day next following.

At the time of delivering or sending an application for leave to file a specification, the applicant shall cause a duplicate copy of the application to be delivered or sent therewith to the Secretary.

The Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888), with the notifications and rules issued under its provisions and the notices of the office of Inventions and Designs, to which is added an explanatory memorandum for the guidance of persons applying for protection of Inventions and Designs. Royal 8vo volumes, paper cover, 13 annas or 1*s.* 1*d.* Postage extra. To be had of the Superintendent, Government Printing, 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, or of the Superintendent, Patents Branch, Department of Commerce and Industry, 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta.

H. G. GRAVES,
Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, V of 1888.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Peshawar, the 20th March 1907.

No. 23.—Captain H. M. Cruddas, I.M.S., assumed charge of the Civil Medical duties of the Mardan Sub-Division, on the forenoon of the 14th of March 1907, relieving Captain W. W. Jeudwine, I.M.S.

The 21st March 1907.

No. 24.—The following drafts of rules which the Chief Commissioner proposes to make in exercise of the powers conferred on him by sections 2 and 4 of the Poisons Act, 1904 (No. 1 of 1904), are hereby published for general information.

Any objection or suggestion which may be received from any person within six weeks of the date of issue of this notification will receive consideration:—

Draft Rules under section 2 of the Poisons Act, 1904, applicable to Municipalities and Cantonments only.

I. The following poisons shall be deemed to be poisons for the purposes of these rules:—

Aconite, Nux Vomica, Perchloride of Mercury (Corrosive Sublimate), Cyanide of Potash, and Stramonium (Dathura) and any mixtures containing such poisons.

II. No person shall possess any poison specified in rule I for sale by retail except under a license granted in this behalf by the District Magistrate and no persons not possessing any such license shall sell any such poison by retail.

III. The grant or withdrawal of a license to any applicant shall be at the discretion of the District Magistrate whose decision thereon shall be final.

IV. A fee of Re. 1 shall be charged for each license granted under rule III and shall be paid before the grant of such license. The license shall be inscribed on a non-judicial impressed stamped paper of the appropriate value. Provided that no fee shall be charged to any person already licensed to possess white arsenic for sale under the rules framed under section 4 of the Act.

V. A license shall terminate on the death of the license-holder.

VI. The District Magistrate may for any sufficient cause revoke or cancel any license granted under rule III.

VII. A license-holder shall effect every sale of poison in person.

VIII. A license-holder shall not sell any poison to any person unless the latter is personally known to him, or identified to his satisfaction. He shall not sell any poison to any person who appears to him to be under the age of 18 or to any person who does not appear to him to be in full possession of his faculties or to any wandering mendicant.

IX. A license-holder shall not sell any poison of a quantity exceeding one ounce at any one time and to any one person.

X. A license-holder shall maintain a register in which he shall enter all sales of poison. The following particulars shall be entered in such register in respect of each sale, viz. :—

(a) Name of poison.
(b) Quantity sold.
(c) Date of sale.
(d) Name of purchaser.
(e) Address of purchaser.
(f) Purpose for which the poison is stated to be required.
(g) Signature of purchaser (or where purchaser is illiterate, his thumb-mark).
(h) Signature of vendor.

XI. A license-holder shall maintain in respect of each poison specified in rule I a stock register which shall contain the following particulars :—

(a) Serial number.
(b) Date.
(c) Amount received.
(d) Name and address of person from whom received.
(e) Amount sold.
(f) Balance in stock.
(g) Remarks.

XII. Any Magistrate or Police officer of or above the rank of Sub-Inspector, any Revenue officer of or above the rank of Naib-Tahsildar, or any Medical officer of or above the rank of Hospital Assistant, may at any time visit and inspect the premises of a license-holder where poison is kept for sale and may inspect all poisons found therein and the registers maintained under rules X and XI.

XIII. All poisons specified in rule I shall be kept in a separate locked almirah or box which shall have the word 'poison' in English and Vernacular painted on it in red letters. Each small receptacle within such almirah or box shall be marked in paint with the name of the poison contained in it and shall also have the word 'poison' in English and Vernacular painted upon it in red letters.

XIV. No poison shall be kept otherwise than in securely closed receptacles of glass, tin or earthenware.

XV. When any poison is sold, it shall be securely packed in a packet and every packet, sold shall be labelled by the vendor with a red label bearing the name of the poison in the Vernacular and the number and date of the entry in the register of sales.

Draft rules under Section 4 of the Poisons Act, 1904, regulating the possession for sale and the sale of white arsenic.

I. For the purposes of these rules the expression "white arsenic" includes every substance in which there is free arsenious oxide.

II. No person shall possess white arsenic for retail sale except under a license granted in this behalf by the District Magistrate and no person not possessing any such license shall sell any white arsenic by retail.

III. The grant or withdrawal of a license to any applicant shall be at the discretion of the District Magistrate whose decision thereon shall be final.

IV. A fee of Re. 1 shall be charged for each license granted under rule III and shall be paid before the grant of such license. The license shall be inscribed on a non-judicial impressed stamped paper of the appropriate value: Provided that no fee shall be charged to any person already licensed to possess poisons for sale under the rules framed under section 2 of the Act.

V. A license shall terminate on the death of the license-holder.

VI. The District Magistrate may for any sufficient cause revoke or cancel any license granted under rule III.

VII. A license-holder shall effect every sale of white arsenic in person.

VIII. A license-holder shall not sell any white arsenic to any person unless the latter is personally known to him, or identified to his satisfaction. He shall not sell any white arsenic to any person who appears to him to be under the age of 18 or to any person who does not appear to him to be in full possession of his faculties, or to any wandering mendicant.

IX. A license-holder shall not sell white arsenic in a quantity exceeding one ounce at any one time and to any one person.

X. A license-holder shall maintain a register in which he shall enter all sales of white arsenic. The following particulars shall be entered in such register in respect of each sale, viz. :—

(a) Name of poison.
(b) Quantity sold.
(c) Date of sale.
(d) Name of purchaser.
(e) Address of purchaser.
(f) Purpose for which the white arsenic is stated to be required.
(g) Signature of purchaser (or where the purchaser is illiterate, his thumb-mark).
(h) Signature of vendor.

XI. A license-holder shall maintain a stock register which shall contain the following particulars :—

(a) Serial number.
(b) Date.
(c) Amount received.
(d) Name and address of person from whom received.
(e) Amount sold.
(f) Balance in stock.
(g) Remarks.

XII. Any Magistrate, any Police officer of or above the rank of Sub-Inspector, any Revenue officer of or above the rank of Naib Tahsildar, or any Medical officer of or above the rank of Hospital Assistant, may at any time visit and inspect the premises of a license-holder where white arsenic is kept for sale and may inspect the stock found therein and the registers.

XIII. White arsenic shall be kept in a separate locked almirah or box which shall have the word "poison" in English and Vernacular painted on it in red letters. Each small receptacle within such almirah or box shall be marked in paint with the name of the poison contained in it and shall also have the word "poison" in English and Vernacular painted upon it in red letters.

XIV. No white arsenic shall be kept otherwise than in securely closed receptacles of glass, tin or earthenware.

XV. When any white arsenic is sold it shall be securely packed in a packet and every packet sold shall be labelled by the vendor with a red label bearing the name of the poison in the Vernacular and the number and date of the entry in the register of sales.

XVI. A license-holder shall not sell powdered white arsenic to any person, unless the same is, before the sale thereof, mixed with soot, indigo, or Prussian blue in the proportion of half an ounce of soot, indigo, or Prussian blue at least to one pound of the white arsenic, and so in proportion for any greater or less quantity :

Provided that, where such arsenic is stated by the purchaser to be required for some purpose for which such admixture would, according to the representation of the purchaser, render it unfit, a license-holder may sell such arsenic, without such admixture, in a quantity of not less than 10 pounds at any one time.

By order, etc.,

J. L. MAFFEY,

Assistant Secretary to the Chief Commissioner,
N.-W. Frontier Province.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall Summary for the six days ending at 8th., on Wednesday, the 27th March 1907, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Three depressions affected the weather in India, two of which advanced eastward from Persia, while the third was a disturbance which apparently formed in Baluchistan. The first was the most important of the series. It entered north-west India on the 21st March and travelled eastward, giving snow in Kashmir and the west Himalayas, and widespread rain in the Punjab, the United Provinces, north-east India and Orissa; the precipitation was moderate to heavy in the hills and submontane districts of upper India, and in parts of deltaic Bengal. The second depression followed closely on the first, but unlike its predecessor it did not affect the weather to any appreciable extent till it entered north-east India, where it gave rain in Orissa, deltaic Bengal and Assam. The barometer fell in Baluchistan on the 25th, and next day a slight depression was shown in north-west India. It gave light precipitation in Kashmir, the west Himalayas and the submontane districts, but had practically disappeard by the morning of the 27th. The temperature conditions were abnormal in northern India, and very low maximum and minimum temperatures were recorded over the whole of this region.

Burma.—A light fall of rain was reported from Myitkyina on the 24th. Skies were clear or only lightly clouded. Temperature was considerably below normal on the 22nd and in slight to moderate defect on the 23rd and 24th; it then continued rising and by the 27th was practically normal.

North-east India and Orissa.—Rain fell in the western districts on the 22nd and was general on the 23rd. The weather was dry on the next two days, but on the 26th rain occurred in Orissa, deltaic Bengal and Assam, and on the 27th on the Orissa and Bengal coasts. Skies were cloudy on the days of rainfall. Temperature was in defect during the whole period, more particularly on the 23rd, when very low temperatures were recorded.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rain was nearly general in the United Provinces on the 22nd, while light precipitation occurred at Muktesar and Bahraich on the 23rd, and in the north-western districts on the 27th. Skies were clear in the Central Provinces and Central India, and were clear or only lightly clouded on most days in the United Provinces. Temperature was in general defect, the deficiency being larger in the United Provinces and the east of Central India than elsewhere.

North-west India.—Fairly general precipitation occurred on the 22nd in Kashmir, he Frontier Province and the Punjab, and scattered rain in Rajputana. Dry weather prevailed during the next four days, with the exception of a few light falls of rain and snow in the hills of upper India, but on the 27th light precipitation was reported from Kashmir, the Punjab hills, the submontane districts and east Rajputana. Cloud appeared in the northern districts of the division as the three depressions moved across north-west India, but skies remained clear in the south. Temperature was nearly normal in Sind and Gujarat, but elsewhere it was in general defect, which was most marked on the 22nd and 27th.

The Peninsula.—A few light falls of rain occurred in the Circars, Hyderabad and the extreme south. Skies were cloudy in the eastern and southern districts, and almost clear in the remainder of the division. Temperature differed by only small amounts from the normal.

The rainfall of the past six days has increased considerably the excess shown in the seasonal rainfall in north-east India and the west Himalayas and sub-Himalayas. Rainfall continues equal to or in excess of the normal in every part of the Indian region with the single exception of the sub-division of Ahmedabad. The excess is largest and amounts to nearly nine inches in the Simla sub-division.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts, as reported at 8 h., each day :

March 22nd, Muktesar 2·64″, Chakrata 5·09″, Simla 2·43″, Ambala 1·28″, Ludhiana 1·04″, Sialkot 1·48″ and Sonemarg 2·07″.

,, 23rd, Barisal 1·87″, Jessore 2·73″, Saugor Island 4·95″, Calcutta 2·75″, Shillong 1·95″ and Cherra Poonjee 5·23″.

,, 25th, Hyderabad (Deccan) 0·50″.

,, 26th, Silchar 2·06″, Dibrugarh 1·42″ and Balasore 0·91″.

,, 27th, Barisal 1·25″.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 23rd March 1907.

Burma.—There was pretty general rain throughout the province during the week, the highest amount registered being 3·22 inches in Pegu. No damage to paddy stocks has been reported. Standing crops in Upper Burma are generally in good condition. Crops in Mandalay should have benefited by the recent rain as over half an inch was registered in that district. The price of paddy has risen largely in Henzada, considerably in Shwebo and slightly in Akyab, Myoungmya, Toungoo and Mergui ; elsewhere it is stationary.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Slight to moderate rain has fallen generally throughout the province benefiting standing crops except in Lakhimpur where rain is interfering with the sowing of early rice. More rain is wanted for early transplanted rice in Dacca. Plucking of tea has commenced in Cachar and Lakhimpur. The prospects are generally good The prospects of transplanted rice and other standing crops are fair to good. Sowing of jute and rice is in progress. Harvesting of mustard and pressing of sugarcane are nearly finished. Prices of common rice:—Manipur 17 ; Pabna $9\frac{3}{8}$; Silchar 9 to $9\frac{1}{2}$; Dacca, Mymensingh, Chittagong, Kohima and Sibsagar 9 ; Comilla $8\frac{7}{8}$; Malda $8\frac{1}{4}$; Dinajpur $8\frac{11}{16}$; Rampur Boalia $8\frac{1}{4}$; Rangamati, Sylhet, Dhubri, Gauhati, Tezpur, Nowgong, and Dibrugarh 8 ; Faridpur 7 to 8 ; Bogra $7\frac{3}{8}$; Jalpaiguri $7\frac{1}{2}$; Barisal $7\frac{1}{4}$; Rangpur and Noakhali 7 ; Tura 6 to 7 and Shillong and Aijal 6 seers per rupee. Prices have risen in five, fallen in three, and remain stationary in the remaining districts. Eight hundred and thirty-five persons received gratuitous relief in Sylhet.

Bengal.—Rain was more or less general throughout the province. The fall was moderately heavy in Lower Bengal and in Champaran, Darjeeling, the Sonthal Parganas, Sambalpur and Cooch Behar. In parts of Lower Bengal it is reported that the rain which has fallen has been beneficial for the preparation of the land for the next season's crops ; but in most of the Bihar districts the spring crops, which have been or are being harvested, have suffered to some extent from this rain. In Darbhanga the number of persons on gratuitous relief is 11,277, on test works 1,437 and on famine relief works 15,247 There are no complaints of insufficiency of fodder or water. The price of common rice has risen in six districts and has remained stationary in the rest of the province. No fall in prices has been reported.

United Provinces.—Rain fell in all districts; the cloudy weather and rain have caused injury to standing crops. Rust has appeared in Garhwal, Hardoi, Sitapur and Hamirpur. Hailstorms have occurred in eight districts but the injury was local and except in parts of Bareilly was not serious. Harvesting is nearing completion and threshing and winnowing have commenced though in some districts these operations have been retarded by the rain. Sowing of extra crops continues and germinating has begun. Supplies are adequate but fodder is scarce at Sitapur and parts of Kheri and Rae Bareli. Prices are stationary. Famine relief operations in Gorakhpur closed on the 16th instant. No relief was given during the week.

Punjab.—Light to moderate rain has fallen all over the province. Prices of food grains are practically unchanged. Harvesting of the rapeseed crop is in progress in Rohtak and Gurgaon. The barley crop is also being reaped. The later sowings of extra spring crops continue. Sugarcane and cotton are being sown in Delhi, Lahore, Amritsar, Sialkot and Lyallpur. Ploughings for the autumn crops are in progress in Gurgaon and Jullundur. The condition and prospects of standing crops are generally good. The outturn of the rapeseed crop is average in Rohtak. The poppy crop is average in Lahore. Hail fell in Ambala, but did no damage. Rain has damaged gram in Sialkot, and gram, rapeseed and poppy in Ambala. The gram crop has also been slightly affected by lightening in Shahpur. Locusts have caused some damage in Shahpur, Mianwali and Lyallpur and have laid eggs in Rawalpindi and Mianwali ; measures are being taken for their destruction. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient. There is no complaints regarding the water-supply.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain has fallen all over the province. The condition of standing crops is excellent but sunshine is badly wanted to promote growth. The oilseed crops have been slightly damaged by hail in Dera Ismail Khan. Locusts are still in the northern parts of the Dera Ismail Khan district. The destruction of locusts eggs goes on in Bannu. Sowing of extra spring crops continues. Sugarcane sowing has commenced in Bannu. Water supply is ample and fodder is sufficient. Cattle are in good condition. Prices are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 16 $\frac{8}{16}$ to 20, gram 18¼ to 28, maize 22 $\frac{8}{16}$ to 41¼ and bajra 29¼ to 25 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was good rain during the week. Prices are stationary. Prices:—wheat 11 to 22; maize 11 to 36. The condition of standing crop is good. Fodder is sufficient save in the Kishtwar tehsil where it is scarce. Land is being prepared for autumn sowings in some parts of the province.

Kashmir.—The weather is generally bright with some rain. Prices are almost stationary.

Rajputana.—There were showers in Bikaner, Jaipur, Kishangarh, Alwar, Karauli, Bharatpur, Dholpur, Ajmer and Merwar; the maximum average fall being fifty-one cents in Alwar. Agricultural operations are satisfactory. Harvesting has commenced in many places. Extra spring sowing continues in Bharatpur. There has been slight damage in parts of Jaipur and Karauli due to hailstorms. Prices are falling in Kotah and are nearly steady elsewhere; they are still high in places.

Central India.—Light rain fell in Baghelkhand and in parts of Gwalior. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress. Preparation of land for autumn sowing has started in Indore and Bhopawar. Standing crops and probable outturn are fair in Bhopal and good in all other agencies. Crops have been slightly damaged by rats and insects in Dhar. Agricultural stocks and pasturage are good except in parts of Indore and Bhopawar. Prices continue high in Baghelkhand, have fallen in Bundelkhand and parts of Malwa and are stationary elsewhere. Collection of opium continues.

Central Provinces.—There has been little or no rain during the week. Hailstorms occurred in some villages of the Warora and Brahmapuri tehsils. Harvesting and threshing of spring crops are in progress. Rust has caused some damage to crops in the Hatta tehsil of the Damoh district and wheat was injured slightly by the recent rain in the Bilaspur tehsil. Sugarcane pressing continues in Betul and Chanda. Ploughing for autumn crops continues in Chhindwara, Nagpur, Chhattisgarh and Berar. Prospects remain generally favourable. Fodder and water are adequate. The price of gram fell by 2½ seers in Damoh, Chhindwara and Balaghat; the grain markets elsewhere are firm with a tendency to lower prices which are however still equal to or above the scarcity level in Balaghat, Chanda, Bilaspur and Amraoti.

Native States:—Raigarh, Sarangarh and Sakti had 1½ inches of rain and Kawardha, Chhuikhadan and Udaipur received 90, 25 and 22 cents respectively. Harvesting and threshing of spring crops and sugarcane planting continue. Fodder and water are sufficient and prospects are generally good. Wheat became cheaper by 4 seers and gram by 3 seers in Chhuikhadan.

Bombay.—Rain fell during week in parts of Sukkur and the Upper Sindh Frontier. Standing crops are in good condition except for slight damage by blight in parts of Dharwar and by frost in Mahi Kantha. Harvesting of spring crops generally continues and threshing is in progress in parts of Ahmedabad, Broach, the Deccan and Mahi Kantha. Cotton picking continues in parts of Gujarat, West Khandesh, the Karnatak, Baroda, Rewa Kantha and Cutch. The preparation of lands for next season are in progress in Karachi, Hyderabad, the Konkan, the Deccan, Dharwar, Cutch and Kathiawar. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Water for irrigation purposes is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, Bijapur and Baroda. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Bijapur and Cutch. Fodder supply is sufficient. The quantity of food grains purchaseable per rupee is normal to 28 per cent. below. Labourers get sufficient field employment in harvesting and threshing of spring crops, cutting and crushing of sugarcane and picking cotton.

Hyderabad.—Rainfall 12 cents; the total from 1st January being 1 inch 50 cents. There were thunder storms and rain in 20 taluks. The spring harvest continues. Late rice is being weeded and the crop is in fair condition. Lands are being prepared for monsoon sowings. Prices:—wheat 7½; coarse rice 7¼; and juar 15½ seers per rupee.

ysore.—Slight rain fell during the week in Bangalore and Mysore. Prices of food grains have slightly risen in Kolar and Shimoga and are steady elsewhere. The standing crops are in good condition. The prospects of the season are good. Cattle are healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Prices of food grains are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Madras.—Rainfall good in the Nilgiris and Godavari; fair in Guntur, the Vizagapatam littoral, Kistna, the Vizagapatam Agency and Ganjam; none in Madura, North Arcot, South Canara, and the Deccan except Kurnool and light elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient except in parts of the Circars, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, Salem and Madura. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. The standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Madura are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of the Circars, the Deccan, Salem and South Canara. Fodder is scanty in parts of Madura. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in seven districts; has fallen in one; and has slightly risen in fifteen. The price of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in seven districts; has fallen in seven; and has slightly risen in seven. Cholam is stationary in six districts; has fallen in two; and has slightly risen in six. Cumbu is stationary in three districts; has fallen in four; and has slightly risen in eight.
